CLANTON, - ALABAMA.

A Boston man who refuses to accept the modern process of photography as an improvement is still taking daguerreotypes, as he has been doing for the last fifty years. He says that they remain the most correct likenesses yet produced, and he does business of sufficient volume to warrant his sticking to his hobby.

A short time ago the British government wanted four locomotives in a big hurry, but the British manufacturers to whom they applied declared that they could not furnish them inside of four and one-half months. The government applied to American manufacturers, who completed the four locomotives in exactly thirty-one days.

The national advantage derived from technical training in the public schools is well shown, maintains the New York Mail and Express, by the commercial prosperity of Switzerland, nearly all of whose exports represent the skilled labor of the people, and not any natural resource of the country itself. The Hamburg edgings, so-called, come from that country, and have brought millions of dollars back to it, while this year the new Swiss laces promise to make a greater impression upon the woman's world.

The late Spanish minister, Senor de Lome, unwittingly paid a compliment to American women when his idea was to depreciate them. He said that they were the only women who had not yet succumbed to the fascination of the cigarette. Spanish, Portuguese and Italian women fuse the Havana article; Greek, Turkish, Russian and Austrian women the famous Turkish tobacco; French women revel in the caporal, and many English women have taken up the practice; but in this country the habit is as rare among the sex as it was a hundred years ago.

The report of the commissioner of internal revenue for the year 1897, shows the total receipts from all sources to have been $146,619,593—a decrease, as compared with the fiscal year 1896, of $211,022. The important changes in consumption are an increase of $1,338,472 in the receipts from distilled spirits as compared with 1896, and a decrease of practically the same amount in the receipts from fermented liquors. The quantity of distilled spirits guaged was 246,036,921 gallons, a decrease of 23,237,841 gallons. There was also a decrease of 3029 in the number of distilleries operated. Also a notable decrease in the number of barrels of beer produced. The total number of barrels produced, as reported, was 34,462,822, which is a decrease of 1,396,428 barrels as compared with the product of 1896.

Our American exports are still mainly agricultural, notes the Atlanta Constitution. This is evident from the fact that 67.63 per cent. of our entire exports to foreign countries last year consisted of agricultural products. In the aggregate our exports for 1897 amounted to $1,039,000,000. Of this sum not less than $730,323,514 is credited to agricultural products. Our exports of manufactured products are gradually increasing from year to year, but it will be some time yet before they catch up with our exports of agricultural products. In the following table our exports for 1897 are classified under six heads, with the aggregate amounts and percentages in each case:

	Value.	Per cent. of whole.
Products of agriculture	$730,323,514	67.63
Manufactures	279,616,898	25.89
Mining	19,792,796	1.83
Forest	40,834,864	3.78
Fisheries	5,649,945	.52
Miscellaneous	3,654,001	.35

On account of the vast extent of fertile territory comprised within our national limits we may confidently expect to remain the world's great agricultural market, but while we have this assurance, there is at the same time nothing to prevent us from becoming eventually the foremost industrial and commercial power on the globe.

Spectacles for Horses.

Spectacles for horses have been patented by an inventor and are being used with considerable success. Their object is not so much to magnify objects as to make the ground in front of the horse appear nearer to his head than it really is. The result is continual high stepping, which, after a while, becomes natural and gives to a horse an aristocratic gait, which he will retain for many years.

One of the inventions which will be exhibited at the Paris Exposition of 1900 is a machine for seeing round a corner.

DEWEY'S VICTORY COMPLETE.

Spanish Fleet of Eleven Vessels at Manila Utterly Destroyed, With Loss of 300 Killed and 400 Wounded.

Sampson Sails With Chip on Shoulder, Ready to Battle—His Instructions to Get Into Action With the Cape Verde Fleet, Using Every Means to Locate the Elusive Spaniards—If Necessary He Can Seize a Coaling Station, Which Means San Juan, Porto Rico, Near Which His Fleet Will Rendezvous and Where Scouts Will Report.

HONG KONG, (By Cable.)—The United States revenue cutter Hugh McCulloch arrived here with dispatches giving first official news of Admiral Dewey's triumph over the Spanish flag at Manila.

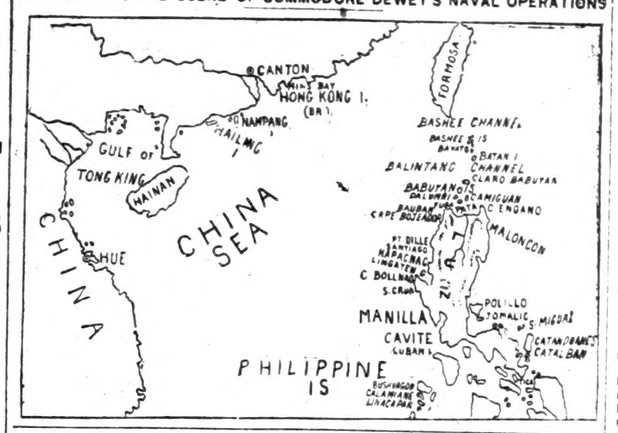
The victory of the American fleet will ring in history as the most remarkable achievement in naval warfare.

Spain's fleet of eleven men-of-war was completely destroyed.

The defences of Manila, the shore batteries there and at Cavite were silenced and razed.

Over Manila the American flag waves today in place of the red and yellow bars of Spain.

MAP SHOWING THE SCENE OF COMMODORE DEWEY'S NAVAL OPERATIONS



And during all the hours of engagement the American fleet, although shelled by ships and shore batteries, did not lose a single man.

Six sailors were slightly wounded. This represented the sum of casualties to the fleet of Admiral Dewey, as none of his ships was injured.

The Spanish loss was 300 killed and 400 wounded. Admiral Montijo's ships caught fire one by one and either sank in their positions or were run ashore to save the lives of their remaining men.

The battle of Manila began at daybreak, the Spanish fleet firing the first shot. During the preceding night Admiral Dewey had taken his ships past Corregidor Island and through the mine fields without disaster.

The challenge to battle was flung by the Reina Christina. The Olympia replied, and immediately afterward the entire American fleet was in action.

The Spanish ships did not hesitate in their fire and the batteries at Cavite loosened their heavy guns.

Soon after the opening of the engagement the Spanish flagship took fire and Admiral Montijo had to transfer his flag to the Isla de Cuba.

The cruiser Castilla also burst in flames under the remarkable gunnery of the American sailors.

Besides engaging the Spanish ships, Admiral Dewey directed a hot fire against the batteries. This made it imperative that every shot should tell.

This was a surprise to the fleet of Admiral Montijo, the Spanish Commander-in-Chief, who thought himself secure under the guns of Manila and Cavite.

Admiral Dewey's battle line was led by the flagship Olympia and the cruiser Raleigh, the Baltimore, Boston, Concord and Petrel, and the revenue cutter McCulloch following at a cable length.

Under easy manœuvring speed the American fleet approached the Spanish ships, which were drawn out in two lines, flanking the Reina Christina, the flagship. During the entire action the American ships were kept under way to manœuvre about the enemy. One by one the Spanish ships caught fire or were driven to grounding to save their crews.

The eleven Spanish ships engaged by Admiral Dewey were: Reina Christina, steel cruiser; Castilla, wood cruiser; Velasco, iron cruiser; Don Antonio de Ulloa, iron cruiser; Don Juan de Austria, iron cruiser; Isla de Cuba, steel protected cruiser; Isla de Luzon, steel protected cruiser; Quiros, steel gunboat; Vellalobos, steel gunboat; El Cano, steel gunboat, and Manileno, steel gunboat.

Admiral Dewey continued his fighting until the eleventh Spanish vessel had been destroyed. By that time the shore batteries were reduced, and the American fleet had won its most remarkable victory, a victory that lost no man, and resulted in the wounding of but six on one side, while on the other three hundred Spaniards were killed and four hundred wounded in the complete destruction of eleven ships of war.

SAMPSON'S ORDERS.

Sailed From Key West With Final Instruction About Porto Rico.

KEY WEST, Fla. (Special).—Admiral Sampson sailed from Key West, coaled and victualled for an unprecedentedly long voyage, incidentally with the receipt of news about the four Spaniards at Barbadoes.

His flagship, the cruiser New York, was followed out of port by the first-class battleships Iowa and Indiana, the monitor Puritan, the cruisers Cincinnati, Detroit and Marblehead, and the torpedo gunboat Mayflower.

"Locate Cape Verde fleet and destroy it. It is supposed to be about 900 miles out, headed for southwesterly coast. Probably looking for Oregon, but most likely making for San Juan, Porto Rico. Don't allow it to enter. Look out for Oregon. If you can't locate the fleet and need coal, use your own discretion about seizing Porto Rico coaling station."

These were, in substance, the orders with which Rear-Admiral Sampson, in command of the North Atlantic fleet, sailed from Key West.

The instructions were voluminous. They informed the fleet commander of the information the department had of Spain's plans; how many ships and torpedo-boats are supposed to be in the Cape Verde fleet; what orders have been given the battleship Oregon and her convoys, and where they would put in for coal and what course they will take.

The Administration did not want to seize Porto Rico unless it became necessary for use as a base of supplies in the event that the fleet could not be located. In that case the island would be held to cut off Spain's only harbor of succor this side of the Atlantic.

"Everything is moving along smoothly and well. What we want now is Porto Rico. We ought to have that."

"Will it be soon, senator?"

"Yes," was the reply, "probably in a day or two."

While refraining from saying what occured at his brief interview with the President, his statement that the seizure of Porto Rico was expected to be made in a day or two was significant as showing how well he possessed the confidence of the Administration though he would not say that the President has given him any information.

GENERAL PANDO.

General Pando in the mobilization of the Spanish forces. The purpose is to endeavor to repel the American invasion.

The insurgents already occupy Bayamo, an important railroad town in Santiago de Cuba, Jiquani and Bafre. They have opened the seige of Manzanillo, an important seaport on the south coast near Bayamo. It must surrender within a week unless relieved.

A FRENCH STEAMER SEIZED.

Captured While Trying to Run the Havana Blockade, But Released.

KEY WEST, Fla. (Special),—The blockade watch of the United States gunboat Annapolis was made interesting by an attempt of the French Line steamer Lafayette, bound from Corunna, Spain, for Havana and Vera Cruz, to run the blockade at Havanna. The steamer was challenged and told that she could proceed to Vera Cruz, but not to Havana.

The Annapolis, supposing the Lafayette would give heed, fell astern, but the steamer ran full steam toward Havana, and did not stop at hearing blank shots. Two solid shot from the Annapolis brought her to.

A prize crew was put in charge, and, with the gunboat Wilmington as escort, the Lafayette was brought to Key West.

Later she was released on orders from Washington, because permission had been granted by the Government for her to touch at Havana before making her destination, Veru Cruz, and she was to be escorted to Havana by a man-of-war.

A despatch from Paris says the seizure of the steamer Lafayette has intensified the bitter feeling against the United States. The United States Embassy is under special police protection in view of a possible hostile demonstration.

Limiting City Postal Deliveries.

The United States Senate, by a decisive vote, adopted Senator Tillman's amendment to the Postal Appropriation bill limiting deliveries of mail in all cities to four a day. At present no section of the old city of New York receives less than three and some as many as nine.

Miss Brewster Adjudged Insane.

The jury at Montpelier, Vt., in the trial of Mildred Brewster for the murder of Anna Wheeler, on May 29, 1897, returned a verdict of "Not guilty by reason of insanity."

REV. DR. TALMAGE.

DISCOURSE BY THE EMINENT DIVINE LAST SUNDAY

An Appropriate Topic—The Great Need of Reform—Churches Must Change to Work For Good—Religion That Will Make a Revolution in the Family.

TEXT: "These that have turned the world upside down are come hither also." Acts xvii. 6.

There is a wild, bellowing mob around the house of Jason, in Thessalonica. What has the man done so great to excite the people? He has been entertaining Paul and his companions. They storm the house and cry: "Bring out the setter-in of preachers! They are interfering with our business! They are ruining our religion! They are actually turning the world upside down!"

The charge was true for there is nothing that so interferes with sin the world as the man who so greatly exposes and overthrows iniquity, there is nothing that has such tendency to turn the world upside down as our glorious Christianity. The fact is, that the world now is wrong side up, and it needs to be turned upside down in order that it may be right side up. The time was when men wrote books on fortifying them "Apologies for Christianity." I hope that day has passed. We want no more apologies for Christianity. Let the apologies be on the part of those who do not believe in our religion. We do not mean to make any compromise in the matter. We do not wish to hide the fact that Christianity is revolutionary, and that its tendency is to turn the world upside down.

Our religion has often been misrepresented as a principle of tears, and muchness, and fastidiousness; afraid of crossing people's prejudices; afraid of making somebody mad; with silken gloves lifting the people up from the church pew into glory, as though they were Bohemian glass, so very delicate that with one touch it may be demolished forever. Men speak of religion as though it were a refined imbecility; as though it were a spiritual chloroform, that the people were to take until the sharp cutting of life were over. The Bible, so far from this, represents the religion of Christ as robust and brawny—ransacking and upsetting ten thousand things that now seem to be settled on firm foundations. I hear some man in the house say, "I thought religion was peace." That is the final result. A man's arm is out of place. Two men come, and with great effort put it back to the socket. It goes back with great pain. Then it gets well. Our world is horribly distorted and out of joint. It must come under an omnipotent surgery, beneath which there will be pain and anguish before there can come perfect health and quiet. I proclaim, therefore, in the name of my Lord Jesus Christ "revolution!"

The religion of the Bible will make a revolution in the family. Those things that are wrong in the family circle will be overthrown by it, while justice and harmony will take the place. The husband will be the head of the household only when he is fit to be. I know a man who spends all the money he makes in drink, as well as all the money that his wife makes, and sometimes sells the children's clothes for rum. Do you tell me that he is to be the head of that household? If the wife have more nobility, more courage, more consistency, more of all that is right, she shall have the supremacy. You say that the Bible says that the wife is to be subject to the husband. I know it. But that is a husband, not a masculine caricature. There is no human or divine law that makes a woman subordinate to a man unworthy of her. When Christianity comes into a domestic circle it will give the dominancy to that one who is the most worthy of it.

Again: Christianity will produce a revolution in commercial circles. Find me fifty merchants, and you find that they have fifty standards of what is right and wrong. You say to some one about a merchant, "Is he honest?" "Oh! yes," the man says, "he is honest; but he grinds the faces of his clerks. He is honest; but he exaggerates the value of his goods. He is honest; but he loans money on bond and mortgage, with the understanding that the mortgage can lie quiet for ten years, but as soon as he gets the mortgage, he records it and begins a foreclosure suit, and the sheriff's writ comes down, and the day of sale arrives, and away goes the homestead, and the creditor buys it in at half price. Honest? When he loaned the money he knew that he would get the homestead at half price. Honest? But he goes to the insurance office to get a policy on his life, and tells the doctor that he is well, when he knows that for ten years he has had but one lung. Honest? Though he sells property by the map, forgetting to tell the purchaser that the ground is all under water; but it is generous in him to do that, for he throws the water into the bargain.

The fraudulent man piles up his gains, bond above bond, United States security above United States security, emolument above emolument, until his property has become a great pyramid, and, as he stands looking at it, he thinks it can never be destroyed; but the Lord God comes, and with His little finger pushes it all over.

You build a house, and you put into it a rotten beam. A mechanic standing by says: "It will never do to put that beam in; it will ruin your whole building." But you put it in. The house is completed. Soon it begins to rock. You call in the mechanic and ask: "What is the matter with this door? What is the matter with this wall? Everything seems to be giving out." Says the mechanic: "You put a rotten beam into that structure, and the whole thing has got to come down." Here is an estate that seems to be all right now; it has been building a great many years. But fifteen years ago there was a dishonest transaction in that commercial house. That one dishonest transaction will keep on working ruin in the whole structure until down the estate will come in wreck and ruin about the possessor's ears—one dishonest dollar in the estate demolishing all his possession. I have seen it again and again; and so have you.

You have an old photograph of the signs on your street. Why have those signs nearly all changed within the last twenty years? Does the passing away of a generation account for it? Oh, no. Does the fact that there are hundreds of honest men who go down every year account for it? Oh, no. This is the secret: The Lord God has been walking through the commercial streets of our great cities, and he has been adjusting things according to the principles of eternal rectitude.

The time will come when, through the revolutionary power of the Gospel, a falsehood, instead of being called exaggeration, equivocation, or evasion, will be branded a lie! And stealings, that now sometimes go under the head of percentages and commissions, and bonuses, will be put into the catalogue of State-prison offenses. Society will be turned inside out and upside down, and ransacked of God's truth, until business dishonesties shall come to an end, and all double-dealing, and God will overturn, and overturn, and overturn, and commercial men in all cities will throw up their hands, crying out, "These that have turned the world upside down are come hither."

The religion of Jesus Christ will produce a revolution in our churches. The noncommittal, do-nothing policy of the Church of God will give way to a spirit of bravest conquest. Piety in this day seems to me to be salted down just so as to keep. It seems as if the church were chiefly anxious to take care of itself; and if we hear of want, and squalor, and heathenism outside we say: "What a pity!" and we put our hands in our pockets, and we feel around for a two-cent piece, and with a great flourish we put it upon the plate and are amazed that the world is not converted in six weeks. EX-CONVICT CANNOT

Doctors Who Commit Crime From Practicing

The United States Supreme Court affirmed the constitutionality of the New York Legislature forbidding persons who have been convicted and punished for a crime from practicing medicine in the State.

The question arose in the case of Hawker vs. the State of New York. Hawker served ten years in the State prison for an offense committed in Ohio. He sued for his release set up as a defense that at the time the law in question was passed he was practicing that profession. The Court held that it was within the police power of the State to enact such a law.

GOMEZ'S WIFE AN AM

She is a Daughter of Henry Martin, of Nail's Creek, East Tennessee.

The wife of Maximo Gomez, the commander-in-chief of the insurgent forces in Cuba, is an American woman. Her maiden name was Pink Martin, and she was a daughter of Henry Martin, of Nail's Creek, East Tennessee.

She married a Georgia man named Gomez, and died she went to Havana as the wife of Gomez, whom she married in Savannah.

As the Martin family was one of wealth and influence, Mrs. Gomez had all the advantages, social and educational, of a refined and cultured American girl.

CUBA'S FUTURE

It Will be Under the Stars and Stripes Until Peace is Restored.

President McKinley has given assurances to be given that the rights will be respected, and that the people of Cuba establish a government. It will be under the control of the military authorities of the United States, and all qualified citizens, combatants or non-combatants, will be given an opportunity to participate in the formation of the constitution. The island of Cuba will be under the Stars and Stripes until peace is restored and such guarantee can be given that no outrages will be perpetrated.

A Bullet Its Own Doctor.

In spite of the terrible ingenuity and destructiveness of modern warfare, the general tendency of the times is to make it as humane as practicable. For instance, the use of copper-covered bullets, which has been frowned upon, and a Philadelphia physician has a plan that he claims will greatly mitigate the suffering of a soldier whose body has been perforated by the small-caliber bullet. It is well known that the greatest objection to the use of modern rifles and the small-caliber bullets is that the velocity and penetrating power of these bullets are so great that the surgeon has little chance to strike a bone they will not entirely through a man's body without knowing it. The physician's theory is that such a small wad of antiseptic cotton as required the rear of the bullet. This would be entirely covered by the shell of the cartridge case, could not interfere with loading and firing, and would not affect the flight of the bullet. As the bullet passes through a man's body the wad will antisepticize the wound and prevent consequent suppuration. It is claimed that it is possible to so nicely adjust the weight of the wad to the bullet that as soon as the bullet passes out it will leave the wad in the wound hole and stop bleeding. Ultimately the whole system might do away with the present necessity of a large medical corps, as every soldier would carry medical treatment sufficient for his own wounded.—Philadelphia Record.

The Land of the Lazy.

"In a late sojourn in Honduras," says Mr. I. B. Givens, "I came to the conclusion that it was a paradise for lazy men. Everything grows luxuriantly with little or no labor on the part of the natives. The crops do not need replanting more than once in eight or ten years. The soil offers fine inducements to enterprising men, but it is hard on a white man. There are civilized ways to go down there, but as a rule among an ignorant lot of natives who are 100 years behind the times. A man will have no congenial society, and will be ill in exile. The natives live in bamboo houses, though in the better dwellings are of adobe. Children go barefooted for the first two or three years of their lives, and the attire of the adults is scanty. The Government is liberal with concessions to encourage development of the country's resources, but there is no general rule governing the granting of these privileges. It all depends on how good a man may be driven. The climate is unwholesome and laziness is about the only prevailing disease. Washington Star.

Forts Opened Fire on Cruisers Chasing a Spanish Schooner

DEFENSES AT MATANZAS AGAIN BOMBARDED

Sampson's Fleet Will Act Before an Invasion of Cuba is Made—Battle Between the Fleet May Occur at Any Time—A Wild Rumor Afloat.

HAVANA.—At half past 3 Saturday afternoon three American cruisers which were pursuing the Spanish schooner Santiago, bound for Yucatan with salted fish, approached the Vedado batteries, which fired at them when about five miles off shore. Six shots were fired at the Americans. A local paper says that one of the projectiles carried off the smokestack and one of the masts of the American cruiser which was in the lead and that another projectile fell upon the deck of the other. The Americans replied with twelve shots, but the projectiles fell two miles off the batteries and the cruisers then retreated under a full head of steam. One of the shots from the batteries fell near one of the American vessels, covering her decks with water, and it asserted positively that a hole was made in her hull below the water line.

Matanzas Again Bombarded.

Matanzas has been bombarded by the torpedo boat Dupont and the auxiliary cruiser Hornet. It lasted from 4 o'clock to 5:30, Friday, and 11 to 11:30 Saturday. Twenty or thirty Spaniards were killed. The forts replied with vigor at first, but their fire soon dwindled down and finally died away altogether. The skill displayed by the American guns was extraordinary. In many instances the fortifications were torn down and disrupted.

Battle Expected Tuesday.

PORT AU PRINCE—The arrival is rumored late Sunday evening of seventeen war vessels, warships and others, at Porto Rico, and a battle is expected on Tuesday. It is also reported from Cape Haytien that Rear Admiral Sampson's squadron has been sighted to the north.

Sampson Will Act Before the Invasion.

TAMPA, (Special).—The work of preparing the transports has been delayed a good deal by the non-arrival of material, and it will be Wednesday, perhaps later in the week, before this work is accomplished. But outside of the delay in the preparations no American troops will be landed on Cuban soil until the question of superiority in the Atlantic is settled between Admiral Sampson's squadron and the Spanish fleet, and settled definitely. High army officials make this statement. They would be taking needless chances to send an army into Cuba before the Spanish fleet is disposed of and until the meeting of the American and Spanish fleets take place no one here believes that orders to move will be received.

Rumor That the Montgomery Was Sunk.

PORT AU PRINCE.—There is a wild and apparently unfounded rumor here that the Spanish first-class cruiser Vizcaya has sunk the United States cruiser Montgomery, with all on board. The rumor seems to have grown out of a story that the Montgomery left Cape Haytien Sunday afternoon. She was chased by a big Spanish cruiser, which had been lying in wait behind Tortuga Island, or La Tortu, as it is called by the French.

Volunteer Army to Consist of Seven Corps.

It was announced at the war department Friday that the volunteer army will consist of seven corps, each in command of a major-general, but that nothing had been settled as to their organization and place of rendezvous. It is generally understood, however, that Fort Meyer, Va., Atlanta, Ga., Chickamauga, Richmond, Va., and Long Island, N. Y., have been virtually selected as places of mobilization of the volunteer army.

Troops and Ships for the Philippines.

The war department is preparing orders to be rushed through to San Francisco ordering the troops and ships to start for the Philippines immediately.

QUEEN REGENT WILL LEAVE.

Apartments Have Already Been Secured for Her at Vienna.

LONDON—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says:

"Apartments have been reserved at a hotel here for the Queen Regent of Spain in case she arrives before apartments are prepared for her in her brother's palace. Telegrams from the Austrian Ambassador at Madrid, Count Dubski, indicate that the Queen Regent is only waiting for a suitable moment to quit Spain without detriment to her son."

Fine Steel Yacht Bought.

The splendid steel steam yacht Comanche, which was built by the Globe Iron Works company at Cleveland, O., for M. H. Hanna in 1892 has been bought by the government. The vessel was examined by naval officers about ten days ago and the deal has just been closed. The Comanche is 185 feet over all, 165 feet on the water line, 25 feet beam and 11 feet deep. She can be made ready for sea in a short time and will not have to be altered to get through the canals to the coast.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS IMPROVED.

Large Military Orders Are Helping a Certain Line of Industries.

R. G. Dun & Co's. weekly review of trade says:

A state of war was so greatly dreaded by those who have seen nothing like it for thirty years, that its coming has hurt less than its apprehension. Especially since the victory at Manila, which indicated the superiority of the American navy gun for gun, expectations that the war will not last long has influenced the markets and stocks have advanced, the average of prices for railroads being $2.79 per share. The general condition of business has been materially improved. One day's work by the officers and men at Manila has given many days work to thousands of people at home of whom they knew nothing and has placed all American industries on a stronger footing for any conceivable future.

The fact that gold is now used almost exclusively between the treasury and the clearing house indicates the entire freedom from apprehension about the currency or public credit.

The most sensational of all changes and the most practically important has been the rise in wheat 13 cents during one day's session and 2¼ since Tuesday.

Industries have reached a wonderful stimulus, from the conviction that hostilities will not last long and from heavy government orders. Besides heavy demand for steel plates and iron products and ammunition the government has ordered 2,500,000 yards woolen cloths, 125,000 blankets, 3,000,000 yards cotton goods and great quantities of provisions and other supplies, and meanwhile reviving confidence has multiplied other demands.

Business in iron continues heavy.

Textile establishments have been receiving larger orders within the past few days. No decline will ever appear in the prices in staple cloths or dress goods. Wool has declined about half a cent in April. Print cloths have again made a new low record 1.4 cents, but a better market is seen for other cotton products. Failures in the United States were 238 against 231 last year.

ENGLAND AGAIN REFUSES

To Take Any Part in Intervention—May Seize Canary Islands.

LONDON.—Certain powers have again made overtures to Great Britain looking to intervention in the war between Spain and the United States, but Great Britain persisted in her refusal to take part in any such movement.

A story is published here to the effect that the British admiralty has been notified by the Washington Naval Strategic Board to remove the British subjects from the Canary Islands, and it is said that this accounts for the British second-class cruiser Charydis being ordered to Las Palmas, and leads to the conclusion that Rear Admiral Sampson may attack the Canary Islands, which would either draw the Spanish fleet out of Cadiz or give the United States a naval base from which to attack Spain.

TWO IMPORTANT MEASURES.

Bill Extending to Alaska Homestead Privileges Passed.

The house of representatives Friday disposed of two important measures. The Alaska land bill extending the homestead laws and providing for certain land railway rights-of-way in the district of Alaska, as amended by the senate and agreed upon in conference, was passed.

The labor arbitration measure, providing for the arbitration of labor disputes between employe and certain common carriers, which bill has received very wide indorsement by the labor organizations throughout the country, received the approval of the house. A number of minor bills were also passed.

Troops Moving on to Tampa.

The Twenty-fifth infantry left Chickamauga Park Friday for Tampa in command of Colonel Burt, who, though not officially notified of his appointment as a brigadier general in the volunteer army, was ordered to accompany his regiment south.

Other regiments now in camp have been ordered to rid themselves of all heavy equipments of every sort and hold themselves in light marching order. It is stated on good authority that all but two regiments will be sent south in the next week or ten days.

Hurrying Spain's Ships.

A dispatch to the London Daily Chronicle from Cadiz says: The Pelayo and the cruiser Alfonso XIII. have left their anchorage in the bay and gone to the dockyard. The cruisers Patriota and Madrida are preparing with all speed and are expected to sail together. Cadiz is overwhelmed with the news of the Manila disaster, the lost crews numbering many Cadizans.

Nicaragua Canal Bill Reintroduced.

Senator Morgan has reintroduced his Nicaragua canal bill. It is in the main framed on the same principles as former bills, but there are several new provisions.

Two Small Prizes Taken.

As soon as sunrise Friday morning lifted the regulations forbidding the entrance of vessels into Key West harbor during the dark hours, two little prizes were brought in. They were both Spanish schooners of no great value, the Oriente and the Antonio Suerez.

Spanish Spy Arrested.

A Spanish spy was arrested in Washington Sunday night and is now in confinement at the arsenal. Chief Wilkie, of the treasury secret service, believes the man guilty.

CURRENT EVENTS IN ALABAMA.

Death from a Fall.

Wm. P. Stradford, commissioner from the First district of Jefferson county, died Sunday from the effects of a fall from his horse received on Saturday.

Tragedy at the Army Camp.

A tragedy occurred at the regular army camp in Mobile Thursday night. Sergeant Crowley, of company A, Third infantry, was shot and killed by a private of the Nineteenth, whom he was trying to arrest for drunkenness.

Big Coal Shipment.

A tow of 10,000 tons of Walker county coal will be loaded within the next few days on the Southern Railway's coal barges at Greenville, Miss. As soon as the barges are loaded they will be sent down the Mississippi river. Superintendent A. J. Frazer, of the Southern Railway, stated that the coal was for use on plantations and not for war use.

Jackson's Volunteers Go to Mobile.

The Jackson county volunteers, eighty-six strong, left Friday for Mobile to join the Third Alabama infantry, to which organization they have been assigned, with the recruits that were to join the company at Larkinsville, Woodville and Paint Rock stations, and it is believed that they will go into camp 100 strong.

Surveying New Railroad.

Mr. J. L. Cowan, civil engineer is surveying the new railroad from West Point, Ga., to Opelika. It has already been completed from West Point to Lanett and River View, and will be built on to Opelika as rapidly as men and money can do the work. It will connect at Opelika with the Central of Georgia and give the great factories a cheap and quick outlet to the east.

A Million Dollar Steel Plant.

A special from New York says: Nat L. Baxter and A. M. Shook, of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railway Company, who have been in this city several days, are said to have about completed arrangements for floating $1,100,000 of bonds for the erection of a steel plant at Birmingham. Nothing official has yet been given out, but it is said that the issue will be placed through a prominent banking institution.

Petition for Dissolution.

A petition for the dissolution of the Corona Coal and Coke Company was filed in the city court of Birmingham by the Jasper Town and Land Company, limited, J. H. Bartlett, J. B. Shields, J. M. Crawford and R. M. Little, to which N. M. Davidson, the remaining stockholder, is made defendant. The petitioners pray that the corporation be dissolved and that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the property and affairs of the company.

Omaha Platform Reaffirmed by Populists.

The populist state convention, which met at Montgomery, in addition to nominating a state ticket, headed by G. B. Deans, former populist state chairman, for Governor, chose Dr. G. B. Crowe chairman of the state executive committee. The following members of the state committee were selected: G. B. Crowe, Frank Baltzell, I. L. Brock, J. H. Harris, S. M. Adams, Ed Spiers, L. L. Foster, Zell Gaston, L. F. Knight, W. C. Robinson, J. Merritt, J. W. Pitts, L. T. Harris, J. T. Lancaster, R. H. Ford, R. T. Williams, D. W. Hollis, J. W. Casper, T. W. Powell, T. F. George, T. W. Cooper, A. H. Spencer and N. J. Fuller.

The following delegates to the populist national convention were chosen: M. W. Howard, J. M. Whitehead, I. L. Foscue, W. T. Coggins, N. A. Spears, S. J. Petree, A. P. Longshore, J. T. Shugart, Frank Baltzell and I. H. Reynolds.

The platform was chiefly a reaffirmation of the Omaha platform, coupled with a demand for fair elections and better schools. Confidence was expressed in the national administration with regard to its war policy.

BRIEFLY MENTIONED.

A negro has developed a case of smallpox at Whistler.

Prolonged dry weather is reported in Southeast Alabama, and crops are suffering.

A report that Roland Hann was killed by his son at Wedowee has reached Anniston. The son gave up.

Republicans are talking of putting out a ticket in opposition to the regular democratic nominees in Autauga county.

A dispatch received at Huntsville from Denison, Tex., announced the death of Dr. A. C. Debow, formerly one of the most prominent physicians of North Alabama.

John Roberts, a prominent farmer living near Leesburg, accidentally cut his foot off with an ax while cutting wood.

At Mobile the jury in the case of the State vs. ex-Tax Collector Lott returned a verdict of $15,890. The amount sued for was $18,000.

The ladies of Birmingham raised a car load of provisions for the volunteer soldiers of the First Alabama, and forwarded it to them last Sunday.

Steve Hood and Gus Wise, two prominent farmers of Maple Grove, had a dispute over a cotton planter. Hood cut Wise in several places. Wise will die. Hood escaped.

A call has been issued for a state convention of the miners of Alabama, to be held in Birmingham on May 16. The purpose of this meeting is to organize the miners of Alabama into a district of the United Mine Workers of America.

MOBILIZING AT CHICKAMAUGA.

Fifty Thousand Volunteers Will be Concentrated at Chickamauga Park.

Preparations for the reception of the thousands of volunteers ordered to assemble at Chickamauga park in the near future are now being pushed rapidly. Additional wells are being dug, new switch tracks are being put in and camping sites are being selected. It is the desire of Gen. Brooke and Gen. Boynton, the latter chairman of the park commission, to have everything in such shape that the volunteers can go into camp upon arrival without trouble or delay.

Col. Sheridan, of Gen. Brooke's staff, speaking for the general, said that no additional information to the notice received Sunday that 50,000 volunteers would be sent to Chattanooga, had been received. Gen. Brooke thinks that some time will elapse before the entire 50,000 can be mobilized.

The complete list of brigadier-generals who will command the volunteer army at Chickamauga is as follows: Gens. Compton, Andrew G. Burt, Sumner, Snyder, Henry, Lawton, Chaffe and Davis. Of these Gens. Henry, Sumner and Chaffee are already at the park. Gen. Burt, whose regiment went to Tampa last week, will return. Major Generals Lee, Wilson and Wheeler will also come to Chickamauga. Gen. Brooke will continue in command as the ranking general.

GOMEZ HEARD FROM.

Sends His Thanks to This Country and is Ready to Co-operate.

A commissioner sent to Gomez's camp has returned to New York, bringing the Cuban leader's formal official thanks in behalf of Cuba to the United States, a letter to President McKinley and one each to General Miles and Admiral Sampson, also thanks to the American people, says a dispatch to the World from Key West.

GENERAL MAXIMO GOMEZ.

Gomez wants rifles, food, clothing and United States troops, in the order named. Armed and supplied he promises to drive the blockaded Spaniards out in six months.

Gomez formally declares his readiness to co-operate with Miles and Sampson. Hunger in the field almost equals Weyler's cemetery towns. Ten thousand Cuban revolutionists have died in the last four months. Gomez's own force in Santa Clara are now living vicariously on small game. Other portions are worse, and but 20,000 healthy soldiers remain. Exampled by a few regular troops the most moderate estimate is 4 0,000 resolute Cubans, of which at least half have heard bullets before. Conditions of the blockaded island beggars description.

INTERIOR OF PHILIPPINES

Must be Pacified to Insure the Security of Life and Property.

A dispatch to the New York World from Singapore says: There is general satisfaction here among all but the Spanish sympathizers at the American victory at Manila. But the reduction of that town and the capture of the strongholds will not complete the American work in the Philippines. In order to insure the peaceful occupation of the islands, security for life and property, the resumption of planting and commercial undertakings upon which private and public revenues depend—it will be necessary to effect the pacification of the interior. That is only possible through the aid of the supreme leader of the Philippines, Gen. Aguinaldo.

ENTHUSIASTIC CUBANS.

Eighteen Thousand Are at Sancti Spiritus Ready to Co-operate With Our Army.

An artist who has just arrived at Key West from Gomez's camp says that there are 18,000 Cubans in the neighborhood of Sancti Spiritus, but they are short of arms and ammunition. They also have difficulty in obtaining sufficient food, but are full of enthusiasm and desire to co-operate with our army.

The condition of the reconcentrados is described as pitiful in the extreme.

Spanish Cabinet Crisis On.

It is announced at Madrid that the cabinet ministers have placed their portfolios in the hands of Senor Sagasta, the premier, with the view of a probable reconstruction of the ministry.

Blanco's Stories Baseless.

Secretary Long says Blanco's report as to the foundering of the Cincinnati is baseless, as the ship is at Key West. He also denies that the Montgomery had an engagement.

Gen. Wheeler Given His Commission.

General Wheeler took the oath of office Friday, solemnly swearing to defend the United States against all enemies foreign and domestic. He was the first of the four major-generals to be mustered into the volunteer army, but he is the first ex-Confederate officer to receive a commission in the military service of the United States.

The Alabama Will Be Launched May 18.

The battleship Alabama will be launched at Philadelphia of the 18th of this month, and orders have been issued to the Cramp to hasten the work as rapidly as possible.

Two Officers Slain.

Corporal Anthony Cleary was shot and killed Friday in New Orleans by Dennis Burrell, a negro whom he had arrested for robbery. Tremendous excitement followed. The police and a mob chased the murderer and finally surrounded him. In the attempt to capture the negro he shot and killed Officer Trimp. The murderer was finally shot and his body riddled with bullets.

Gov. Budd, of California, has been warned of what is alleged to be a plot against his life by Spaniards.

WINE OF CARDUI

For Mothers!

THE discomforts and dangers of child-birth can be almost entirely avoided. Wine of Cardui relieves expectant mothers. It gives tone to the genital organs, and puts them in condition to do their work perfectly. That makes pregnancy less painful, shortens labor and hastens recovery after child-birth. It helps a woman bear strong healthy children.

McELREE'S

has also brought happiness to thousands of homes barren for years. A few doses often brings joy to loving hearts that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. LOUISA HALE, of Jefferson, Ga., says:

"When I first took Wine of Cardui we had been married three years, but could not have any children. Nine months later I had a fine girl baby."

No matter what the matter is, one will do you good, and you can get ten for five cents.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low price (5 cts) is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. Best medicine ever made since the world was created.

WANTED AGENTS.

"The Confederate Soldier in the Civil War," contains 703 pages 12 x 16 inches, and over 1,100 large Battle Scenes, Portraits, Maps, etc. The greatest and largest War Book ever published, and the only one that does justice to the Confederate soldier and the cause he fought for. Agents wanted everywhere to sell this book on our new and easy plan. Many of the lady and gentlemen agents who are at work are making from $50 to $200 per month. Veterans, Sons and Daughters of Veterans, and others interested are requested to send for a beautiful illustrated descriptive circular, free, and terms to agents. Address COURIER-JOURNAL JOB PRINTING Co., Louisville, Ky.

Why She Smiles Sweetly.

Sparkling eyes, quick beating heart, and the rosy blush of pleasure on the cheeks, makes the strong man happy when he meets his lady love. That's the kind of a man whose very touch thrills because he is full of energy, vigorous nerve power and vitality. Tobacco makes strong men impotent, weak and skinny. No-To-Bac sold by druggists everywhere. Guaranteed to cure. Book, titled, "Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Life Away," free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co., New York or Chicago.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

Is the greatest Labor Organization the world has ever seen.

It is the only organization which, while striving to secure for wage-workers the best possible terms as to wages, hours and conditions, aims at reforming the causes of industrial injustice.

It secures to each trade and locality absolute control over its own trade or local affairs, yet its perfect organization enables its members to act helpfully, promptly, and therefore, effectively when concentrated action becomes necessary to remedy injustice or to resist oppression.

It is pledged to work for the overthrow of the capitalistic system of production and exchange, yet, realizing that reforms can only be beneficial and permanent when they rest upon the convictions of a wisely educated people, it seeks to accomplish its objects only by appeals to reason and conscience—never by force.

It is a secret organization only so far as secrecy is necessary to protect its members from wrong and persecution, and can never be used to shield wrong-doing.

Its doors are open to all who labor honestly and usefully either by hand or brain, without question or discrimination on account of creed, race or nationality.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for it is, as Dr. Hookman says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such, it presents to its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the political, economic, and literary activities and are particularly which are of value to all men and women. The "Progress of the World" is concisely an illustrated summary of the month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current magazines in all departments; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of serious import.

"We know of no review published, in this country or in Europe, which combines so successfully as the AMERICAN MONTHLY the alertness, completeness, and energy of journalism with the scholarly judgment, carefully weighed opinion, exact knowledge, and well-chosen English of the purely literary periodical."—The Outlook.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly publication the information needed by intelligent people of "live" instincts is best shown by the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library in itself"; "a historical cyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of aid for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a triumph of genius"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

PLANS OF CAMPAIGN.

EX-SECRETARY HERBERT TELLS WHICH SPAIN MAY FOLLOW.

Does Not Believe It Practicable For Spain to Bombard Our Cities—His Opinion Is That She Will Fight For Dominion In Cuban Waters.

What will be Spain's plan of campaign?

Will Sagasta send the Spanish ships to Cuban waters and endeavor to break the blockade and relieve the Spanish army?

If he does not do this, there are two other plans open to him. One is to retain the Spanish navy near home and wait until it is attacked. To do this would be not to fight at all. We will be contented, certainly for a time, if we can capture Cuba and relieve the situation there which has caused the war. Assuredly Spain will not consent that the navy shall be idle.

Another plan, and one which it is possible now that Spain will follow, is to make a diversion upon our Atlantic coast either by sending a large fleet to attack some of our seacoast cities or by scattering the Spanish fleet, or at least the swiftest vessels it has, to make a raid upon our commerce.

I cannot believe it is practicable for Spain to attempt to bombard any of our cities. Unarmored vessels cannot do it, because they couldn't withstand shots from the smallest of our coast defense guns, and Spain's armored vessels have not sufficient coal endurance to enable them to undertake such expeditions. They have no coaling stations convenient. Their vessels could not carry sufficient supplies to justify such an attempt. Any effort to bring us to terms by raiding our commerce would be fruitless. Perhaps no war was ever yet decided by commerce destroying.

Our transatlantic lines must no doubt cease to make their trips. We cannot spare men-of-war to convoy them. Our swift vessels are needed, part of them as scouts and part to hunt and destroy Spanish commerce destroyers and privateers. Nor will there be found, even in our coastwise commerce, any very tempting bait for privateers. Not many of these ships will be able to capture vessels on our Atlantic coast and get them safely into a Spanish port for condemnation as prizes. Certainly if we are left alone in Cuban waters no Spanish port will long be open in Puerto Rico or Cuba.

The only other plan open to Spain is to fight for dominion in Cuban waters. This I believe she will do. This opinion is ventured simply because you have asked for it. It may of course turn out that I am mistaken, as an enemy always undertakes to do just exactly what he is not expected to do, especially when he is inferior in strength, as Spain undoubtedly is to the United States. But Spanish sentiment at home has impelled Spain into this unequal contest, and it is not easy to see how that government, in the face of that sentiment, can refuse to fight for Cuba.

This is the subject matter of this war. There is the flower of the Spanish army. There are the brothers and the sons of these people in obedience to whose mandates Sagasta has taken up the gage of battle, and it is not believed that he can afford to leave that army to be captured and that island to be surrendered without at least one brave and determined effort to relieve it. Spanish honor, of which we have heard so much, will not submit to it.

Some time probably will be taken to collect the Spanish naval forces, and efforts will no doubt be made to scatter our fleet by diversions against our coast line and our commerce, but it seems probable that all these diversions will have the one end in view of finally getting relief to Cuba by means of Spanish fleets. There lies the heart of this contest. Spain might as well give up all thought of making war against us as to make no effort for relief on the island. —Ex-Secretary Herbert of the Navy in New York World.

AN "IGNORANCE CLUB."

A Rochester Society Where Members May Show Their Lack of Knowledge.

Mrs. Jane Marsh Parker has the distinction of being the founder of the only ignorance club in the United States. Instead of starting out with the assumption that the members have an abundance of knowledge upon every known subject the chief plank in its platform is, "We know nothing, but seek knowledge."

The Fortnightly Ignorance club is the title, Rochester is its home, and, starting with half a dozen members meeting in Judge Parker's office, it soon grew to several hundred members, with the chamber of commerce for its headquarters. Mrs. Parker is the secretary and Dr. Sarah R. A. Dolley, one of the first women in this country to study medicine, is the president. Miss Susan B. Anthony is an honorary member.

Each member of the ignorance club is privileged to display all the ignorance she can muster. A night is read apart for the meetings, and the subject selected for the next meeting is one of which it is known little but wishes to know more.—New York Sun.

TO SERVE AS SCOUTS.

PLAN TO SEND TWO THOUSAND SIOUX INDIANS TO CUBA.

The Braves Are Eager For Service—Their Qualifications as Fighters—Chiefs Who Would Make the Selections From 6,000 Warriors—Cheyennes Anxious to Go.

The Chicago Record published recently a dispatch from Omaha giving the details of the war department scheme for enlisting Sioux Indians to engage in the fight with Spain.

The department of the Missouri, with headquarters at Omaha, has been assigned the task of arranging the preliminary details of the new Indian arm of the service. General Coppinger, commanding the department, has completed arrangements for rushing the organization, so that it will be ready for service in less than 30 days after war shall begin.

The work of preparing the Indian command was assigned to this department because the officers here are more familiar with the characteristics of the Sioux, from which tribe the detail will be selected, than are other members of the army. Many men now connected with the department of the Missouri have spent the last 30 years in this section of the west and personally have defended the border in every Indian uprising during that period. In all the historic battles with the Indians during that time the warriors of the Sioux nation have been the leading spirits. As they were always the prime movers in starting hostilities, so they were always the most courageous. Other tribes were always anxious to begin fighting on the frontier, but they were mostly ready to surrender just when the daring Sioux were doing their most desperate work.

It is for these reasons that the war department has selected the Sioux as the tribe from which the Indian companies will be formed for the Cuban campaign. Four regiments will be organized, requiring 2,000 men. Several weeks ago a number of the young Sioux subchiefs at Pine Ridge agency notified the Indian agent that they were anxious to help in the war which the government was about to make on its enemies. Among the number who volunteered their services were Chief Spotted Elk and Chief Standing Bear. They are two of the most daring chiefs of the Sioux and have a strong following. Their bands number 300 each, but in actual hostilities they can count on twice that number of fighting men, because their well known fighting qualities assure the young bucks of plenty of excitement in their bands. The services of these two chiefs will be accepted. In fact, they have been so informed by the Indian agent at Pine Ridge.

The head chief of the Sioux, Young-Man-Afraid-of-His-Horses, did not volunteer, but his services have been secured. The agent requested a personal interview with him, and he expressed a great willingness to show his loyalty to the government. Young-Man-Afraid-of-His-Horses explained that he would have volunteered his services for the campaign, but feared that the army officers entertained a prejudice against him because he killed Lieutenant Casey during the Sioux campaign of 1890-91. When assured that the army officers had no such feeling, the young chief was pleased and said he would at once go among his young men and tell them to get ready for the war. Since then the chief has ridden all over the reservations of Pine Ridge and Rosebud and has stirred up much excitement among the Sioux warriors. There is much excitement among the bucks of the tribe. They are elated to think they have been selected for this fighting because of their prowess on the battle field. Indians are keenly sensitive to such flattery, and this recognition of the claims of the Sioux to the distinction of first class fighting men has done more than any thing could to raise the government in their estimation.

As the recruiting officers will make their selection from 6,000 of the finest specimens of Indian warriors in the world, the 2,000 Indians finally enlisted in the army ought to be splendid timber. The selections will be made in person by Chief Young-Man-Afraid-of-His-Horses, assisted by Spotted Elk and Standing Bear. The chiefs will select each man on account of his well known fighting qualities, accuracy with the rifle, expertness as a horseman and general worth as a Sioux warrior. This examination is much more severe than that in force in the regular army of the United States. All of the chosen warriors will be veterans in a sense, as they have seen service on more than one battlefield. The Cheyennes are anxious to form one of the regiments, but the Sioux objected vociferously that the war department officials included to have the Indian scouts composed wholly of Sioux. These Indians will not require more than 48 hours notice to appear at the reservation for fighting.

Novel Bridge Used by Cossacks.

Cossack regiments are being drilled in crossing rivers on a novel sort of improvised bridge. Sheets of eight lances are passed between the handles and tops of a dozen cooking kettles and are held firmly in place by two ropes, besides being tied together with forage ropes. A dozen such bundles fastened together form one section of a raft or floating bridge and are capable of sustaining half a ton of weight. A section can be put together in 25 minutes.—New York Tribune.

Any Way to Get Out.

Nobody's particular about how Spain gets out of Cuba. Backing out early might be as wise as any method.—Philadelphia Times.

What the Chinese Call It.

The Chinese name for the new game which the European powers are playing in the east is "pluck pidgin."—New York Tribune.

The Reason.

"What a firm, manly tread that young Simmons has."

"Yes; he's commenced using a higher gear."—Cleveland Leader.

LIGHTHOUSES TO CLOSE UP.

Scheme For Wrecking Hostile Ships at the Entrance to Long Island Sound.

The possibility of a vessel of a hostile nation creeping into Long Island sound through the Race is attracting much attention in the cities along the north shore. It is held by some experts that a hostile vessel might in thick weather pass the fortifications now being prepared to guard the Race. To prevent this, it is said, the lighthouse board for the Watch Hill district has arranged for the extinguishing of all the lights in the different lighthouse stations in this section, a measure that would make it almost impossible for any strange craft to make her way into the waters of the sound.

It is said that a code of signals has been prepared by the board for the keepers of these lighthouses so that the lights in their towers can be extinguished in short order and their fog whistles and voices rendered voiceless. Few of the nerviest of the regular sound navigators today would care to undertake to bring a vessel of importance into this sheet of water through either the Race, Plum Gut or Fisher's Island sound in thick or dark weather without the guidance furnished by the lighthouses. The risk would be altogether too great, it is believed, for any foreign warship to undertake. The principal lights affected are understood to be Watch Hill, Race Rock, Montauk, Plum Island, Little Gull Island, Bartlett's Reef and Horton's Point.—New York Sun.

VALUABLE SOLUTION.

By Which Frederick Moss Believes He Can Make Wood Impenetrable.

Frederick R. Moss of Binghamton believes he has discovered a process that will practically supplant iron sheathing for war vessels. He is the possessor of a secret solution that will after a few hours' treatment turn timber as hard as a piece of iron—in fact, those who have witnessed tests say it will stand more than the best tempered steel. A piece of 2 by 4 pine, 3 feet long, soaked in the solution for six days, presents a grayish brown color and weighs 78 pounds to the foot. A board treated in this manner withstood the penetrating powers of a rifle bullet fired at a distance of six feet, the bullet leaving only a scratchlike mark.

Mr. Moss says the discovery was an accident, and that the solution can be cheaply made, pine proving the best wood to work with, but hemlock, cedar or any lumber with an absorbent grain can be used. Mr. Moss believes his discovery will revolutionize the construction of battleships, as impenetrable armor plate can be made at an almost trifling cost. He has submitted samples to the navy department and expects to give a test before a board in a short time. He is reticent regarding the composition of his solution, but his friends believe he has found a fortune.—New York Press.

MODERN BATTLESHIP.

Electrician Dahlman Says It Is a Regular Bundle of Electric Nerves.

"The modern battleship," said Mr. W. E. Dahlman, a well known New York electrician, in Washington the other day, "is a regular bundle of electric nerves, through which circulates the current performing various offices for the comfort, safety and convenience of the crew. It lights the ship in every part; it brings up ammunition from the magazines; it helps to load the guns, and when they are loaded it fires them. It aids in steering the ship; by its agency the officer on the bridge directs the engineers and the man at the wheel; it sends torpedoes on their deadly errands, and it furnishes the power for the great searchlights by which signals are sent at night and by which the sea is patrolled.

"Our war with Spain will be largely a war of electrical machinery, and one of our chief advantages lies in the fact that we are a nation of mechanists, our specialty being in the domain of electricity. In that we excel the rest of the world, and our mastery of the subtle force will be one of the greatest factors in the struggle that will end in the humiliating defeat of the Spanish nation."—Washington Post.

Many old soldiers now feel the effects of the hard service they endured during the war. Mr. Geo. S. Anderson, of Rossville, York county, Penn., who saw the hardest kind of service at the front, is now frequently troubled with rheumatism. "I had a severe attack lately," he says, "and procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It did so much good that I would like to know what you would charge me for one dozen bottles." Mr Anderson wanted it both for his own use and to supply it to his friends and neighbors as every family should have a bottle of it in their home, not only for rheumatism, but lame back, sprains, swellings, cuts, bruises and burns, for which it is unequalled. PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

CLANTON, ALABAMA.

So many bicycles made in the United States have been shipped across the seas and sold in Germany that, instead of trying to learn with all her skilled labor how to make them as well and as cheap as we do, her manufacturers in that line have raised their hands and cried aloud for mercy.

When the Philippine chiefs subsided so quietly there were not a few skeptical ones who declared that as soon as they had fairly got possession of the price of their submission they would appear again in hostility to Spain. Already there are reports of letters from Manila urging those at Hongkong to take the field again. Spanish suppression of revolution is seldom permanent.

The Chicago Record says: "The regulation of the railways presents a serious problem for this country and one that must be faced. The declaration of Mr. Adams of the interstate commerce commission that in the ten years of the operation of the interstate commerce law we have done little to settle the questions should serve to arouse practical students of public questions to a more serious consideration of the problems involved."

A prominent educator, talking to mothers, says that with all children there are nascent periods that is, there are certain times when a child can learn to do things easier and better than at others. The growth of the brain is not generally understood. There is, however, an ebb and flow of interest. The children apply themselves assiduously for a time, then comes arrest, and educators are now disputing whether to urge the child along or after the ebb wait for the certain return of interest in their work.

Statistics show that there are in the United States approximately 800,000 employes of railroads, and to be found among this number are: One hundred thousand station men, 35,000 locomotive engineers, 40,000 firemen and helpers, 25,000 conductors and despatchers, 65,000 trainmen, 30,000 machinists, 100,000 shopmen other than machinists, 20,000 telegraph operators and their helpers, 45,000 switchmen, flagmen and watchmen, and 175,000 trackmen. And is it not reasonably safe to suppose that this vast army represents, in those dependent upon each for support, at least three others, making the total number who have to look to the railroads of this country for a living 2,480,000 persons? And is the other fact comprehended, that the railways of the United States expend each year—not counting the interest paid upon its bonds, or the dividends paid upon its preferred and common stock—more than $100,000,000 in excess of the total expenditures of the United States government? Indeed, the railroads are the great disbursing agencies of the country.

Professor Henry C. Adams observes in the Atlantic: "The merchant, the manufacturer and the farmer, working under conditions of industrial liberty, do not seem to require any peculiar supervision on the part of the state, for competition is adequate to insure relative justice as between custom, as well as the sale of goods at a fair price. But in the railway industry, competition does not work so beneficent a result. On the contrary, such is its nature that it imposes on railway managers the necessity of disregarding equity between customers, and of fixing rates without considering their fairness, whether judged from the point of view of cost or of social results. Were this not true there would be no railway problem. The railway industry is an extensive and not an intensive industry. Ability to perform a unit of service cheaply depends more upon the quantity of business transacted than upon attention to minute details. The expenses incident to the operations of a railway do not increase in proportion to the increase in the volume of traffic. This does not pertain to the business of the manufacturer, the merchant or the farmer, but is peculiar to the business of transportation. It is adequate to explain why all advanced peoples have surrounded the administration of railways with peculiar legal restrictions. The necessity of some sort of government control lies in the nature of the business itself.

BATTLE AT CIENFUEGOS.

United States Cruisers Went There Cut the Santiago Cable.

THE WORK DONE UNDER A HOT FIRE.

Thousands of Spanish There Who Poured in a Terrific Fusilade of Bullets. One Seaman Killed: Several Wounded. Spanish Loss said to be Heavy.

The United States cruiser Marblehead, the gunboat Nashville, and the auxiliary cruiser Windom steamed up to the harbor of Cienfuegos early Wednesday morning with orders to cut the cable connecting Havana with Santiago de Cuba. This task was accomplished, but only after a terrific fight between our warships and several thousand Spanish troops, which lined the shore and lay concealed behind improvised breastworks. One man, a seaman, named Reagan, of the Marblehead, was killed in one of the working small boats, and six men were severely wounded. In addition, a large number on board the ship received minor wounds.

Soon after the arrival of the warships off Cienfuegos four boats were launched and proceeded to shore for the purpose of grappling for the cable, in order to cut it. The warships lay to about 1,000 yards or more off the harbor. It was observed that the Spanish troops had assembled on shore, but it was not known that heavy guns had been placed in a masked battery, and that the old lighthouse, far out on a neck of land, had been transformed into a formidable fort.

When the commanders of the Marblehead and Nashville called for volunteers to man the boats and cut the cable, the men responded with a jump. Lieutenant C. M. Winslow, of the Nashville, took command of the Nashville's boats.

The shore surrounding the entrance of the harbor was first shelled, and then the boats proceeded in. Then the work of fishing for the cable was slowly and cautiously proceeded with.

One of the relays of the cable had been cut when the Spaniards opened fire. The marines in the boat replied at once, and a machine gun from the forward launch sent in a stream of bullets, while heavy shells from the warship drove the Spaniards from the rifle pits ashore, many of them seeking refuge in the lighthouse fort, which was afterwards torn to pieces by a shell from the Windom. As there were great numbers of Spaniards in and behind the fort at the time, there is no doubt that many of them were killed.

With desperate courage, the American sailors remained calm at their posts, and succeeded in dragging up the second relay of the cable and severing it.

The Marblehead was struck scores of times by bullets from machine guns, and the Nashville suffered to about the same extent. The Windom also had many marks of the fray. Her shell which blew up the lighthouse and scattered the Spaniards in all directions ended the battle.

FLYING SQUADRON ORDERED OUT.

The Fleet Moves Out to Sea With Sealed Orders—May Join Sampson.

Five vessels of the flying squadron, led by the flagship Brooklyn, steamed out of Hampton Roads Friday afternoon and after passing the Virginia capes took a southerly course, going, it is said, to augment Admiral Sampson's fleet now in the vicinity of Porto Rico.

The order directing the squadron to put to sea came at midnight Thursday night. A few minutes later the signal "be ready to put to sea at daybreak" was flashed from the flagship. However, the fleet did not get final orders to move until Friday afternoon, when the signal ordering the battleships Texas, Minneapolis, St. Paul, New Orleans, the dispatch boat Scorpion and collier Sterling to weigh anchor was run to the top of the of the Brooklyn's military mast. Thirty minutes later smoke was curling from the stacks on the ships and they were plowing the sea at a rate of 15 knots.

The fleet will join Admiral Sampson's squadron. This statement came from a reliable source

Letter Blamed for Bread Riots.

The London newspapers are publishing cartoons and articles holding Joseph Leiter, the Chicago grain manipulator, responsible for the situation in Italy. The Morning Leader says: "English corn is now higher than for many years. In France there have been threatening mutterings of trouble, in Spain there are bread riots and in Italy there are barricades, burning houses, fighting, revolution—in fact, on the part of the people, who are unable to get bread, and who think it better to die by the bullet than starve. The very throne seems to totter because bread is so dear. Other people pay for Leiter's experience."

Troops to Assemble at Chickamauga

The war department issued orders for the assembling of 29,087 volunteers at Chickamauga. This embraces twenty regiments and five batteries from the following states: Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Indiana, Illinois, Maine, Missouri, New Hampshire, New York, Iowa, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Vermont.

THE CREAM OF WAR NEWS.

Unless all signs fail there will be a naval engagement between the Sampson squadron and the Spanish fleet within the next thirty six hours. The opposing forces are gradually getting nearer each other.

The situation is growing exceedingly critical at Manila. The administration is being severely criticised for not having sent reinforcements there two weeks ago. A second call for volunteers will shortly be made by President McKinley, unless present indications are completely misleading. The matter was discussed at the white house Saturday night. Dewey's report from the Philippines, and his urgent request for a large army of occupation, had resulted in the determination to send thirty thousand troops to Manila. President McKinley, in announcing to the war board his approval of this proposition, said: "The United States will protect its interest and will send reinforcements to the necessary points, even if a second call for volunteers is necessary."

The dissolution of the Madrid ministry has put Spain into a state of riot. The Carlists are active and persistent in demanding that either Weyler or Campos be made dictator. The Spanish throne is indeed tottering.

The navy department fears the Harvard may be attacked by the Spanish ship Terror, which is lying in wait for her at Martinique. The cutting of the cable between St. Lucias and St. Vincent, in the Carribbean sea, is believed will be the first step in the attempt to destroy the Oregon, Mariotta and Buffalo, now off the eastern coast of Brazil, but steaming northward to join Sampson's fleet. These three vessels are now in great danger from attack before they can approach Cuban waters.

At Curacoa, about 200 miles north of the Venezuelan coast, the Vizcaya and Maria Teresa spent Sunday taking on coal. The Cristobal Colon, Almirante Oquendo, Terror and Pluton spent the day outside scouting around and keeping a lookout for American vessels. Other Spanish vessels were reported in neighboring waters. Supplies were purchased. Sampson's fleet passed Porto Plata Saturday night, and was steaming west, destined, it is believed, for Cuban waters, where he will, if he can reach there before Spanish forces, wait the coming of the Spanish fleet, which, it is thought, is sailing now in the direction of Havana, or some other Cuban port. It is thought, also, the Spanish squadron is planning to make a sudden descent upon the small vessels now blockading Cuba and destroy them before Admiral Sampson can come to their rescue, or even Schley, with the flying squadron, will be able to arrive there.

A Cuban delegate at Key West, referring to the failure of the Gussie expedition, says it is foolish to try to land small bodies of troops until the Spaniards are driven away from the coast. The Gussie expedition was a mistake.

The minister of foreign affairs at Rome says an Anglo-American alliance would hasten peace, and establish equilibrium in the far east and tend to preserve peace to Europe.

Rear Admiral Irwin makes an exact comparison of strength of American and Spanish squadrons and a forecast of the result in case of an engagement and finds the American navy the superior.

The new cabinet to be formed by Spain will be created with a view to establishing a more decided war policy, and to have it prosecuted with greater vigor. A general crisis is believed to be approaching in Madrid, and the queen regent may be forced to abdicate at any day. Spain has as much to fear from internal dissension as she has from American guns. It is probable that Alfonso, the boy king, will never ascend the throne. Spain may soon become a republic.

Spain's Loss at Manila.

Spain's loss in ships as the result of the battle of Manila, it is figured, aggregates $4,700,000. Estimated at their market value, which is much less than Spain paid for them, the figures in round numbers are: Don Juan de Austria, $1,000,000; Reina Christina, $1,000,000; Isle de Luzon, $200,000; Velasco, $600,000; Castilla, $500,000; Don Antonio de Ulloa, $1,000,000; Isla de Cuba, $200,000; Isla de Mindanao, $100,000 and others, $1,000,000. This loss, however, is small in comparison with the destruction of life and the loss of the islands and the rich revenue they have been paying to the Madrid government.

Grain Elevator Destroyed by Fire.

Grain elevator "D," belonging to the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad at Chicago, was destroyed by fire. The loss on the building and contents will aggregate about $2,200,000. The elevator contained 1,115,000 bushels of grain, valued at $800,000, the property of P. D. Armour. The grain was fully insured.

Cape Verde Fleet Located.

A special from Madrid says Bermejo admitted Thursday evening that the Cape Verde squadron was at Fort De France, Martinique.

VOLUNTEERS ORDERED TO MARCH

Orders Issued at Washington That 65,000 Be Mustered In.

Sixty-five thousand troops have been mustered in. Orders were issued Sunday directing that fifty-three regiments of infantry, eleven light batteries of artillery, and thirty troops of volunteer cavalry go to Chickamauga, nine regiments and five battalions of infantry and four batteries of artillery to San Francisco, one regiment of infantry to Key West, four regiments of infantry to Mobile, thirteen regiments of infantry to Washington, thirteen regiments of infantry to Tampa.

In addition to the troops ordered to camps, a considerable number were ordered to report to department commanders.

Within forty eight hours from the time the order was issued for the mobilization of state troops already mustered into the regular service at Chickamauga, 8,600 men, representing six great states, have reported to Major General Brooke. These soldiers have been moved not only rapidly but without delay or accident of any kind.

PRESIDENT CHANGES POLICY.

All Forts to Be Attacked Where Resistance Is Offered.

WASHINGTON (Special).—President McKinley has abandoned his peaceful blockade idea. When our ships approach a Cuban harbor hereafter it will be with business intent. Orders were telegraphed Monday morning that will give Commodore Watson an opportunity to turn his ships loose on all fortifications where resistance is offered. Every Cuban port that is strongly protected will be attacked and the bombardment will be kept up until Spanish guns are silenced and gunboats sunk.

Secretary Long insists that in the future our light fighting crafts shall not be permitted to risk destruction by facing superior batteries.

Within a week the board of strategy will be a reminiscence, except as to name. A complete change of policy has been mapped out by the secretary of the navy. Instead of fighting sea battles here in the department on paper, they are hereafter to be fought by the officers at the scene of action.

It will be the plan of the secretary of the navy, after this week, to leave more to the discretion and tact of the officers in command, reserving to himself and his department advisers the right to counsel and veto anything which may be, in their judgment, entirely an error.

MAY ANNEX HAWAII.

A Number of Democrats in the House Now Favor the Measure.

The most notable event in the House proceedings of the present week will be the introduction of the resolutions providing for the annexation of Hawaii. The committee on foreign affairs has decided to report favorably the resolutions.

A very large majority of the republicans, and, it is claimed, fifteen democratic members, favor the proposition, and would like to have immediate action, consideration will be postponed likely until after this week. It is argued that the resolution will probably pass as a war exigency, naval experts having strongly urged the importance of having a base of supplies in the Pacific, especially now that Admiral Dewey is in practical possession of Manila.

APPROACHING CIENFUEGOS.

The Spanish Fleet Heading for the Southern Coast of Cuba.

The blockaders on the south coast of Cuba have been warned that the Spanish squadron is reported off Venezuela, bound northwest, and to double their vigilance. Powerful vessels, which it is not necessary to name, will be ready to aid the ships stationed there in resisting the progress of the enemy.

There is small chance that the Spanish will be able to enter Cienfuegos, a fortified fort, desirable to them on account of the large coaling facilities and machine shops as capable as any in Cuba. Both our squadrons are informed about the course of the Spanish flotilla.

An Alabama Authoress Dead.

Mrs. Adelaide DeV. Chandron, who from 1850 to 1870 enjoyed an extended reputation in the South for her literary productions, and notably for her translations of Hugo and Muhlback's works, which circulated in all the Southern armies, died at Mobile Saturday evening, aged 82 years.

No Peace Yet.

MADRID.—It is officially denied that the cabinet changes are connected with a peace movement. On the contrary, it is declared that Premier Sagasta's ministry, when the new cabinet is formed, will continue to prosecute the war with the full resources of the country.

Can Coal Only With Government's Will.

ST. THOMAS, DANISH WEST INDIES.—An official announcement just issued by the governor of the island of St. Thomas prohibited the delivery of coal to warships of the belligerent powers without the previous permission of the governor, who will determine the amount each vessel may receive, and who will supervise delivery.

Judge J. A. Bilbro was renominated at Fort Payne, Ala., by the democratic judicial convention to succeed himself as judge of the Seventh judicial circuit.

[illegible] intimated to the United States [illegible] hero, that she expects to have a voice in the disposition of the Philippine Islands, basing her claim on German interests in those islands. Diplomats who are in a position to know [illegible] in the case credit the report that Germany may demand exclusive control of Samoa and the price of her acquiescence to American sovereignty over the Philippine Islands. Or as an alternative, Germany may demand cession of more of the Philippine islands, including a harbor suitable for a coal depot in Hawaii, which promises to add to the complications.

SPANISH CABINET RESIGNS.

Senor Sagasta Entrusted With Formation of a New Council.

MADRID.—(Special.)—All the members of the Spanish cabinet have resigned. Senor Sagasta will communicate the situation to the Queen Regent, who will entrust him with the task of forming a new ministry.

The Spanish cabinet, which has just resigned, was composed as follows: President of the Council, Senor Sagasta; Minister of Foreign Affairs, Senor Gullon; Minister of Justice, Senor Groizard; Minister of Finance, Senor Puigcerver; Minister of the Interior, Senor Capdepon; Minister of War, General Correa; Minister of Marine, Admiral Bermejo; Minister of Agriculture and Commerce and Public Works, Count Xiquena; Minister of the Colonies, Senor Morot.

The Peabody Summer School of Pedagogy.

Organized and managed under the joint control of the Peabody Educational Fund, the State Superintendent of Education of Alabama and the State Normal College, at Troy, Ala., it has begun its "Annual Session" at Troy on June 1, and to continue four weeks. It is especially designed for teachers already in the work of teaching and who desire to acquire a professional knowledge of teaching with a view to higher work and increased pay. This Summer School is held in connection with the last months of the State Normal College, and all the classes of the college are open to the teachers attending the same. The work done in the Summer School of Pedagogy is credited in the State Normal College records and teachers finishing the College "Extension Work" connected with this Summer School of Pedagogy and the State Normal College are afforded graduation with State Certificate or Life Diploma, good in all parts of Alabama and recognized in every section of the Union as most valuable credentials as to "Professional Standing. Many hundreds of teachers have been upon this course in the past ten years, and a large number are now pursuing the work. Some school boards have required their entire corps of teachers to attend this Peabody Summer School of Pedagogy, and this grows more popular year by year. It is hoped that the usual reduction of railroad fares will be secured and low rates of board are assured. Teachers are admitted from every section and should write at once for particulars and make arrangements for room and boarding. A fine corps of instructors and lecturers will be found ready to serve the many classes that will be formed.

If the man wants only a "high stepper" let him buy the coach horse, which is bred for the purpose, and not try to make a coacher out of a cart horse. Similarly, if he wants a horse that carries his head high, let him buy one of the breed that does so by nature, instead of one that has to be strapped up till his neck aches. But as to the tail, we believe that the law now recognizes the use of that appendage as the horse's only defense against the torture of flies, mosquitoes and gnats and makes "docking" a penal offense hereafter as it ought to be.—Brooklyn Citizen.

SPANISH FLEET AT MARTINIQUE.

Instructed to Put to Sea Immediately—Destination Unknown.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary of the Navy Long Friday morning received official advices from Martinique, West Indies, that the Spanish squadron had been sighted to the westward of the island. Martinique is about [illegible] in a southerly direction from San Juan de Porto Rico, where the American squadron under Admiral Sampson was in action Thursday.

The Spanish vessels off Martinique compose the formidable squadron recently collected at the Cape Verde Islands and which sailed from there in a westwardly direction two weeks ago.

Upon receipt of this information Secretary Long ordered Commodore Schley, at Hampton Roads, to put to sea at once with the flying squadron, and he sailed Friday. While its destination is not known, it is believed that the squadron has been sent in pursuit of the Spanish squadron.

Will Leave Immediately.

MADRID.—There is great excitement here among public officials at the news of the arrival of the Spanish fleet at Martinique. It is now said the ships went there on purpose to coal and that two large trans-Atlantic steamers, loaded with coal, were awaiting them at Fort de France. Another object for the call of the Spanish fleet at Martinique was to communicate with the Spanish government and ascertain the whereabouts of the American fleet.

The fleet will leave Martinique immediately for an unknown destination, and, it is added, some days may elapse before the Spanish ships are again heard from.

CHAOS REIGNS AT CAMAGUEY.

Spaniards Joining the Insurgents—900 Die in Four Days.

A dispatch from Nuevitas, Cuba, by way of Nassau, N. P., says:

Chaos reigns at Camaguey and fear and famine at Nuevitas. Every boat in this harbor, steam and sail, has been jammed into the narrow channel, to be sunk at the first sign of an attack. Two thousand soldiers guard the entrance, twelve miles from the city, and four old cannon have been mounted on an island in the harbor.

People are starving. Salt pork costs $1.50 a pound, rice 50 cents and goats bring $100 each. The Spanish commander told the starving citizens to go into the country, as he could not feed them. Many soldiers are joining the insurgents to get food.

The conditions at Puerto Principe are still worse. The surrounding forts are almost abandoned. A column of 5,000 Spaniards started for Moron, carrying a flag of truce. When fired upon by the insurgents the commander sent word that he was no longer making war upon Cubans, but was going to the coast to fight Americans.

Gen. Lopez Recco replied: "Spain cannot fight the United States without fighting us. Their war is our war," and again opened fire.

The Spaniards lost 900 men in the four days' march to the sea. Pacificos, spongers and fishermen are being pressed into Spanish service. The Spanish columns on the way to the coast are burning all the country homes.

President Masso has ordered Gens. Gomez and Garcia to meet himself and cabinet at Moron trocha, where there will be a concentration of the Cuban forces.

DESPERATE CONDITION IN SPAIN.

Martial Law Has Been Proclaimed Throughout the Kingdom.

A dispatch from Madrid says: Spain's condition at home is desperate. Rioting everywhere aggravates the political crisis. Martial law has been proclaimed throughout the kingdom. The Military Governors of some provinces have summoned the editors of the newspapers and warned them to have a care about what they publish or soldiers will be sent to smash everything in their offices. Editors of obnoxious newspapers will be sent without trial to Fernando Po, a penal station on the coast of Equatorial West Africa.

In view of a probable revolution on the next news of disaster, the Liberals and Conservatives have promised the queen to support a Dictatorial Military cabinet under Marshal Campos, should events demand it.

Spain Files Protest Against France.

The Spanish government has filed a protest at the foreign office in Paris against the permission given by the French authorities at Martinique to the United States auxiliary cruiser Harvard to remain in the harbor of St. Pierre, Martinique, for seven days to make necessary repairs. The French government has taken speedy action on the protest, and insists that the United States cruiser, being disabled, has a full right to remain seven days or such time as may be necessary to complete her repairs, and that in the meantime no steps will be taken to have her leave the French port.

Indians Anxious to Fight.

Douglas Dorland of the Cheyenne agency, at Sioux Falls, S. D., has 500 Indians listed which he has offered to the war department. The Indians are anxious to fight against Spain and will furnish their own horses.

France Must Explain.

LONDON—Special dispatches from New York say the United States government threatens to cut the cable unless France explains within forty-eight hours why the dispatch from United States Consul Dart at Martinique was delayed.

CURRENT EVENTS IN ALABAMA.

STEEL PLANT AT ENSLEY.

To Be Built by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railway Company, Now Assured.

The new $1,100,000 steel plant to be constructed by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railway Company, is practically a certainty. It will be built at Ensley City, adjoining the present [illegible] furnaces of the Tennessee Company, and it will be so constructed that the molten iron from the furnaces will be run through a sluice directly into the steel furnaces.

The new plant is to cost $1,100,000 or more, and there will be as many as a half dozen open-hearth furnaces. President Baxter and Mr. Shook, of the Tennessee Company, are in New York, and notwithstanding the war now existing, they have made splendid progress in placing the issue of $1,100,000 of bonds. J. T. Woodward, of New York, who has a large interest in several Birmingham concerns, is said to have subscribed to $50,000 of these bonds. Many other very large individual subscriptions have been made, and the new steel plant is now an absolute certainty.

Train on A. G. S. Held Up.

Alabama Great Southern passenger train No. 3, southbound, was held up by five masked men, one mile south of Cuba, Saturday night. The robbers boarded the train at Cuba, and as soon as a start was made they climbed over the tender and covered the engineer and firemen with pistols, ordering them to stop at the tank, where the robbers compelled the engineer and fireman to accompany them to the express car. Admittance was demanded, but Messenger Nicklin stood them off until he could hide all the paper money in his safe in the stove pipe. He then opened the door and three of the robbers entered, leaving two to guard the engineer and fireman. They secured several bags of silver. The officials of the company claim only $500 was taken. No attempt was made to molest the passengers, and as soon as the booty was secured the robbers made off.

Two Mobile Fakes.

A dispatch sent out from Mobile on May 7 telling that Sergeant Crowley, Company A, Third United States Infantry, had been shot and killed by a member of the Nineteenth Infantry, whom he was trying to arrest for drunkenness, was made out of the whole cloth. There was no shooting.

A dispatch from Mobile on May 10, telling of an attempt to poison the water of a stream running through the camp of the regulars, is wholly without any foundation in fact. Nothing of the sort occurred.

Gen. Wheeler Will Lead the Cavalry.

General Joseph Wheeler, the old Confederate leader, recently commissioned major-general of volunteers, will command the United States cavalry in the Cuban army of invasion.

General Wheeler reached Tampa, Fla., Friday night from Chickamauga under orders from General Miles and reported to General Wade. He will at once take command of the cavalry, which will be organized into a brigade.

New Railroad Formally Opened.

The first passenger train on the newly completed Mobile & Ohio railroad from Columbus, Miss., to Montgomery made the trip over the road Friday. It was a special with the private car of the road containing the officials who took part in the celebration of the joint M. & O. and newspaper men Wednesday at Tuskaloosa.

A Confederate Veteran Dead.

John G. Massey, a veteran of the late war, died at his home in Huntsville, aged 60 years. He was a member of Egbert Jones's Camp, U. C. V., of Huntsville. He was on the staff of General Edmund W. Pettus who commanded a brigade of Alabama troops.

Second Battalion Mustered In.

A second battalion of the First Regiment of Volunteers was mustered in at Mobile Friday, the companies being from Huntsville, Anniston, Gadsden and Decatur.

Postoffice Robbed and Burned.

The postoffice at Luverne, was robbed and burned at 1 o'clock Friday morning. All the stamps in the safe and $140 in the cash drawer were taken.

A Conductor Stabbed to Death.

John Blackman, a conductor on the Southern railroad, while attempting to capture a burglar in a store at Avondale Saturday night, was stabbed in the heart and instantly killed. Blood hounds were put on the fugitive's trail and the murderer was soon captured, who proved to be Frank Cook, a negro.

Responding to Call for Volunteers.

Colonel Higdon's call for additional volunteers from the northern part of the state for the First Alabama has not been in vain. Thirty-seven men went from Birmingham to Mobile and assigned immediately to duty.

War May Soon End.

LONDON.—The Paris correspondent of the Sunday Special says he learns from a trustworthy source that Great Britain and Germany have arrived at formal agreement with the United States to put a stop to the Hispano-American war within the next fortnight.

Gen. Henry R. Jackson, the famous Confederate major general and a veteran of the Mexican war and minister to Mexico during Cleveland's first [illegible] administration, was stricken with paralysis at Savannah, Ga., Saturday.

SUSPENDED CUBAN MOVEMENT.

Orders Issued to Gen. Miles to Hold the Invading Army Until Naval Battle Is Fought.

WASHINGTON.—Direct orders were given General Miles Friday morning suspending for the present the movement of the invading army upon Cuba. General Miles, therefore, has postponed his departure for the south, and it is announced authoritatively by war department officials that it cannot be stated with definiteness when General Miles will leave.

The suspension of the movement of the invading army upon Cuba was induced by the proximity of the Spanish Cape Verde squadron to Cuban waters. It is deemed by the department to be the part of wisdom not to risk the landing of troops on Cuban soil until the landing can be effected under the protection of a stronger fleet than is now available for the purpose of protection.

The fact that the army movement has been postponed is indirect evidence that a decisive naval battle is expected to occur within a few days. It is not doubted that the squadron under the command of Admiral Sampson will seek an engagement with the Spanish fleet at once, and it is with the idea of waiting the result of that contest that the orders for land forces are held in abeyance temporarily.

Orders to Merritt.

The United States will establish a military government over the Philippine Islands. Orders have been issued for Major-General Wesley Merritt, now commanding the Department of the East at New York, to proceed to Manila with the least possible delay for the purpose of assuming the office of military governor of the Philippines.

Major-General E. S. Otis will be second in command.

Orders were also issued for the organization of an army corps of about 12,000 men for immediate duty in the Philippine Islands. This corps will be made up of regulars and volunteer organizations stationed on the Pacific coast and in the far Western states.

BUSINESS SITUATION IMPROVES.

Confident Feeling Pervades the Iron Trade—Outlook Flattering.

Bradstreet's trade review says:

The business situation gains rather than loses in attractiveness as the spring season advances. While, of course, the very favorable situation in cereals is still the mainspring of the improvement manifesting itself in many sections of the country, there are other causes combining to make the outlook for business for the current year a flattering one.

A rather more confident feeling seems to pervade the iron trade, which is reflected in fractional advances for leading makes of iron and steel. Features of the week are very heavy sales of pig iron at many markets, but it is again claimed that stocks have begun to accumulate at some points as a result of the continued enormous production, which is placed at 1,000,000 tons per month.

The price situation is still one of great strength, but particularly so in food products, which are, with few exceptions, notably coffee and sugar, higher on the week.

Wheat exports were 3,682,513 bushels against 2,923,775 bushels last week and 2,183,000 bushels a year ago. Corn exports were 6,077,000 bushels, nearly twice that of a year ago. Failures in the United States were 250 against 251 a year ago.

AMERICANS REPULSED

At Cienfuegos With Heavy Loss, Says a Spanish Account of the Battle.

The following dispatch has been received from Havana via Madrid:

"Early Wednesday morning warships fired repeated cannon shots at Cienfuegos. In the meanwhile several steamboats, towing eight large boats loaded with arms and ammunition for the rebels, appeared off the shore. Several battalions of infantry drawn up on the seashore fired upon the boats, which speedily retreated. At the same time the batteries of the fort and others along the coast fired upon the Americans, who retreated, but again attempted to make a landing on the banks of the river Tremao. The Spaniards again repulsed them by hot volleys, inflicting heavy losses. Fourteen Spaniards were wounded."

MAINTAINING STRICT BLOCKADE.

Dewey Tells of Another Ship He Has Destroyed.

The navy department has received the following dispatch:

HONG KONG.—Secretary of the Navy: There is little change in the situation since my last telegram. I am transferring to the transport the steel breech-loading rifles from the sunken Spanish men-of-war. All stores from arsenal are in my possession. I am maintaing a strict blockade. Add Argos to list of destroyed vessels. The El Correo was probably the Elcano.

Expedition a Failure.

REV. DR. TALMAGE.

DISCOURSE BY THE EMINENT DIVINE LAST SUNDAY.

The Choice of a Wife—From a Rustic Bible Scene Is Drawn a Practical and Inspiring Lesson For All Classes of People—The Calling For Special Work.

[illegible] Moses [illegible] strated on one occasion when he saw an Egyptian oppressing an Israelite and gave the Egyptian a sudden clip and buried him in the sand, and as he showed afterward when he broke all the Ten Commandments at once by shattering the two granite slabs on which the law was written. But the injustice of this treatment of the seven girls sets him on fire with wrath, and he takes this shepherd by the throat and pushes back another shepherd till he falls over the trough, and aims a stunning blow between the eyes of another, as he cries, "Begone, you villains!" and he hoots and roars at the sheep and cattle and camels of these invaders and drives them back, and having cleared the place of the desperadoes, he told the seven girls of this Midianite sheik to gather their flocks together and bring them again to the watering.

The fact that it took the seven daughters to drive the flocks to the well implies that they were immense flocks, and that her father was a man of wealth. What was the use of Zipporah's demeaning herself with work when she might have reclined on the hillside near her father's tent, and plucked buttercups, and dreamed out romances, and sighed idly to the winds, and wept over imaginary songs to the brooks. No, she knew that work was honorable, and that every girl ought to have something to do, and so she starts with the bleating and lowing and bellowing and neighing droves to the well for the watering.

Around every home there are flocks and droves of cares and anxieties, and every daughter of the family, though there be seven, ought to be doing her part, to take care of the flocks. In many households, not only is Zipporah, but all her sisters, without practical and useful employments. Many of them are waiting for fortunate and prosperous matrimonial alliance, but some lounger like themselves will come along, and after counting the large number of father Jethro's sheep and camels will make proposal that will be accepted, and neither of them having done anything more practical than to chew chocolate caramels, the two nothings will start on the road of life together, every step more and more a failure. That daughter of the Midianitish sheik will never find her Moses.

There is a question that every father and mother ought to ask the daughter at breakfast or tea table, and that all the daughters of the wealthy sheik ought to ask each other: "What would you do if the family fortune should fail, if sickness should prostrate the breadwinner, if the flocks of Jethro should be destroyed by a sudden excursion of wolves and bears and hyenas from the mountains? What would you do for a living? Could you support yourself? Can you take care of an invalid mother or brother or sister as well as yourself? Yea, bring it down to what any day might come to a prosperous family: Can you cook a dinner if the servants should make a strike for higher wages and leave [illegible]"

There needs to be peaceful, yet radical revolution among most of the prosperous homes of America, by which the elegant do-nothings may be transformed into practical [illegible] [illegible] Zipporah [illegible] Moses.

[illegible] great [illegible] Four hundred years [illegible] promised the deliverance of the oppressed Israelites of Egypt. [illegible] is called to the work of rescue. Four hundred years is a very long time, but you see God can remember a promise four hundred years as well as you can remember four hundred minutes.

No one realizes how great he is for good or for evil. There are branchings out and rebounds, and reverberations, and elaborations of influence that can not be estimated. The fifty or one hundred years of our earthly stay is only a small part of our sphere. The flap of the wing of the destroying angel that smote the Egyptian oppressors, the wash of the Red Sea over the heads of the drowned Egyptians, were all fulfilments of promises four centuries old. And things occur in your life and in mine that we can not account for. They may be the echoes of what was promised in the sixteenth or seventeenth century. Oh, the prolongation of the divine memory!

Notice also that Moses was eighty years of age when he got this call to become the Israelitish deliverer. Forty years he had lived in palaces as a prince, another forty years he had lived in the wilderness of Arabia. Nevertheless, he undertook the work, and if we want to know whether he succeeded, ask the abandoned brick-kilns of Egyptian taskmasters, and the splintered chariot wheels strewn on the beach of the Red Sea, and the timbrels which Miriam clapped for the Israelites passed over and the Egyptians gone under.

Still further, watch this spectacle of genuine courage. No wonder when Moses scattered the rude shepherds, he won Zipporah's heart. What mattered it to Moses whether the cattle of the seven daughters of Jethro were driven from the troughs by the rude herdsmen? Sense of justice fired his courage, and the world wants more of the spirit that will dare almost anything to see others righted. All the time at wells of comfort, at wells of joy, at wells of religion, and at wells of literature there are outrages practiced, the wrong herds getting the first water. Those who have the previous right come in last, if they come in at all. Thank God, we have here and there a strong man to set things right! I am so glad that when God has an especial work to do, He has some one ready to accomplish it.

Still another, see in this call of Moses that if God has any especial work for you to do He will help you. There were Egypt and Arabia and the Palestine with their crowded population, but the man the Lord wanted was at the southern point of the triangle of Arabia, and He picks him right out, the shepherd who kept the flock of Jethro, his father-in-law, the priest and sheik. So God will not find it hard to take you out from the sixteen hundred millions of the human race if He wants you for anything especial.

O what a fascinating and inspiring character this Moses! How tame all other stories compared with the biography of Moses!

Report of Grand Jury.

To the Hon. W. B. Denson,
Judge of the 5th Judicial Circuit.

We, the Grand Jury empaneled by your honor for the Spring term of the Circuit Court of 1898 of Chilton county, beg leave to make this our final report.

We have invegsted the violations of law in our county and have returned into court seven indictments.

We have examined the county jail and find it secure, but recommend more cleanliness for the comfort of the prisoners. We also recommend that the back steps and back door of the Court house be repaired.

We have examined the records and the offices of the various officers and find them neatly kept and properly kept so far as we could know in the limited time for such work.

In the hands of the County Treasurer, we find in cash the sum of $2,112.49 to the credit of the General fund; and the sum of $581.79 to the credit of the Fine and Forfeiture fund; and the sum of $12.16 to the credit of the Redemption of Land fund.

We also find that our county poor are reasonably well cared for, but would recommend to the Hon. Commissioners that the kinspeople of the poor be allowed to keep them if by request of the poor and if done by them for for the same or less pay.

We find the bonds of the County Officers good and sufficient.

In conclusion, we desire to thank your Honor for the able manner in which we have been advised as to our duties, also to thank our Solicitor for the kind manner in which he has assisted us, also to thank our Sheriff and Bailiff for the promptness with which they have responded to our wants.

Having now discharged our duties, we beg to be discharged.

G. W. HILL, Foreman.

I have heard it charged on the floor, said John Lamb, of Virginia, that no war has been successfully prosecuted save with borrowed money negotiated through the sale of bonds. Now, we can show that no war of importance has ever been waged except with paper money. The gold in the vaults of the federal government to wage a successful war and by stimulating business and the foundation for the immense fortunes now held in the North. The war could not have been carried on by the sale of bonds, nor can this war be so carried on. It is true that very few bonds were sold abroad during the war, the entire debt was paid by greenbacks.—Silver Knight.

AN ORDER OF NEGRO NUNS.

The Only One In the United States Located at New Orleans.

In the old French quarter of New Orleans, with its narrow streets, latticed windows and jealously guarded courts, where the fig and orange tree grow, is a square of rather miscellaneous architecture. Its central building, 717 Orleans street, is several hundred years old. It has a stately entrance, with great pilars and old fashioned, ornately carved doors. It was once the old creole opera house and ballroom of the early days. Now it is the home of the colored nuns.

The powdered and ringleted damsels with hoop-distended skirts who stepped daintily across that threshold to scenes of gayety in bygone years have given place to dark robed figures whose white ruffled caps only bring into stronger relief the bronze and ebony of their skins. The very names of the streets here are rich in history and romance. There are Orleans and Bourbon, Chartres and Iberville, of the iron hand and gentle heart, Bienville. Shades of the past are jostling one another, though in a gentle, shadelike way, at every street corner, and at nothing do they seem to be more astonished than at the sight of the colored nuns.

Yet the order is not such a very modern one after all, for it was founded in New Orleans over half a century ago. Its members are now well known figures on the streets of the Crescent City. The special object of its institution was the education and moral training of young colored girls and the care of orphans and aged infirm people of the race. It has had the cordial support of such eminent churchmen as Archbishops Blanc, Odin, Perche, Leroy and Janssens, who successively filled the archiepiscopal see of New Orleans. It is also a novitiate where young colored girls are trained for the work of the order with the view of extending that work to every parish in Louisiana, and, if possible, into every southern state.

One of the most interesting parts of the convent is the orphan asylum, where children ranging in age from the wee tots just beginning to walk to girls of 12 and 14 years are cared for. One of the sisters in charge of the babies was an ex-slave. She is a real "mammy" still.

"But, reverend mother, you seem to have some white children here," said the northern visitor, commenting on the fair white skin of some of the children.

"Oh, no," said the nun, smiling a bit wistfully at the ignorance of her visitor, "they all have colored blood in their veins! Maybe they are only quadroons or octoroons. Some of them, indeed, have only one-tenth colored blood, but that one-tenth black counts more than the nine-tenths white and makes them belong forever to the colored people."

One is reminded of some of Cable's stories, the pathos and tragedy thereof.

In the orphan asylum 135 children are sheltered who would otherwise be thrown upon the state. These as well as the 60 poor old colored men and women and many of the children in the school are dependent upon the sisters for their daily bread. Formerly the sisters obtained a fair revenue by going through the streets of New Orleans, from door to door and into business houses and railroad offices, soliciting alms for their charges. So quietly did they labor that few outside the city were even aware of the existence of the order, the only colored sisterhood in the United States.—St. Louis Republic.

AN ACT OF KINDNESS.

How an English Sailor Rescued Our Men In the Virginius Affair.

"The remembrance of a kindly act done to the United States by an Englishman in a former row with Spain ought to revive our interest in the ancient legend that 'blood is thicker than water,'" said Mr. Henry P. Dillon of Boston recently.

"In the Virginius affair, when the Spaniards slaughtered some of the crew of that vessel, it was an English sailor who went to Santiago de Cuba and demanded the surrender of the survivers under penalty of bombardment of the city. He rescued our men, carried them to their own shores, and then, as modest as he was gallant, refused a public reception in New York city. As it was, leading citizens called upon him informally and presented him with a brick of silver, on which were inscribed the words, 'Blood is thicker than water.' The motto still holds good, and if the combined powers of Europe were to be against America in this or any other quarrel it is safe to say that Great Britain could always be exempted. There will never come the shadow of war between the mother land and her powerful daughter."—Washington Post.

"Short, Sharp and Decisive."

Chairman Dingley's estimate that the war will cost the government $200,000,000 a day is of course, merely an instance of rough figuring, yet it sets forth a very good reason in itself, if there were none better, for making the campaign short, sharp and decisive.—Philadelphia Record.

Political Pointers.

Peoples Party Press Bureau
St. Louis, Mo., May 4, 1898.

Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota, recently introduced an amendment to the post office appropriation bill calling for a reduction of 20 per cent. He took occasion to severely criticise the recent report of second assistant post master general Shallenberger, in which the assertion was made that the cost of transporting the U. S. Mails has been reduced 15 per cent within the past fifteen years; charged the officials as being under the control not only of the railroads but that their clerks were to a man subsidized and that the mileage information sent out in the report was absolutely false and erroneous. He also called attention to the fact that the government paid 15 per cent more for the same amount of matter than the Express companies charged, exorbitant as are their rates. Shallenger and other officials were warmly defended by Matt Quay.

Secretary of the Treasury, Gage, has announced that it would be impossible to float a popular loan in this country, alleging that the people prefer the savings banks to government bonds. He regards the selling of the bonds in large blocks as the only feasible plan. At the same time John W. Breidenthal, State Bank commissioner of Kansas, has announced that a popular bond issue would be heartily taken up by the people of his state. He thinks that $2,000,000 worth of bonds would find a ready sale there in an incredibly short time and believes that the effect abroad would be tremendously to the credit of the United States.

There is said to be a serious division in the President's cabinet. The Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of War have been at outs for some time. Gage is acting for the "money bags" and consequently favors peace at any price, while Alger wants to carry out the wishes of the people.

The day of miracles has not passed entirely. A resolution was adopted by the House of Representatives, last week, for the submission of a proposition to the states for the amendment of the constitution providing for the election of U. S. Senators by direct vote of the people.

The senate finance committee, last week, temporarily knocked out the bond issue by reporting a bill for the issue of legal tender notes, the coinage of the seignorag and a tax on corporations.

As the state militia of Kansas has not yet moved, the controversy between Gov. Leedy and Secretary of War, Alger continues. So far the governor has secured the Secretary's concession to each and every demand he has made. Governor Leedy's interest in and care for his state troops has been in marked contrast to the indifference or preoccupation of some other executives. He has visited the camps, looking personally to the wants of the men and not spared himself some expense in helping out toward their comfort.

David Overmeyer, the great Kansas Bryanite, has been appointed to a colonelcy by Gov. Leedy, of that state.

It is given out that the middle-of the-road Populists have decided by a referendum vote, to hold a national nominating convention on July 4th next Milton Park, chairman of the national organization committee, it is said, will issue the call within a few days.

There will be a meeting of the national committee of the People's Party at Omaha Neb., June 13, to consider the time for holding the next People's Party national convention.

Report of Grand Jury.

To the Hon. W. B. Denson,
Judge of the 5th Judicial Circuit.

We, the Grand Jury empaneled by your honor for the Spring term of the Circuit Court of 1898 of Chilton county, beg leave to make this our final report.

We have invegsted the violations of law in our county and have returned into court seven indictments

We have examined the county jail and find it secure, but recommend more cleanliness for the comfort of the prisoners. We also recommend that the back steps and back door of the Court house be repaired.

We have examined the records and the offices of the various officers and find them neatly kept and properly kept so far as we could know in the limited time for such work.

In the hands of the County Treasurer, we find in cash the sum of $2,112.49 to the credit of the General fund; and the sum of $581.79 to the credit of the Fine and Forfeiture fund; and the sum of $12.16 to the credit of the Redemption of Land fund.

We also find that our county poor are reasonably well cared for, but would recommend to the Hon. Commissioners that the kinspeople of the poor be allowed to keep them if by request of the poor and if done by them for for the same or less pay.

We find the bonds of the County Officers good and sufficient.

In conclusion, we desire to thank your Honor for the able manner in which we have been advised as to our duties, also to thank our Solicitor for the kind manner in which he has assisted us; also to thank our Sheriff and Bailiff for the promptness with which they have responded to our wants.

Having now discharged our duties, we beg to be discharged.

G. W. HILL, Foreman.

I have heard it charged on the floor, said John Lamb, of Virginia, that no war has been successfully prosecuted save with borrowed money negotiated through the sale of bonds. Now, we can show that no war of importance has ever been waged except with paper money. The greatest task confided the federal government to wage a successful war, and by stimulating business laid the foundation for the immense fortunes now held in the North. The war could not have been carried on by the sale of bonds, nor can this war be so carried on. It is true that very few bonds were sold abroad during the war, the entire debt was paid by greenbacks.—Silver Knight.

AN ORDER OF NEGRO NUNS.

The Only One In the United States Located at New Orleans.

In the old French quarter of New Orleans, with its narrow streets, latticed windows and jealously guarded courts, where the fig and orange tree grow, is a square of rather miscellaneous architecture. Its central building, 717 Orleans street, is several hundred years old. It has a stately entrance, with great pillars and old fashioned, ornately carved doors. It was once the old creole opera house and ballroom of the early days. Now it is the home of the colored nuns.

The powdered and ringleted damsels with hoop distended skirts who stepped daintily across that threshold to scenes of gayety in bygone years have given place to dark robed figures whose white ruffled caps only bring into stronger relief the bronze and ebony of their skins. The very names of the streets here are rich in history and romance. There are Orleans and Bourbon, Chartres and Iron of the iron hand and gentle heart, Tonty. Shades of the past are jostling one another, though in a gentle, shadelike way, at every street corner, and at nothing do they seem to be more astonished than at the sight of the colored nuns.

Yet the order is not such a very modern one after all, for it was founded in New Orleans over half a century ago. Its members are now well known figures on the streets of the Crescent City. The special object of its institution was the education and moral training of young colored girls and the care of orphans and aged infirm people of the race. It has had the cordial support of such eminent churchmen as Archbishops Blanc, Odin, Perche, Leroy and Janssens, who successively filled the archiepiscopal see of New Orleans. It is also a novitiate where young colored girls are trained for the work of the order with the view of extending that work to every parish in Louisiana, and, if possible, into every southern state.

One of the most interesting parts of the convent is the orphan asylum, where children ranging in age from the wee tots just beginning to walk to girls of 12 and 14 years are cared for. One of the sisters in charge of the babies was an ex-slave. She is a real "mammy" still.

"But, reverend mother," you seem to have some white children here," said the northern visitor, commenting on the fair white skin of some of the children.

"Oh, no," said the nun, smiling a bit wistfully at the ignorance of her visitor, "they all have colored blood in their veins! Maybe they are only quadroons or octoroons. Some of them, indeed, have only one-tenth colored blood, but that one-tenth black counts more than the nine-tenths white and makes them belong forever to the colored people."

One is reminded of some of Cable's stories, the pathos and tragedy thereof.

In the orphan asylum 135 children are sheltered who would otherwise be thrown upon the state. These as well as the 60 poor old colored men and women and many of the children in the school are dependent upon the sisters for their daily bread. Formerly the sisters obtained a fair revenue by going through the streets of New Orleans, from door to door and into business houses and railroad offices, soliciting alms for their charges. So quietly did they labor that few outside the city were even aware of the existence of the order, the only colored sisterhood in the United States.—St. Louis Republic.

Suffered 20 Years.

MRS. MARY LEWIS, wife of a prominent farmer and well known by all old residents near Belmont, N. Y., writes: "For twenty-seven years I had been a constant sufferer from nervous prostration and paid large sums of money for doctors and advertised remedies without benefit. Three years ago my condition was alarming; the least noise would startle and unnerve me. I was unable to sleep, had a number of sinking spells and slowly grew worse. I began using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills. At first I got no relief and seemed to have no effect, but after taking a few bottles I began to notice a change; I rested better at night, my appetite began to improve and I rapidly grew better, until now I am as nearly restored to health as one of my age may expect. God bless Dr. Miles' Nervine."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address, DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

SAN JUAN REDUCED.

Admiral Sampson's Fleet Subjects Porto Rico's Capital to a Terrific Bombardment.

OUR GUNS WELL HANDLED

The Place No Longer a Fortified Base For the Use of Spain's Fleet.

The Vessels of Our Squadron Steamed In an Ellipse, Blazing Away at the Forts and Paying Particular Attention to Morro Castle—They Made Three Circuits and the Bombardment Lasted Three Hours—The Spaniards Fired Fast and Furious, But Their Marksmanship Was Bad—Our Losses Were One Killed and Four Wounded—Only the New York and Iowa Were Hit and No Harm Was Done—Having Inflicted Punishment Upon the Forts Our Fleet Steamed Away.

ST. THOMAS, Danish West Indies (By Cable).—San Juan, Porto Rico, is no longer a fortified base. Part of Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet poured for three hours shot and shell into the fortifications, which, though not silenced, were rendered ineffective. The Spanish squadron from Cape Verde must look to some other fortified port for any aid in its efforts to be victorious over the war ships of the United States.

ADMIRAL SAMPSON.

Though the fortifications were not completely demolished, Rear Admiral Sampson regards his mission to San Juan as successful. The bombardment was terrible. It gave the men on the war ships an admirable experience and enabled them to test their marksmanship in action, which was destined for engaging battle to the armorclads of Spain. They are now better prepared than ever to meet the foe, having the additional confidence that comes from having been under fire.

The American sailors would like to have continued this time the San Juan fortifications, as they were completely shattered, but Admiral Sampson decided that sufficient damage had been done to make the port useless as a formidable base.

The Killed and Wounded.

In the bombardment two of our men were killed and seven injured. How heavy was the loss among the Spaniards is not known, but it is believed to have been severe. The two men killed were: Frank Widemark, seaman of the cruiser New York; William Ross, gunner's mate of the monitor Amphitrite. This is a list of the injured: John Mitchell, seaman of the battleship Iowa; Raymond Hill, apprentice on the Iowa; George Merkle, a private marine on the Iowa; Michael Murphy, seaman on the cruiser New York; Samuel Feltman, a seaman on the New York; Edward Earle, seaman on the New York; John Miller, seaman on the New York. Splinters from bursting shells or fragments of the shells themselves caused most of the injuries. Ross, gunner's mate of the Amphitrite, dropped dead beside his gun, the shock and excitement evidently being too much for his heart.

Two Ships Bear Scars.

The enemy did some damage to the battleship Iowa and the cruiser New York, but neither of these ships came out of the conflict with any serious scars. The other ships were uninjured. Nearly all the shots from the Spaniards went wide of their mark. The enemy appeared to be entirely deficient in the use of the guns. This made our ships indifferent to their reckless and ineffective cannonade, whose only redeeming feature was its spiritedness.

Admiral Sampson's fleet lay within sight of San Juan de Porto Rico all of Wednesday night. At 3 o'clock on Thursday morning all hands on all the ships were called. For an hour and a half each ship was the scene of an orderly confusion as the two thousand sailors stripped their ships, their guns and themselves.

By 4.30 everything was in readiness for the battle to begin—the second great engagement of the war. At 5 a. m. came the call to "quarters," and instantly every man was at his post and ready and eager to strike a blow in atonement for the Maine.

Morro, of course, was to be the centre of attack. In it were the seven six-inch guns which Spain sent over as soon as the war became certain, and which had been hastily mounted and manned with the best gunners in the colonial army.

The Engagement Opens.

The fleet, looking for the Spanish ships, steamed to the harbor, the men at quarters, the decks sanded, the speed five knots an hour. They held in until the Detroit was less than a mile from the old fort.

The gunners in the old fort opened on the Iowa. The squadron was ordered to return the fire.

The Iowa's forward turret guns fired first at the west angle of the fort; then she swung around her after guns and let go her starboard broadside.

The Detroit at her lowest speed began broadside firing. The Indiana steamed up, firing. The Detroit drove the gunners away again and again.

The Iowa selected one fort and as the ships approached each opened, firing turret and broadside guns. The Detroit in her exposed position pluckily kept in short range and her guns did terrific execution.

Except the Detroit and the Montgomery, which were ordered out of range, the ships steamed in an ellipse in front of the forts three times.

On the first round they shot too low, but they got the elevation on the second round, and the shots hit the forts and passed over the hills, falling in the town.

An eight-inch shell exploded in the New York's aft port whaleboat davit at the end of the third round. Fragments fell among the crew of the port broadside eight-inch guns. Frank Widemark, seaman, was struck in the head and killed.

At 7 o'clock the day had become furiously hot, so hot that men were fainting below decks and at the guns. One man, a gunner's mate on the Amphitrite, was overcome and died in a few hours.

The leaping flames from burning houses close to the shore, but behind the fortifications, made the Americans know that their work was not as vain as the frenzied firing of the Spaniards.

In the old part of the town of San Juan, adjoining the fortifications, whole blocks were blazing. Many of the shells flew over and burst among the ancient buildings from which the population had fled at dawn.

So fierce was the American fire that had the intention been to bombard the residence part of old San Juan, the damage could hardly have been greater. The lighthouses were demolished soon after the firing began. Later on the houses in Ballaja square, in St. Christopher street, in San Jose street and in San Sebastian street were in flames. The St. Catherine Institute, the ancient palace, the Government house, the orphan asylum, the old theatre and several old churches were burned or almost destroyed.

Spaniards Fought Like Madmen.

The American officers, through their glasses, could see the Spaniards at work in many places where the fortifications had been broken down. The Spaniards seemed drunk with fury. They loaded and fired like madmen, without aiming, without any appearance of discipline or direction. At times their crazed condition led them to many absurdities, such as waving over the shaking fists and discharging pistols at the American line which was barely within reach of their guns of longest range.

Toward 8 o'clock the heat became absolutely unbearable on the American ships. It became evident that the Spanish forts could not be silenced sort of another hour's work.

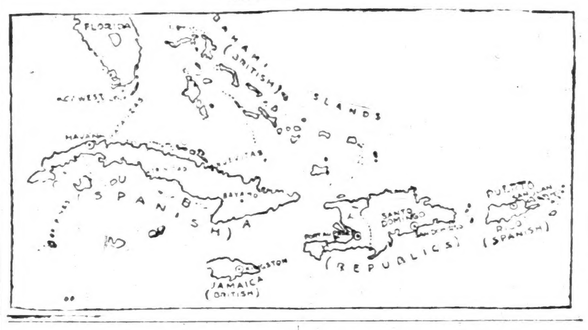
Men on the American ships were dropping on all sides, not from Spanish shots, but from the accurate and terrible bombardment of the tropical sun.

After consultation Admiral Sampson signalled "cease firing" and turned away westward. The other ships slowly followed, all except the monitor Terror. She remained in her position, in range of all the guns of the Spaniards until she had silenced them.

The United States warships hauled off shore within a few minutes after Admiral Sampson's signal to cease firing, and left San Juan in a sorry condition. The Spanish base was no longer effective as a shelter for a Spanish fleet, while the American ships were ready for battle at any moment.

The fleet steamed to the westward about twenty miles and then stopped to remove the grime of battle and to rest and refresh the weary but happy sailors.

PORTO RICO AND THE SCENE OF NAVAL OPERATIONS.



STREET SCENE IN SAN JUAN, NEAR THE FORTIFICATIONS.

BAY OF SAN JUAN, PORTO RICO.

Sampson's Official Report.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—The Navy Department received the following despatch from Admiral Sampson. It is dated St. Thomas, May 12, and is as follows:

"A portion of the squadron under my command reached San Juan this morning at daybreak. No armed vessels were found in the port. As soon as it was sufficiently light I commenced attack upon the batteries defending the city. This attack lasted about three hours and resulted in much damage to the batteries and incidentally to a portion of the city adjacent to the batteries. The batteries replied to our fire, but without material effect. One man was killed on board the New York and seven slightly wounded in the squadron. No serious damage to any ships resulted. SAMPSON."

TO RULE THE PHILIPPINES.

General Merritt Will Act as Military Governor of the Islands.

WASHINGTON (Special).—With all possible dispatch Rear Admiral Dewey's possession of the Philippines is to be strengthened by additional ships and by a military force adequate to overcome the Spanish troops left on the Islands, to maintain order and protect the lives and interests of foreign residents, and to assert the authority of the United States through a military government, with Major-General Wesley Merritt as its head. General Merritt held a long consultation with the Secretary of War and the Adjutant General, and returned to New York to complete his preparations for proceeding to Manila.

It has been definitely decided to concentrate at San Francisco an army of 12,000 men, consisting of both volunteers and regulars. Besides the States of California and Washington, which will furnish their entire quota of volunteer troops, these States will furnish men for the expedition: Wyoming, one battalion of infantry; Colorado, one regiment of infantry; Kansas, one regiment of infantry; Montana, one regiment of infantry; Nebraska, one regiment of infantry; Utah, two light batteries of artillery and one troop of cavalry, and North Dakota and Idaho, each two battalions of infantry.

This army will constitute the First Corps of the United States Army. It will be divided into three divisions, the first of which will consist of 7000 men, and will form the first detachment sent to the relief of Rear Admiral Dewey.

In order that the expedition may leave as soon as possible General Merritt has been given authority to take with him, at his own discretion, the first 7000 men who report at San Francisco.

A CABLEGRAM FROM DEWEY.

The Situation at Manila Since the Bombardment is Unchanged.

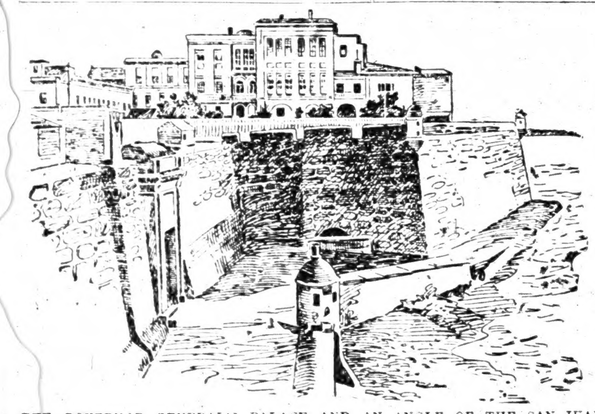
WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—A despatch came Friday to the Navy Department from Admiral Dewey, at Manila. It was dated Hong Kong. It was as follows:

HONG KONG, May 12.

Secretary of the Navy:

There is little change in the situation since my last telegram. I am transferring to transports steel breech-loading rifles from sunken Spanish men-of-war. Also stores from arsenal in my possession. I am maintaining strict blockade. Add Argos to list of destroyed vessels. El Correo, probably El Cano. DEWEY.

Other despatches describe the situation in the Philippines as unchanged since the bombardment.



THE GOVERNOR GENERAL'S PALACE AND AN ANGLE OF THE SAN JUAN FORTIFICATIONS REDUCED BY ADMIRAL SAMPSON'S FLEET.

Over Fifty Thousand Volunteers.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—Reports received at Adjutant General Corbin's office show that 54,752 of the volunteers have been accepted as having the necessary qualifications for soldiers and have been mustered into the United States service.

Victims of Fire.

Three double frame dwellings at the Lytle colliery, near Minersville, Penn., were destroyed by fire. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Tott and a six-year-old daughter of John Polish were burned to death. The fire is thought to have been of incendiary origin.

Chicago's Great Loss.

Grain elevator D, at Chicago, was destroyed by fire. Losses on building and contents will aggregate about $1,200,000. The elevator contained 1,115,000 bushels of grain, valued at $890,000, the property of P. D. Armour. The grain was fully insured.

The Time at Manila.

The difference in Washington time and that of the Philippine islands is thirteen hours and sixteen minutes; therefore, according to our time, the battle of Manila was fought at 3.44 p. m., Saturday, April 30.

Our Flag Hoisted in Cuba.

KEY WEST, Fla. (Special).—Ensign Willard, of the Machias, was the first to hoist the American flag on the island of Cuba. While the Wilmington, Winslow and Hudson were engaging Cardenas, the Machias demolished a battery and blockhouse at Diana City, two miles away. An armed boat's crew then went ashore and the ensign hoisted the Stars and Stripes on the blockhouse flagpole.

Rioting in Spain.

Rioters at Alicante, Spain, burned the bonded warehouses after taking all the wheat they contained.

FATAL BATTLE AT CARDENAS.

Fired on by a Masked Battery While Seeking Spanish Gunboats in the Harbor—Spaniards Suffered, Too—The Ensign and His Men Fought the Enemy to the Last—Rescued by the Hudson.

KEY WEST, Fla., Special. The first American bloodshed in the war between the United States and Spain occurred in the attempt to destroy the Spanish gunboats in the harbor of Cardenas, on the north coast of the island of Cuba.

ENSIGN WORTH BAGLEY.
(First American killed in the war with Spain.)

dou and several men were wounded. All were on board the torpedo boat Winslow, which bore the brunt of a terrific fire from a deftly-masked battery for over three-quarters of an hour. The dead and wounded are:

Dead.

Worth Bagley, ensign.
John Donfee, fireman.
George B. Meek, fireman.
Elijah B. Tunnell, cook.
John Varveres, oiler.

Lieutenant John B. Bernadou, commander of the Winslow; injured in the thigh by a flying splinter.

William Patterson, fireman; flesh wound in the leg from splinter.

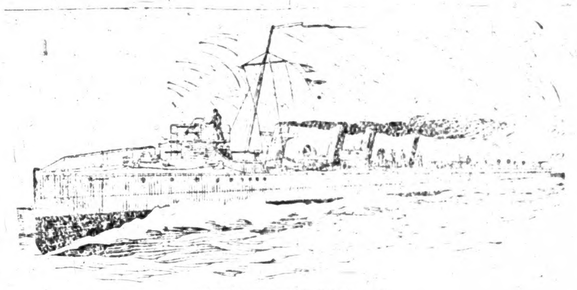
R. E. Cox, gunner's mate; slightly hurt by fragment of shell.

Daniel McKeown, quartermaster; slightly injured by shell.

F. Gray, able seaman.

The Winslow, Wilmington and Hudson were cruising off Cardenas, and about 1 o'clock in the afternoon the little torpedo boat moved in close to shore. She could see the main batteries some mile and a half ahead, but had no thought of a masked battery. She reached a point nearly 500 yards from shore when suddenly the shrubbery parted, and heavy cannon boomed out. The Spanish were too close to miss. Heavy solid shot and shell hit all about the torpedo boat. A solid shot tore through her hull, and the forward boiler blew up, but her men did not flinch.

Another shot tore away her rudder, and she drifted helplessly. The Hudson steamed into the harbor, and took the Winslow in tow.



TORPEDO BOAT WINSLOW.

The hawsers were scarcely fast when a shell burst directly over the damaged boat. Ensign Bagley was instantly killed and four of the men who were working the rapid-fire rifles fell with him.

The Wilmington had reached easy range about this time, and opened with her heavy guns. The Spanish held down on her and she was hit by a dozen shots. She was hurt, but not crippled, and bore the brunt of the battle until the Winslow was safe out of the harbor. She lost no men. The Spanish batteries were silenced eventually, and a number of men killed and wounded.

The Hudson was nearly half an hour getting a line to the Winslow. While still twenty feet from her a shell burst on the deck of the Winslow. Several men had just come up from below for air, and were painfully seen to receive shock of the exploding shell. They were lifted off their feet and hurled in all directions.

One man was struck in the face and hurled off the deck yelling, "Save me." He was pulled back by the legs dead. Three were killed instantly and two died later on the Wilmington. The bodies were badly mutilated. All the men were game to the end, and wished to keep up the fight, even after the ship was disabled. The Machias could not enter the bay on account of drawing twelve feet, but she shelled the battery of Dramaway and sent an armed boat crew ashore, which fired it. The Hudson also refined and burned a shore battery. One Spanish boat was also disabled.

At 8 o'clock Thursday morning the Hudson, with the Winslow's dead and wounded, came up to the Government dock. The bodies of the five dead men were lying on her after deck, covered with the Stars and Stripes. In the cabin of the Hudson were Lieutenant John B. Bernadou, who commanded the Winslow in the battle and was

GOOD ROADS NOTES.

Use of Good Roads.

For many years past the farmers and farm communities of this country have been crying out against the railroads extending their lines everywhere. "Just get a railroad through my property, and my farm is made," has been the expression of more than one extensive landowner. And he has gotten the railroads, with great benefit to himself and his vicinity. By their means he has been enabled to get out to the centres of civilization, and to bring his produce to good markets.

Long ago he should have devised some way by which the public highway could be improved and made even more useful to him than the steel tracks of the great trunk lines.

There is at present under consideration a plan for the introduction of [illegible] carriages, with wide tired wheels, for the main thoroughfares, through thickly settled localities, the carriage itself to be of the ordinary pattern, and coupled to it one or more cars of very light and strong construction. This vehicle would be run regardless of the grade, and, to some extent, of the state of the roads. Ruts and ridges of any ordinary character will not obstruct the progress of the car, neither will the weather have any effect upon it.

The horseman's worry is his horse and harness, and all anxiety on this score is done away with by the horseless carriage. The running gear of the vehicle will be placed under a metal guard, resembling an old-fashioned dripping pan inverted. This affords good protection to the gears, and keeps the mud to the lower portion of the equipment, confining generally to the comfort and the cleanliness of the passengers and car alike. While a high rate of speed would be desirable, it is not expected that this will be one of the main points, although over level time can be made where the roads are good. This plan will unquestionably necessitate the widening of the ordinary track; but this is a matter very easily managed. If only wide-tired vehicles were used, the cost of work on roads would be reduced to a very low figure. Imagine a horseless carriage with a six or eight-inch steel tire, which would act like a roller, and smooth down most of the irregularities on the roadway.

The suggestion that there would be bumping and bouncing is scarcely worth consideration. Jolting comes from sudden contact with a single point. A wide tire wheel would cover so much surface at one time that most of the jolting could be avoided, and, except upon very hard, frozen ground, would wear down the surface as it went, leaving nothing to bounce and bump on.

It is an interesting fact that much of the good roads enthusiasm has been started up by the manufacturers and riders of bicycles. The wheelman must have a good road, and there being so many of him, the beginning of the movement was not in the least deficient.

Too much cannot be said against the shiftlessness of certain localities and the atrocious management of certain bits of road. There are regions where one may ride for miles upon roads that are almost as smooth as a floor, and suddenly the rider encounters—which is a veritable Slough of Despond a long stretch of deep holes, ridges and cut-up surface, which is a disgrace to the community that tolerates it.

It is the sheerest nonsense to say that such pieces of road cannot be made passable. Such assertions show more and more clearly the need of Government supervision of roads, and the importance of intelligent and painstaking work from the foundation to the surface.—New York Ledger.

The Ravages of Narrow Tires.

For the first few days after the steam rollers are taken off the new highways "they are dreams," says the Springfield News, "the best thing on earth"—smooth as a table, and yet yielding and elastic. Then the narrow tire begins to put in its work, cutting them like a knife, first disintegrating the surface, and later on knocking the foundations to pieces. Once the surface is disturbed, the rain does the rest, even if the constantly passing narrow-tired vehicles did not help it out.

"As long as narrow tires are allowed for heavy loads, no such thing as a satisfactory macadam roadbed is possible. The case is much worse with dirt roads. The knife tire cuts through quicker, and the water tears them to nothing quicker. There is no reason why dirt roads should not prove satisfactory in country districts if wide tires for loaded teams were required, with woods which do not rut track. The sooner a State law is enacted to carry out this idea, the sooner will taxpayers have relief, and good roads be in sight.

"But if we do not get our legislators forget a moment that wide tires with [illegible] wheels shall [illegible] the battle, if [illegible] Six inch tires, with [illegible] when running right behind [illegible] would only smooth [illegible] of the road on a trip. Make the wheels run in different tracks, and [illegible] feet [illegible] each trip. [illegible] passing car [illegible] side of the [illegible] four feet [illegible] right, [illegible] roads [illegible] expert [illegible] wide road [illegible] law may be of interest to [illegible] of many small maidens too [illegible] would [illegible] a practice which is [illegible] healthful enough when moderately indulged in.

A New Jersey Estimate.

The annual report of the State Road Commissioner of New Jersey makes [illegible] of the cost of [illegible] roads, and shows [illegible] the advantages [illegible] and it [illegible] come in the save

"It costs 25 cents per bushel to ship wheat from Chicago to New York, a distance of 900 miles. It costs three cents a bushel to haul wheat on a level road a distance of five miles, and on a sandy road it would cost nine cents per mile to haul it. The saving on a bushel of wheat with good roads for a distance of five miles would be equivalent to that of 600 miles of transportation by steamer or canal boat, or 375 miles by railroad. One mile of good roads would make a saving equal to seventy-five miles of railroad transportation. This every mile of good roads places the producer seventy-five miles by rail nearer to the markets. It is estimated that the cost of hauling 500,000,000 tons of farm produce to market is $2 per ton, or just about $1,000,000,000; it is also estimated that at but sixty per cent. of this last amount, or $600,000,000 would be saved each year if farmers were able to do this hauling over good roads."

One Way of Preserving Roads.

To protect and preserve the highways by withdrawing them from public use at times when they are likely to be injured by heavy travel is certainly a unique method of providing for the public welfare, but this is what the Kentucky statutes say:

"Any corporation, company or individual who may, by unusual use of a road, materially damage the same, shall repair all damages caused by the use of such road or roads. The supervisor or overseer of roads shall, at any time when necessary, notify said corporations, companies or individuals of their duty as provided in this section, and should the said parties so notified fail, in a reasonable length of time, to be fixed in the notice, to make such repairs, such parties shall be deemed guilty of obstructing the public roads, and shall be subject to a fine of not exceeding $100, to be applied to road purposes."

The Weakest Link.

Like a chain, a road is no stronger or better than its weakest link. In a highway there are many links which may be poor, weak or defective. Whatever or wherever the cause of inferiority may be, the efficiency of the whole road is thereby reduced to a level with that of its most inferior part. If drainage is inadequate, and water accumulates, heavy hauling results; if there is a single steep grade, the size of load that can be transported is materially reduced; if the connection between points is indirect, due to square corners, much time is wasted; if care and repair are irregular and unintelligent, money and labor are spent in vain. The remedy is, lay out the course of the road judiciously, build it scientifically and care for it constantly.—Good Roads Bulletin.

Distanced by Europe.

Americans must feel some disappointment, since their country has long been famous for its quickness and skill in adopting mechanical and scientific discoveries for business purposes, when they realize that European cities are far surpassing any of ours in the use of horseless vehicles. Until we have better roads and better street pavements we must submit to the humiliation of being distanced by Germany, France and England in one of the most interesting and important phases of modern progress. It is one of the penalties we pay for make-shift highways and for the folly which permits the use upon them of destructively narrow tires. — Cleveland Leader.

Good Roads and the Mails.

If country roads were generally improved by the modern plan of road building there would not be much delay in providing free delivery through the more populous parts of the country. One reason why England delivers mail from house to house in the country, as well as in the city, is because the country roads are in so fine condition that the work of delivery is greatly expedited. If there were English roads all through the Middle and Eastern States it would not be a great undertaking for this Government to establish free delivery in those sections.—Syracuse (N. Y.) Post.

Tires.

If our political providences insure that only wide tires for heavy loads shall be used on the new roads they will be a permanent blessing. But if the old style of tires is permitted to tear them to pieces it will not be many years before we have nothing but the tax bills to remember them by.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Good Roads Are Good Investments.

When the farmers can be brought to see that good roads constructed with State aid mean money in their pockets, as has been demonstrated in New Jersey, good roads will become as common as bad roads are now.—Philadelphia Press.

A "Bad Roads Map."

A road map of Illinois is being prepared by the State Division, L. A. W., to be sent to the Legislature and all the newspapers in the State. Such a map would be an "eye-opener" in almost any State in the Union.—L. A. W. Bulletin.

Rope Skipping and Meningitis.

A New York school girl died recently from meningitis, brought on by the overexcitement of rope skipping. This fact may be of interest to [illegible] of many small maidens too [illegible] would [illegible] a practice which is [illegible] healthful enough when moderately indulged in.

Curious Florida Crabs.

Haunting the rookeries of the birds in the southern part of the peninsula is a large blue crab. He makes a hole [illegible] for a log and [illegible] spiralling [illegible] and [illegible] Blue [illegible] and [illegible] as large as a saucer.

There is a perpetual war between crab and the birds. He wanders among the nests at night and [illegible] the [illegible] of fish fed by the parents and the young themselves. If he can find a mother off her guard. But he has to be sly or he is killed by the stroke of a pointed bill and eaten in his turn. When the plume hunters have driven off or destroyed the parents of a rookery, these crabs swarm out and devour the orphan young in short order. But while the mothers are allowed to do their duty the crabs are ideal scavengers and devour the refuse as well as the insects that infest the bird cities. Their bright colors, like those of the tiger, make them less dangerous than their appetites would otherwise be.

There is a little purple crab along the coast of Southern Florida which seems to feed almost entirely upon the fruit of the cactus. This if so [illegible] things that you are suddenly stippled to see one of the succulent little balls [illegible] away from your fingers before you are aware that it is alive. Step back and the crab will resume its place and seem to be as curious about you as you are about him.

Nelson's Wonderful Feat.

Writers of historical reminiscences have to be masters of a certain amount of accurate information about their heroes if they wish to avoid mistakes. Hedley are not, they are sure to "get things mixed."

Not long since a reviewer in the London Times, writing of a book named "Rowing Reminiscences," related on his own account the following episode of Nelson, the great admiral:

"While in chase of Villeneuve's French fleet he was informed of the latter leaving in sight, at which information Nelson evinced the highest satisfaction, and gleefully rubbed his hands."

As a correspondent of the Times points out, this incident occurred in 1805. Nelson lost his right arm in the attack on Santa Cruz, Teneriffe, in 1797—eight years prior to his pursuit of Villeneuve's fleet. It would have been, therefore, a difficult matter for him to "rub his hands" in 1805.

An Ancient Custom.

From Republican Traveler, Arkansas City, Kan.

Pilgrimages to some shrine of St. Vitus to cure the disease known as St. Vitus' dance are no longer made. The modern way of treating this affliction is within reach of every householder, as is shown by the experience of Karl A. Wagner, the eleven-year-old son of George Wagner, of 515 9th St., Arkansas City, Kan. The father tells the story as follows:

"Over a year ago," he says, "Karl was taken with St. Vitus' dance and continued to grow worse during five months he was under a physician's care. His tongue became paralyzed and we could not understand a word he said. He became very thin, lost the use of his right leg and seemed doomed to become a hopeless invalid. We had about given up hope when Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People were recommended to me wife by a lady whose daughter had been cured of a similar affliction by the pills.

"I bought a box of them at once and soon noticed a change for the better in Karl's condition. I was so well pleased that I bought more of them, and when he had taken five boxes the disease disappeared.

A Hopeless Invalid.

"That was six months ago and there has been no return of the disease. The cure was effectual and permanent, and I feel satisfied that no other medicine could have produced so marvelous a result. We feel rejoiced over the restoration of our son, and cannot help but feel that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the most remarkable medicine on the market."

No discovery of modern times has proved such a blessing to mankind as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Acting directly on the blood and nerves, invigorating the body, regulating the functions, they restore the strength and health in the exhausted patient when every effort of the physician proves unavailing.

These pills are sold in boxes at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

One of the First Symptoms of Failing Health in a Woman is NERVOUSNESS

Did you ever think that there is always a cause for this malady? In women Nervousness is generally the forerunner of some form of female disease, such as Whites, Painful, Profuse or Irregular Menses, etc., either of which will produce Nervousness in all of its distressing intensity. If you use you will very soon be cured of Nervousness and all other female troubles as well. If costive, move the bowels with mild doses of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator.

Gerstle's Female Panacea

"(G.F.P.)"

I HAVE SUFFERED FOR YEARS

With painful menses attended with sour stomach, rushing of blood to the head, and occasional whites. I also have severe nervous spells and heart palpitation, got no relief until I used various female remedies for a time, then I used Gerstle's Female Panacea and St. Joseph's Liver Regulator, and they are curing me. I have used four bottles of G.F.P. and two bottles of Liver Regulator and they are doing me more good than all others. I shall continue their use.

The Weekly Constitution is the Greatest Weekly Newspaper in the World, with a circulation of 156,000. It covers the whole world in its news service, and covers the news of the United States in minute detail, with 12 pages, 7 columns to the page, 84 Columns Every Week.

AS A NEWSPAPER—The Weekly Constitution has no equal in America! Its news reports cover the world, and its correspondents and agents are to be found in almost every hallwick in the Southern and Western States.

AS A MAGAZINE—It prints more such matter as is ordinarily found in the great magazines of the country than can be gotten from even the best of them.

AS AN EDUCATOR—It is a schoolhouse within itself, and a year's reading of THE CONSTITUTION is a liberal education to anyone.

AS A FRIEND AND COMPANION—It brings cheer and comfort to the fireside every week, is eagerly sought by the children, contains valuable information for the mother, and is an encyclopedia of instruction for every member of the household.

ITS SPECIAL FEATURES—Are such as are not to be found in any other paper in America.

THE FARM AND FARMERS' DEPARTMENT,
THE WOMAN'S DEPARTMENT,
THE CHILDREN'S DEPARTMENT,

Are all under able direction, and are specially attractive to those to whom these departments are addressed.

WANTED AGENTS.

"The Confederate Soldier in the Civil War," contains 903 pages 12 x 16 inches, and over 3,100 large Battle Scenes, Portraits, Maps, etc. The greatest and largest War Book ever published, and the only one that does justice to the Confederate soldier and the cause he fought for. Agents wanted everywhere to sell this book on our new and easy plan. Many of the lady and gentlemen agents who are at work are making from $50 to $200 per month. Veterans, Sons and Daughters of Veterans, and others interested are requested to send for a beautiful illustrated descriptive circular, free, and terms to agents. Address COURIER-JOURNAL JOB PRINTING CO., Louisville, Ky.

Why She Smiles Sweetly.

Sparkling eyes, quick beating heart, and the rosy blush of pleasure on the cheeks, makes the strong man happy when he meets his lady love. That's the kind of a man whose very touch thrills because it is full of energy, vigorous nerve power, and vitality. Tobacco makes strong men impotent, weak and skinny. No-To-Bac sold by druggists everywhere. Guaranteed to cure. Book, titled "Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Life Away," free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., New York or Chicago.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

is the greatest Labor Organization the world has ever seen.

It is the only organization which, while striving to secure for wage-workers the best possible terms as to wages, hours and conditions, aims at reforming the causes of industrial injustice.

It secures to each trade and locality absolute control over its own trade or local affairs, yet its perfect organization enables its members to act unitedly, promptly, and therefore, effectively when concentrated action becomes necessary, to remedy injustice or to resist oppression.

It is pledged to work for the overthrow of the capitalistic system of production and exchange, yet, realizing that reforms can only be beneficial and permanent when they rest upon the convictions of a well educated people, it seeks to accomplish its objects only by appeals to reason and evidence—never by force.

It is a secret organization only so far as it is necessary to protect its members from wrong and persecution, and can never be used to shield wrongdoing.

Its doors are open to all who labor honestly and earnestly either by hand or brain without question or discrimination on account of creed, race or nationality.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in the "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year. "The Spectator" says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such it will present to its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which will occur during the month, of the most important economic, and literary movements which are of vital interest to men and women.

"We know of no review published in this country or in Europe which combines so successfully as the American Monthly the attractiveness and energy of journalism with the thoughtful, mature, carefully weighed judgment, knowledge and self-control of the purely literary periodical."—The Outlook.

"Progress of the World" will be conducted by the editor himself, and will be, as it has been for many years, a clear, concise, and impartial review of the important events of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of current and serious import.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one magazine all the information needed by intelligent people of "live" interests is shown in the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are: clergymen, editors, lawyers, professional engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library"; "is a literal cyclopedia of the world"; "the best magazine"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a treasure"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

Oakmulgee, Ala., May 22, 1898

Editor BANNER: I would like to say a few words through the columns of the Banner to the people of Chilton county in regard to my candidacy for the office of Circuit Clerk of Chilton County, as the question arises what is the meaning of the word independent in politics. The independent in politics generally means reform of existing abuses, our politics like everything else, should be progressive and conform to new conditions. Any party will become corrupt with too long lease of power. Virture, honesty and purity alone have a claim to special privileges, and for them only that they may the better ameliorate the condition of the great mass of humanity. Away with traditional politics; the world to-day is progressive and don't need anything of the kind.

So now in regard to my candidacy for clerk. Some may ask why I am a candidate? Am I dissatisfied with the man that is on the ticket that was nominated on the 20th of April? In reply to such a question I answer in the negation. Then why are you a candidate? Just simply because the opportunity has presented itself and I want the office. Just as it is with my opponent, Mr. Deason. So such being the case I will just say to my friends and supporters that I ask the respected consideration of the voters of Chilton county regardless of past party affiliations to consider the matter, and if you think that I am worthy of your support I shall be very thankful to you for same, and if I am elected I shall ever strive to discharge the duties connected with the office to the best of my ability and to the approval of the people of Chilton county. So I will close by thanking my friends for the honor conferred on me by their solicitations to become a candidate for said office. Yours etc.

WILLIAM B. GREEN.

A Clever Trick

It certainly looks like it, but there is really no trick about it. Anybody can try it who has Lame Back and Weak Kidneys, Malaria or nervous troubles. We mean he can cure himself right away by taking Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to the Liver and Kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures Constipation, Headache, Fainting Spells, Sleeplessness and Melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c a bottle at all Drug Stores.

Will the people take warning? Two years ago just one half of the Populist ticket was endorsed for the express purpose of dividing the people. That was done openly. This year we hear some whispering that a part of the People's Party ticket is all right, and there will be no opposition. What does that mean? A blind man can see that it means to divide, and to sub-divide and is the plan to finally destroy the People's Party. We have a good ticket from head to foot and every man on it will be elected. How can a man be for us and against us at the same time? Can he serve two masters? Friends, take warning. A man is either for us or against us, he is for the People's Party or he is against it, he is in favor of the county remaining in the hands of the people or he is in favor of turning it over to the party that bad charge twelve years ago when the people were robbed of their rights. Let every true man wake up.

CAPTURED SPANISH SHIPS.

Methods For the Disposal of Prizes Taken In the War.

The manner in which Spanish merchant vessels captured by the United States will be disposed of was the subject of an interesting discussion at the Philadelphia postoffice recently, and in this connection Assistant United States District Attorney McCullen made the following statement:

"The United States district attorney's office, the marshal's office and the district court are the only offices that are concerned in the proceedings necessary for the condemnation and sale of prizes and the distribution of proceeds. The mode of procedure briefly in such cases would be: First, the United States attorney files a libel in the district court against the vessel when informed that she is a prize of war and is within the jurisdiction of the court. An attachment issues from the district court and is served by the United States marshal.

"Three weeks then elapse, and the proclamation of libel proceedings is made once a week during that period. Unless a defense is set up in court to prove the vessel is not a legitimate prize of war the district attorney obtains from the court a decree of condemnation and sale. The sale has a 15 days' public advertising and is then conducted by the United States marshal at the wharf where the vessel lies. The proceeds of the sale of the ship and cargo are paid into the registry of the United States district court to await distribution according to law to those entitled to the prize money."—Philadelphia Press.

SIGSBEE AT A BULLFIGHT.

His Letter to a Revere (Mass.) Pastor Who Criticised His Attendance.

Robert H. Dolliver, a Boston merchant, recently wrote to Captain Sigsbee, former commander of the Maine, informing him that a pastor at Revere, Mass., had criticised him for attending a bullfight in Havana.

Captain Sigsbee's reply, which was recently received, reads:

DEAR SIR—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter, which seems to indicate that your pastor regards the destruction of the Maine as the possible visitation of Divine Providence against that ship because of my visit to the bullfight on Sunday. It is a fact that I attended a bullfight on that day, not, however, to see the bullfight, but to test the feelings of the Spaniards at Havana against me and my vessel under circumstances when they were wildly excited. I considered this an important matter.

I fail to understand your pastor's logic. It is inconceivable that the good Lord would destroy in an instant so many men who did not attend the bullfight and were not responsible for my attendance, whereas he permitted those to be saved, without exception, who actually attended the bullfight, including myself. I trust I have a proper sense of propriety, and interest to the bullfight my conscience is perfectly clear.

I beg to thank you for the kind, good will which you express toward me in your letter. Military and naval men are oftentimes obliged to do things in a professional way which they hardly deem agreeable in their home life. Yours very truly,

C. D. SIGSBEE, Captain U. S. Navy.

"RALLY ROUND THE FLAG."

A New Version of the Song Sung by Ohio Lawmakers.

In the house at Columbus, O., the other morning, when a bulletin was read announcing the capture of a Spanish merchantman by a United States vessel, there was a scene of the wildest enthusiasm. Cheering was kept up for five minutes, and the remaining business of the morning was carried on during a buzz of war talk.

At the hour for the noon recess the genuine enthusiasm broke out afresh, and, on motion of Mr. Bell, the house stood to sing an original version of the song "Rally Round the Flag." Mr. Allen of Athens county led the singing. The words to the song, written by Mr. Swingle of Muskingum, are as follows:

We are coming from the east,
We are coming from the west,
Shouting the "Battle Cry of Freedom."
We are going down to Cuba
To set the captive free,
Shouting the "Battle Cry of Freedom."

CHORUS.

The Union forever, "Hurrah, boys, hurrah,"
Down with the Spaniard, up with the stars,
While we rally round the flag, boys, rally once again,
Shouting the "Battle Cry of Freedom."

After the song the house gave three cheers for America, three more for Cuba and then adjourned.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

ON WATCH FOR THE ENEMY.

All Night Long Sandy Hook Searchlight Keeps Close Guard Over the Ocean.

The great searchlight on Sandy Hook, now that war has begun, watches from dark to daylight for the coming of the enemy.

The searchlight is like an eye of the nation, sleepless and ever bright. Until half dawn brightened into daylight the other morning the great eye, turning slowly, swept the ocean, sending a shaft of blinding white light over the waves for miles. While New York slept the eye watched.

No Spanish warship or fleet can steal up under cover of darkness. It is to detect the approach of the enemy that the eye stares ceaselessly out over the Atlantic.—New York Evening Journal.

Many old soldiers now feel the effects of the hard service they endured during the war. Mr. Geo. S. Anderson, of Rossville, York county, Penn., who saw the hardest kind of service at the front, is now frequently troubled with rheumatism. "I had a severe attack lately," he says, "and procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It did so much good that I would like to know what you would charge me for one dozen bottles." Mr Anderson wanted it both for his own use and to supply it to his friends and neighbors as every family should have a bottle of it in their home, not only for rheumatism, but lame back, sprains, swellings, cuts, bruises and burns, for which it is unequalled. PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

CLANTON, - ALABAMA

An English paper has it that in China the native Baptists call John D. Rockefeller "Mr. Beautiful Prosperity Oil Man." Probably that is a title to be proud of, though it has a somewhat grotesque sound.

A curious innovation at the Omaha Exposition is a bureau of courtesy. Not only is the idea novel, but it is surprising to learn that nearly all the people of the city will be enrolled in the committee. Every member will wear a badge, and visitors will be at liberty to address any one who wears the badge and ask for information just as much as he likes. The member, on the other hand, will be pledged to treat the visitor courteously and answer his questions, or put him in the way of getting them answered.

Leslie's Weekly says: "The most expensive Army chapel built at any of the United States posts has just been completed at Fort Riley, Kansas. It is of native graystone, quarried on the nineteen-thousand-acre reservation belonging to the post, and handsomely finished in oak. Its seating capacity is six hundred, and it cost over $15,000. The post, which is also the training-school for artillery and cavalry, has about thirty-five hundred soldiers constantly in the barracks. The Government has spent $500,000 in the last few years improving it with fine buildings, and the new chapel is one of the most attractive structures on the reservation. Chaplain T. W. Barry, located at the post for twenty years, conducted the dedication ceremonies."

Methodism has been making rapid strides in London within recent years. In 1861 there were only 13 circuits with 43 ministers, 65 chapels and 15,834 members, while now there are 64 circuits and missions, 200 chapels, 139 ministers, and 36,758 members. During this period, since 1861, the sum of $3,500,000 has been expended in chapel building, of which sum London Methodists have given more than two thirds. London Congregationalism has been distanced by the zealous Methodists, and it is little wonder accordingly that the leaders of the former communion are now exercising themselves with the question of church extension, its possibilities and obligations. There is a legitimate competition between denominations which, by fostering a friendly rivalry, really hastens the time when all will be one in the unity of the faith.

The Atlanta Constitution observes: Most of our European visitors seem to think that wastefulness is one of our main characteristics. Only some few days ago Dr. John Watson, the celebrated Scotch author, in giving his impressions of our people, stated that we had yet to learn the first principles of economy in household matters. We may, perhaps, merit this fling. In household matters we are not as economic as we ought to be. Every day we throw away rich food products which we could utilize in some way, if we only possessed the secret of economy which is practiced in European households. But while we may be wasteful in this one respect, it does not follow that in others we are wasteful also; nor is such true. Indeed, the splendid growth which we have measured along industrial lines within the past few years proves unmistakably that we have not ignored the small economies upon which success depends. In this connection it is pertinent to quote the views of one of our recent French visitors. Says this candid critic: "The attention paid to small details in your big works is amazing to me. I have visited some establishments where I believe the profits are not made in the manufacture proper, but in the saving of material and labor by close attention to details. For example, I saw in your shops just now a little grindstone in operation, automatically sharpening tools. This machine probably cost as much as one hundred of our ordinary grindstones, but it automatically grinds all the tools for three hundred high-priced mechanics. The skilled mechanics in our country frequently stop their regular work to grind their own tools, and then do it imperfectly." So, from the testimony of this candid Frenchman, it appears that Americans are not wasteful in all respects at least. If time could be given to the subject it might be shown that Americans lead the world in most of the economies upon which success depends, but for present purposes the above citation is sufficient.

It stands to reason that when a man gets into a habit of lying his bare word must not be taken for the naked truth.

RACE FOR THE PHILIPPINES

's Now On Between Our Relief Transports and Spanish Fleet.

SPAIN WILL TRY TO CONQUER THE ISLANDS.

American Vessels Will Have to Sail 7,000 Miles, While the Distance From Spain is 8,000—Regulars Under General Merrit Moving.

WASHINGTON.—The race for the Philippines is on. It will be the most thrilling spa chase of modern times. The United States will dispatch its transports for the relief of Dewey from San Francisco across the Pacific 7,050 miles. Spain will send its fleet, which has for its object the conquering of the islands, from Barcelona through the Mediterranean, the Isthmus of Suez, and the Red sea, across the Arabian sea along the southern extremity of the Bay of Bengal, around the Malayan Peninsula, and up the China sea to Manila, a total distance of 8,000 miles.

The difference in distances the rival fleets have to go is but three or four days by sea travel. And again, the administration realizes how unfortunate that relief to Dewey was not sent two weeks ago. The City of Pekin and the City at Sydney were ordered by the navy department and the war department to crowd on all steam and make the best possible time in reaching their destination. The former will carry over 1,000 men and supplies.

Should fortune favor the United States, and the transports reach Manila at the earliest possible moment, there will be but little time to prepare for the Spanish fleet. General Merritt smiles grimly as he contemplates the force which he is to command. He believes he is going to have the finest fighting force ever sent out of the country, and is accordingly happy.

The department is pushing with all speed for additional transports, and has already chartered the Zealandia, a sister ship to the Australia, which will carry 800 regulars. Six months supplies are to go out with the first expedition, and three months supplies with the second.

Up to this time it has been decided to give Merritt the greater portion of the Fourteenth infantry, now on the Pacific coast, the entire Eighteenth and Twenty-third regiments of infantry, two batteries of artillery and four troops of cavalry.

FRANCE'S ATTITUDE.

Understanding Satisfactory to Both Governments Reached.

WASHINGTON.—As a result of several recent exchanges between the officials of the state department and those of the French embassy an agreeable understanding has been reached which gives assurance of a continuance of the traditional friendship existing between the United States and France. It has served to make clear that each government has the fullest confidence in the friendly attitude of the other and that any criticisms or animosities aroused by recent incidents in the war have not been shared by the government officials of either country. In the recent exchanges, the attitude of some of the Parisian newspapers in criticism of France has been deprecated. It was pointed out by the state department officials that they had expressly disclaimed any sympathy or indorsement of these criticisms and that at most they were private expressions in no way reflecting the feeling of the United States government toward France.

CLOSING IN ON HAVANA.

Report That Gomez With 45,000 Men Is Nearing the Cuban Capital.

A special from Port Au Prince says that information has reached that place that General Gomez, at the head of an army of 15,000 insurgents, is closing in on Havana. His advance guard, led by Quentin Pandera, the dispatch says, had a skirmish with and put to flight 800 Spanish troops. Santiago De Cuba, according to the same report, is menaced by 5,000 insurgents under General Calixito Garcia. The dispatch also reports that Spanish warships have been sighted off Yucatan, conveying three transports carrying troops and provisions for Havana.

Not at All Formidable.

Hon. Thomas W. Palmer, of Detroit, ex-minister to Spain, in an interview said he did not consider Spain's navy at all formidable. Mr. Palmer said he thought Admiral Cervera's squadron was no match for either of the squadrons commanded by Sampson and Schley. In regard to Spain's sea coast fortifications, he said that while minister to Spain he inspected the fortifications at Cadiz and expressed the opinion that four 12-inch projectiles would completely shatter them.

SAGASTA'S NEW CABINET.

Will Adopt a More Vigorous War Policy at Once.

MADRID, SPAIN.—The ministers, in full uniform, appeared in the senate Friday. The new cabinet is already nicknamed the "circumstantial cabinet." The premier, Senor Sagasta, explained the ministerial crisis, and asserted that the new ministry will continue the policy of the former one. He related how "Spain did everything to avoid war until America, violating all recognized diplomacy, attacked Spain with an injustice unprecedented in the annals of civilized history, and compelled Spain to respond with war to war, which Spain would continue to the utmost until an honorable peace is obtainable. This," the premier continued, "is a strong policy, and the new government will also energetically conduct negotiations with European and other states."

Senor Sagasta explained that the cabinet changes were due to the fact that several ministers were "ill and extremely fatigued after the recent anxieties." He said the cabinet found itself confronted with war or dishonor, and accepted the former, adding solemnly: "The Spanish government will never accept peace if the territorial integrity of Spain is not maintained, and otherwise Spain is determined to fight."

AN ACTION IS NEAR.

Ships at Key West Were Hurriedly Coaled and Provisioned.

KEY WEST (Special).—The prologue has been spoken and the curtain is about to rise on the first act of the drama. Dewey's brilliant achievement at Manila is regarded as a separate episode. San Juan is already a memory, and the sporadic encounters along the Cuban coast are accepted as merely preliminary skirmishes, tentative rather than decisive. The meeting of the two great hostile fleets is the pivot upon which the situation turns. This view is confirmed by the news that Admiral Cervera's squadron has reached Santiago De Cuba. The intelligence was received Friday, and if it does not affect the situation it was a singular coincidence that activity among our ships is perceptibly heightened and the work of coaling and provisioning those in the harbor was rushed with great haste. The newspaper dispatch boats have all departed, with particular care not to lose sight of the United States warships.

MAY STARTLE THE WORLD.

England Will Concentrate a Great Fleet in the Pacific.

VANCOUVER, B. C.—The British fleet in the Pacific is to be strengthened to a considerable extent during the next few months. The Temeraric, the first-class battleship to be permanently stationed here, is being fitted out at Portsmouth, and will sail shortly for Esquimault, and the big cruiser Wraspie is also to be sent to join the Pacific fleet. The fleet is to be strengthened by replacing some of the smaller cruisers with large ones, the second-class cruiser Arthusa being now on her way here to relieve the third-class cruiser Icarus. In the south, the battleship Iron Duke is to be stationed at Coquimbo. Among naval men the opinion is rife that England is about to make a move in the Pacific that will startle the world, or if not this, she is preparing to meet a contemplated move of other big powers.

Australians Want to Enlist.

Advices brought up by the steamer Aorangi, which arrived at Vancouver, B. C., Friday from Sidney, shows that in both Australia and Hawaii intense feeling in favor of the United States as against Spain prevails. Australians are very anxious to join the United States army. Colonel Bell, the American consul at Sidney, has had offers from hundreds of men wanting to go to the front.

ANGLO-JAPANESE ALLIANCE.

Friendly Understanding Between the Two Nations Said to Have Been Arranged.

London.—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, says: Confirmation is given in well informed quarters in Vienna to the rumor that friendly advances made by England to Japan have already attained a tangible result. It is believed that an Anglo-Japanese understanding has been reached which not only comprehends all eventualities which can occur in the east, but also contemplates all the consequences which might result in the course of the Hispano-American war. The understanding establishes a sort of Asiatic balance of power.

War Supplies on the Argonauta.

KEY WEST.—Over forty cases of ammunition were found Friday on the Spanish steamer Argonauta, captured during the first days of the war. It was on board the steamer that Lieutenant-Colonel Cortijo, Weyler's brother in-law, was captured, with other Spanish soldiers, now prisoners in Fort McPherson, Atlanta.

The war department has placed orders for 200,000 pairs of soldiers' shoes.

FLEET AT SANTIAGO DE CUBA

Official Information That Spain's Warships Have Reached Cuba.

SAMPSON ORDERED TO ATTACK THE ENEMY

Probability That a Great Naval Battle Between the Hostile Fleets Will Be Fought in Cuban Waters This Week—Left Santiago De Cuba.

WASHINGTON.—The navy department posted the following bulletin at the close of office hours Friday afternoon:

"The department has information, which is believed to be authentic, that the Spanish squadron under Admiral Cervera is at Santiago de Cuba."

Surprise that the news came from Madrid was expressed, for the Spanish bulletins have been notably secretive ever since the flying squadron left Cadiz.

Accepting this statement as correct, it indicates that there is little possibility of a hostile meeting between Sampson and Schley and Cervera immediately. Looking over the charts of Santiago harbor, the experts soon discovered that the place would be a veritable rat trap for the Spaniards, with its narrow entrance, in which a single American monitor could bottle up the whole Spanish fleet.

While in some quarters the report from Madrid that the Spanish squadron is at Santiago is received with misgivings, yet the officials of the Cuban delegations here consider the reports accurate, as they bear out what these officials pointed out when the Spanish fleet first reached Martinique as the probable course the Spanish admiral would take.

To Attack the Enemy.

WASHINGTON.—From apparently trustworthy sources it is learned that Admiral Sampson was ordered to leave Key West Friday afternoon to attack the Spanish squadron at Santiago de Cuba. Full supplies of coal and ammunition were taken on board during the stay at Key West. The battleships and monitors were loaded with big shells enough to batter the Spanish squadron and then hammer a town or two before coming home again.

The squadron will probably be at Santiago de Cuba in three days from the time of starting. That would mean Monday evening. Should the Spanish fleet remain in port a battle may be expected on Tuesday. The only fear in Washington is that the Spaniards will not stay for the fighting, but will run and dodge again.

Fleet Has Left Santiago.

MADRID (Special.)—It is asserted that Admiral Cervera's squadron has left Santiago de Cuba. The course is not given.

CHICKAMAUGA'S VAST ARMY.

Three Corps Are Being Organized, Requiring 80,000 Men.

vast army at Chickamauga park is gathering rapidly. There are now on the historic ground between 30,000 and 40,000 men. The First division of the First provisional army corps is now complete, and the work of organizing the second has begun.

Gen. Brooke states that three corps are to be organized at the park, requiring the concentration of at least 80,000 men. The marvel is how these men are so rapidly, easily and without any confusion gotten together. The fact is demonstrated, however, and furnishes convincing proof of the greatness not only of our resources as a nation, but of our patriotism as a liberty-loving people.

Spain Routed the Rebels.

News brought by the steamer Empress says that the Spanish did a little bombarding on their account in the Philippines about a fortnight before Admiral Dewey silenced their fleet. About the middle of April, Spanish war vessels went down to Cebu, where they bombarded the city. The troops met no opposition in landing, the rebels having absconded before a shot was fired, taking with them, it is said, $200,000 in cash. About thirty natives were killed in the bombardment. Cebu, which ranks third in the cities of the Philippines, was wrecked by the bombardment.

Warships to Reinforce Dewey.

Five warships will be sent to reinforce Dewey at Manila. They are the Charleston, Monterey, Bennington, Yorktown and Philadelphia. The Bennington is now at Honolulu. The Yorktown and Philadelphia are undergoing repairs at San Francisco. The Charleston has sailed and the Monterey leaves in a few days.

Over 100,000 Mustered In.

The number of volunteers mustered into the service of the United States has now passed the 100,000 mark.

SITUATION AT MANILA UNCHANGED

Admiral Dewey Cables More Information to the Government.

General Aguinaldo, the insurgent chief, arrived [illegible] and the greatest enthusiasm. Admiral Dewey gave him two field pieces and 500 Mauser rifles. A battle and engagement is expected this week.

The captain of the Spanish revenue cutter Callao, which was recently captured by Dewey's fleet, will be shot for not returning the fire of the American vessels. Admiral Montojo, who commanded the Spanish fleet destroyed by Dewey, is to be court-martialed upon the charge of cowardice.

Threatened to Fire on German Cruisers.

A special dispatch from Manila says that the German consul there tried to land provisions from a German ship, but that Admiral Dewey refused to permit it. The consul then declared, according to the dispatch, that he would force the landing under the protection of two German cruisers, but Admiral Dewey threatened to fire upon the cruisers, and the attempt to land the supplies was abandoned.

ANOTHER CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

Reported That 100,000 More Men Will Be Put in the Field.

The war department is making preparations for the assembling of a large army, which will provide for every contingency that may arise during the conduct of the war. When the 125,000 men now in state camps have been mustered in, a call will be issued for 100,000 to 200,000 additional volunteers.

If 200,000 volunteers are summoned for military duty by the president, there will be an immense army in the field. Legislation has already provided for 61,000 regulars, 125,000 volunteers from the states, 10,000 yellow fever immunes, 3,000 volunteers at large and 3,500 engineers, making a total of 203,000.

The second call would bring the total up to 403,000 men. No pressing need of additional volunteers is apparent at the moment, but the proposition contemplates the organization, equipment and training of a large army sufficient to provide for every emergency, even to the invasion of Spain itself.

ARMOR BIDS OPENED.

Plate for Three Battleships to Be Furnished by Carnegie and Bethlehem Companies.

WASHINGTON.—Bids were opened Tuesday for supplying the armor of three battleships, the Illinois, the Alabama and the Wisconsin, now in course of construction at the Union Iron Works, Newport News and Cramps. This is the second time that the government has endeavored to secure bids for supplying the armor for these ships. For the Illinois the two armor companies, the Bethlehem and Carnegie, divided their bids; one taking the light armor and the other the heavier. For the Alabama the Bethlehem company bid $1,022,501, while the Carnegie company did not bid. For the Wisconsin the Carnegie company bid $1,023,504. The rate in each case was $400 per ton for bolts and armor, the maximum amount allowed by congress.

TREATY OF DEFENSE

Between the United States and Great Britain Announced.

A dispatch to the New York World from Kingston, Jamaica, says:

The signing of a treaty of defense between the United States and Great Britain is announced in a dispatch received here on Saturday by the military authorities.

A crisis in the war between America and Spain is imminent, the dispatch intimates, and Jamaica will be directly affected.

All leave of absence of military and naval officers have been cancelled. Supplies of provisions sufficient to last eighteen months are being stored.

Judge A. A. Coleman Nominated.

A. A. Coleman received the democratic nomination for judge of the Tenth Alabama judicial circuit Tuesday morning on the 549th ballot. Only one ballot was taken at this session, on which Judge Coleman received 18.71 votes of the convention, 18.51 being enough to nominate him.

If First Expedition is a Success Further Troops Will Be Rushed Into the Island as Soon as Possible—Gen. Merritt Starts on Journey.

WASHINGTON (Special).—The Cuban invasion ... begun at once. It is believed ... the first detachment left Tampa Sunday. The troops will be landed ... protection of a heavy fire from the blockading squadron. They will form a cordon around Havana and the attack will be made by land and sea. The war department thinks Havana can be taken in four weeks.

Cuban Volunteers the First to Move.

A special to the Chicago Record from Macon, Ga., Sunday says: Unless some accident has befallen the United States transport Florida there are now United States volunteer troops on the island of Cuba, or they will be there within a few hours. From accurate information obtained here today it can be stated as a fact that the first expedition toward Cuban soil has started and the outlook is for a successful trip.

Wednesday, May 19, the United transport Florida left Port Tampa with several hundred volunteer troops on board. The passengers belonged to the regiment of Cuban volunteers organized in the lower extremity of Florida some two weeks ago. It was thought best to send these men as they speak Spanish and are more acquainted with the topography of the country which it is proposed to invade. It cannot be learned what United States officers accompanied the regiment of volunteers. If this expedition is a success further troops will be rushed into the island as soon as possible.

ANNOUNCED IN MADRID

That the Formidable Squadron Organized at Cadiz Will Soon Sail for Manila.

MADRID.—In spite of the veto placed upon the publication of Spanish naval movements the newspapers here have been allowed to announce that Admiral Cameras' squadron, consisting of the battleship Pelayo, the first class armored cruiser Carlos V, the auxiliary cruisers Patriota and Rapido, the cruiser Alfonso XIII, the cruiser Antonio de Lopez, three torpedo boat destroyers, and the armed yacht Giralda, will shortly sail from Cadiz, while the reserve squadron, consisting of the Vittoria, Numancia, Lepanto and another vessel, will be organized immediately.

What Chases Dewey.

LONDON.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily News says: "The Spanish correspondents say that there has been received within the last fortnight 100,000 tons of coal and large quantities of ammunition. The government ... to increase the ... of defense in the territories ... to a great need, and is considering the necessity of keeping a basis of operations in Spain. ... a majority of ... and the Ameri... are unable ... of soil. Spain will ... 7,000 troops intended for the Philippines until further notice, and will immediately send the Cadiz reserve to Manila to chastise Dewey."

Immediate Movement of Troops.

WASHINGTON.—An immediate movement of troops to the Philippines has been ordered. The navy department now credits the report that Spain will attempt to recapture Manila, and will send troops and ships to Dewey's assistance. The monitor Monterey has been ordered to proceed to Manila at full speed. The Monterey is probably the most formidable monitor in the world. She carries two 12-inch and ... besides an arsenal ... BELIEVED THAT FIGHT OCCURRED

Report in London That the Vizcaya and Alfonso XIII are Destroyed.

LONDON, May 25.—A dispatch to the Financial News from Port de Paix, Hayti, says: "Admiral Cervera is believed to have divided his fleet. It is reported that the Vizcaya and the Alfonso XIII have been destroyed."

Persistent rumors are in circulation here to the effect that a great naval battle has been fought in the vicinity of the Windward passage between the eastern end of Cuba and the western part of Hayti, in which both the American squadrons closed in on the Spanish Cape Verde squadron, commanded by Admiral Cervera, and completely destroyed the Spanish ships.

LITTLE DANGER

In Cuba, Says Consul Brice, if the Ordinary Rules of Health Are Observed.

United States Consul Brice, of Bedford, Ia., at Matanzas, in an interview says:

"I wish to assure the volunteers in the different states that there is little danger of the United States soldiers falling victims to disease in Cuba. I speak from experience in the province of Matanzas, where there has been the greatest suffering among reconcentrados. The physical ills of the Cubans and Spaniards in the army result from deplorable sanitary conditions. Field operations are perfectly practicable during the rainy season, if there is a proper observance of the ordinary rules of health. The volunteers need not hesitate to enlist, for with reasonable precautions there is little danger.

NINETEEN WARSHIPS AT HAVANA

Report That Spain Has Purchased Another Vessel to Be Used as a Cruiser.

MADRID.—A dispatch received here from Havana says:

"Secret orders have been given to Admiral Cervera as to what course to pursue in the event of the Americans attempting to cut communication between Cuba and Spain. Americans continue to occupy stations outside of Havana, Cienfuegos, Cardenas and Santiago de Cuba. There are now nineteen American warships before Havana."

It is reported that the Spanish government has purchased the Havel from the North German Lloyd Steamship Company. She is a steel vessel of 6,875 gross tonnage.

GENEROUS CONFEDS.

In the Great Reunion at Atlanta They Will Quarter 6,000 Visitors.

The Confederate Veterans of Atlanta have arranged to furnish meals and sleeping quarters free to 6,000, if so many desire free accommodation, during the July reunion. The government building at the exposition park will be used for the commissary, and the electricity and transportation buildings will be furnished with cots. The agricultural building, in which the speeches will be made, will be fitted up with seats for 10,000. The railroads have granted a fare of 1 cent a mile south of the Ohio and Potomac and east of the Mississippi. The reunion will begin July 20, and will last for four days.

REFUSED TO SURRENDER.

Negro Who Fatally Wounded Dr. Gunther Shot and Killed.

Dr. J. L. Gunther, passing a crowd of negroes on his bicycle Sunday night in Eutaw, Ala., rang for them to get out of the way. They seized him and cut him in the head and neck, inflicting a wound eleven inches long. A posse armed themselves and pursued the negroes, three of whom were captured and put in jail. The negro who did the cutting refused to surrender and was shot and killed.

To Build Larger Ships.

The Cramps have united with Vicker's Sons and Maxim, and other big English builders, to make in this country the largest ship yard in the world. The capital employed will be about $10,000,000, and the plant will cover an area of several hundred acres. All of the plans are perfected and will be put in operation as speedily as possible.

Denounced by Spanish Senate.

The alleged action of American war ships in displaying the Spanish flag, in order to enter a Cuban harbor, was denounced by the Spanish senate. It is believed that Spain will soon resort to privateering.

General Lee's Staff.

The following named officers have been ordered to report to Major General Fitzhugh Lee for assignment on his staff:

Lieutenant Colonel Joseph H. Dorst, assistant adjutant general, United States volunteers; Lieutenant Colonel William R. Livermore, chief engineer, United States volunteers; Lieutenant Colonel Curtis Guild, Jr., inspector general, United States volunteers; Lieutenant Colonel Oliver E. Wood, chief commissary of subsistence, United States volunteers; Lieutenant Colonel Louis M. Maus, chief surgeon, United States volunteers; First Lieutenant Robert E. L. Michie, adjutant, Second Cavalry.

Another Spanish "Victory."

The government at Madrid claims to have received a dispatch from Havana announcing that the rebels have pronounced themselves in favor of Spain and are now making common cause with the Spaniards to defeat the Americans."

American Ships Retired.

MADRID.—The Spanish fleet on arriving at Santiago de Cuba found there two American warships, which retired with all speed. The queen regent has cabled congratulations to Admiral Cervera.

CALL FOR 75,000 MEN.

The President Issues Proclamation for Enlistment of More Volunteers.

TO BE RECRUITED FROM ENLISTMENTS.

The New Movement Indicates a Determination to Press the Campaign Actively and Vigorously From Now On—Will Open Enlistments.

President McKinley Wednesday issued the following proclamation:

"Whereas, An act of congress was approved on the 25th day of April, 1898, entitled 'An act declaring that war exists between the United States of America and the kingdom of Spain;' and

"Whereas, By an act of congress, entitled 'An act to provide for temporarily increasing the military establishment of the United States in time of war, and for other purposes,' approved April 22, 1898, the president is authorized, in order to raise a volunteer army, to issue his proclamation calling for volunteers to serve in the army of the United States.

"Now, therefore, I, William McKinley, president of the United States, by virtue of the power invested in me by the constitution and the laws, and deeming sufficient occasion to exist, have thought fit to call forth and hereby do call forth volunteers to the aggregate number of 75,000 in addition to the volunteers called forth by the proclamation of the 23d of April, in the present year, the same to be apportioned as far as practical among the several states and territories and the District of Columbia according to population, and to serve two years unless sooner discharged. The proportion of each arm and the details of enlistment, and organization will be made known through the war department.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the city of Washington, this 25th day of May, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, eight hundred and ninety-eight, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and twenty-second.

"(Signed) WM. MCKINLEY.

"By the President:

"WM. R. DAY,

"Secretary of State."

Will Open Enlistments.

Secretary Alger says that the additional volunteers called for will not be recruited from the National Guard as were the first 125,000, but that the enlistments will be open. The regulations referred to in proclamation under which the enlistment will be conducted have not yet been prepared, and it is thought there is no occasion for hurry in this matter until the full draft called for in the first proclamation has been secured.

The call, it is supposed, indicates a determination to press the campaign actively and vigorously from now on. The call will make the total army strength, regular and volunteer, 280,000 men.

One hundred and twelve thousand men now have been mustered into the volunteer army of the United States, and the official report shows that the greater number of these are ready to move to the front.

TO INVADE SPANISH SOIL.

First Detachment of the American Army Has Sailed to the Philippine Islands.

SAN FRANCISCO.—The start was made for Manila late Wednesday afternoon and the first American army to sail for a foreign shore is on the broad Pacific. At 4 o'clock Brigadier General Anderson signalled from the Australia for the City of Pekin and City of Sydney to get under way immediately. The signal was seen from the shore and the waiting crowds commenced to cheer wildly. No time was lost and the vessels were soon under way.

The three transports carried close on to 2,500 men, among them being four companies of regulars, 500 sailors and 500 heavy artillery. The fleet is loaded with supplies to last a year and carried a big cargo of ammunition and naval stores for Admiral Dewey's fleet at Manila.

Reign of Terror at Key West.

Key West is suffering from a reign of terror. Two murders were committed Wednesday night and the best citizens feel that unless the town is properly put under martial law a state of riot may prevail at any moment. The police force consists of three men, with streets and grog shops infested with turbulent jackies, negroes and roughs of many classes, the danger to the respectable classes is no mean one. In consequence of bloodshed Commander Forsythe has already asked for a guard of twenty-five marines to protect the naval station and government dock, and strong efforts are being made by citizens to have martial law declared.

Fatal Accident at Gadsden.

A terrible and fatal accident happened at Gadsden, Ala., in which two lives will pay the forfeit. N. A. Alexander, white, of Piedmont, and Newt Adams, colored, of Gadsden, were caught between the depot platform and a Louisville and Nashville engine and badly crushed. Alexander was internally injured and his back was broken. He will hardly live. Adams was crushed in the stomach and back and fatally injured internally.

GEN. MERRITT COING TO MANILA.

Between 16,000 and 17,000 Troops Will Be Sent to the Philippines.

WASHINGTON.—Major-General Wesley Merritt, who is to command the expedition to the Philippines, accompanied by several members of his staff, reported to the war department Friday morning, and was in consultation with Secretary Alger and the regular army officials concerning his future works.

Later in the day he had a talk with the president and received instructions for his guidance in the difficult and important duties assigned to him.

General Merritt will go to San Francisco, stopping en route a day or more Chicago. He is yet uncertain as to the date he will sail for the Philippines, but it is now evident that he will not be able to depart with the first ship that goes to Manila.

The general expects to have an ample force of men to establish the mission he is sent on. Between 16,000 and 17,000 troops, he thinks, will be allotted to him. Of this number he confidently hopes there may be approximately 5,000 soldiers of the regular army, who because of their thorough discipline and usage of actual military life are regarded as absolutely essential to the successful completion of the work in hand.

There is ample evidence already that the authorities are disposed to meet General Merritt's views. This is shown by order issued which directed the Eighteenth and Twenty-third regiments of infantry now stationed in the south to proceed at once to San Francisco for duty with the expedition. The Tenth regiment of Pennsylvania volunteers, which are regarded as the best material in the volunteer soldier line, have also been ordered to the Philippines.

William Howell, of New York, has been appointed secretary to General Merritt and will accompany him to the Philippines.

NAVY NEEDS CRUISERS.

Ex-Secretary of Navy Tracy Says Congress Should Build Six New Vessels.

Ex-Secretary of the Navy Tracy, of New York, under whose administration of the navy department many of the battleships and cruisers of our new navy were projected and built, was asked if our ships in their present active service met the expectations he had of them when the new navy was being developed.

"To judge from Manila, they are meeting every expectation," said General Tracy. "And yet I believe it to be the plain duty of congress to authorize immediately the construction of six large armored cruisers of the most modern type, even larger than the cruisers Brooklyn and New York. These should be ordered in addition to the ships authorized by the regular naval appropriation bill.

Forty-Two Persons Killed in a Tornado.

Forty-two persons are known to have lost their lives and twenty-eight others are reported dead as the result of the tornadoes which devastated portions of Eastern Iowa, Western Illinois and Northern Wisconsin last Thursday. The property loss is very large. Iowa heads the list with eighteen fatalities.

Fourteen deaths are reported in Illinois.

Wisconsin reports nine known dead, with unconfirmed stories bringing the total in that state up to thirty-seven.

ESTIMATES OF APPROPRIATIONS

Required By the War Department for the Support of the Army for Six Months.

Secretary Alger has sent to the secretary of the treasury for transmission to congress supplemented estimates of appropriations aggregating $88,638,840, required by the war department for the support of the regular and volunteer armies for the first six months of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1898, in addition to the amount previously appropriated.

Up to this time the estimates and appropriations already made for war expenses aggregate $295,210,840.

Spanish Spies Plotting in Hong Kong.

HONG KONG.—The political center of Spanish activity has been transferred to Hong Kong. Spies fill the city. They shadow American Consul Wildman day and night. The last census gave the Spanish troops in the Philippines at 7,000; Manila, 2,000; Cebu, 1,500; Iloilo, 1,000; Minandano, 800. There is no artillery outside of Manila or the forts. The presence of an American battleship would silence Spanish activity instantly.

BLOCKADED AT SANTIAGO.

Spain's Fleet is Now Bottled Up in the Harbor by Schley's Fleet.

SAMPSON WILL REDUCE SAN JUAN FORTS.

He is to Be Followed Up With 20,000 Men to Occupy and Hold Porto Rico. Cuba Will Be Invaded at Once and City of Havana Captured.

WASHINGTON, Special.—Spain's fleet is bottled up in Santiago harbor. Schley is to be left to blockade the fleet, while Sampson goes to San Juan and complete the reduction of its fortifications. He is to be followed by an army of 20,000 to occupy and hold the island. Spain is to be hit hard all along the line. Cuba will be invaded at once and Havana captured. Thirty-first class transports are at Tampa ready to move the army of invasion. Gen. Miles will start to the front Friday.

Cervera being at bay, the officials feel not the slightest apprehension of any relief coming to him from the outside in the shape of another Spanish squadron from Cadiz. The reason for this belief is their unquestioned ability to hold Cervera in check with only a few vessels, perhaps a couple of monitors and torpedo boats, thus leaving the remainder of the big armored fleet and a great number of unarmored but serviceable war crafts to take care of any reinforcements that might attempt to come from Spain to Cervera's aid. The force that could be spared for this service without endangering the integrity of the blockade at Havana, or permitting the escape of Cervera, would be much larger than the entire Spanish naval force now in Spanish waters capable of crossing the Atlantic.

Confirmed at Madrid.

LONDON (Special).—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "Official telegrams from Cuba confirm the report that Rear Admiral Sampson and Commodore Schley, with their combined squadrons, are now in front of Santiago de Cuba blockading Admiral Cervera. Ministers consider that Santiago possesses sufficient defense to render null and void any aggressive action the enemy may take. The position of the American squadron will cause the government to take immediate action, though it is unknown as yet what form this action will be. Rumors that a battle has already taken place are officially denied."

Fight Off for the Present Says Sagasta.

MADRID.—Premier Sagasta is quoted as saying that a combat between the Spanish and American squadrons off Cuba is now impossible, nor is it probable that fights will occur in the near future. All rumors to the contrary are unfounded. The Spanish squadron will remain at Santiago, cleaning the hulls of the ships and leisurely coaling. Everything is being carried out in obedience to a well-conceived plan. "If the Americans intend to invade Cuba," said Sagasta, "we shall then fight on the sea. We can await events calmly."

PROCLAMATION UNEXPECTED.

Call Not Due to Any Emergency, But to Constitute a Second Reserve.

WASHINGTON.—The issuance of a proclamation by the president calling for 75,000 volunteers came with almost startling unexpectedness even to many of the high officials in the army. The proclamation means not only the assembling of a large force of troops, but also the appointment of a number of major-generals, brigadier-generals, colonels, majors and staff and field officers for the organization of this additional force of 75,000 men into army corps, divisions, brigades and regiments.

The reasons leading up to the call was not due to any serious emergency, but was rather in the line of getting on the ground a large body of men to be drilled and seasoned and to constitute a sort of second reserve to be drawn upon later when the campaigns were fully under way.

Following is the southern states quota: Alabama, 1,500; Arkansas, 1,230; Florida, 450; Georgia, 1,950; Kentucky, 1,405; Louisiana, 1,164; Maryland, 1,166; Mississippi, 1,295; Missouri, 3,246; North Carolina, 1,545; South Carolina, 448; Texas, 1,454; Virginia, 1,673; West Virginia, 833.

They Are Now Regulars.

The First regiment Alabama volunteers was mustered into Uncle Sam's service at Mobile Tuesday, and were taken to the camp of the regulars, commanded by General Coppinger. Immediately after being mustered in clothing outfits were issued and the day was spent in fully equipping the regiment.

Can Resist Only One Month Longer.

ROME.—La Tribuna publishes a telegram from Kingston, Jamaica, saying persons arriving there from Havana declare Cuba is able to resist only one month longer, owing to scarcity of provisions.

Major General Merritt's mysterious delay of two days in Chicago on his way to take command of the Philippine expedition has been explained. It was to win a bride. She is Miss Laura Williams, the beautiful 24-year-old daughter of Norman Williams, many times over a millionaire, clubman and prominent man of affairs. The general is 62 years old.

It is believed that Senor Puigceiver, Spain's minister of finance, will provoke a ministerial crisis at the next cabinet council.

FRANCO-SPANISH ALLIANCE

... Said to Be Forthcoming Causes Rise in Spanish Fou...

LONDON.—The St. James Gazette Monday afternoon, in its financial article, said: "In the foreign market this morning several leading dealers were said to be in possession of advance news of the forthcoming announcement of a Franco-Spanish alliance, hence the rise in Spanish fours.

"In connection with the above, it is currently reported that the recent speeches of the Marquis of Salisbury and Mr Joseph Chamberlain did not refer to West Africa, but to this impending alliance, against which Mr. Chamberlain's allusion to an Anglo-American alliance was intended as a counter blast.

"The strength of silver is attributed to the prospective purchases to replace the withdrawals from the Bank of Spain, amounting to 135,000,000 pesetas since April 16."

THREE HUNDRED KILLED.

Heavy Spanish Loss in the Engagement at Cienfuegos.

The Spanish loss during the recent engagement at Cienfuegos is now known to have been much heavier than at first reported. Three hundred Spaniards were killed and several hundred wounded. Great damage was done along the coast. Soon after the engagement the United States cruiser Marblehead picked up several Cubans in an open boat some miles down the coast, including Col. Oriz, Lieut Olvarez and three privates, from an insurgent camp near Cienfuegos. They reported that the Spanish losses and the damage wrought by the shells from the warships were very heavy. During the engagement the Marblehead threw 450 5-inch shells into the Spanish forces and 700 shots from her secondary battery, the gunboat Nashville as many more shells and 1,500 shots from her secondary battery.

Pipe Companies Band Together.

Representatives of all the Southern pipe and foundry companies in the United States met last Saturday in Chattanooga, when the following companies were consolidated into the American Pipe and Foundry company: Howard-Harrison Iron company at Bessemer, Southern Pipe company, Anniston; South Pittsburg Pipe Works; Chattanooga Foundry and Pipe Works company's two shops at Chattanooga and one at Bridgeport, in all six companies. The capital stock of the new company is $2,000,000, and the bonded indebtedness $1,500,000.

Will Not Bombard the Canaries.

LONDON.—The agent in the Canary islands of a Liverpool firm writes that the British consul there has been informed that the United States will not bombard the Canary islands, as the result of an arrangement between Great Britain and the United States, whereby while Great Britain remains neutral the United States will abstain from such bombardment, which would mean great destruction of British property.

A MEETING of the Populist State nominees was held at Birmingham on Tuesday, and a plan of the campaign mapped out.

CIRCUIT Court adjourned Monday afternoon, after the quietest session ever known in the county. It is more than ever apparent one week is ample for all the business of the county at Spring term.

THE war fever becomes more intense every day and until some decisive action has been taken it will probably increase than lessen. An important naval battle may occur almost at any moment.

INDEPENDENT candidates for the county offices continue to come forward. Some of them may have good gtounds for their candidacy, but so far as we can see the regular nominees of the Populist party have everything in their favor.

IN our news columns will be found a statement that Mr. H. A. Wilson is announced as an independent candidate for Judge of Probate. We publish the statement for what it is worth. Whether Mr. Wilson poses as an independent Republican, or whether he has thrown over the Republican party, we are not in a position to say. How, or by whom, he was induced to come forward, or whether his rumored candidacy is a joke' remains to be seen.

W B GREEN

THE announcement of this gentleman for the offics of Circuit is something in the nature of a surprise. Mr. Green was born in this county and has resided in the west-part all his life. He is a young man ambitious to serve his fellow-citizens and in announcing himself as an independent candidate wishes it to be undersaood he will do his best to serve all the people to the utmost of his ability, if they honor him by electing him to the office to which he aspires.

The spirit of "independentism" seems to be particularly active in Beat one where Mr. S. L. Arledge, who announces himself a candidate for Representative in the General Assembly, resides. Mr. Arledge has been a citizen of this county since 1850, and for twenty-two years has been a Justice of the Peace in Beat one. In submitting himself to the people of the county, he promises, if elected as their Representative, to faithfully serve their best interests and to promote their welfare as far as is in his power.

W A B FALKNER

THIS gentleman from the southern part of Chilton, whose announcement for the office of Clerk of the Circuit Court appears elsewhere, is a conservative citizen who has resided with us for the last twelve years.

So far as experience in the duties of the office is concerned, he is fully qualified having served two terms as Clerk of the Circuit Court of Russell county. Mr Falkner is a member of the Baptist church, and a gentleman highly spoken of by all who know him. Should he be elected he would no doubt worthily serve the people.

Anglo-Saxon Against the World.

The Toronto World says that in its war with Spain the United States stands for Anglo-Saxon civilization. "The line of cleavage," it declares, "between the two opposing forces of civilization was apparent the moment the European powers proposed to interfere in the Spanish-American trouble. Great Britain instinctively recoiled from such a proposal, as she knew well that the joint interference of the powers meant the sacrifice of the principle on behalf of which the war has been undertaken by the United States. The chances are that the combatants will be left to themselves, but there is at the same time a possibility that the powers may be forced into the struggle. In that event it will be the Anglo-Saxon against the world."

Getting Her Money's Worth.

A young woman I know went to a spiritualist seance once upon an evening, and though she strained every nerve in an effort to concentrate her mind on her dear and gone acquaintances there was no message for her. Quite late in the evening the medium announced the presence of a spirit calling himself Uncle Jimmy. The young woman immediately rose and claimed him. Uncle Jimmy said he was doing nicely, sent his love to all the family and departed. As the young woman left the hall the escort ventured to say:

"Why, I didn't know you ever had an uncle named Jimmy."

"I never did," said the young woman cheerfully, "but I wasn't going to pay 50 cents to get into that seance and not get anything at all for my money."—Washington Post.

Bright Excuses.

"Shiftless as ever, Thomas!" said the wealthy uncle. "Still making a failure of life, as you always have done!"

"I don't know that I'm such a terrible failure," sulkily answered the poor relation.

"Why, you have nobody but yourself to support, and you can't make both ends meet."

"Well, the rainbow has only itself to support, and it doesn't make both ends meet either."—Chicago Tribune.

The Power of Mystery.

"I can't afford to have people think I don't know about this particular question," said the politician, "and I haven't the time I need to read up on it."

"Well," replied his wife, "in that case I'll tell you what I'd do. I'd look wise and get some paper to announce that you decline to be interviewed."—Washington Star.

MORNING SONG.

[After the Italian of Carducci.]

The sun beats at thy window: "Oh, arise,
Fair and beloved! Awake, this is love's hour.
I bring thee tears from hidden violets' eyes,
And the sweet song of each awakened flower.
From my great kingdom vassals do I bring,
April and May, to do thee reverence,
And the young year serenely folds her wing
Upon the flower of thy white innocence."

The wind beats at thy casement: "From afar,
O'er plains and mountains, hither am I sped.
One sole sweet symphony have earth and star,
And but one song the living and the dead."
Voices from bird nests in the wood's green gloom,
"The spring returns, ah, let us love," they cry.
Hark to the sigh of the reflowered tomb,
"Ah, love, love, love, for spring goes by, goes by."

Here at thy heart, which is a garden sweet,
My thought beats: "Let me enter and be blest.
My wandering fancy and my pilgrim feet
Are very tired, and I desire to rest—
To rest a little in your world of flowers,
Dreaming of joy that will not flower for me.
Rest in the shadow of memorial hours,
Dreaming of joy that never, alas, might be."
—Pall Mall Gazette.

New Mustache Cut From London.

The new London mustache, observable in Piccadilly, is butterfly shaped, the solidly compact arrangement in the center representing the body and the ends the wings. These are brushed out in a fringe, each hair of which is distinct, and this fringe takes an upward direction and rests on the cheek.—New York World.

It Has Cost Too Much Already.

Commercial experts estimate that the present war in Cuba has already cost the United States more than $350,000,000. Yet the Spaniards say we have no right to stop it!—New York Mail and Express.

Here's to You, Patrick Mallon!

[It was Patrick Mallon, not Mallia, who fired the first shot from the Nashville.—Press Dispatch.]

Paddy Mallon! Paddy Mallon! Lad, I knew that it was you!
When they said it was a "Mallia," I was betting 'twas not true.
Sure a Mallon took that trick.
For no Mallia is a Mick.
Oh, the Irish are as happy as the cutthroat dons are sick!

When you listed on the Nashville and you held your hand on high,
Swearing to defend Old Glory, with its stars torn out the sky,
With its stripes of red and white—
White for truth and red for might—
You were praying you could fire the gun that night the light!

Then Irish luck stood by you, Pat, as you stood by the gun.
For an Irishman thinks fighting for America is fun!
It is a way he has to tell
That he loves this country well—
That country gives him freedom, and he'll fight for that through hell!

Paddy Mallon! Paddy Mallon! Proud the day we heard the news!
For Irish dead lie in the Marne! No clang'rous task refuse!
Though life or death betide,
Fight by the Yankees' side
Till they've freed another nation and humbled Scottish pride!

Peoples Party Press Bureau
St. Louis, Mo., May 25, 1898

The Populist state convention which met at Springfield, Ill., May 17, split on the question of fusion. The wing favoring co operation with the Democrats walked out and held a separate convention. This party was led by Dr. Howard Taylor of Chicago. They marched to another hall, when a chairman was elected and resolutions adopted reaffirming the platform of 1896, declaring for Bryan and free silver. Steps were taken to hold a convention, simultaneous with the Democrats, July 12. The middle of the roaders nominated a full state ticket as follows; State Treasurer, Jno. W. Hess; State supt. of public instruction, Chas. M. Haskins; Trustees of the State University, A. C. Vantine, Dr. Mary Branch, and Mrs. Jane Adams. Chas. E. Palmer was re elected State chairman.

The single taxers have gotten some mention of their favorite plan in a greater number of county conventions this year than at any previous time. This has been especially true in Kansas.

The Prohibitionists of Ohio, at their recent state convention at Columbus decided to refuse to co-operate with all and any of the other minority parties in the coming election.

To offset the proposed $500,000,000 bond issue the Populists and Democrats in the senate will urge the passage of a bill levying taxes on property rather than on articles of consumption. They urge that the estimates for the war expenses are exorbitant and unnecessary. They also affirm that the money should be raised and the war debt paid as we go.

Jerry Simpson was nominated to succeed himself as congressman from the 7th Kansas Congressional District. Much regret was expressed over Mr. Simpson's enforced absence, but he sent a letter explaining that he felt it his duty to remain at Washington. An enthusiastic correspondent in telling of the convention taxed the credulity of Jerry's most ardent admirers by describing a life size portrait of the hero of the hour, as "handsome."

Milton Park of Dallas, Texas, chairman of the alleged "Reorganization committee of the People's Party," has issued a call for a meeting at Omaha, Nebraska, June 13. He gives as his reason for so doing the fact that chairman Butler has issued a call for the national committee to meet at the same place, June 15, when steps ruinous to the People's Party will be passed and he feels that the middle-of-the-roaders must be on the spot to offset anything done by the regular authorities, by issuing an address repudiating all they may say or do, and calling a national nominating convention July 4, 1898, to nominate a Presidential ticket.

"Mother Jones," widely and favorably known among the laboring classes, has turned her attention to organizing women where employed in domestic service and the factory girls into clubs for their betterment, both socially and financially. Mrs. Jones has not permitted many hard years of unremunerative labor to dull her zeal and enthusiasm and now that she has taken up the cause of working women, they are justified in hoping for better things.

In spite of much hard work against it, the prospect for a full and satisfactory fusion in Kansas is about assured. The gold bug press of Kansas City has taken an active part against fusion and are not a little disgusted at the result.

After some delay caused by the terms of absorbtion asked for by some of the larger concerns, the Tobacco Trust is completed. Capital stock $50,000,000.

Two bills important to labor were passed by the United States senate May 17. One was a measure limiting the hours of labor for all employes of the government to eight hours, the other provides for the appointment of a nonpartisan commission to consider all questions affecting labor.

Whooping Cough

I had a little boy who was given up dead from an attack of whooping cough. My neighbors recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I did not think that any medicine would help him, but after giving him a few doses of that remedy I noticed an improvement, and one bottle cured him entirely. It is the best cough medicine I ever had in the house.—J. L. Moore, South Burgettstown, Pa. For sale by J. S. Johnson jr.

Clanton, Ala., March 3 1897.—I certify that I have been cured of kidney and bladder troubles by Hall's Great Discovery (Waco, Texas) and can fully recommend it.

Rev. L. B. Pounds.

Senator Marion Butler, of North Carolina, has reason to be proud of the endorsement given him by the recent state convention held at Raleigh. His resolution favoring co-operation with the Democrats as against a middle of the road policy was carried by a vote of 653 to 295. Mr. Butler is said to have made the effort of his life in a speech in support of his position. His able opponent was Congressman Harry Skinner.

An Old Idea.

Every day strengthens the belief of eminent physicians that impure blood is the cause of the majority of our diseases. Twenty-five years ago this theory was used as a basis for the formula of Browns' Iron Bitters. The many remarkable cures effected by this famous old household remedy are sufficient to prove that the theory is correct. Browns' Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

The Populists of Georgia have nominated J. P. Hogan of Lincoln county for governor, F. N. Gilbert Carroll county for attorney general to fill vacancies caused by the declination of those named at the state convention held six weeks ago. The platform as agreed upon then was endorsed in this convention.

Would you feel perfectly safe to put all your money in a new bank? One you have just heard of?

But how about an old bank? One that has done business for over a quarter of a century? One that has always kept its promises? One that never failed; never misled you in any way?

You could trust such a bank, couldn't you?

SCOTT'S EMULSION

of COD LIVER OIL WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES is just like such a bank. It has never disappointed you, never will. It has never deceived you, never will.

Look out that someone does not try to make you invest your health in a new tonic, some new medicine you know nothing of.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure

Cures a Prominent Attorney.

M. R. C. PHELPS, the leading pension attorney of Belfast, N. Y., writes: "I was discharged from the army on account of ill health, and suffered from heart trouble ever since. I frequently had fainting and smothering spells. My form was bent as a man of 80. I constantly wore overcoat, even in summer, for fear of taking cold. I could not attend to my business. My rest was broken by severe pains about the heart and left shoulder. Three years ago I commenced using Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, notwithstanding I had used so much patent medicine and taken drugs from doctors for years without being helped. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure restored me to health. It is truly a wonderful medicine and it affords me much pleasure to recommend this remedy to everyone."

BY THE BOND BROKERS

THE RULE OF INTERNATIONAL PLUTOCRACY.

What It Means to the People of the United States—The Revolution Wrought by Compound Interest on Bonded Debt and Watered Stock.

The worst curse of modern times is usury perpetuated by war debt. It does more harm than all other forms of robbery combined, and it works a more far-reaching devastation than the deadliest havoc of war.

Under modern methods, usury is facilitated as it never was before in the history of the world. The professional usurer of the higher grade no longer compounds interest by charging a single borrower an excessive rate. He strives to minimize the rate to the individual borrower and to raise it to the maximum against the community in general.

The highest possible rate of compound interest against the general public is attainable when the simple interest on a bond is invested at once in another interest bearing bond or similar "security," or when it is put into the stock of a corporation and inflated by the usual processes of "watering."

We may illustrate by supposing that a New York financier (say Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, agent of the Rothschilds in their attempt to control the United States treasury), has just received $4,000 in interest on the lot of bonds for which he raided the treasury under the Cleveland administration, or the other lot with which he and his principals are about to be accommodated by the McKinley administration "for value received."

Having this $4,000 cash, he can immediately invest it in the stock of a trust he is organizing on the plan of the Sugar trust or the Standard Oil trust, and water it up to a face value of $20,000. On this, by favor of government which shuts out foreign competition by a Dingley tariff, he may realize a monopoly profit of twenty-five per cent or over. But at only ten per cent, he would have two thousand dollars usury on an investment of $4,000 of original interest from his bonds. And by re-investing and re-watering, he would go on year after year, piling higher and higher his hoard of plundered wealth.

Where the men who understand the science of compounding interest by re-investment are allowed to control the money supply of a country, they must inevitably control the greater part of its wealth. Any one who can work out the rate at which a dollar will double itself can see to a certainty, as mathematical as figures can make it, that what has happened in the United States since 1865 happened of necessity and could not have been otherwise. The men who speculated on the necessities of the country during the war, and took advantage of its extremity to fix their usurious talons in its vitals, have preyed upon it ever since.

When men of common sense acquire determination they will not hesitate long in dealing with such a situation as this.

These people control the country because they have monopolized its money. The most sensible and effective way to rid the country of their domination is to issue money from the mints and treasury until their hold on the supply is broken.

Nothing could be simpler, as nothing could be juster or more necessary than this.

It is not a question of the color of a metal or of its weight or of its fineness, but of liberty and justice.

These men control the money supply with which the products of labor are exchanged. In so doing they control labor and all legitimate business which depends upon it.

If they are allowed to say what money shall be issued from the mints, how much or how little of it shall be issued, they will be masters of the country, and that in perpetuity.

Nothing could be more intolerable than such domination. Nothing could be simpler than the method by which we can escape it. Instead of issuing more bonds to add to the plutocratic hoard by the cumulative power of interest to be compounded by reinvestment, we have only to issue, and to continue issuing, non-interest bearing currency from the mints and the treasury as the business of the country and the necessities of our national life, in war or peace, demand it.

Every million of new bonds put into the vaults of the plutocracy helps to enslave a hundred thousand men, who are not less the servants of their bond-holding masters because their product is controlled rather than their persons, as under the chattel system.

Every additional million of currency, gold, silver, or greenbacks, put into circulation by the people themselves, brings the economic power of at least a hundred thousand men to bear against the plutocratic system.

We want no wild inflation. We want stern justice and rigorous common sense in using the mints and the treasury to break the power of plutocracy by issuing a currency that will meet the demands of business and free production from the fatal drain of compound interest.

We ought to be the most prosperous people in the world. We will be when we learn to defend like men the rights of American manhood.

Now that we have the Spanish war, these vultures of usury are wheeling and circling over us as they were during the civil war. They are in power at Washington. The secretary of the treasury is there because they put him there. The President of the United States is the personal protege of their agent, Mark Hanna, of the Steel trust. The speaker of the house is their tool ready to resort to any desperate means to gag protest against them. They have entrenched themselves in the Supreme court. They are ready with government by injunction and government by bayonet, if need be, to compel acquiescence. And being so, they cry out now that objections to their demand for more bonds is unpatriotic.

It is not worth while to argue that point. It is better to state and restate, as often as possible, the plain fact that these men are thieves, who make a business of wholesale larceny, and that they stand ready to loot the national treasury as they did in the civil war—or, for that matter, as they did in the only too recent past, when they had their beneficiary Cleveland in power at Washington.

Plutocracy is corrupting the country, not only in politics, but in social life. It leads to a base sensuality, which shows itself in art, literature, even in religion. The churches where plutocrats most abound have carriage entrances as the most conspicuous features of their architecture—as if My Lord Dives, enriched with the plunder of the earth, and swollen with luxurious living passed the possibility of climbing the steep and narrow way on foot, could drive up to heaven's gate in his equipage and order the keeper of the keys to let down the carriage steps for him.

And these men are wicked in the most literal sense. Their pride is intolerable. Their contempt for human rights is supreme. Their determination to retain control of the country at any cost is desperate. Their alliances are with Europe, and their sympathies are with European monarchies rather than with America. They are imperialists, haters of popular government and popular liberties. They are prepared for any fraud, for any bloodshed they think necessary for the maintenance of their power.

These plutocrats have worked for a year or more to force some kind of a bond deal in connection with Cuba. They are directed from the back rooms of the Rothschilds in London, and the New York newspapers which best represent that interest are now working to force new bond issues enough to give the Rothschild banks in this country control of the currency on a basis of corporation notes instead of money of the mints.

They will get their bond issues and everything else they demands from this administration. But if the Democrats of Congress have the courage to force issues on them by demanding the opening of them into and the immediate submission of an income tax amendment to raise money for war purposes, the people will rise in such revolt against plutocracy as has never been seen before. They will rise, at any rate. And they will win their fight in any event. All they lack now is leadership from men as sternly honest in their purposes, as uncompromising in their methods, as are the forces of progress to which these reactionists are opposing themselves. And this leadership, too, the people will have.

W. V. BYARS.

The Bees and the Drones.

"I tell you, my friends," said a big wasp at a busy-bees' convention, "I'm sick and tired of listening to those disgruntled, dissatisfied, dyspeptic, demagogic bees who are continually howling against the drones. Why, my friends, if it wasn't for the drones, you'd starve to death! Actually starve to death! The trouble is, you haven't half enough drones in the hive, that's the reason you can't get rid of this omnipresent overproduction which causes hard times. (Great applause.)

"Now, let us reason together," continued the wasp. "It's as simple as A, B, C. The more drones you have, the more honey is eaten. The more honey is eaten, the more work you have producing more honey. Do you follow me? And work is what you're always looking for, isn't it? (Great applause.)

"Now, my friends, I repeat, let us reason together," continued the wasp. "Let us suppose you didn't have a single drone in the hive. What the deuce would you do with all your honey, I'd like to know?"

(A voice: "Why, eat it ourselves, of course!" Cries of "Order! Order! Police!")

"And if you didn't have drones," continued the wasp after the commotion had subsided, "who'd support your churches and seminaries? Who'd endow your hospitals and libraries? Who'd subsidize your colleges and newspapers? Who'd contribute to your soup-houses and foreign missions? I'd like to know! Why, my friends, if you didn't have drones, you wouldn't have any one to be kind to you and give you charity! You wouldn't have——"

(A voice: "We wouldn't need charity if we didn't have drones!" Meeting breaks up in confusion.)—Dan Cavanaugh, in National Single Taxer.

Sixteen to One or Bust.

Sixteen to One or Bust means that instead of giving the Rothschild's further mortgages on this country, we ought to open the mints, coin national defense silver dollars, and supplement them with war measure greenbacks.

It means also, that we ought to force the immensely wealthy men who are speculating on the necessities of the country to pay their share of war taxes.

It means unalterable opposition to a bond-selling plutocracy.

It cannot fail. It is bound to win. It will win.—Journal of Agriculture.

REFORM IN FINANCE.

THE SAME FIGHT OUR FATHERS FOUGHT.

Congressman Sutherland of Nebraska on the Political Issues of Today—The People Against the Bondholders and Financial Schemers.

The great questions of bimetallism and financial reform are occupying the close attention of millions of Americans today. While we are divided on numerous minor issues, yet we are united on the vital question of the day, and in my judgment nothing can break the union of the silver forces until we have won a victory that will be a milestone in the nation's march toward higher and better things. Our fathers fought the same fight we are engaged in now. They have furnished us a lesson in patriotism that will be well for us to learn anew. They decided, and from that judgment there was no appeal, that the nation of their day could legislate on matters of moment and concern to the people without asking the aid or consent of any other country of a degree high or low. We have had the benefit of their experience and aught to profit by their example.

Due regard must be had for capital as well as for labor, but I think all agree that labor should receive careful concern at all times, as it is very rarely the case that capital is unable to sustain itself in any struggle. For the past thirty years especially has the money power been industrious. It has awakened to possibilities never before dreamed of, and its growing power should be lawfully checked or it will soon be too late.

Hugh McCullough, secretary of the Treasury, in his report for 1866, said: "Very different from this is that gradual, healthy and general advance of prices which is the effect of the increase of the precious metals. The coin which is obtained in the gold and silver producing districts, although it first affects prices within such districts, following the course of trade, and in obedience to its laws, soon finds its way to other countries and becomes a part of the common stock of the nations, which increasing in amount by the regular product of the mines, and in activity by the growing demands of commerce, advances the price of labor and commodities throughout the commercial world." He persistently argued, in this and the report of 1867, that the price of products and labor were high, and that the continued contraction of the paper currency as a policy should be maintained. Said he: "How rapidly they may be retired must depend upon the effect which contraction may have upon business and industry, and can be better determined as the work progresses." Again he said: "The prices of most kinds of property in the United States advanced near three-fold during the war, but this advance was mainly the result of the increase of the circulating medium and in reality only indicated its depreciation. The purchasing power of the money in circulation was diminished in the ratio that its volume was increased. The farmer, for example, received three dollars a bushel for his wheat, but except for the payment of debts these three dollars were of no more value to him than one dollar was before the suspension of specie payments." He succeeded too well in his policy of contraction. The wicked work went on. The capitalist was determined that his dollar should buy more and more in the labor markets of the world. Not satisfied with the contraction of the volume of paper money, the same money power struck at coin and the crime of 1873, that should never be forgotten until the wrongs committed under it have been rectified, was committed. Teach the young men, and freshen the memory of the old ones, as to the evil consequences of this great act. What a patriotic opportunity we have in the twilight of the nineteenth century to aid in the work of restoring the money system that was established by the founders of the government.

From the contraction of the paper money to the adoption of the gold standard by our country has been a short, swift and painful step. The London Economist, the great statisticians Saeurbeck and Soetbeer say, and the people verify it, that for twenty years the prices of products have been falling. The debts of the people have increased and they are bearing burdens grievous to be borne. The gold dollar has risen in value and day by day, and year by year, it requires more and more of the toil of the laborer and the products of the farm to buy it. The Democrats who stand on the Chicago platform, the Populists, of whom I am one, and the Lincoln Republicans say that those whose patriotism is measured by the interest they receive on their bonds and the dividends they gather from stocks shall not dictate the policy of the country, but the people who are the source of all power shall decree what is right and just for all men; that the man who can count his dollars by millions shall receive the same protection under the law, but not one iota more, than the workingman whose only capital in the fierce struggle of life is the muscle given them by the great Master of all.

We read the history of Washington and his fellow patriots, study the life work of Jefferson and Jackson, draw inspiration from the immortal name of Lincoln, and declare in the words of the great Nebraskan that "This nation is able to legislate in its own interests, without asking the aid or consent of any nation on earth."

There is planted in the soul of every one, from the savage of the bush to the greatest scientist of the age, a longing, passionate desire for something better. It is so with nations, we feel that our country is great and that the future is full of glorious promise; that with wise legislation in the interest of the whole people our country will march on until it becomes the great nation of history and the most powerful factor in the civilization of the world.—Hon. R. D. Sutherland, in the St. Louis Journal of Agriculture.

THE WAR REVENUE BILL.

The Title That Ought to Be Given Dingley's Measure.

Dingleys war revenue bill ought to be entitled "A bill to more thoroughly commit the United States to the single gold standard, and to aid in the establishment of bank rule in the United States," says the Silver Knights Watchman. The committee estimates that the increased revenue by taxation will be from $90,000,000 to $100,000,000 as follows: Farmed liquors $8,000,000; tobacco, $17,000,000; cigars, $5,000,000; dealers in tobacco and cigars $5,000,000; stamp taxes on documents, telegrams, etc. $30,000,000; stamp tax on wines, mineral waters etc. undetermined; tonnage tax on vessels engaged in foreign trade, $2,000,000. The bill is elaborate and complicated in detail. It consists of forty-four pages, and if enacted into law its administration will be most vexatious and annoying. It reaches every branch of business and trade, and complicates every transaction with stamp duties too numerous and complex for description.

The bill also provides for issuing $500,000,000 of twenty-year three per cent bonds and $100,000,000 of short time 3 per cent bonds. If this scheme is carried into effect the Gage and the Indianapolis currency schemes will be practically accomplished. When the taxes proposed in the bill are once levied they will remain in peace as well as in war, while a gold standard president is in office. The $220,000,000 now in the treasury, the $600,000,000 of bonds and the $100,000,000 surplus revenue which the new tax law would produce will soon cover into the treasury all the greenbacks, treasury notes and silver certificates now outstanding unless the expenses of the war shall far exceed the most extravagant estimates which have been made.

The new 3 per cent bonds just fits the proposed banking scheme. No further legislation would be necessary to retire all government money but gold to make room for bank currency. All the amendment to the banking law which would be necessary would be to authorize the banks to receive currency from the government equal to the par value of their bonds. The cold blooded proposition of the committee to load the people with excessive taxation, and load the government with $600,000,000 of new bonds is as destitute of patriotism as Shylock was of charity and benevolence.

POINTS FROM THE PRESS.

The colonists threw the tea overboard. It helped the revolution and eventually established the American republic. Is it not time for civilization to throw gold overboard? There is over $100,000,000 of it locked up in the treasury. Of what earthly good is it to the people—of what benefit to the human race? What better is it than so much gold buried in the mountains of Alaska?—Napa Reflector.

The government ownership of railways grows in public favor, as the failures of the railway commission becomes more and more apparent.—Cuero (Tex.) Constitution.

The sugar and coffee war between the Arbuckles and the Havemeyers has been terminated. They have smoked the calumet of peace and henceforth instead of warring against each other they will, as allies, wage war on the public, who will be made pay all the losses of the two firms in fighting each other. Coffee and sugar are on the rise.—Journal of Agriculture.

There are thousands of idle acres of land, and there are thousands of idle men who would like to work it! But why don't they? Why, the speculator gets in his grab hooks first. Funny, isn't it?—Evansville (Ind.) Coming Events.

If you want to know what is going on in the world, read the paddel dispatches in the big journals and then guess at their meaning. Such an ocean of flatulent slush never was printed before.—Bodie Miner-Index.

Three Ways.

Nature gives to man nothing. Without work nothing can be produced. Work is the producer of wealth. How, then, is it that there come to be distinctively a working class? Is it that some men devise schemes by which they can live without working, by throwing the burden of their work upon their fellows. An English writer has divided all men into three classes—workingmen, beggarmen, and thieves—and this is correct.

There are only three ways of getting the product of labor—by working for it, by having it given to you, and by stealing it.—Henry George.

The New York banker tells the banker of the South what principles he must follow politically and in a business way. The New York banker is subject to the dictation of London. We are like a fan. From one center, London, comes the edict to New York. From there it is distributed to the various parts of the United States, and the people are subservient to a system, the fountain head of which is in England, the active body in New York and its tributary element in every city of the United States.—The Caucasian.

Recruits Enough for First Alabama.

"We have a sufficient number of recruits in sight to muster in the First Alabama volunteers by Monday," said Colonel Higdon Friday night. "By then I mean the minimum quota, eighty-one to each company. The maximum is eighty-four, and therefore we can place fifty more good able-bodied men in one regiment."

While no orders have been received, it is understood that Colonel Higdon's regiment will be equipped and moved early next week. [illegible] the meantime hard training is incessant at Camp Clark. The Birmingham battalion has instituted a school of instruction for non-commissioned officers.

Big Colony May Locate in Calhoun County

Hon. Jesse G. Adams, chief clerk in the department of agriculture, has returned to Montgomery from Philadelphia and Washington. He appears to have done a good turn while away for Alabama. He was in conference in Philadelphia for several days with a party of gentlemen who are the most successful colonization operators in the east, and discussed with them the establishment of colonies in Alabama. Mr. Adams says that the chances are greatly in favor of the establishment, at an early date, of an enormous colony in the neighborhood of Jacksonville.

All indications are that Mobile will be, next to Tampa, the leading point of embarkation for troopers and volunteers of the [illegible] army of invasion. The accumulation of stores in large quantities, the assembling of transports, the loading of the same, the ordering of more and more troops, these are the signs. There are two big warehouses packed from top to bottom with meat, crackers, sugar, coffee and such like. The Matewan transport is loaded with forage, is bunked for 400 men and horses, and the Kanawha is loaded with coal for the fleet.

The Subject, "Alleviations of War," Most Pertinent to the Exciting Times Through Which We Are Now Passing—Cheer For Those Whose Hearts Are Sad

Text: "Though war should rise against me, in this will I be confident."—Psalms ...

The ring of battle axes and the clash of shields and the tramp of armies are heard all up and down the Old Testament; and you find godly soldiers like Moses, and Joshua, and Caleb, and Gideon, and wicked soldiers like Sennacherib, and Shalmaneser, and Nebuchadnezzar. The High Priest would stand at the head of the army and say: "Hear, O Israel, ye approach this day unto battle against your enemies; let not your hearts faint; fear not, and do not tremble, neither be ye terrified because of them;" and then the officers would give command to the troops, saying: "What man is there that hath built a new house and hath not dedicated it? Let him go and return to his house, lest he die in the battle and another man dedicate it. And what man is he that hath planted a vineyard and hath not eaten of it? Let him also go and return unto his house, lest he die in the battle and another man eat of it. And what man is there that hath betrothed a wife and hath not taken her? Let him go and return unto his house, lest he die in battle and another man take her." Great armies marched and fought. In the time of Moses and Joshua all the men were soldiers. When Israel came out of Egypt there were 600,000 fighting men. Abijah commanded 400,000, Jeroboam commanded 800,000 men, of whom 500,000 were slain in one battle. Some of these wars God approved, for they were for the rescue of oppressed nations, and some of them He denounced, but in all cases it was a judgment upon both victors and vanquished. David knew just what war was when he wrote in the text, "Though war should rise against me, in this will I be confident."

David is here encouraging himself in stormy times, and before approaching battles administers to himself the consolatory. So to-day my theme is the "Alleviations of War." War is organized atrocity. It is the science of assassination. It is the convocation of all horrors. It is butchery wholesale. It is murder glorified. It is death on a throne of human skeletons. It is the coffin in ascendancy. It is diabolism at a game of skulls. And the time is coming when war will be an impossibility. How far in the future I cannot say, but there will be a museum of curiosities in which a father and son will one day be walking, and the son will say, "What is that sharp, curved instrument?" and the father will reply, "That is a sword." And the son will say, "What are those round pieces of iron?" and the father will reply, "Those are bullets and cannon balls and bombshells. Those are the things with which in the Dark Ages people killed each other." Yet the father will have hard work to make the son believe that such things were ever used for the destruction of human life. But that time has not yet arrived, and having on other occasions spoken to you of the "Aggravations of War," now that war is actually here it is time to speak of its alleviations.

First, I find an alleviation in the fact that it has consolidated the North and South after long-continued strained relations. It is thirty-three years since our Civil War closed, and the violences are all gone and the severities have been hushed. But ever and anon, in oration, in sermon, in newspaper editorial, in magazine article, on political stump, and in Congressional hall, the old sectional difference has lifted its head; and for the first time within my memory, or the memory of any one who hears or reads these words, the North and the South are one. It was not a four years' war but a fifty years' war; war of tongue, war of pen, war of printing press. But by a marvelous providence, the family that led in opposition to our Government thirty years ago, is represented at the front in this present war. Nothing else could have done the work of unification so suddenly or so completely as this conflict. At Tampa, at Chattanooga, at Richmond, and in many other places the regiments are forming, and it will be side by side, Massachusetts and Alabama, New York and Georgia, Illinois and Louisiana, Maine and South Carolina. Northern and Southern men will together unlimber the guns and rush upon the fortification and charge upon the enemy and shout the triumph. The voices of military officers who were under Sidney Johnson and Joseph Hooker will give the command on the same side. The old sectional grudges forever dead. The name of Grant on the Northern side and of Lee on the Southern side will be exchanged for the names of Grant and Lee on the same side. The veterans in Northern and Southern homes and asylums are stretching their rheumatic limbs to see whether they can again keep step in a march, and are testing their eyesight to find whether they can again look along the gun-barrel to successfully take aim and fire. The old war cry of "On to Richmond!" and "On to Washington!" has become the war cry of "On to Havana!" "On to Porto Rico!" "On to the Philippine Islands!" The two old rusty swords that in other days clashed at Murfreesboro and South Mountain and Atlanta, are now lifted to strike down Hispanic abominations.

Another alleviation of the war is the fact that it is the most unselfish war of the ages. While the commercial rights of our wronged citizens will be vindicated, that is not the chief idea of this war. It is the rescue of hundreds of thousands of people from starvation and multiform maltreatment. A friend who went out under the flag of the Red Cross two years ago to assuage suffering in Armenia, and who has been on the same mission, under the same flag, in Cuba, says that the sufferings in Armenia were a comedy and a farce compared with the greater sufferings of Cuba. At least two hundred thousand graves are calling to us to come on and remember by what process their occupants died. It is the twentieth century crying out to the nineteenth: "Do you mean to pass down to us the curse with which you have been blasted? Or will you let me begin under new auspices and turn the island of desolation into an island Edenic?"

It is a war inspired by mercy, which is an attribute in man imitative of the same attribute of God. In no other age of the world could such a war have been waged. The gospel of kindness needed to be recognized throughout Christendom in order to make such a war possible. The chief reason why most of the European nations are not now banded together against us is because they dare not take the part of that behemoth of cruelty, the Spanish Government, against the crusade of mercy which our nation has started. Had it been on our part a war of conquest, a war of annexation, a war of aggrandizement, there would have been by this time enough flying squadrons coming to this country across the Atlantic to throw into panic every city on our American ...

The wars ...ers were only to regain an e... ...; the Napoleonic wars, with t... ...million slaughtered men, were projected and carried out to appease the ambition of one man; of the twenty-five million slain in Jewish wars, and of the sixty million slain in the wars under Julius Cæsar; of the one hundred and eighty million slain in wars with Turks and Saracens; of the fifty million slain in wars with Xerxes; of the twenty million slain in wars of Justinian; and the thirty-two million slain in the wars of Genghis Kahn, not one man was sacrificed for mercy; but in this Hispanic-American war every drummer boy, or picket, or gunner, or standard-bearer, or skirmisher, or sharpshooter, or cavalryman, or artilleryman, or engineer who falls, falls in the cause of mercy, and becomes a martyr for God and his country.

Another alleviation of this war is that it is for the advancement of the sublime principle of liberty, which will yet engirdle the earth. Not only will this war free Cuba, but finally will free Spain. By what right does a dynasty like that stand, and a corrupt court dominate a people for centuries, taxing them to death, riding in gilded chariot over the necks of a beggared population?

Another alleviation is that the war opens with a great victory for the United States. In the most jubilant manner let the victory of our navy be celebrated. With the story of the destroyed battleship fresh in the minds of the world it would require no ordinary courage to sail into the harbor of Manila and attack the Spanish shipping. That harbor, crowded with sunken weaponry of death, to enter it was running a risk enough to make all nations shiver. But Manila is ours, and the blow has shaken to the foundation the palaces of Madrid, and for policy's sake the doubtful nations are on our side. For Commodore Dewey and all who followed him let the whole nation utter its most resounding huzza; and more than that, let us thank the Lord of hosts for his guiding and protected power. "Praise ye the Lord! Let everything that hath breath praise the Lord!"

Another alleviation is the fact that in this war the might is on the side of the right. Again and again have liberty and justice and suffering humanity had the odds against them. It was so when Benhadad's Syrian hosts, who were in the wrong, at Aphek, came upon the small regiments of Israel, who were in the right, the Bible putting it in one of those graphic sentences for which the book is remarkable—"The children of Israel pitched before them like two little flocks of kids, but the Syrians filled the whole country." It was so in the awful defeat of the Lord's people at Gilboa and Megiddo. It was so recently when gallant and glorious Greece was in conflict with gigantic Mohammedanism, and the navies of Europe hovering about the Bosphorus were in practical protection of the Turkish government, fresh from the slaughter of one hundred thousand Armenians. It was so when, in 1776, the thirteen colonies with little war shipping and a few undrilled and poorly-clad soldiers, were brought into a contest with the mightiest navy of all the earth and an army that commanded the admiration of nations. It was so when Hungary went under. It has been so during all the struggles heretofore for Cuban independence. But now it is our powerful navy with enough guns to send the opposing fleet as completely under as when the Red Sea submerged Pharaoh's army.

Another alleviation is the fact that we have a God to go to in behalf of all those of our countrymen who may be in especial exposure at the front, for we must admit the perils. It is no trifling thing for 100,000 young men to be put outside of home restraints and sometimes into evil companionship. Many of the brave of the earth are not the good of the earth. To be in the same tent with those who have no regard for God or home; to hear their holy religion sometimes slurred at; to be placed under influences calculated to make one reckless; to have no Sabbath, except such Sabbath as in most encampments amounts to no Sabbath at all; to go out from homes where all sanitary laws are observed into surroundings where questions of health are never discussed; to invade climes where pestilence holds possession; to make long marches under blistering skies; to stand on deck and in the fields under fire, at the mercy of shot and shell—we must admit that those thus exposed need especial care, and to the Omnipresent God we have a right to commend them, and will commend them. Postal communication may be interrupted, and letters started from camps or homes may not arrive at the right destination, but however far away our loved ones may be from us, and however wide and deep the seas that separate us, we may hold communication with them via the throne of God.

A shipwrecked sailor was found floating on a raft, near the coast of California. While in the hospital he told his experience, and said that he had a companion on the same raft for some time. While that companion was dying of thirst he said to him: "George, where are you going?" and the dying sailor said: "I hope I am going to God." "If you do," said the rescued sailor, "will you ask Him to send some water?" After the death of his companion, the survivor said, the rain came in torrents, and slaked his thirst and kept him alive until he was taken to safety. The survivor always thought it was in answer to the message he had sent to heaven asking for water. Thank God we may have direct and instantaneous communication with the Lord Almighty through Jesus Christ, His only begotten Son, and in that faith we may secure the rescue of our imperiled kindred. Is not that a mighty alleviation?

Morning, noon and night let us commend this beloved land to the care of a gracious God. That He answers prayer is so certain that your religion is an hallucination if He does not answer it. Pray that in reply to such supplication the farmers' boys may get home again in time to reap the harvest of next July; that our business men may return in time to prepare for a fall trade such as has never yet filled the stores and factories with customers, and that all the homes in this country now saddened by the departure of father or brother or son may months before the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays be full of joy at the arrival of those who will for the rest of their lives have stories to tell of double-quick march, and narrow escape, and charges up the parapets, and night set on fire with bombardment and our flag hauled up to places from which other flags were hauled down.

At Plymouth, England, on the 19th of July, the prominent officers of the navy were in a bowling alley, bowling with great glee—Lord Howard, the High Admiral; Sir Martin Frobisher, the daring explorer, and Sir Francis Drake, the first circumnavigator of the world—when word came to them that the Spanish Armada was advancing. The officers continued at the game of the bowling alley until the game was finished, and then went out to investigate the tidings, and, sure enough, that mighty fleet, which was considered invincible, and which was to bombard and overthrow England, was approaching, but the invading navy was destroyed, for the Lord Almighty appeared in the fight.

A storm such as had never swept the coast of England or aroused the ocean swooped upon the Spanish Armada. Most of the ships soon went down under the sea, while others were driven helplessly along to be splintered on the coasts of England, Ireland, Scotland, and Norway. Another Spanish Armada is crossing the Atlantic, and we are ready to meet them. The same God who destroyed the Armada in 1588 reigns in 1898. May He in His might, either through human arm or dumb element, defeat their squadron, and give victory to the old flag.

Yet what the world most wants is Christ, who is coming to take possession of all hearts, all homes, all Nations; but the world blocks the wheels of His chariot. I would like to see this century, which is now almost wound up, find its peroration in some mighty overthrow of tyrannies and a mighty building up of liberty and justice. Almost all the centuries have ended with some stupendous event that transformed Nations and changed the map of the world. It was so at the close of the fourteenth century; it was so at the close of the fifteenth century; it was so at the close of the sixteenth century; it was so at the close of the seventeenth century; it was so at the close of the eighteenth century. May it be more gloriously so at the close of the nineteenth century! "Blessed be the Lord God of Israel from everlasting to everlasting, and let the whole earth be filled with His glory." Amen and amen.

A School Girl's Battle.

From The Mail, Milford, Ind.

Miss Emma Rybolt, a prepossessing school girl of Milford, Ind., is of more than usual intelligence and is ambitious to rise in the literary world.

"In the fall of 189..." said Mrs. Rybolt, "Emma was taken ill. She was a close student and her work began to tell on her. She grew weak, pale and nervous, and complained of pains in her back, chest and limbs. A few weeks passed and she grew worse. The doctor said she was a victim of nervous prostration, and should have been taken from school weeks earlier. She gradually grew worse, her nerves were so tense that the least noise irritated her, and she had a fever and a continual twitching in her muscles. The symptoms were much like St. Vitus' dance.

Her Battle.

"A year passed, and under a change of physicians Emma became somewhat better but soon was as bad as ever. One day I read of a case similar to hers which was cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and I decided to try them.

"Emma had no faith in proprietary medicines but tried the pills, and after taking a dozen doses, she began to improve. It was about the first of April when she began and by the middle of May, after taking about eight boxes, she was entirely cured.

"While ill, she lost twenty-eight pounds, but now weighs more than ever before. Her nerves are strong and she is in perfect health. We are all confident that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People cured her, and I cheerfully recommend them in all similar cases. MRS. E. A. RYBOLT."

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this third day of September, 1897.

CALEB BAKER, Notary Public.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will cure all diseases arising from a poor and watery condition of the blood, will build up a run down system and are a specific for paralysis, locomotor ataxia and other diseases long regarded as incurable.

Napoleon's History.

The rise and fall of Napoleon reads more like a romance than any other part of the world's history. A little, insignificant man, a native of half-civilized and despised Corsica, ill-educated, ill-tempered and ill-mannered, is accepted by the proudest, politest and most intellectual of civilized nations as its absolute ruler. Not only does it make him Emperor after repudiating a regal form of government, but worships him almost as a deity, although while taking the greatest care of his own person, he destroys the flower of its manhood in useless wars, and by his example proves his contempt for the domestic ties that hold society together. He conquers every nation that meets him in the field, and is only checked at last by the sea and the northern cold. Finally, he is defeated and banished to St. Helena, "where he lived very happily ever after," as if the author had not the heart to kill his hero. No writer of fiction would dare to invent such an improbable romance, and if the truth of the story were not beyond question no one would believe it. Indeed, Archbishop Whately wrote, as a metaphysical jeu d'esprit, a pamphlet in which he proved to demonstration that Napoleon had not, and never could have, lived or done what the then contemporary records of his career narrated. The conquests of Mexico and Peru, and many of the exploits of Drake and his companions, would also be absolutely incredible if they were not known to be true.

Apple Cores for Champagne.

The practice of the economies in the fruit-raising sections of the West has developed a new article of export. Until recently the orchard owners and the evaporator managers did not think of utilizing the cores and the parings of apples. They occasionally sold them to the jelly-makers or fed them to the hogs, but more generally allowed them to accumulate as refuse in great heaps, which slowly fermented and decayed. This year, in many places, the parings and the cores are being saved. They are spread out in the hot sun and dried, after which they are packed in large sacks and held for buyers, who gather them up and send away in car lots. The destination of the dried parings and cores in these large quantities is France. It is no secret that the refuse of the orchards of the Missouri valley and the Ozark country is now largely employed in the manufacture of champagne by the thrifty wine-makers of the vine-clad slopes of France.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Cogitation.

The gentlemen of the bar, who not infrequently have to take rebukes from the bench, greatly enjoy a chance to make a legitimate retort against the court. The story is told that a certain judge who, during the plea of a rather prosy lawyer, could not refrain from gently nodding his head in sleep, was caught at this by the lawyer, who looked significantly at him.

"Perhaps," said the judge, testily and prevaricatingly, "the counsel thinks the court was asleep, but he may be assured that the court was merely cogitating."

The lawyer talked on. Presently the judge, again overcome by his somnolence, nodded off and aroused himself with a little sudden snorting snore.

"If it please your honor," said the lawyer, "I will suspend my plea until the court shall have ceased to cogitate audibly."

"You may go on," said the judge; and he did not fall asleep again.

His Vacation and Their Rest.

Dixon—Yes; that's their intention.

Hixon—For a rest, I suppose?

Dixon—Yes; the congregation think they are entitled to it.

even if you merely keep them as a diversion. In order to handle Fowls judiciously, you must know something about them. To meet this want we are selling a book giving the experience (Only 25c.) of a practical poultry raiser for twenty-five years. It was written by a man who put all his mind, and time, and money to making a success of Chicken raising—not as a pastime, but as a business—and if you will profit by his twenty-five years' work, you can save many Chicks annually, and make your Fowls earn dollars for you. The point is, that you must be able to detect trouble in the Poultry Yard as soon as it appears, and know how to remedy it. This book will teach you.
It tells how to detect and cure disease; to feed for eggs and also for fattening; which fowls to save for breeding purposes; and everything, indeed, you should know on this subject to make it profitable.

CURES EFFECTED BY Gerstle's Female Panacea.

One Bottle Cured Where Physician Failed.
I sold your GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA G. F. P. to a young lady customer whom our physician had given up as hopeless, and told her if it did her no good she need not pay for it. After taking one bottle she was entirely cured and has been in good health ever since.
Moore's Bridge, Ala. J. E. GILLILAND.

Health Restored.
I was weak and in very bad health and unable to do any work. I used one bottle of GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA G. F. P. and it did me more good than anything I ever used. I am now in good health and can do my work.
MRS. S. E. CHANDLER, G..., Ala.

If there is any Costiveness, use St. Joseph's Liver Regulator until the Bowels become regular. Get it from your druggist, or send us 25 cents and we will send you a package, prepaid.

Suffered from Change of Life.
My wife was sick for seven years, suffering from the Change of Life. We tried everything we could get from the doctors and paid out a considerable sum for treatment without any good result. We then began using GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA G. F. P. and it did more good than all else we had used for six years. It is the greatest remedy for suffering females ever placed on the market. J. D. BORDEN, Comesneil, Tex.

If your druggist does not keep it, send us $1.00 and will send you a bottle, all charges paid. L. GERSTLE & CO., Chattanooga, Tenn.

WINE OF CARDUI

For Mothers!

THE discomforts and dangers of child-birth can be almost entirely avoided. Wine of Cardui relieves expectant mothers. It gives tone to the genital organs, and puts them in condition to do their work perfectly. That makes pregnancy less painful, shortens labor and hastens recovery after child-birth. It helps a woman bear strong healthy children.

McELREE'S

has also brought happiness to thousands of homes barren for years. A few doses often brings joy to loving hearts that long for a darling baby. No woman should neglect to try it for this trouble. It cures nine cases out of ten. All druggists sell Wine of Cardui. $1.00 per bottle.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. LOUISA HALE, of Jefferson, Ga., says: "When I first took Wine of Cardui we had been married three years, but could not have any children. Nine months later I had a fine girl baby."

Why She Smiles Sweetly.

Sparkling eyes, quick beating heart, and the rosy blush of pleasure on the cheeks, makes the strong man happy when he meets his lady love. That's the kind of a man whose very touch thrills because it is full of energy, vigorous nerve power and vitality. Tobacco makes strong men impotent, weak and skinny. No-To-Bac sold by druggists everywhere. Guaranteed to cure. Book, titled, "Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Life Away," free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co., New York or Chicago.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

is the greatest Labor Organization the world has ever seen.

It is the only organization which, while striving to secure for wage-workers the best possible terms as to wages, hours and conditions, aims at reforming the causes of industrial injustice.

It secures to each trade and locality absolute control over its own trade or local affairs, yet its perfect organization enables its members to act unitedly, promptly, and, therefore, effectively, when concentrated action becomes necessary to remedy injustice or to resist oppression.

It is pledged to work for the overthrow of the capitalistic system of production and exchange, yet, realizing that reforms are only to be beneficial and permanent when they rest upon the convictions of a wise, educated people, it seeks to accomplish this end by appeals to reason and conscientiousness of the race.

It is a secret organization only so far as necessary to protect its members from blacklisting and persecution, and can never be used to shield wrong-doing.

Its doors are open to all who labor honestly and usefully either by hand or brain, without question or discrimination on account of creed, race or nationality.

THE AMERICAN REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in the "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for as Mr. Shaw Norman says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such, it promises its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the progress, economic, and literary the people at the which are of value to men and women. The "Progress of the World" is strictly an illustrated month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current magazines in the world; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of serious import.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly volume the information needed by intelligent people of "live" interests is set forth in the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensible"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library in itself"; "a historical cyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of aid for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a triumph of genius"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

Clanton, Ala., May 31, 1898
Editor BANNER. I hope to have space in your paper to say a word concerning the condition of politics in Chilton. I'm sorry to say that some few voters have been off the track, but glad to say they are coming back as fast as sheep jumping a log. There are some few candidates who have departed the faith but than's the Lord the first Monday in August is coming when we will turn them out, and then we will have no more confusion in our ranks. Every true Pop will be at his post the first Monday in August to help roll up at least from three to five hundred majority. That is my lowest figure: I believe it will be double that amount. I'll say in conclusion, there is not a true Populist nor true Democrat but sticks to his party. Success to the BANNER and the People's Party.

Clanton, May 28, 1898.
Editor BANNER. I see that we have several independent candidates out. What does this mean? Is the same old song that was sung twenty years ago. We, the Populists know the old coon by the radical ring on his tail. True Populists are not sheep to be led to the political slaughter pen by a few political bosses who want office.

Now is the time for the people to stand by the Populist Party which has done so much in behalf of the people. The worst enemies to the Populists are those who pretend to be our friends and then betray us for spoils. No true Populists can afford to vote for these old coons.

I cannot return to the party I once belonged to, until it redeems the pledges it made. I went into the Populist Party to fight for liberty or death as long she stands on principle I am with her. The old party claims to have been purified, yet it has the same old smell. You can't fool the people, the laboring man will stand to the ticket that was nominated on April 29th.
A TRUE POP PLOW BOY.

Bad management keeps more people in poor circumstances than any other one cause. To be successful one must look ahead and plan ahead so that when a favorable opportunity presents itself he is ready to take advantage of it. A little forethought will so save much expense and valuable time. A prudent and careful man will keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house, the shiftless fellow will wait until necessity compels it and then ruin his best horse going for a doctor and have a big doctor pill to pay, besides one pays out 25 cents, the other is out a hundred dollars and then wonders why his neighbor is getting richer while he is getting poorer. Singing Rally at Big Springs

The members of Big Springs church and people of the surrounding country met on Sunday morning last for the purpose of praising God in song.

At 10 a.m. the house was called to order and T. A. King was elected chairman and E. B. Deason secretary. The chair appointed G. W. Taylor, Jos. Billingsley and Wm. Willis as committee on program. The committee retired and soon returned the following program.

J. C. Veazey to sing for 25 minutes. R. T. Grant to sing for 25 minutes. F. M. Foshee to sing for 20 minutes. Charlie Cox, to sing for 20 minutes. Adjourned one hour for refreshments. The chair called the people together at 1 p.m. and they were entertained as in the forenoon. At 4 p.m. the following resolutions were read and adopted. Whereas we have met and enjoyed singing praises unto God with our friends of Bigspring community and have been so royally entertained by them, resolved first. That we tender them our heart felt thanks for their hospitality while we have been in their midst.

Second. That we tender our many thanks to Mr. King for the use of his organ and further extend our thanks to the organists for their able assistance in the the worship.

Adjourned without further ceremony. E. B. DEASON Sec.

Closing Exercises at Concord School.

Editor BANNER. Last night closed one of the most successful sessions of Concord school.

During the day declamations were ably delivered by the young men, who showed careful training of a proficient teacher, followed by a brilliant address on Education by Dr. D. L. Wilkerson, that made a profound impression upon the minds of all hearers. In beautiful language he vividly portrayed the theater of life that no one could be content in ignorance and obscurity.

A concert was given at night by Miss Lennie Curry's music class. Miss Lennie is one of our most gifted young ladies and the performance of her pupils would have shed a glowing lustre upon the laurels of Madam Rudersdoff.

This closes the fourth year of Prof. Moore's school. While all of his earnest efforts have been crowned with success, this session stands pre-eminent.

Like Pulozziti of old with much skill he enters the life and work of his pupils, they all love and admire him. F.

Death of Mr H. J. Norris.

Our community was saddened on May 23 by the death of H. J. Norris. "An honest man is the noblest work of God," and this could be truly said of our friend and neighbor. His was a noble nature that ever labored with energy for the good of his fellow creatures and was often troubled that he could not do more in his Master's vinyard. He was ever a friend to the widow and orphan, and in trouble and sickness was always the foremost. Our deepest sympathy is extended to his family whose grief is not as those without hope, meeting in that better land where parting is no more.

I was seriously afflicted with a cough for several years, and last fall had a more severe cough than ever before. I have used many remedies without receiving much relief, and being recommended to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, by a friend who, knowing me to be a poor widow, gave it to me. I tried it, and with the most gratifying results. The first bottle relieved me very much and the second bottle has absolutely cured me. I have not had as good health for twenty years. Don't Neglect Your Liver.
Liver troubles quickly result in serious complications, and the man who neglects his liver has little regard for health. A bottle of Browne' Iron Bitters taken now and then will keep the liver in perfect order. If the disease has developed, Browne' Iron Bitters will cure it permanently. Strength and vitality will always follow its use. Browne' Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

Turn-Round Topics.

Dry weather and gardens burning up in this section. Rain is needed to bring up the last planting of corn and cotton.

Mrs Goss spent last week with Mrs Kendrick.

Sunday was a day that should be long remembered. The annual May singing at Canaan ceme off and an extra large crowd attended and all expressed themselves as having spent a pleasant day. Verbena was well represented with her beautiful and accomplished yonng ladies and handsome young men, as was also most of the surrounding towns.

Quite a number of us attended the District at Coopers

We were pleased to have with us last Sunday, Misses Nannie and Roxie Butler, two charming young daughters of Deatsville.

Miss Mattie Palmer, of Clanton, was with us Sunday.

Rev. R. M. Honeycutt, Judge of Probate, was a visitor to Mr. Goss Thursday and Friday.

Died at his home at 12:30 a.m., Mr. H. J. Norris, and was buried at 4 30 p.m. He leaves a wife, three children, a sister and a host of friends to mourn his loss.

Wishing the BANNER much success, I remain, who?—Oh! well you know the rest.

Yellow Jaundice Cured.
Suffering humanity should be supplied with every means possible for its relief. It is with pleasure we publish the following: "This is to certify that I was a terrible sufferer from Yellow Jaundice for over six months, and was treated by some of the best physicians in our city and all to no avail. Dr. Bell, our druggist, recommended Electric Bitters; and after taking two bottles, I was entirely cured. I now take great pleasure in recommending them to any person suffering from this terrible malady. I am gratefully yours M. A. Hogarty, Lexington, Ky."

Mr. W. W. Carter has opened up his new store.

Dr. A. J. Marlar will soon open up a drug store here.

On last Saturday we had a good rain with wind and hail in the vicinity of Concord church which scattered fencing and trees over the farms.

Mrs. W. C. Dickinson has been very sick, but we are glad to say is improving.

On last Saturday the Methodist Protestant church held their conference at Concord which was well attended. On Sunday Rev. W. G. Riggins preached an eloquent sermon to a large crowd which seemed to be much interested. Come again, Bro. Riggins. Success to the Banner. SUBSCRIBER.

Our town is still improving, the depot is now complete.

Mr. Averie, of Montgomery, is the telegrape operator.

Mrs Marlar and Mrs. Gamble visited Clanton Monday.

Mr. Bob Farley is visiting his sister, Mrs. Foshee, in Lomax this week.

Mr. Will Carter came near getting his mill destroyed by fire last Friday, but fortunately no damage was done.

Mrs. E. T. Gulthorn has returned home after a pleasant visit to her son, Mr. Jack Gulthorn.

Mrs Chambers and charming daughter, Miss Mehalie, visited Dr. Marlar's family last week. MAY.

The depopulation of villages is one of the complaints in Germany. Agricultural laborers are becoming so scarce that it is now necessary to import them for the harvest in large numbers from Russia.

In the closing hours of the session of the Iowa Legislature the members of the House carried through with loud acclaim a resolution requesting Doorkeeper Wesley Spain to change his name forthwith to Wesley Cuba.

It is said to be no uncommon occurrence on the new Siberian railway for fuel or water to give out. In the latter case a halt is made and snow collected and melted until water enough is provided for proceeding to the next station.

A Chicago paper demands to know why music-crazed women persist in sending thorny roses to pianists, who, it says, hold them in mortal terror. It suggests that sending a '98 model wheel down the aisle would be much better appreciated, or even a box of cigars.

In addition to the mineral wealth discovered in Alaska, reports have been received stating that petroleum is also found there. Analysis and tests show that the oil is of as high grade as any from the Pennsylvania wells. The oil was found in a large lake close to the ocean, while the surrounding mountains are full of coal. It was fed by springs, and there was every evidence of a large supply.

The new Kearsarge is named after the old Kearsarge, but what was the old Kearsarge named after? queries the Springfield Republican. This would stump any "current-events class" going. The old Kearsarge was named after an obscure yet respectable mountain in New Hampshire, and it is said that the mountain was named by juggling the name of its discoverer and its first owner, Hezekiah Sargent.

A Berlin physician of standing says, in a medical paper, that the nurses in the private hospitals are in league with the undertakers, who distribute among them circulars offering as much as $25 by way of gratuity for a good job. He calls the attention of his professional colleagues to this infamous combination, which has been in force, so he declares, for half a century, and exists in other large towns. He suggests the employment, whenever it is possible, of women working in sisterhoods or actuated by some higher motive than the mere pursuit of gain.

A company of steel workmen, organized on the co-operative plan, headed by Charles Kennedy, former superintendent of the Indiana iron works at Muncie, has located at Montpelier, states the Indianapolis News. They will operate a big steel plant, employing 300 hands. The inducements they received consist of land, buildings, free gas and a money bonus of $5000. Their location was secured through the efforts of the Montpelier board of trade. Another local company of workmen have organized to buy the Florence iron and steel mill, now owned by Bassett & Co. of Cleveland. The plant has been idle for over two years. The local company will operate the mill immediately, and will employ about 200 hands. It has been kept in good repair, and is one of the best rolling mills west of the Alleganies.

Wheeling is undoubtedly one of the most conspicuous evangelists of health, observes the New York Herald. The man who has religion and a bicycle ought to be entirely satisfied with his lot. He is an enviable creature, and has no reason to be envious of others. To take a spin in the direction of a good appetite and dreamless sleep and to overtake and capture both is to be victorious in a very important conflict. But there are limits beyond which this noble exercise becomes irritable and takes revenge. The boy who, the other day, started out on a century run overdid a good thing, and converted it into a bad thing. He accomplished his task, but he broke himself all up, and will never mount the saddle again. Don't abuse your wheel, but treat it with respect and reverence. It is better to ride twenty miles and feel fresh than to cover forty and have to call in the doctor. What you want is fun and health, and if you use your wheel with discretion you will get both.

CERVERA IS AT SANTIAGO.

Cablegram From Schley Announces That Spanish Fleet is Cornered.

WENT INTO THE HARBOR TO SECURE COAL.

Instructions Wired Commodore Schley "Under No Circumstances Permit Spanish Ships to Escape; Destroy or Capture Them."

WASHINGTON (Special.)—Secretary Long has received a cipher cablegram from Commodore Schley announcing officially that Admiral Cervera is in Santiago with his formidable squadron.

The navigation bureau received the dispatches at 12:30 o'clock Sunday night and the officials immediately began the work of translation. When enough of the message had been deciphered to make it clear that Secretary Long's convictions on the subject had proven to be correct, the navy department in the neighborhood of the navigation bureau became a blaze of light and messengers were hastily dispatched to the president, Secretary Long, Secretary Alger and Gen. Miles.

It is understood that Commodore Schley in addition to officially confirming the belief of Cervera's presence, cleared up the question which has continually arisen as to why the Spanish squadron had entered Santiago harbor. Cervera, owing to his inability to secure much coal at Martinique and Caracoa and unable to continue his cruise effectively without replenishing his coal bunkers, went to Santiago for the purpose of securing coal.

Within thirty miles of Santiago is the only developed coal mine in the eastern half of the island of Cuba. Cervera when he entered made a requisition upon the military governor for coal. Cervera now has plenty of coal, but he will have no opportunity to use it. Schley will remain in front of Santiago harbor until he destroys Cervera's squadron.

The department, after translating Commodore Schley's cablegram, wired him instructions to this effect: "Under no circumstances permit Spanish ships to escape. Destroy or capture them." It was furthermore suggested that he bombard the fortifications with great vigor. In this event it is assumed Cervera will emerge from the harbor.

With the reception of this, the most important news that which announced Dewey's victory at Manila, the cloud of gloom which has hung over the war and navy departments during the last week has lifted.

The Spanish squadron now is regarded as good as sunk or captured. The invasion of Cuba and Porto Rico will begin Monday.

NATIVE QUARTERS OF CAVITE NOW HELD BY DEWEY'S LANDING PARTY.

Schafter Receives Orders to Lead Invasion

Orders have at last gone forward to Major-General Shafter at Tampa to embark the greater portion of his troops, including all the regulars and a few of the most efficient volunteer regiments on board the transports gathered at that place, and the aggressive military movement which has been so frequently predicted and so often delayed for one cause or another, will be an accomplished fact before the end of this week.

The strongest units of Admiral Sampson's recognized squadron will convoy the expedition and cover its landing at a point now definitely determined.

A BRITISH SHIP SEIZED

By the Spanish Authorities for Alleged Violation of Neutrality Law.

Cable advices have been received from Cienfuegos, Cuba, stating that the British ship Adula, on her arrival there, was stopped by the Spanish authorities. A search was made, and it was found that there was a man on board whose object, Spanish authorities declared, was to go into the town and carry back information to the blockading fleet, and that his presence was a breach of the neutrality laws.

The ship was thereupon seized, and Captain Walker and his officers were put in confinem

Insurgents Favor Annexation.

HONG KONG.—The Philippine insurgents have agreed to support Aguinaldo for annexation to the United States. They have refused to entertain any proposition looking towards independence. An insurgent force has defeated the Spaniards at Lantete. Ships are loading here with provisions for Manila when the blockade is declared off on the arrival of the American troops. The colonial government has placed an embargo on war munitions so that the Philippine junta cannot purchase arms and other equipments.

HAWAII OFFERED TO US.

Distinct Tender of the Island Has Been Made to the United States.

The Hawaiian Star, at Honolulu, publishes the following:

There is no doubt whatever that the Hawaiian government has made a distinct tender of the islands to the executive of the United States. The news has been published in many of the coast and eastern papers and has been denied. The Star is in a position to state that such a letter has been written and that a reply to it is being awaited here. This reply will probably reach Honolulu by the next mail. It is impossible to get the exact text of the letter and the island executive does not feel that it is diplomatic courtesy that the letter should be given to the public here before the United States government can reply. The mere fact that the transports are coming here and the island being used as a basis for supplies for the Manila squadron makes a large number of people think the offer will undoubtedly be accepted.

SAMPSON AT KEY WEST.

Preparations Being Made for the Descent on Havana.

WASHINGTON.—Admiral Sampson's fleet is back at Key West getting ready for the descent on Havana. The arrival of Sampson at the home port means that Cervera is corked up in Santiago de Cuba; that Commodore Schley can do what he pleases with him there, and that the ships under the American Admiral are thus left free to tackle Havana whenever they choose to do so. All reports from Key West indicate that the great blow of the war is soon to be struck. Sampson is ready and eager for the bombardment. When Sampson arrived at Key West he wired fully his knowledge of conditions along the Cuban coast, and also sent suggestions as to the best methods of proceeding. His dispatch startled all the departments connected with the war into unusual activity, and, on coming from the president a high official said: "You'll hear something drop now, and it will drop hard and quick."

HOPELESS FEELING IN SPAIN.

No Longer is Intervention by European Powers Entertained.

LONDON (Special).—The Paris correspondent of The Times, commenting on the "feeling of sadness prevailing in Spain," says: "It is less on account of ministerial dissensions, which are not really serious, than on account of a fuller apprehension of the difficulties of the situation, namely, that it is hopeless to expect any assistance from Europe, even France and Russia being, since Mr. Chamberlain's speech, averse from doing anything to precipitate complications. Spain sees now that she must trust to herself alone in an unequal struggle that can have only one end."

The Spanish press bitterly laments the selfish motive underlying the reluctance of the powers to intervene. It is now seen that Spain is isolated, and the idea is growing that better terms may be obtained by a direct understanding with President McKinley.

The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Mail, who notices a feeling in favor of an honorable peace, believes that one of the powers will suggest arbitration when a fitting opportunity occurs.

Oates Receives Army Appointment.

The president Saturday sent these nominations to the senate:

To be major general of volunteers, Matthew C. Butler, of South Carolina. To be brigadier general of volunteers, James R. Waites, of Texas; Nelson Cole, of Missouri; William C. Oates, of Alabama. To be assistant adjutant general with rank of major, M. Fred Bell, of Missouri.

Must be Officered by White Men.

WASHINGTON.—The officials in the war department have decided that the colored immune regiments to be raised in the south must be officered by white men. The department desires to see the colored companies elect white officers to command them and suggested that most of the officers might be found among men who had served in the confederate army.

Col. H. H. Sargent, who will command the colored immune regiment to be raised in Alabama and Mississippi, will leave here this week. He has not decided upon a place of rendezvous as yet, but may take Birmingham.

Peace Union Appeals to Spain.

The Universal Peace union, through its president, A fred H. Love, of Philadelphia, has prepared and mailed to the queen regent of Spain and Premier Sagasta an appeal, asking that government to acknowledge the independence of Cuba in the interests of peace.

Arkansas Ordered to Chickamauga.

LITTLE ROCK.—Colonel Cook, of the Second regiment, Arkansas Volunteer Infantry, has received orders from the war department to move his command at once to Chickamauga.

ANGLO-AMERICAN ALLIANCE

Important Preliminary Steps Have Been Taken at Washington.

SUBJECT NOW BEFORE THE GOVERNMENTS.

Main Features Provide That All Matters in Dispute Not Involving Monroe Doctrine and Nicaragua Canal Are to Be Submitted to Commission.

LONDON, (Special.)—The Washington correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, telegraphing Sunday, says: I have just learned from a high authority in the state department that important preliminary steps toward an Anglo-Saxon alliance have already been taken. How far these negotiations, if they can yet be called that, have proceeded, it is not easy to ascertain, but my information is that the preliminary suggestions have been made and that the subject of an alliance is practically before the two governments in some shape.

The visits of Sir Julian Pauncefote to the state department have not, it seems, had reference altogether to the Canadian negotiations. According to my authority the features of the proposed alliance now being considered are these: Great Britain is to recognize the Monroe doctrine, to attempt no increase of her territorial possessions in the western hemisphere and to indorse the American construction of that doctrine. The United States is to build the Nicaragua canal and Great Britain is to have the use of it in time of war. The United States is to have all the territory taken from Spain in the present war, and Great Britain is to protect the United States in its possession if it should be threatened. The United States is to stand by England in her policy in China and in the east and all the British ports are to be opened to the United States under the favored nation clause.

The main features of an arbitration treaty are to be incorporated. It has been provided that all matters in dispute, not involving the Monroe doctrine or the Nicaragua canal, are to be submitted to a non-partisan commission. The existing understanding bearing upon the relations between the two governments on the great lakes are to be abrogated and the United States are to be given the use of the Welland canal in case of war. The alliance is to be offensive and defensive. It proceeds on lines such as the foregoing. As a matter of course, all that has been done so far is purely tentative, but my informant gives the above as the general on lines suggested.

GENERAL WHEELER'S COMMAND

Will Have Charge of the First Army of Invasion.

TAMPA, FLA.—The formation of all of the regular and volunteer troops massed in Florida into corps, divisions and brigades, was completed Friday in a general order issued by Major-General Shafter, commanding the Fifth army corps.

The Fifth army corps which will probably be the first to land on Cuban soil, is made up entirely of regular troops, with the exception of two regiments of volunteers at Lakeland, the Seventy-first New York and the Second Massachusetts. The Fifth corps also embraces the cavalry division, composed of the First and Tenth regiments, at Lakeland, and the Third, Sixth and Ninth, at Tampa, under command of Major-General Joseph Wheeler; the artillery brigade, under command of Lieutenant-Colonel W. F. Randolph, and the signal corps, in all nearly 18,000 men.

The Seventh corps, under command of Major General Fitzhugh Lee, embraces all the volunteer troops at Tampa, five regiments in all, and the troops at Jacksonville, or between 8,000 and 9,000 men.

Blanco Says Cervera Is Bottled Up.

MADRID (Special.)—Gen. Blanco's dispatch says that Admiral Cervera's squadron is still at Santiago De Cuba; that the bulk of Admiral Sampson's squadron is blockading that port; that Commodore Schley's squadron is watching the Yucatan passage; that the American vessels have left Cienfuegos and that the American fleet of blockaders remain in sight of Havana.

A BIG SHORTAGE.

Alabama Needs Thirteen Hundred Soldiers to Fill Her Quota.

WASHINGTON—Adjutant General Corbin announced Friday that volunteers to the number of 120,544 had been mustered into the United States service. There is yet a shortage in the call from the various states of 5,533 men, distributed as follows: Alabama, 1,355; Iowa, 1,649; Kentucky, 1,238; Mississippi, 1,009; North Carolina, 400.

The Second Tennessee.

Friday the Second Tennessee volunteers, Colonel Kellar Anderson commanding, left in three trains for Camp Alger, Falls Church, Va.

Will Sail When the Cadiz Fleet Arrives

A dispatch from Kingston, Jamaica, says: The master of the fishing schooner Jane, which has arrived here, reports having picked up a yawl containing two reconcentrados who escaped from Santiago de Cuba. He says that they told him that Cervera's squadron was in the harbor; that the vessels were coaled and victualed and ready to sail when the Cadiz fleet arrives next week and breaks the blockade.

SCHLEY WORKED A TRICK

To Entrap Cervera's Fleet in Santiago Harbor and the Spaniards Bit.

MOLE ST. NICHOLAS, HAYTI, (Special.)—The following dispatch has been received here from the correspondent of the Associated Press with the American fleet off Santiago de Cuba:

Commodore Schley and the flying squadron has the Spanish fleet bottled up in the harbor of Santiago de Cuba. By the most clever maneuvering the commodore allowed the Spaniards to think he had left in disgust. They took the bait and ran into the trap. Commodore Schley moved off on Saturday morning, and at evening got within close to the harbor, he saw the Cristobal Colon, the Maria Teresa and two torpedo boats. He knew the entire fleet is there.

Commodore Schley has [illegible] his own information, and [illegible] for the past six days, and [illegible] Spanish fleet is there. [illegible] on the afternoon [illegible] Saturday [illegible] covery of [illegible] to headquarters [illegible] them, and [illegible]

COMMERCIAL AGREEMENT.

Between France and United States Presidents Issues Proclamation.

WASHINGTON.—[illegible] with France [illegible] the appointment [illegible] charge of the [illegible] come to a successful [illegible] negotiations have been [illegible] under the third clause [illegible] of 1897.

It is understood that the commercial arrangement [illegible] last Saturday by M. Cambon, the French ambassador, on the part of France, and by Mr. Kasson, special plenipotentiary, on the part of the United States. The agreement is to take effect Wednesday, June 1, when the French minimum rates upon certain products of the United States exported to France will take effect.

The proclamation of the president announcing this fact was issued Monday.

WILL USE MEXICAN DOLLARS

In the Philippine Islands to Pay Off Merritt's Men.

One of the most interesting features of the outfitting of the Manila expeditions is the purchase by the government of 250,000 Mexican silver dollars, which General Merritt will take along to defray the expenses of the expedition. By purchasing Mexican dollars at a great saving is made. It is possible to obtain Mexican dollars at 46 cents each, thus obtaining for one American dollar two Mexican ones and leaving 5 cents over toward the purchase of a third. In other words, Uncle Sam was able to buy 250,000 Mexican dollars for $116,000. In the Philippines a Mexican dollar will buy more than an American dollar, so that the expenses of General Merritt's expedition after it once lands in Manilla will be less than one half what it would otherwise be.

Gage Turned Down by Colored Troops.

The negro company that offered for service and some one hundred more other negroes who wish to serve in the volunteers met in Mobile Monday to take action on the appointment of Robert Gage, a white man, as captain of the Mobile company. Gage made them a speech and said he would treat them right and then called for volunteers. Not a man responded. They say they will not serve under white officers.

Sigsbee Captured a British Ship.

KEY WEST, FLA.—The British steamer Restormel was brought in here Sunday morning under her own steam by a prize crew. She was captured while trying to put into Santiago De Cuba. As the Restormel came in the British flag was flying half way down her main mast. She was leaking badly. The steamer Restormel has a gross tonnage of 2,020 tons; is 286 feet long. The Restormel was captured by the auxiliary cruiser St. Paul, Captain Sigsbee.

To Commence Work on Three Battleships

The Navy Department has called upon shipbuilders to prepare to build the three battleships authorized by the present congress, with a limit of cost, excluding armor and armament, of $3,000,000 each.

The board of construction, after continuous sessions for a month, has decided that the three new ships shall be almost identical with the Illinois, Wisconsin and Alabama.

To Look for Cervera With Balloon.

There were shipped for Governors Island, New York, Friday, two big balloons and equipments which the government has purchased for use in army operations. The plan has been proposed of sending one of the balloons now at Tampa on a suitable vessel of high speed to join Commodore Schley's squadron and to use it in seeing just how the alleged Spanish fleet is hidden away in Santiago harbor.

English Correspondent Imprisoned.

E. P. Knight, a correspondent of the London Times, who, on Sunday night, when seven miles off Havana, was lowered over the bow of a dispatch boat and rowed ashore alone in a ten-foot skiff, has been heard from. He has been thrown in prison and is now in the Cabannas fortress.

[illegible] volume of [illegible] supply the ne[illegible] demand [illegible] from the [illegible] population and business. A [illegible] volume of money as compared with the demand is disastrous [illegible] [illegible] to pay when [illegible] It dis[illegible] property [illegible] invest[illegible] and [illegible] upon any [illegible] when money is [illegible] what is the [illegible] purchas[illegible] of gain [illegible] Such [illegible] exchanging [illegible] purpose to [illegible] other cred[illegible] in money [illegible] the charac[illegible] absorb [illegible] already produced.

[When p]rices are rising, the same in[illegible] leads to the acquisition of prop[erty]. Property is acquired by pur[chase], and by production which results [in] the employment of labor. The [em]ployment of labor in production is [the] source of all wealth and prosper[ity]. Speculators of every description, [inc]luding dealers in money in the lan[gu]age of Wall street "go long" on [all] things, whether property or [money], which are rising in price or [illegible] the competition to acquire [illegible] money futures has been so [illegible] to induce people to accept very [low] interest, in view of the prospect [of] an increase in the purchasing power [of] money invested. The decline of [illegible] actions as to induce [illegible] men to go short on property [illegible] to engage in new enter[prises] [illegible] by converting their property [into] money futures. POINTS FROM THE PRESS.

It is devoutly to be hoped that it will not take as long to end the war as it did to start it.—The Union.

Down with the men and the party who would sacrifice the country's best interests by mortgaging this and future generations to the money power.—Silver Knight-Watchman.

Let every party in the state know that we will accept nothing less than an open and straightforward declaration in favor of the initiative and referendum this fall. No makeshift, halfway measures will fool us this time. The principle of direct legislation has enough supporters in Idaho to carry it to success. All they ask is to be given an opportunity.—Idaho State Tribune.

Let us hope that in the new emergencies confronting the reformers of the land they will not be found lacking in resource. Great things are in the near future.—Twentieth Century.

But suppose, just for the sake of speculation, that New York were governed for the people, instead of for the men who squeeze fortunes out of it. Suppose the city managed its own street car lines, ran its own gas works and generally kept for municipal purposes the vast sums that the citizens pay out for necessities, instead of giving these revenues away for small bribes to aldermen. Don't you think the city would be better off?—New York Evening Journal.

The railroad companies charge the government sixty-four times as much as they do the express companies for the same service. The government pays eight cents a pound for carrying the mail; the express companies pay one-eighth of a cent a pound for carrying express. This helps to explain why highway robbery is no longer "respectable." The people can be relieved of their spare change in a far more artistic and gentlemanly manner and with less personal danger. The railroad officials and the politicians call it "business." We may be somewhat old-fashioned in our notions, but we think that "robbery" is the only word that fits the case.—Social Democrat.

Think; nothing else on earth can save the human race from killing each other off, in the effort of each to preserve himself, but thinking. It may be hard work for some lazy fellows, but men must think or suffer.—Labor Exchange Bulletin.

When the public mind becomes sufficiently educated to the benefits of direct legislation, and it sees clearly the benefit which such a system would confer on the people, there will be such a demand for it that no power on earth can prevent its accomplishment.—Ava Farm Record.

Suppose after the $500,000,000 of bonds are authorized war should come to an end, what would become of the power to issue the bonds? It would remain with the administration to retire the greenbacks, silver certificates, and silver dollars, the very thing Banker Gage wants done.—Silver Knight Watchman.

The opinion of Edward Bellamy's physicians, that a few weeks at most will see the end, has created a feeling of the most profound regret. There are three men in our generation that we would name off-hand as having made the world sweeter, brighter and better, Patrick Sarsfield Gilmore, Henry George and Edward Bellamy each in his way touched a chord of the human heart that responded to the hand of the master. These men have been great because they inspired the masses to noble and to high ambitions and that ideal condition in life where love, not force, is law.—Twentieth Century.

Harvest-Time for the Trusts.

Now is the time, while the eyes of the people are fixed on the map in following the whereabouts of our squadron in foreign waters, for the trusts to get in their fine work. At all times, but never more so than when the people are excited over political or social events, are there persons lying low, as it were, to fill their own pockets during the general upheaval. In going over the list of trusted articles we thought nothing had been forgotten, but it seems that the manufacturers of knit goods had yet to be heard from. Plans have been formed within the past week to consolidate all the interests now engaged in this business. With a capital of $30,000,000 the price and quality of knit goods will soon be regulated after the manner of the standard oil and sugar monoplies.—Twentieth Century.

The Danger.

It is going to keep the people of this country busy for twenty years meeting the demands of those who have loaned the government money to carry on war. It is possible that the only way to get reformation is to pile the burden upon the backs of the people until it crushes them. It is possible when they are crushed to the earth they will turn upon their oppressors.—Denver Road.

What Farmers Must Do.

I say, if we farmers are ever to make ourselves felt politically, we must adopt the plan of our enemies. There is lots of truth in the old proverb, "It is well to learn, even from an enemy." They vote for men and principles, regardless of party. We must do the same thing.—A Farmer.

Don't mistake self-conceit for genius.

REV. DR. TALMAGE.

DISCOURSE BY THE EMINENT DIVINE LAST SUNDAY.

Subject: "Making the Best of Things"—Advice About Looking on the Bright Side—Blessings in Misfortune's Guise—Bereavements Fortify Our Spirit.

TEXT: "And now men see not the bright light which is in the clouds."—Job xxxvii., 21.

Wind east. Barometer falling. Storm signals out. Ship reefing maintopsail. Awnings taken in. Prophecies of foul weather everywhere. The clouds congregate around the sun, proposing to abolish him. But after awhile he assails the flanks of the clouds with flying artillery of light; and here and there is a sign of clearing weather. Many do not observe it. Many do not realize it. "And now men see not the bright light which is in the clouds." In other words, there are a hundred men looking for storm, where there is one man looking for sunshine. My object is to get you and myself into the delightful habit of making the best of everything.

You may have wondered at the statistics that in India, in the year 1875, there were over nineteen thousand people slain by wild beasts, and that in the year 1876 there were in India over twenty thousand people destroyed by wild animals. But there is a monster in our own land which is year by year destroying more than that. It is the old bear of melancholy, and with Gospel weapons I propose to chase it back to its midnight caverns. I mean to do two sums—a sum in subtraction and a sum in addition—a subtraction from your days of depression and an addition to your days of joy. If God will help me I will compel you to see the bright light that there is in the clouds, and compel you to make the best of everything.

In the first place, you ought to make the very best of all your financial misfortunes. During the panic years ago, or the long years of financial depression, you all lost money. Some of you lost it in most unaccountable ways. For the question, "How many thousands of dollars shall I put aside this year?" you substituted the question, "How shall I pay my butcher, and baker, and clothier, and landlord?" You had the sensation of rowing hard with two oars, and yet all the time going down stream.

You did not say much about it because it was not polite to speak much of financial embarrassment; but your wife knew. Less variety of wardrobe, more economy at the table, self-denial in art and tapestry. Compression; retrenchment. Who did not feel the necessity of it? My friend, did you make the best of this? Are you aware of how narrow an escape you made? Suppose you had reached the fortune toward which you were rapidly going? What then? You would have been as proud as Lucifer.

How few men have succeeded largely in a financial sense and yet maintained their simplicity and religious consecration! Not one man out of a hundred. There are glorious exceptions, but the general rule is that in proportion as a man gets well off for this world he gets poorly off for the next. He loses his sense of dependence on God. He gets a distaste for prayer meetings. With plenty of bank stocks and plenty of Government securities, what does that man know of the prayer, "Give me this day my daily bread?" How few men largely successful in this world are bringing souls to Christ, or showing self-denial for others, or are eminent for piety? You can count them all upon your eight fingers and two thumbs.

One of the old covetous souls, when he was sick, and sick unto death, used to have a basin brought in—a basin filled with gold, and his only amusement and the only relief he got for his inflamed hands was running them down through the gold and turning it up in the basin. Oh, what infatuation and what destroying power money has for many a man! Now, you were sailing at thirty knots the hour toward these vortices of worldliness—what a mercy it was, that honest defalcation! The same divine hand that crushed your store-house, your bank, your office, your insurance company, lifted you out of destruction. The day you honestly suspended in business made your fortune for eternity.

"Oh," you say, "I could get along very well myself, but I am so disappointed that I cannot leave a competence for my children." My brother, the same financial misfortune that is going to save your soul will save your children. With the anticipation of large fortune, how much industry would your children have?—without which habit of industry there is no safety. The young man would say, "Well, there's no need of my working; my father will soon step out, and then I'll have just what I want." You cannot hide from him how much you are worth. You think you are hiding it; he knows all about it. He can tell you almost to a dollar. Perhaps he has been to the county office and searched the records of deeds and mortgages, and he has added it all up, and he has made an estimate of how long you will probably stay in this world, and is not as much worried about your rheumatism and shortness of breath as you are. The only fortune worth anything that you can give your child is the fortune you put in his head and heart. Of all the young men who started life with seventy thousand dollars' capital, how many turned out well? I do not know half a dozen.

The best inheritance a young man can have is the feeling that he has to fight his own battle, and that life is a struggle into which he must throw body, mind and soul, or be disgracefully worsted. Where are the burial places of the men who started life with a fortune? Some of them in the potter's field; some in the suicide's grave. But few of these men reached thirty-five years of age. They drank, they smoked, they gambled. In them the beast destroyed the man. Some of them lived long enough to get their fortunes, and went through them. The vast majority of them did not live to get their inheritance. From the gin-shop or house of infamy they were brought home to their father's house, and in delirium began to pick off loathsome reptiles from the embroidered pillow, to fight back imaginary devils. And then they were laid out in highly upholstered parlor, the casket covered with flowers by indulgent parents—flowers suggestive of a resurrection with no hope.

As you sat this morning at your breakfast table, and looked into the faces of your children, perhaps you said within yourself, "Poor things! How I wish I could start them in life with a competence! How I have been disappointed in all my expectations of what I would do for them!" Upon that scene of pathos I break with a pæan of congratulation, that by your financial losses your own prospects for heaven and the prospect for heaven of your children are mightily improved. You may have lost a toy, but you have won a palace. Let me here say, in passing, do not put much stress on the treasures of this world. You cannot take them along with you. At any rate, you cannot take them more than two or three miles; you will have to leave them at the cemetery. Attila had three coffins. So fond was he of this life that he decreed that first he should be buried in a coffin of gold, and that then that should be inclosed in a coffin of silver, and that should be inclosed in a coffin of iron, and then a large amount of treasure should be thrown in over his body. And so he was buried, and the men who buried him were slain, so that no one might know where he was buried, and no one might there interfere with his treasures. Oh, men of the world, who want to take your money with you, better have three coffins.

Again, I remark, you ought to make the very best of your bereavements. The whole tendency is to brood over these separations and to give much time to the handling of mementoes of the departed, and to make long visitations to the cemetery, and to say, "Oh, I can never look up again; my hope is gone; my courage is gone; my religion is gone; my faith in God is gone! Oh, the wear and tear and exhaustion of this loneliness!" The most frequent bereavement is the loss of children. If your departed child had lived as long as you have lived, do you not suppose that he would have had about the same amount of trouble and trial that you have had? If you could make a choice for your child between forty years of annoyance, loss, vexation, exasperation and bereavements, and forty years in heaven, would you take the responsibility of choosing the former? Would you snatch away the cup of eternal bliss and put into that child's hands the cup of many bereavements? Instead of the complete safety into which that child has been lifted, would you like to hold it down to the risks of this moral state? Would you like to keep it out on a sea in which there have been more shipwrecks than safe voyages? Is it not a comfort to you to know that that child, instead of being besoiled and flung into the mire of sin, is swung clear into the skies? Are not those children to be congratulated that the point of celestial bliss which you expect to reach by a pilgrimage of fifty or sixty or seventy years they reached at a flash? If the last 10,000 children who had entered heaven had gone through the average of human life on earth, are you sure all those 10,000 children would have finally reached the blissful terminus? Besides that, my friends, you are to look at this matter as a self-denial on your part for their benefit. If your children want to go off in a May-day party; if your children want to go on a flowery and musical excursion, you consent. You might prefer to have them with you, but their jubilant absence satisfies you. Well, your departed children have only gone out in a May-day party, amid flowery and musical entertainment, amid joys and hilarities forever. That ought to quell some of your grief, the thought of their glee.

So it ought to be that you could make the best of all bereavements. The fact that you have so many friends in heaven will make your own departure very cheerful. When you are going on a voyage, everything depends upon where your friends are—if they are on the wharf that you leave, or on the wharf toward which you are going to sail. In other words, the more friends you have in heaven the easier it will be to get away from this world. The more friends here, the more bitter goodbyes; the more friends there the more glorious welcomes. Some of you have so many brothers, sisters, children, friends in heaven, that I do not know hardly how you are going to crowd through. When the vessel came from foreign lands, and brought a Prince to New York harbor, the ships were covered with bunting, and you remember how the men-of-war thundered broadsides; but there was no joy there compared with the joy which shall be demonstrated when you sail up the broad bay of heavenly salutation. The more friends you have there, the easier your own transit. What is death to a mother whose children are in heaven? Why, there is no more grief in it than there is in her going into a nursery amid the romp and laughter of her household. Though all around may be dark, see you not the bright light in the clouds—that light the irritated faces of your glorified kindred?

So also, my friends, I would have you make the best of your sicknesses. When you see one move off with elastic step and in full physical vigor, sometimes you become impatient with your lame foot. When a man describes an object a mile off, and you cannot see it at all, you become impatient of your dim eye. When you hear of a well man making a great achievement you become impatient with your depressed nervous system or your dilapidated health. I will tell you how you can make the worst of it. Brood over it; brood over all these illnesses, and your nerves will become more twitchy, and your dyspepsia more aggravated, and your weakness more appalling. But that is the devil's work, to tell you how to make the worst of it; it is my work to show you a bright light in the clouds.

Which of the Bible men most attract your attention? You say, Moses, Job, David, Jeremiah, Paul. Why, what a strange thing it is that you have chosen those who were physically disordered! Moses—I know he was nervous from the blow he gave the Egyptian. Job—his blood was vitiated and diseased, and his skin distressfully eruptive. David—he had a running sore, which he speaks of when he says: "My sore ran in the night and ceased not." Jeremiah had enlargement of the spleen. Who can doubt it who read Lamentations? Paul—he had lifetime sickness which the commentators have been guessing about for years, not knowing exactly what the apostle meant by "a thorn in the flesh." I do not know either; but it was something sharp, something that stuck him. I gather from all this that physical disorder may be the means of grace to the soul. You say you have so many temptations from bodily ailments, and if you were only well you think you could be a good Christian. While your temptations may be different, they are no more those of the man who has an appetite, three times a day, and sleeps eight hours every night.

From what I have heard I judge that invalids have a more rapturous view of the next world than well people, and will have a higher renown in heaven. The best view of the delectable mountains is through the lattice of the sick room. There are trains running every hour between pillow and throne, between hospital and mansion, between bandages and robes, between crutch and palm branch. Oh, I wish some of you people who are compelled to cry, "My head, my head! My foot, my foot! My back, my back!" would try some of the Lord's medicine! You are going to be well anyhow before long. Heaven is an old city, but has never yet reported one case of sickness or one bill of mortality. No ophthalmia for the eye. No pneumonia for the lungs. No pleurisy for the side. No neuralgia for the nerves. No rheumatism for the muscles. The inhabitants shall never say, "I am sick." "There shall be no more pain."

Again, you ought to make the best of life's finality. Now, you think I have a very tough subject. You do not see how I am to strike a spark of light out of the flint of the tombstone. There are many people who have an idea that death is the submergence of everything pleasant by everything doleful. If my subject could close in the upsetting of all such preconceived notions, it would close well. Who can judge best of the features of a man—those who are close by him, or those who are afar off? "Oh," you say, "those can judge best of the features of a man who are close by him!"

Now, my friends, who shall judge of the features of death—whether they are lovely or whether they are repulsive? You? You are too far off. If I want to get a judgment as to what really the features of death are, I will not ask you; I will ask those who have been within a month of death, or a week of death, or an hour of death, or a minute of death. They stand so near the features, they can tell. They give unanimous testimony, if they are Christian people, that death, instead of being demoniac, is cherubic. Of all the thousands of Christians who have been carried through the gates of the cemetery, gather up their dying experiences, and you will find they nearly all bordered on a jubilate. How often you have seen a dying man join in the psalm being sung around his bedside, the middle of the verse opening to let his ransomed spirit free!—long after the lips could not speak, he looking and pointing upward.

Some of you talk as though God had exhausted Himself in building this world, and that all the rich curtains He ever made He hung around this planet, and all the flowers He ever grew He has woven into the carpet of our daisied meadows. No. This world is not the best thing God can do; this world is not the best thing that God has done.

One week of our year is called blossom week—called so all through the land because there are more blossoms in that week than in any other week of the year. Blossom week! And that is what the future world is to which the Christian is invited—blossom week forever. It is as far ahead of this world as Paradise is ahead of Dry Tortugas, and yet here we stand trembling and fearing to go out, and we want to stay on the dry sand, and amid the stormy petrels, when we are invited to arbors of jessamine, and birds of paradise.

One season I had two springtimes. I went to New Orleans in April, and I marked the differences between going toward New Orleans and then coming back. As I went on down toward New Orleans, the verdure, the foliage, became thicker and more beautiful. When I came back, the further I came toward home the less the foliage, and less it became until there was hardly any. Now, it all depends upon the direction in which you travel. If a spirit from heaven should come toward our world, he is traveling from June toward December, from radiance toward darkness, from hanging gardens toward icebergs. And one would not be very much surprised if a spirit of God sent forth from heaven toward our world should be slow to come. But how strange it is that we dread going out toward that world when going is from December toward June—from the snow of earthly storm to the snow of Edenic blossom—from the arctics of trouble toward the tropics of eternal joy.

Oh, what an ado about dying! We get so attached to the malarial marsh in which we live that we are afraid to go up and live on the hilltop. We are alarmed because vacation is coming. Best programme of celestial minstrels and hallelujah, no inducement. Let us stay here and keep ignorant and sinful and weak. Do not introduce us to Elijah, and John Milton and Bourdalone. Keep our feet on the sharp cobblestones of earth instead of planting them on the bank of amaranth in heaven. Give us this small island of a leprous world instead of the immensities of splendor and delight. Keep our hands full of nettles, and our shoulder under the burden, and our neck in the yoke, and hopples on our ankles, and handcuffs on our wrists. "Dear Lord," we seem to say, "keep us down here where we have to suffer, instead of letting us up where we might live and reign and rejoice."

We are like persons standing on the cold steps of the national picture gallery in London, under umbrella in the rain, afraid to go in amid the Turners and the Titians, and the Raphaels. I come to them and say, "Why don't you go inside the gallery?" "Oh," they say, "we don't know whether we can get in." I say: "Don't you see the door is open?" "Yes," they say; "but we have been so long on these cold steps, we are so attached to them we don't like to leave." "But," I say, "it is much brighter and more beautiful in the gallery, you had better go in." "No," they say, "we know exactly how it is out here, but we don't know exactly how it is inside."

So we stick to this world as though we preferred cold drizzle to warm habitation, discord to cantata, sackcloth to royal purple—as though we preferred a piano with four or five of the keys out of tune to an instrument fully attuned—as though earth and heaven had exchanged apparel, and earth had taken on bridal array and heaven had gone into deep mourning, all its waters stagnant, all its harps broken, all chalices cracked at the dry wells, all the lawns sloping to the river plowed with graves with dead angels under the furrow.

I am amazed at myself and at yourself for this infatuation under which we all rest. Men you would suppose would get frightened at having to stay in this world instead of getting frightened at having to go toward heaven. This world is as bright to me as to any living man, but I congratulate anybody who has a right to die. By that I mean through sickness you cannot avert, or through accident you cannot avoid—your work consummated. "Where did they bury Lily?" said one little child to another. "Oh," she replied, "they buried her in the ground." "What! in the cold ground?" "Oh, no, no; not in the cold ground, but in the warm ground, where ugly seeds become beautiful flowers."

"But," says some one, "it pains me so much to think that I must lose the body with which my soul has so long companioned." You do not lose it. You no more lose your body by death than you lose your watch when you send it to have it repaired, or your jewel when you send it to have it reset, or the faded picture when you send it to have it touched up, or the photograph of a friend when you have it put in a new locket. You do not lose your body. Paul will go to Rome to get his, Payson will go to Portland to get his, President Edwards will go to Princeton to get his, George Cookman will go to the bottom of the Atlantic to get his, and we will go to the village churchyards and the city cemeteries to get ours; and when we have our perfect spirit rejoined to our perfect body, then we will be the kind of men and women that the resurrection morning will make possible.

So you see you have not made out any doleful story yet. What have you proved about death? What is the case you have made out? You have made out just this—that death allows us to have a perfect body, free of all aches, united forever with a perfect soul free from all sin. Correct your theology. What does it all mean? Why, it means that moving-day is coming, and that you are going to quit cramped apartments and be mansioned forever. The horse that stands at the gate will not be the one lathered and bespattered, carrying bad news, but it will be the horse that St. John saw in Apocalyptic vision—the white horse on which the King comes to the banquet. The ground around the palace will quake with the tires and hoofs of celestial equipage, and those Christians who in this world lost their friends, and lost their property, and lost their health, and lost their life, will find out that God was always kind, and that all things worked together for their good, and that those were the wisest people on earth who made the best of everything. See you not now the bright light in the clouds?

WAR COST TO DATE.

About $3,000,000 a Day the Average Expense of Fitting Army and Navy.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—The first twenty-nine days of the war which the United States is waging against the kingdom of Spain cost this country about $80,000,000, or nearly $3,000,000 a day.

The cost of operations in the future will probably not be so great, as quite one-half of the expenditures so far have been in the way of preparation, the acquirement of warships, guns and equipments. The ordinary cost should run about $1,000,000 a day. It is estimated that more than 200,000 persons are actively employed helping the nation's land and sea forces to get into fighting trim.

The persons who derive the most profit from contracts with the Government are those that have ships, guns, commissary supplies, boots, shoes, uniforms, tents, cutlery, tinware and flannels to sell, and the railway companies.

FORCED MARCHES AT MOBILE.

The Regulars Put Through a Ten-Mile Trip Every Day.

MOBILE, Ala. (Special).—The four regiments of infantry at Camp Coppinger are now more acclimatized.

The troops are getting some fine Cuban practice by forced marches of ten miles a day, with advance and rear guards out and ambulances following to pick up those who may fall by the wayside. These practice marches are most severe, the men carrying full outfits and 200 rounds of ammunition, but they stand the test well, and few have been overcome by the heat. At the volunteer camp the troops are rapidly becoming efficient under the unceasing instructions of army and volunteer officers, the men drilling at least eight hours a day.

INTERNATIONAL LESSON COMMENTS FOR JUNE 5.

Lesson Text: "Jesus Condemned," Matthew xxvii., 11-26—Golden Text: I Tim. i., 15—Commentary on the Lesson by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

11. "And Jesus stood before the governor, and the governor asked Him, saying, Art Thou the King of the Jews? And Jesus said unto him, Thou sayest." He gave the same answer when Judas said, "Master, is it I?" (chapter xxvi., 25). After the agony of Gethsemane and the insult and mockery before the high priest, along with Peter's denial and all forsaking Him, He has been brought by the chief priests and elders of the Jews before the Roman governor, on their part determined that He shall be put to death (verses 1, 2). When the wise men came from the east at the time of His birth, their inquiry was, "Where is He that is born King of the Jews?" (chapter ii., 2). And it shall yet be seen by all nations that He is what He confessed before Pilate.

12. "And when He was accused of the chief priests and elders, He answered nothing." There was nothing to answer, for there was no truth in their accusations, and He knew that they were determined to kill Him and that the time had come for Him to let them.

13, 14. "And He answered him to never a word, insomuch that the governor marveled greatly." Pilate saw that he had a most extraordinary prisoner. He had never met one like this and he knew not what to think of Him. Pilate had strange work on hand that day, and no man before or since ever had just such an opportunity. Looking at Jesus we see how we should act when unjustly treated and falsely accused, for He left us an example of patient endurance of wrong that is unparalleled (I Pet. ii., 20, 21).

15. "Now, at that feast the governor was wont to release unto the people a prisoner whom they would." Pilate gave the release, but the people chose the man. Consider Him who stood dumb before Pilate as having up to that time released millions of prisoners from the power of satan, and millions since by His going to prison and to death for us. He still lives to set the prisoners free, and whosoever will accept Him is forever free. He might have set Himself free, for they could not take His life unless He willed it (John x., 18). But He could not free Himself and us too. He died that we might live.

16, 17. "Whom will ye that I release unto you, Barabbas or Jesus, which is called Christ?" Our lesson say that this man was a notable prisoner. In Luke xxiii., 19, it is said that he was in prison for sedition and murder. Fancy people asked to choose between a red handed murderer and the spotless Lamb of God, between one of the greatest of sinners and the only Saviour of sinners, Barabbas or Christ! The choice to-day is between the most notable of all prisoners (see Rev. xx., 1, 2), the father of lies and a murderer from the beginning (John viii., 44), and this same Jesus who silently—but, oh, so beseechingly for our sakes—awaits our choice.

18. "For he knew that for envy they had delivered Him." It is written in Prov. xxvii., 4, "Wrath is cruel, and anger is outrageous, but who is able to stand before envy?" Stephen said in his sermon that "the patriarchs, moved with envy, sold Joseph into Egypt" (Acts vii., 9).

19. "Have thou nothing to do with that just Man, for I have suffered many things this day in a dream because of Him." This was the message that came to Pilate from his wife as he sat on the judgment seat. Good was it for her if she never suffered but in a dream because of Him. She acknowledged Him to be a righteous Man, but we have no evidence that she received Him as the Son of God. Multitudes even yet call Him a good man, but will not accept him as God their Saviour.

20, 21. "Whether of the twain will ye that I release unto you? They said, Barabbas." The chief priests and elders put them up to this, for they were bound to destroy Jesus. There are many in places of authority who influence others to do wrong, many false teachers who teach error.

22. "Pilate saith unto them, What shall I do, then, with Jesus, which is called Christ? They all say unto him, Let Him be crucified." So they decided that they would have none of Him. He must be killed, the creature hating the Creator, man attempting to do away with God who made him. He came unto His own, and His own received Him not. They said: "This is the heir. Come let us kill him, and let us seize on his inheritance." And they caught him and cast him out of the vineyard and slew him (John i., 11, 12; Math. xxi., 38, 39). How He had told it all to them over and over again, for He knew it all from the beginning! But their hearts were hardened and their eyes were blinded.

But what about Pilate's question? for there is none like it. Every one who has ever heard of Christ must ask it of his own soul, "What shall I do with Jesus?" He is before each one for acceptance or rejection.

23, 24. "I am innocent of the blood of this just person. See ye to it." Persuaded of His innocence, vainly seeking to release Him, yet afraid to do right because of the people, Pilate washes his hands before them all and proclaims his innocence in this affair. But it won't wash off, Pilate, as easy as that, as you have found ere this. It is easy to say, "I am innocent." But what does God think of it? In Mark xv., 15, the record is that Pilate was willing to content the people, but he certainly was not willing to do right at any cost.

25. "Then answered all the people and said, His blood be on us and on our children." They might have accepted this precious cornerstone and built surely upon it for a time and eternity, but they chose to have it fall upon them and crush them (Math. xxi., 42, 44). They might have been as safe under this passover blood as were their fathers in Egypt, but they preferred to trample it underfoot. Fearful was the curse they pronounced upon themselves, and it continues to this day.

26. "Then released he Barabbas unto them, and when he had scourged Jesus he delivered Him to be crucified." The murderer goes free, and the innocent is scourged and crucified. What about this blood, Pilate? On what ground do you scourge an innocent man? But O, my soul, leave Pilate to God, and behold for thyself God manifest in the flesh receiving those stripes on your behalf, for it is written that He was wounded for our transgressions, He was bruised for our iniquities, the chastisement of our peace was upon Him, and with His stripes we are healed (Isa. liii., 5). Hear Him say: "This I bore for thee. What hast thou done for Me?" May such love constrain us to meekly endure all things for His sake!—Lesson Helper.

Exchange of Prisoners of War Effected

Friday the state department received a telegram from Mr. Gollan, the British consul at Havana, stating that the exchange of the American newspaper correspondents, Thrall and Jones, for four of the Spanish prisoners captured on the Argonauta, had been effected. The prisoners exchanged for the Americans are Colonel Vencento de Cortijo, a brother-in-law of Weyler; Surgeon Major Sincon Garcia Julian, and two private soldiers.

THE Democratic State Executive Committee met at Birmingham on Monday, and amongst other things suggested that every county in the State should put out a full county ticket.

THE Chilton County Democratic Executive Committee is at this moment (Thursday afternoon) in session at Clanton, but we have been unable to learn what steps they have decided to take.

WITH much pleasure, on behalf of the people of Clanton and vicinity we offer the thanks of the community to the L. & N. Railroad Co. for their prompt acquiesence in the demand for a new depot. The suggestion made by THE BANNER a few weeks ago that the attention of the Company need only be called to the inadequate accommodations of the old depot was met in the usual generous manner of the company and the rasult is the work was put in hand and is now nearing completion. The new depot at Clanton will be in accordance with the march of progress.

BUT eight weeks has to elapse before the August election, and the opinion of Populists in Chilton is that the full ticket will be elected, and there is nothing to be feared from the opposition. A brief review of the situation it that for Probate Judge there is the regular Populist nominee, S. M. Adams, opposed by the independent candidates R. M. Honeycutt and J. G. Barbour. E. B. Deason the regular Populist nominee for Clerk of the Circuit Court has W. A. B. Falkner and W. B Green as his opponents. The Populist nominee for Representative in the General Assembly. L. H. Reynolds, has also two opposing candidates Caleb N. Headley and S. L. Arledge. For Superintendent of Education Judson Strock, regular Populist nominee, is the only candidate who has no opposition It is true there are one or two other possible candidates mentioned for each office, but as they apparently have not made ub their minds or the subject they cannot be considered seriously. It is possible that the Democrats may decide to-day to put out a full ticket, and if this is done it may complicate the situation a little more.

WHILE some impatience has been expressed at the slow progress of the war, it is probable the next the next few days will see a great forward stride. It takes time to mobilize an army and get everything in thorough readiness before a decisive blow can be struck. But th more thorough the preparations, the better can the desired end be reached. Everything now seems to be ready for the invasion of Cuba and Porto Rica, while reinforcements are already on the way to Dewey at Manila.

Too much imbortance cannot be attached by our people this summer in cleaning up their premises. With the large number of men in field both north and south of us and the refugees from Cuba, the epidemic of last year may be repeated, and cleanliness is the best preventative.

THE UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA

How many people of the state have any idea of the extent and beauty of the University premises, the imposing appearance of the buildings, the value of the equipment and the strength of the corps of instructors?

The campus comprises some 30 or 40 acres, is in the form of a square, almost as level as a table, covered with magnificent oaks, laid off tastefully in walks and drives, and overspread with a beautiful sod of Bermuda. Well set to the rear is the University Quadrangle consisting of four buildings. Woods Hall at the back is the main dormitory, containing a number of recitation rooms and offices, a mess hall and accomodations for 150 or 200 students. It is three or four stories in height. In front of the center of Woods is Clark Hall, three stories in height, containing the library, chapel and auditorium with a seating capacity of 1000. On the right and left of Clark are Garland and Manley Halls, each three stories high. These form the four corners of the Quadrangle. Garland Hall contains the office and museum of the Geological Survey of Alabama, dormitories and handsome quarters for the Trustees. Manley Hall contains the President's office, dormitories and severtl recitation rooms. As one walks from the front of Clark Hall he sees on his right and left the Physical Labratory and Gymnasium, and the Chemical Labratory, respectively. These are admirably equipped, as indeed are all the departments. These buildings are all of brick, trimmed with stone and cost in the aggregate several hundred thousand dollars. All are supplied with water from a system belonging to the University. A bonntiful supgly of clear sprind water is pumped into a large resevoir, and thence distriduted. They are also supplied with electric lights from a plant owned and run by the University. Every student has an iucatdescent light in his room. In addition the University runs its own laundry for the benefit of the students, and theirs is not merely washing, but genuine laundry work. The University Dairy affords an abundant supply of milk.

On the front and two sides of the campus are the houses of the faculty, twelve in number, the Ptesident's mansion being directly in front of Cla k Hall, across University avenue.

The faculty is one of the strongest in the south. It has recently been strengthened, The new men are up to date, progressive young men, while the older membets are well and favorably known throughout the state.

The people of Alabama need not only to know the facilities offered at the University, their own State University, to cause them to fill its halls. The expenses, too, are very low, $130 will cover all necessary expenses for a year, exeept books and uniform. This latter is cheaper than any other equally serviceable, tailor-made clothing. $130 covers board, laundry, surgeon's fee hospital fee and gymnasium fee. If a student gets sick, the University has him provided with medical attendance and nursing without extra expense. By the way, it is understood there was not a cadet ill enough to go to the Hospital in the last two years. Some students almost regret this, as the kind attention of Mrs. Gorgas is pleasing to all.

The gymnasium is well equipped and has a director who gives his entire time to the physical training of the students.

It is hobed that this brief sketch will in some measure give the people of Alabama an idea of what they have at the Univers ty.

President Powers did the graceful thing in placing the college chapel, Clark Hall, at the disposal of the tate Press Association, and its meetings will be held theue. In a few weeks, June 28 30, the Alabama Educational Association will hold its annual meesing there.

This is all well and proper. The University belongs to the people of Alabama, and the action of the president in thus tendering its hall was a graceful recognition of that fact.—Tuscaloosa Gazette.

A Wonderful Discovery.

The last quarter of a century records many wonderful discoveries in medicine, but none that have accomplished more for humanity than that sterling old household remedy, Browns' Iron Bitters. It seems to contain the very elements of good health, and neither man, woman or child can take it without deriving the greatest benefit. Bitters from bottle to cork to the modern

The minority parties of Ohio met at Columbus recently and formed a combination to defeat the infamous ballot law of that state, which practically shuts out every small party. The Populists, Free Silver Republicans, Socialists, the Liberty party and the Negro Protective party were all represented in the meeting and organized under the name of the Union Reform party. A state tic et was nominated and the initistive and referendum adopted as a platform.

The state board of equalization of Missouri has read the riot act to the railroad, telegraph and express companies, for not reporting their earning as required by law. The companies will be forced to comply with the statutes.

Senator Joseph Benson Foraker, of Ohio, declares that it is now time for the Government to return the rebel flags captured during the civil war. He says the stars and stripes float over a united nation and we should wipe out the marks of war.

The national convention of abor commissioners of the various states will meet at Detroit Michigan, on June 15.

All of the Southern pipe and foundry companies have consolidated their interests. The trusts are giving the country an object lesson in fusion that should open the eyes of all politica reformers.

General Joe Wheeler of Alabama, has offered W. J. Bryan a position on his staff. It is believed that the offer will be refused and that Mr. Bryan will lead a new regiment of Nebraska troops, to the field.

Senator Allen of Nebraska made a telling speech in the Senate last week against the bond proposition The senator always distinguishes himself when fighting the minions of Plutocracy.

Senator Stewart of Nevada, has introduced a bill in the senate providing for the construction of a canal across the Isthmus of Darien by the United States government.

Congressman Jerry Simpson of Kansas has tendered his services to the government and offers to raise regiment of 1,000 men among the Populists of his state, to fight against Spain.

From all indications there will no hurried invasion of Cuba by the United States army. General Miles says: "No officer is fit to command troops, who from any motive whatever, would needlessly risk his life or that of a single soldier, either from disease or the bullets of the enemy.

Statistics recently compiled, place the bonded indebtedness of the United States at $800,000,000. The increase in 17 years has been about 15 per cent.

Congress has been having a warm time lately over the question of raising revenue for carrying on the war with Spain. It is generally conceded that the Wall street party will succeed in forcing an issue of at least $500,000,000 of gold bonds.

The death of Edward Bellamy removes one of the most conspicuous reform writers of the century. His books are his best and most lasting monument.

The debate on the war revenue bill promises to be spun out indefinitly. Republicrn leaders in the House and Senate are involved in a quarrel over the measure and the question of Hawaiian annexation.

More than half a million spindles are idle in Fall River, Mass., and the Dingley law is still in full blast.

J. Sterling Morton of Nebraska, who is chairman of the monetary congress has submitted a plan for the holding of a three days' financial conference to be held at the Omaha Exposition during September. The plan proposes that the first day be called silver day and that such believers in the white metal as Bryan, Towne, Bland and others be invited to speak during the day and evening. The second day is to be called gold day and some of the more distinguished adherents to the single standard will then be given an opportunity to set forth their views. Horace White, of the New-York Evening Post and Edward Atkinson of Boston are mentioned as two important speakers. The third day is to be given to the greenbackers and the national bankers, the former having the morning and the latter the afternoon. This giving of the smallest part of the time to that unorganized party (greenbackers) which is daily growing in size and whose beliefs will certainly dominate the next presidential campaign is but another example of that remarkable density of perception for which the Hon. J. Sterling and his like are so noted. A. B.

Rev. L. B. POUNDS.

Admiral George Dewey, the hero of Manila, is the subject of a character sketch in the June Review of Reviews by Winston Churchill. This is the only time that the life story of our modest Yankee admiral has been told in print with any completeness. His boyhood days in Vermont, his schooling at Annapolis and later stirring experiences under Farragut in the Civil War, are all passed in review. Mr. Churchill is himself a graduate of the United States Naval Academy and the author of the very successful novel entitled "The Celebrity." He has had unusual facilities for getting information relative to Admiral Dewey's interesting career and antecedents.

Democratic County Exec Committee

At the meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee held in Clanton to day Tipton Mullins was re-elected Chairman and W. L. Sampey was elected Secretary. There was a good turn out and the meeting was harmonious. As will be seen by the call, the convention called for June 15 has it left to its own discretion as to nominations for local offices.

The World's Naval Powers

Since the recent battle of Manila it is evident that the United States will shortly be included in the sisterhood of naval powers which today consists of Great Britain, France, Italy and Russia.

While Germany is not strictly included among the world's great naval powers, she nevertheless ranks next in order, coming ahead of the United States. Her fleet contains seven first-class battleships, four second-class battleships, six third-class battleships, nineteen coast defence ships, two first-class cruisers, eight second-class cruisers, twelve look-out ships, and one hundred and twenty torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers.

We now come to the United States. Our fleet, which ranks sixth, contains eight first-class battleships, four of which are unfinished, one second-class battleship, twenty coast defense ships, seven first-class cruisers, eleven second-class cruisers, eleven third class cruisers, nine gunboats and twenty-eight torpedo boats and torpedo boat destroyers.—Constitution.

A Shattered Nervous System.

FINALLY HEART TROUBLE.

Restored to Health by Dr. Miles' Nervine.

MR. EDWARD HARDY, the jolly manager of Sheppard Co's. great store at Braceville, Ill., writes: "I had never been sick a day in my life until in 1890. I got so bad with nervous prostration that I had to give up and commence to doctor. I tried our local physicians and one in Joliet, but none gave me any relief and I thought I was going to die. I became despondent and suffered untold agony. I could not eat, sleep nor rest, and it seemed as if I could not exist. At the end of six months I was reduced to but a shadow of myself, and at last my heart became affected and I was really miserable. I took six or eight bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine. It gave me relief from the start and at last a cure, the greatest blessing of my life."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address,

MONTEREY FOR MANILA.

Our Most Powerful Monitor to Reinforce Admiral Dewey.

HURRYING THE PHILIPPINE ARMY

Admiral Miller is Commanding the Pacific Station From His Hotel Because His Ships Have Sailed or Are Preparing to Sail For Manila—Troops Mobilizing Rapidly at the San Francisco Camp.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. (Special).—Military and naval authorities evinced unusual satisfaction over the favorable turn taken by the preparations for dispatching the remainder of the Philippine expedition from San Francisco.

The Pacific Station just now is being commanded by Admiral Miller from his hotel in San Francisco, because there is no war vessel available on which he can hoist his flag. Admiral Miller and his staff have recently returned from Hawaii, where for six weeks they lived ashore at Honolulu and conducted all the business of the station.

Admiral Miller applied to be ordered home, and a few days ago arrived in San Francisco, still exercising command, however over the entire Pacific coast station, which extends now from Alaska on the north clear down to Cape Horn.

The Monterey has been thoroughly cleaned and repainted in dock here, and after the addition of some tubes in her boilers and condensers, requiring about five days' work, she will be ready to depart for Manila. It is the idea to have her proceed to Honolulu under her own steam, the Brutus standing by to offer assistance if it is needed. Both vessels will recoal at Honolulu, and then set out for the Marshall Islands, which are nearer to Honolulu than San Francisco. Thence the two ships will be almost continually in sight of small islands, most of them in Spain's Caroline group, until the Philippines are reached.

The Monterey's addition to Admiral Dewey's fleet, together with the dispatch of thousands of troops to Manila, is ample evidence that the administration has assumed a strong policy on the Philippine question and is determined to take no chance of dispossession until such time as the United States itself has arranged for the disposition of the islands. The Monterey is probably the most formidable monitor in the world; yet she combines with the enormous offensive and defensive qualities of the monitor type a seaworthiness that is remarkable. She has bunker room for only 200 tons of coal, and though more might be stored on her decks, it is doubtful whether she could at the utmost carry more than enough coal to take her to Honolulu, one-third of the way to the Philippines.

SPAIN'S PHILIPPINE FORCE.

She Has Over 12,000 Troops There to Oppose Our Invasion.

MADRID, Spain (By Cable).—According to recent Spanish official reports of the troops now in the Philippine Islands, there are 7000 men in Manila, 2000 on the island of Mindanao, 1500 in Iloilo on the island of Panay, 2000 on the island of Cebu (spelled also Zebu), and 800 on the island of Leyte. There is no artillery outside of Manila and the forts.

Mindanao is the largest of the islands next to Luzon, on which latter island Manila is situated. Mindanao is 500 miles from Manila, Iloilo is 300 miles, Cebu and Leyte, side by side, about 400 miles.

Troops For Philippines.

BARCELONA, Spain (By Cable).—Between 9000 and 10000 Spanish troops, drawn from Catalonia, Andalusia, Aragon and Valencia are embarking here for the Philippine Islands.

Victoria Ignores Gladstone.

Queen Victoria omitted any mention in the Court Circular of the death of Gladstone, and indignation was manifested at the unprecedented omission. The Prince of Wales is said to have suggested to his mother that she make amends.

War Supplies Will Not Have Mottoes.

The Secretary of the Navy has issued an order that contractors of army supplies must not put mottoes on their goods. This was brought about by a St. Louis contractor of hard tack, who stamped on each cake the words "Remember the Maine."

HOLLAND'S NEW SCHEME.

He Would Destroy the Cape Verde Fleet With His Diving Boat.

NEW YORK CITY (Special).—John P. Holland, inventor of the Holland submarine boat, left for Washington to offer his services and his disappearing boat to the Government to destroy the Spanish fleet in the harbor of Santiago de Cuba.

JOHN P. HOLLAND.
(Offers to destroy the Spanish fleet with his submarine boat.)

Mr. Holland feels convinced that he could destroy the Spanish ships without much trouble. He says he can get a volunteer crew to man his boat.

The Holland is now in the dry-dock at Erie Basin undergoing alterations. The greatest secrecy prevails as to what alterations have been decided upon or how she will be equipped. No strangers are admitted aboard and even the members of the Naval Reserves on duty at the basin were told to leave the vicinity of the dry-dock after the Holland had been placed there.

It is understood that the diving rudders are to be made smaller. This, it is expected, will give the Holland greater facilities to dive and will enable those aboard to handle her with greater accuracy.

According to the plan which Mr. Holland now has in mind, he will withdraw a short distance after he has blown up the mines in Santiago, will submerge his boat and will make the trip into the harbor under water. He is confident that he can get right under any ship he selects for attack sometime before any one in the harbor knows that the boat has passed the entrance.

LYNCHED FOR MURDER.

Mob Hangs a Colored Youth For Killing a White Boy.

SALISBURY, Md. (Special). — Garfield King, colored, aged about eighteen years, was taken from the jail at this place, hanged to a tree and shot.

He was awaiting trial on the charge of having deliberately shot Herman Kenny, a white boy about the same age as himself. A number of men from the neighborhood in which Kenny's parents live rode into town and broke down the jail doors, forced open the cell in which King was confined, and dragged him out, the colored man all the while fighting desperately and pleading for mercy. A light clothesline was tied about his neck, thrown over a limb and the unfortunate boy was strung up. The rope broke and he fell, seemingly unconscious.

After lying in this condition for a few minutes he regained his feet and made an effort to escape. His captors shot him through the body and beat and kicked him without mercy, then placed the rope around his neck and strung him up a second time. As he dangled in the air at least fifty pistol bullets were fired into his body, which was left hanging while the lynchers dispersed.

DONALDSONVILLE, Ga. (Special).—Dick Oliver, a young colored man, was lynched near here for attempting to attack a white woman.

SPAIN IMPRESSING SHIPS.

All Available Vessels Will Be Armed as Coast Defenders.

LONDON (By Cable).—It is learned here that Senor Aunon, the Spanish Minister of Marine, has notified the Governors of the Spanish ports to impress all Spanish steamships which are upward of 1200 tons burden and have a speed of twelve knots.

These vessels will be armed as coast defenders. Compensation to their owners will be based upon the original cost of the steamers, with a deduction for wear and tear.

GERMAN GUNS FOR SPAIN.

Said to Have Been Passed by Customs Officers as "Kitchen Furniture."

Information obtained at Gibraltar from a trustworthy source says that a consignment of forty Krupp guns, suitable for forts or battleships, have been sent from Essen, in Germany, to Cadiz, and are now on their way through Spain.

It is said that they passed through the German, French and Spanish custom houses as "kitchen furniture."

How the Army Will Stand.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—Adjutant General Corbin has prepared a statement showing the strength of the military forces of the United States when organized in accordance with the plans now under way:

Regular army, 62,000 men.
Volunteers from States (first call), 125,000 men.
Three cavalry regiments at large, 3000 men.
Ten infantry regiments, United States Volunteers (immunes), 10,000 men.
Engineers at large, 3500 men.
Volunteers called for to-day, 75,000 men.
This makes a grand total of 278,500 men.

MERRITT GETS SUPREME CONTROL

As Military Governor of the Philippine Islands—Force Will Number 20,000.

WASHINGTON.—The state department has mailed to Gen. Merritt his exhaustive instructions for the government of the Philippines. These embody not only full details for the control of the military and naval forces in establishing United States sovereignty over the Philippine group, which were prepared by the war and navy departments for incorporation in the instructions, but are understood to clothe the commanding general with greater discretionary powers than have ever up to this time been granted to any agent of this government.

Except in his relations with foreign powers growing out of possible complications in the East, which are to be referred to Washington for negotiation, General Merritt's control of affairs will be practically supreme. The instructions throughout bear every evidence that the United States intends to preserve permanent control of the islands.

In this connection it is understood that arrangements are already being made to lay a cable from San Francisco by way of Hawaii directly to Manila, and the work will be undertaken as a military necessity the moment authority for the expenditure can be secured by congress.

By direction of the president, formal orders have been prepared for issue adding 8,000 to the Department of the Pacific under Major-General Merritt, thereby increasing the strength of his force to 20,000 men.

Monday General Merritt took formal command of all troops designed for the Philippines.

GERMANY MAY BE IN IT.

The Idea of Emperor William Joining Hands With England and America Suggested.

NEW YORK.—A dispatch to the Herald from Berlin says:

I am in a position to inform you that the English offers of expressions of friendship to Germany, ambiguously referred to by Joseph Chamberlain at Birmingham, were of most decided character. In fact they have taken official as well as non-official Germany rather by surprise. It is even asserted here that the project includes a possible colonial concession of great value to Germany, presumably as the price for drawing Germany away from Russia. I have also authority for the statement that the idea of England, Germany and America joining hands is being seriously entertained, not so much here as in Washington and London, whence it is forced on German attention.

VOLUNTEERS MUSTERED IN.

Nearly 122,000 Have Already Responded to the Call to Arms.

WASHINGTON.—The work of mustering the volunteers into service of the United States under the president's first call for troops is practically completed. Adjutant-General Corbin has announced that the number of volunteers so far mustered was 118,000, and that enough were prepared for muster to swell the number to between 121,000 and 122,000.

Adjutant-General Corbin expressed his gratification at the response with which the call had been met by the states and is satisfied that if the call had been for 500,000 or even 1,000,000 it would have met with the same prompt and generous response. Two or three of the southern states have not completed their muster, but the small gap remaining will be filled in a day or two.

QUEEN ADVISED TO LEAVE SPAIN

Revolution Is Declared To Be Pending About the Queen Regent.

LONDON.—There are renewed sinister predictions of an impending revolution in Spain contained in a special dispatch from Madrid. Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria is said to have strongly advised the queen regent to prepare to fly, and her mother, who is now in Madrid, is reported to have given her the same advice; but it is added the queen regent is determined to remain. Continuing the dispatch says: "The defeat of the Spanish fleet, which the best informed people regard as only a question of a few days, is bound to precipitate an outbreak."

Second Alabama Nearly Complete.

The Second regiment is nearing the goal. Company G, Eufaula Rifles, and Company K, Pelham Guards were mustered in Tuesday and there is now out two incomplete companies, viz: the Lomax Rifles (B) and the Mobile Cadets (M), both of Mobile. It is the prevailing opinion that the Second will be mustered into service as a whole by Thursday or Friday.

R. W. Stobert, of Pratt City, has leased the Tide Water Coal Company's property, consisting of 710 acres, near Tuskaloosa, Ala. The mine is opened up and ready for business, and will have a daily output of between 200 and 400 tons.

Canadian Negotiations Concluded.

The Canadian negotiations which have been in progress at Washington for the last week, were concluded Monday, when a definite agreement was reached for the creation of a commission which shall consider all the subjects of controversy between the United States and Canada and frame a treaty between the imperial government and the United States for the complete adjustment of their controversies. The agreement is now to be submitted to the British government for its approval.

BRIBE OFFERED AGUINALDO.

Governor of Philippines Making Desperate Attempts to Pacify Insurgents.

HONG KONG.—The Spanish governor at Manila is making desperate attempts to bribe or coax the rebels to drop their quarrel with Spain and make common cause against the Yankees. He is offering to grant every concession demanded by the rebels short of independence. Two priests were the first emissaries to Aguinaldo. They offered him 20,000 gold ounces and provincial governorship if he would abandon the rebellion and fight for instead of against the Spaniards. "Tell the governor-general," was the rebel's answer, "that I will take that and as much more as I want after I court martial him for murder."

Nearly all the Spanish provincial governors have been removed and natives appointed to their places in consonance with the governor's policy of reconciliation.

The insurgents are drilling and preparing to act with the American troops, the first of which are expected about June 14.

The blockade of Manila is complete, and starvation is only a question of time. The rebels have taken St. Thomas, killing all the Spanish officers they could find.

DISPOSED OF PRIZES.

Notices of Appeal From Owners Have Been Filed.

KEY WEST.—In the United States circuit court Judge Locke rendered decisions in the cases of the six Spanish steamers seized during the first days of the Cuban blockade. Those included the most valuable prizes taken since the war began. The Castalian and Miguel Jover were released, both vessels and cargoes. The Pedro and Guido were condemned and forfeited. The Buena Ventura and the Panama were condemned and forfeited. The cargo of the Buena Ventura being neutral property is to be restored to its owners, as it is protected by the president's proclamation. The question of the Panama's cargo is taken under advisement.

In the cases of the Pedro, Guido, Buena Ventura and Panama the owners through their attorneys filed notice of appeal. The United States also filed appeals in the cases of the Castalian and Miguel Jover.

COLLIDED AT SEA.

The Cruiser Columbia Sinks the British Ship Foscotia in a Dense Fog.

The United States cruiser Columbia, in command of Captain Sands, anchored off Tompkinsville, S. I., Sunday afternoon. It was seen that she had a large jagged hole stove in her starboard side abreast of the mainmast and immediately forward of the after barbette. Above the water line the hole extended about ten feet high and six feet wide. Just how far below the water line the cruiser was damaged could not be ascertained.

An officer made the following statement: Saturday the British steamship Foscotia, in command of John Evans, captain, collided with our vessel during a dense fog. We were then about eight miles southwest of Fire Island light. We lowered two life boats and rescued the captain and crew, numbering twenty-one all told. We stood by until the Foscotia sank. As soon as we arrived we sent the rescued men ashore. Further information in reference to the accident I cannot give you.

More Volunteers Ordered to Tampa.

CHATTANOOGA.—It is reported upon good authority that three regiments of infantry, stationed at Chickamauga Park, the Second Nebraska, the Second New York and the First District of Columbia and one regiment of cavalry, the First Ohio, have been ordered to go to Tampa as soon as they can get ready. The report is generally believed, but cannot be officially confirmed.

Cadiz Squadron Has Made No Movement.

NEW YORK.—A dispatch to the Herald says that it may be positively stated that there has been no movement from Cadiz of the Spanish reserve squadron.

Smallpox in Dewey's Fleet.

A dispatch from Manila says: The American warships are still in the bay except a couple of smaller ones, which are being used on patrol duty outside. Rear Admiral Dewey is losing men from disease almost daily. Smallpox and dysentery are said to be rife in the American squadron. Aguinaldo, the insurgent chief, beached Cavette from the interior and soon after his arrival went on board one of the warships. He is working hard to gain over the rebels to the side of the Americans in view to act in unison.

White Officers for Negro Troops.

Governor Johnston has appointed the following white officers to command the colored volunteer company of Montgomery: Captain, Frank Caffey; first lieutenant, Charles Scott; second lieutenant, Joseph Goode. It is understood that the governor will appoint white commissioned officers for the other companies in the negro battalion.

The company of Birmingham passed a resolution to the effect that they would go to the front if allowed to go under colored officers of their own choice, but that they would not go otherwise.

Shipping Cotton Goods to China.

It is stated that the big Indian Head cotton mills, located at Cordova, will soon make a shipment of the product of the mill to China. Enough sheeting has been manufactured to load nearly a train at these mills. The sheeting will be shipped in the near future and the production for the next four years has been contracted for to go in the same direction. There is a broad rumor in Cordova that within five weeks the work on the doubling of the mills will be commenced.

Tragedy in Bibb County.

George Smith, chief deputy sheriff of Bibb county, shot and killed A. Steele at Scottsville. Smith attempted to arrest Steele under a warrant for selling liquor, when Steele grabbed a pistol from Smith and shot him through the leg, whereupon Smith drew another pistol and shot Steele four times. Smith received a severe but not fatal wound.

Big Coal Contracts Made.

Superintendent L. W. Johns, of the Belle Ellen mines in Jefferson county, has just returned from a trip to Tampa, Key West, Mobile, Pensacola and New Orleans, and while away secured contracts for the delivery of coal at those places, amounting to 1,000 tons daily. The coal will be used for supplying government transports and perhaps warships.

Cavalry Will Volunteer as Infantry.

As the cavalry regiment which has been organized in Alabama for the purpose of volunteering on the president's second call, will not be accepted by the war department, the Birmingham battalion of the regiment, and possibly the whole regiment, will volunteer as infantry.

BRIEFLY NOTED.

J. C. Kendrick, of Florence, dropped dead Friday of heart disease.

Rev. J. B. Cumming, who has been president of the East Lake Athenaeum for two years, has resigned.

Governor Johnston has appointed Lieutenant Ballard of the regular army as major of the negro battalion.

Near Selma, during an electrical storm, lightning struck Charley Daly, a negro boy, instantly killing him.

Leonard Smith, a colored man, living at Sloss, Jefferson county, was shot and killed by unknown parties last week.

Dr. T. E. Evans, of Bessemer, has received the appointment of chief surgeon in the volunteer army, with the rank of major.

Bud Scarbrough, 14 years old, was drowned in the Cahaba river, four miles from Lincoln. It is supposing to have to be due to an epileptic stroke.

Dr. Milton T. Westmoreland, Athens, died Sunday night.

The patriotic employes of the Birmingham rolling mill had a flag raised Saturday at which the first cannon made of Birmingham steel fired a salute to "Old Glory." The cannon was constructed by Master Mechanic A. Jennette, of the rolling mills, and will be preserved as a relic.

Spanish Spies Grow Bold.

Three Spanish spies entered the reservation at Fort Taylor, Key West, Friday night and attempted to destroy a battery with dynamite. A sergeant halted them, with several shots, the Spaniards returning the fire while retreating.

The war department has called upon Arkansas for 650 additional men to fill out the Second regiment. Governor Jones has stated that the men can't be furnished. He will go to Washington to consult with Secretary Alger.

GOOD ROADS NOTES.

The Beauty of Working Road Taxes.

At the Farmers' Institute which recently met in Marshalltown, Iowa, a paper was read by J. H. Jayne, on Good Roads. Touching on the results of working out road taxes, he said:

"I believe the most important funds in the county are the school and road funds, because the schools and roads are the most extensive and cost the most money. But what a vast difference in the management of these two affairs.

"Your schools are second to none in the country, while your roads are below the average. Suppose you levied a three-mill school fund in every township, one mill to be paid in cash and two mills to be worked out, and you compelled every taxpayer in the district to teach the school in his turn until his school tax was worked out, and supply no other teachers. After a lapse of fifteen years you find your schoolhouses dilapidated, plastering off, stoves down, seats and windows broken, etc. Do you think your schools would be up to the standard and your children properly educated? Your roads are in a like condition to-day, being worked by men who do not follow it as a business, and furthermore have no time outside of other duties to attend to it.

"Now, the principal point I wish to bring before you is money for road purposes. I do not mean by this that we need more money, that the county should be bonded, or a heavy county road fund levy made, but that the money now raised every year for road purposes should be raised and handled differently. The bulk of that money can be derived from that mirror, as it were, that shadow which stays here and there over the county roads every summer and cuts off the grass and makes the roads look level and smooth (in places)—the district road supervisor and his grader.

"Now, do you think it pays for John Smith to be a road supervisor this year and grade up the road—fill up the hollows and round them up nicely in the centre—and next year put in William Jones, and allow him to plow the roads clear across for miles and harrow them down flat, and the next year put in another man who will round them up again; one undoing the other's work year after year?

"Do you think it pays for the road supervisor in No. 1 to go over in No. 4 and spend a day dragging a grader over to his district? Do you think it pays to have him put on John Smith's team to-day, Bill Brown's team to-morrow, Tom Clark's team the next day, and have them go gehawing here and there, and make your road look like a worm fence when finished? Who is to blame? The horses? No; they were never on a grader before, and are not accustomed to climbing up banks and going down into ditches. The drivers to blame? No; they did the best they could with a green horse. The supervisor to blame? No; he held the blade when the machine was driven. Where, then, is the blame? It is in your system.

"Do you think it pays to compel the poor road supervisor to try to fill up a hole, or round up a road, or cut down a hill with a slip scraper when he could carry it almost in a dish-pan? Do you think it pays him to work without tools? Does it pay him to buy six or eight pieces of tile, and pay four prices for them, when Marshall County could buy a car load at the lowest rates and give him the benefit? Does it pay for him to buy lumber for culverts under the same circumstances? Who is to blame? The road supervisor? No; it is your system. I regard this road system a huge cancer, continually eating, and the money you have applied, as prescribed by some physician, and according to directions, has apparently been of very little benefit to the patient."

Better Roads Easy to Secure.

In a recent paper Professor W. C. Latta sets forth the results of investigations which he has made in Indiana. He sent out a large number of letters to farmers in different counties, and from the replies received he gathers the following facts:

First. The average estimated increase in the selling price of land due to existing improved highways is $6.18 per acre. The estimates from which the average is made refer in most cases to lands near the improved roads; but in a few instances they apply to all lands of the county. The average increase, therefore, of $6.48 per acre is lower than was intended for lands in the vicinity of the improved roads.

Second. The estimated average increase per acre that would result from improving all the public roads is $9.

Third. The estimated average cost of converting the common public roads into improved highways is $1146 per mile.

Fourth. The estimated average annual loss per 160 acres, from poor roads is $76.28.

He says that if these statements are even approximately correct that they furnish a key to the satisfactory solution of the question of highway improvement from the money standpoint. On the basis of the last mentioned estimate the average annual loss per acre from poor roads is over seventy-six cents. In five years the losses would aggregate $2432 for every section of land, and this sum would construct two miles at a cost of $1216 per mile, which is seventy dollars per mile above the estimated cost given by the farmers themselves. The present road tax which, under existing laws, is largely thrown away, would, under a proper system of road maintenance, doubtless keep improved highways in perfect repair.

The advantages to be gained he concisely says are that good roads (1) Economize time and force in transportation between farm and market; (2) Enable the farmer to take advantage of market fluctuations in buying and selling; (3) Permit transportation of farm products and purchased commodities during times of comparative leisure; (4) Reduce the wear and tear on horses, harness and vehicles; (5) Enhance the market value of real estate.

How Some Roads Are Built.

The notion that "anybody can build a road" is responsible for many failures. Commissioner MacDonald, of Connecticut, tells a story of such people. He says that a Quaker went into a hardware store to buy an axe.

"How much does thee ask for a Bradley axe?" he asked.

"One dollar and thirty-five cents," was the answer of the shopman.

"Thee asks too much; I will make an axe myself."

He bought a chunk of steel, took it home, put it in the fire, hammered it and belabored it until it had assumed the general outlines of an axe head. But it was dull.

"Huh," said he, "thee cannot make an axe. But thee can make a wedge." He put the steel back into the forge and knocked it into the shape of a wedge. But it had lost its temper.

"Huh," again quoth the Quaker, "thee cannot make an axe, and thee cannot make a wedge, but thee can make a sizzle," and he thrust the hot iron into the rain barrel. That's what a big majority of road-makers used to do in this State—make a sizzle.—Good Roads Bulletin.

Is a Good Roads Woman.

Miss Rella C. Harber, of Trenton, N. J., State organizer for the Good Roads and Public Improvement Association, has had such great success with her work that the association is more than pleased with her.

Miss Harber is a remarkable woman. President Cleveland appointed Miss Harber's father, the late Judge T. B. Harber, Postmaster of Trenton. Miss Harber was commissioned deputy and succeeded to the postmastership when the Judge died in 1896. Miss Harber resigned in 1897 and went to St. Louis, where she was employed in the Good Roads office. Since then she has been promoted to her present position, and has organized fifteen societies, all of which are steadily increasing in membership.

A Long Crusade.

The New York State League for Good Roads, which has been working for seven years to develop a healthy sentiment regarding road improvement, has changed its name to the New York State Road Improvement Association, in order to better distinguish it from the State division of the League of American Wheelmen.

Items.

Roads dependent on the weather,
Worthless are for months together;
Roads made hard by science's art
Always firmly do their part.

If water stands on a road it soon ruins it; ruts collect and retain water; the narrow tire is the father of ruts.

Hard roads make access to the farms easy at all seasons; produce can be shipped in any weather if the highways are passable.

In a south Jersey town all the freight wagons were changed to wide tires over a year ago, and since that time their roads have kept in much better condition.

Lack of social life and restricted means of communication drive the young men from the farms into the cities. Good roads will gradually change all that.

Colonel Pope, in speaking of the wide tire agitation in Massachusetts, said: "Carts and other heavy vehicles should act as road-rollers rather than road-destroyers."

Wet weather roads are what are needed. It is easy to make roads that are good in dry weather; but to make them good in the wet season requires knowledge and skill.

The applications from the counties in New Jersey for money to be used under the provisions of the State-aid law are so numerous that a bill has been introduced in the legislature for an increased State appropriation.

Farmers have been used to staying cooped up on their farms in bad weather for so long a time that it is hard for them to realize the advantages that would accrue to them from having hard and clean highways at all seasons of the year.

Silver Combs Darken the Hair.

A mystery of the toilet, male and female, has been disclosed by the distinguished scientist, Dr. Vanderweide. He says that the use of silver combs is very ancient and has always been popular among people of an uncertain age. A silver comb tends to darken the hair and beard when used with regularity. The reason is very simple. Hair contains sulphur, and this combines with the invisible pieces of the metal, which are worn off every time the comb is employed. The combination of sulphur and silver is pure black, as every housekeeper knows who has used silver tableware. Young men with slight and light-colored mustaches, old beaux whose mustaches are beginning to turn gray, women whose hair shows the mark of age are the three classes who use silver combs with earnest zeal."

Much Too Much.

A Georgia girl rejoices in the name of Mary Rementa Olla Ludentia Laura Suzetta Missouria Georgiana Jennie Pressley Rhoda Diaretta Jane Cornetta Bailey Purdue. That's all—at present—though some young man may wish to add his name to her collection sooner or later.—Lewiston Journal.

L'OLONNOIS, THE CRUEL.

He Was the Most Ferocious of All the Famous Buccaneers.

Frank R. Stockton is writing "The Buccaneers of Our Coast" in St. Nicholas. In a late number he says: Among the buccaneer leaders who distinguished themselves as land pirates was Francis L'Olonnois, a Frenchman. In those days it was the custom to enforce servitude upon people who are not able to take care of themselves; unfortunate debtors and paupers of all classes were sold to people who had need of their services. Boys and girls were sold for a term of years, somewhat as if they had been apprentices, and it so happened that the boy L'Olonnois was sold to a master who took him to the West Indies. There he led the life of a slave until he was of age; and then, being no longer subject to ownership, he became one of the freest and most independent persons who ever walked this earth. He began his career on the island of Hispaniola, where he took up the business of hunting and butchering cattle, but he soon became a pirate, and enlisted as a common sailor on one of their ships. Here he gave signs of being so brave and unscrupulous that one of the leading pirates on the island of Tortuga gave him a ship and a crew, and set him up in business. The career of L'Olonnois was much like that of other buccaneers of the day except that he was abominably cruel to his Spanish prisoners.

All the barbarities attributed to the pirates of the world were united in the career of this wretch, who does not appear to be so good an example of the true pirate as Roc, the Brazilian. He was not so brave, he was not so able, and it would be impossible for any one to look upon him as a hero. After having attained in a short time the reputation of being the worst pirate of his day, L'Olonnois was unfortunate enough to be wrecked upon the coast near Campeachy. He and his crew came safely to shore, but it was not long before their presence was discovered by the people of the town, and the Spanish soldiers attacked them. There was a fierce fight, but the Spaniards were stronger, and the buccaneers were utterly defeated. Many were killed, wounded, or taken prisoners.

Among the wounded was L'Olonnois, and when the Spaniards walked over the battlefield, he was looked upon as killed. When the soldiers had retired he stealthily arose and made his way into the woods, where he stayed until his wounds were well enough for him to walk about. He divested himself of his great boots, his pistol-belt, and the rest of his piratical costume, and adding to his scanty raiment a cloak and hat which he had stolen from a poor cottage, he boldly approached the town, and entered it. He looked like a very ordinary person, and no notice was taken of him by the authorities. Here he found shelter and something to eat and he soon began to make himself very much at home in the streets of Campeachy.

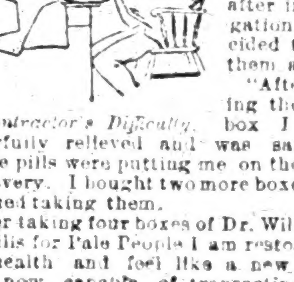
How Relief Came.

From Cole County Democrat, Jefferson City, Mo.

When la grippe visited this section, about seven years ago, Herman H. Eveler, of 811 W. Main St., Jefferson, Mo., was one of the victims, and has since been troubled with the after effects of the disease. He is a well-known contractor and builder, a business requiring much mental and physical work. A year ago his health began to fail alarmingly, and that he lives to-day is almost a miracle. He says:

"I was troubled with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart and a general debility. My back also pained me severely.

"I tried one doctor after another and numerous remedies suggested by my friends, but without apparent benefit, and began to give up hope. Then I saw Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People extolled in a St. Louis paper, and after investigation, decided to give them a trial.



A Contractor's Difficulty.

"After using the first box I felt wonderfully relieved and was satisfied that the pills were putting me on the road to recovery. I bought two more boxes and continued taking them.

"After taking four boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People I am restored to good health and feel like a new man. I am now capable of transacting my business with increased ambition.

"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a wonderful medicine and anyone that is afflicted with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration and general debility, will find that these pills are the specific. HERMAN H. EVELER."

Subscribed and sworn to before me, a Notary Public, this 24th day of May, 1897.

ADAM POUTSONG, Notary Public.

Mr. Eveler will gladly answer any inquiry regarding this if stamp is enclosed.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure people troubled with the after-effects of the grippe because they act directly on the impure blood. They are also a specific for chronic erysipelas, catarrh, rheumatism and all diseases due to impure or impoverished blood.

The British soldier has not always worn a red uniform. White was the prevailing color under Henry VIII., and dark green or russet in the time of Elizabeth.

WINE OF CARDUI

MONTHLY SUFFERING.

Thousands of women are troubled at monthly intervals with pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides hips and limbs. But they need not suffer.

These pains are symptoms of dangerous derangements that can be corrected. The menstrual function should operate painlessly.

McELREE'S

Wine of Cardui

makes menstruation painless, and regular. It puts the delicate menstrual organs in condition to do their work properly. And that stops all this pain. Why will any woman suffer month after month when Wine of Cardui will relieve her? It costs $1.00 at the drug store. Why don't you get a bottle to-day?

For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. BOZENA LEWIS, of Osnaville, Texas, says: "I was troubled at monthly intervals with terrible pains in my head and back, but have been entirely relieved by Wine of Cardui."

WINE OF CARDUI

They banish pain and prolong life. ONE GIVES RELIEF.

R·I·P·A·N·S

No matter what the matter is, one will do you good, and you can get ten for five cents.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. Best medicine ever made since the world was created.

WANTED AGENTS.

"The Confederate Soldier in the Civil War," contains 703 pages 12 x 16 inches, and over 1,100 large Battle Scenes, Portraits, Maps, etc. The greatest and largest War Book ever published, and the only one that does justice to the Confederate soldier and the cause he fought for. Agents wanted everywhere to sell his book on our new and easy plan. Many of the lady and gentlemen agents who are at work are making from $50 to $200 per month. Veterans, Sons and Daughters of Veterans, and others interested are requested to send for a beautiful illustrated descriptive circular, free, and terms to agents. Address COURIER-JOURNAL JOB PRINTING CO., Louisville, Ky.

Why She Smiles Sweetly.

Sparkling eyes, quick beating heart, and the rosy blush of pleasure on the cheeks, makes the strong man happy when he meets his lady love. That's the kind of a man whose very touch thrills because it is full of energy, vigorous nerve power and vitality. Tobacco makes strong men impotent, weak and skinny. No-To-Bac sold by druggists everywhere. Guaranteed to cure. Book, titled, "Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Life Away," free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co., New York or Chicago.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine, you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for it is a "Bookman says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such it gives its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the present, in accordance with the principles of the publication, and literary taste of the people, whose opinions are of value to all men and women. The "Progress of the World" department, magnificently illustrated each month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current progress in the world's affairs; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the men and women of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of current interest import.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly volume the information needed by intelligent people of "live" interests, is the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library in itself"; "a historical cyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of mind for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a triumph of genius"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

is the greatest Labor Organization the world has ever seen.

It is the only organization which, while striving to secure for wageworkers the best possible terms as to wages, hours and conditions, strives at reforming the causes of industrial injustice.

It secures to each trade and locality absolute control over its own trade or local affairs, yet its perfect organization enables its members to act unitedly, promptly, and to enforce, effectively, when concentrated action becomes necessary, to remedy injustice, or to resist oppression.

It is pledged to work for the overthrow of the present system of production and exchange, yet, realizing that reforms can only be beneficial and permanent when they rest upon the convictions of a wise, educated people, it seeks to accomplish its objects in a way that appeals to reason and is consistent with law.

It is a secret organization only so far as secrecy is necessary to protect its members from wrong and persecution, and can never be used to shield wrongdoing.

Its doors are open to all who labor honestly, and especially to the head or brain worker, without question or discrimination on account of creed, race or nationality.

Jemison, Ala. June 6, 1898. Editor BANNER. There are now two great struggles on the hands of the American people: one is the war with Spain, in which a comparative few of our citizens will know but little about. This war will doubtless be of short duration, at the end of which its battleships will be sent to harbor to rest for many long years. But the greater and more important struggle now being waged is a struggle in which every man, woman and child in our government should be deeply interest. The battleships of this terrible contest are under control of the hydra headed monster of plutocracy on the one hand, while on the other they are directed by the millions who are striving to save to our nation and to the world the priceless boon of human freedom and constitutional liberty. The war with Spain sinks into insignificance as compared with the great battle that has to be fought for humanity. This is the great struggle that lies before the American people, to save themselves and their children from the galling yoke of bondage, degradation and common slavery. Let us not forget this battle till we have sunk to rise no more every battleship upon which plutocracy rides. I C

Beat S. S. S Convention

The Sunday-school convention recently held at Valley Creek was well attended and was I trust very profitable to all. Eight Sunday-school were represented, two unrepresented. The questions on program were discussed by Rev. A. M. Perry, Messrs. Johnson, Price, Mitchell, Perry and the writer and many good things were said and will no doubt bear fruit.

The community around Valley Creek treated us like lords and gave good audiences. Bountiful dinners were provided each day and not went away dissatisfied. It is estimated that 350 or 400 people were present on Sunday.

The next meeting will be held at McCarmel church in April 1890.

W. J. Ruddick, of Stanton, was elected President and W. W. Gandy Plantersville Secretary.

Bad management keeps more people in poor circumstances than any other one cause. To be successful one must look ahead and plan ahead so that when a favorable opportunity presents itself he is ready to take advantage of it. A little forethought will also save much expense and valuable time. A prudent and careful man will keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house, the shiftless fellow will wait until necessity compels it and then ruin his best horse going for a doctor and have a big doctor bill to pay, besides; one pays out 25 cents, the other is out a hundred dollars and then wonders why his neighbor is getting richer while he is getting poorer. An Address to the People of Chilton County.

To the Populists of Chilton county Gentlemen:

We deem it wise to say a few words to the Populists and to all good citizens.

Our party was organized only a few years ago, and was organized for the purpose of protecting the people in their rights at the ballot box, and to elect men to office who would serve the people, and that the great reformations so much needed in our government might be accomplished, and that the proper might rule in all things, and to this end the People's Party has accomplished much. Many farmers and laborers who a few years ago knew nothing of the systems of taxation and of government, can now interest the lawmakers with their views. But the end is not yet. Much remains to be done. The farmers still have the burdens of taxation and the expense of the government and since the people must pay the expences, and run the machinery of the country, it is best for the people and for the country that the taxpayers one and all keep up with this business and we would respectfully ask how we are to keep up with the business? Is it best now since we have spent our time, and some little means in the few years of the past to organize the people to give it all up and each of us go our own way one in a place, and one at a time, divided, and dividing? Can the people make known their power and their wishes single handed, and one in a place, and one at a time with better effect than they can to remain united and to stand shoulder to shoulder? Do we not love that motto? "United we stand divided we fall." Is it not a fact that one little stick is easily broken? And do we not know that when a number of small sticks are bound together that it is difficult to break them?

And again if the organization of the people was ever necessary why is it not necessary now? Is it possible that the people desire to give up the People's Party, and to return to the methods that once ruled this country? We trust that such is not the case. How then may the people remain in charge of the affairs of Chilton County? We answer by remaining true to their party, and sticking close to the councils of the same. If the Populists should endorse the plan of turning loose all the good men that we have and held on primary election, or convention for the purpose of electing candidates, the first election held under such methods would convince us that every man we had was defeated for the opposition would unite and united they would stand, while we divided would fall and hence we most earnestly beg that every Populist in Chilton county go to the polls on the first Monday in August, and vote the Populist ticket from head to foot. We do not ask this in the interest of our candidates, while they are all good men, and will make good officers, but we ask it in the name and for the people. If the people should should suffer their ranks to be broken now we do not know when they can be chased up again, and it would be a sad day in Chilton county if we had to say goodby to the People's Party. But as the days go by the people are becoming more and more united and believing, as we do, in a just God, and a true and faithful prople we look forward to the day of the election with hope that when the ballots are counted the peoble will still reign in Chilton. Respectfully

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

I was seriously afflicted with a cough for several years, and last fall had a more severe cough than ever before. I have used many remedies without receiving much relief, and being recommended to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, by a friend who, knowing me to be a poor widow, gave it to me, I tried it, and with the most gratifying results. The first bottle relieved me very much and the second bottle has absolutely cured me. I have not had as good health for twenty years. Respectfully, MRS. MARY A. BEARD, Claremore, Ark. Sold by J. S. Mulberry Ass'n S S Convention.

The Sunday school convention of the Mulberry Association convened with New Salem church May 28 and 29.

Saturday, 9 30 a.m., devotional exercise was conducted by Rev A. L. Fesnee.

On calling the roll, delegates were present from thirteen schools

We are proud to know all but two of our churches have lively schools besides some schoolhouses. From the reports of the various Sunday school workers we believe our people are becoming aroused to a greater degree than ever before and in a short time it is to be hoped that the voices of all our people will be heard in the Sunday school. It seems that all our churches are becoming aroused to their duty and to the necessity of studying God's word. Bretheren, we should be encouraged and press onward with the good work ever looking to Him who has said, "I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world". At 10 a.m. organization finished by re-electing Rev. Sutton Smitherman chairman and John T. Martin secretary. The subjects of the program were taken up and discussed by Rev. S. M. Adams, R. H. Lang and others

At 11:40, a recess was given for refreshments. The good people of Salem prepared a table and spread a bountiful dinner which was enjoyed by all. At 1:30 p.m., the convention came together and spent the remainder of the day to the subjects. There was perfect harmony among all who spake and it is to be hoped that these discussions will be the means of reviving the work among our people.

Sunday, at 9:30 a.m., Rev R. H. Long conducted the Sunday-school mass-meeting and one hour was was spent on the lesson. At 11. Rev. Sutton Smitherman preached the convention sermon from Luke xix; 41. Theme: "Christ weeping over sins."

A collection of $2.84 for the benefit of the orphan's home at Evergreen, was taken up.

The convention then closed to meet with Antioch church, Bibb county on Friday before fifth Sunday in July, 1898.

An Industrial Development company is being formed in Richmond, Va., with a capital of not less than $50,000, its object being to bring new business enterprises to the city and infuse new life into those already established by judicious loans of money when needed.

A pair of scales, much like those of the modern pharmacist, is among the multitude of objects discovered this year in the excavations about thirty miles from Thebes, and recently exhibited in London. The scales are finely finished, having a beam four and one-half inches long.

The Millinery Trade Review says that "not ten per cent. of the birds or parts of birds used in millinery are song birds or parts of song birds, but 75 per cent. are imported from China and Japan and are killed for their destructiveness, and the balance are feathers of birds used for food."

The Whitehorn (Col.) News has this item in its "Society" column: "A lot of squint-eyed squaws held a powwow at Martini's Sunday night. Razzle-dazzle was the game. At midnight a kettle of dog soup was served, which was presided over by Dull Knife, Battle Ax, Ogama, Afraid-of-Work and Often Hungry."

The department of street improvement declares itself to be in complete accord with New York wheelmen in their efforts to improve the condition of roads and highways. Thus the intelligent cyclist becomes not only a lynx-eyed inspector but a public benefactor in the direction of the highest utility for the commonwealth and its citizens, remarks the New York Herald.

Of the many Armenians who have come to this country in the past ten years, the larger part have seemingly made their home in New England. They are successful as farmers and farm laborers, but have made their greatest hit as domestic servants. Their employers recommend them as being polite, silent, industrious and, above all, as being excellent cooks. The Armenians have a school of cooking of their own which has modified that of Persia, Turkey, Greece and, apparently, that of Italy.

Hardly a day passes without adding to the list of benefits bestowed on mankind by the bicycle. The British Medical Journal cites a case of a lady who having been advised to take a fortnight's change of air to get rid of the effects of influenza spent her vacation largely on the wheel, averaging fifty miles or so a day. As a result she has no more influenza, but she has a heart which on the slightest exertion rises to 120 beats a minute, and if she could have her choice now she would rather have the influenza. Recent discoveries in Egypt show that the science of medicine had reached a high state of cultivation ten thousand years ago, but it is vain to hope that it will ever be well enough understood to prevent lovely woman from demolishing her system when drawn within the fascination of the wheel.

The Louisville Courier-Journal says: Some interesting figures have lately been compiled by Mr. E. L. Powers of Chicago, showing the extent to which the system of illuminating towns and cities by means of the electric light has grown in recent years. We cite the figures for this section merely. In fifteen southern states there are at this time 404 electric plants operated by private corporations, firms and individuals. The capital stock represented amounts to $34,752,225, while the power generated aggregates 141,450 horse power. Not less than 37,976 are lights and 996,770 incandescent lights are furnished. But these figures do not embrace the total number of electric light plants in this section. In addition to those operated by private corporations, firms and individuals, there are also seventy electric light plants operated by municipalities. These represent 9890 horse power, and furnish 4256 are lights and 68,933 incandescent lights. Since barely twenty years have passed since the glare of the electric light first made its advent, these figures show that rapid progress during that time has been made in this section by Edison's wonderful invention.

EXPEDITION TO MANILA.

Preparations Being Rushed by the War Department.

MEN ANXIOUS FOR ACTION.

Troops in Excellent Condition and Ready For Hard Service—Second Detachment to Dewey Will Consist of 3058 Men—The Women of California Busy Making Bandages.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. (Special).—Major General Wesley Merritt assumed formal command of the expedition to the Philippines in the presence of the troops now encamped at the Presidio, in Camp Richmond.

General Merritt is arranging the details of the second expedition to the Philippines, but has not yet made public the assignment of troops for the expedition, and he will not make the order public until the date of the sailing of the fleet has been delivered. It is semi-officially stated that the vessels will not be ready for ten days yet.

After a careful inspection of the 7000 troops now at Camp Richmond, it was semi-officially announced that the second Manila expedition would probably be composed of the First Colorado Regiment, 1008 men; the First Nebraska Regiment, 1020 men, and the Thirteenth Minnesota Regiment, 1030 men, a total of 3058 volunteers.

Arrangements have been made to supply quickly all that is lacking in the outfits of the Pennsylvania, Colorado and Minnesota regiments.

The Tenth Pensylvania has caught the fancy of visitors to the camp. Its appearance and strict discipline attract much attention. The Utah Light Artillery also comes in for a large share of popular approval.

Free reading and writing tents are being furnished to each regiment by the Christian Endeavor Society.

Four batteries of heavy artillery now stationed at the Presidio will go to Manila with the next expedition and their places at the Presidio will be filled by men from the ranks of the heavy artillery volunteer force now in camp at the Presidio.

The present formation of brigades is only temporary and made only for administrative purposes. A reorganization will be effected when the second expedition reaches the Philippines.

The Pennsylvania volunteers are in a serious plight. They need shoes so badly that the regiment is seriously crippled for the lack of them. Many of the men cannot drill on account of the dilapidated condition of their footgear.

The women of the Red Cross of California are tireless in their work, yet it is announced that they may be obliged to call on their sisters in the East for aid in making bandages for the soldiers. General Merritt says that every soldier sailing for Manila must have three bandages. Thousands have been made, and 10,000 more will be ready by the end of the week, yet more will be required.

The State Red Cross has furnished all the California boys with identification medals, but the society does not feel able to provide them for all the troops sailing from this port. When the members of the Red Cross in Kansas, Wyoming and Utah were informed, they responded at once, promising to furnish them without delay.

Ex-Governor of Alabama Assigned to Duty at Chickamauga.

Brigadier General William C. Oates, formerly Governor of Alabama, visited the War Department, Washington, and took the oath of office. He also made preliminary arrangements for the detail of the officers of his staff. General Oates has been assigned to duty with one of the Army corps at Camp Thomas, Chickamauga.

BRIGADIER GENERAL W. C. OATES.

Troops Reviewed at Chickamauga.

Major General Breckinridge has reviewed and inspected the First Division of the Third Army Corps, at the head of which is General Grant, at Chickamauga Park, Ga. When Major General Breckinridge took his position as reviewing officer General Grant brought the division to "present arms." He then rode down the front of the line and up the rear, while the band of each regiment played the national airs. Riding back to the point from where he started, the divisions broke into columns by companies, and with General Grant at its head passed in review.

The men acquitted themselves with honor, and were highly commended by General Breckinridge and Colonel Astor.

Pennsylvania Republican Convention Nominated Colonel Wm. A. Stone.

HARRISBURG, Penn. (Special).—The Republican State Convention on the first ballot nominated Colonel William A. Stone for Governor over Congressman Charles

GENERAL J. P. S. GOBIN,
(Nominated for Lieutenant Governor of Pennsylvania).

W. Stone. Mr. John Wanamaker having withdrawn from the race. The letter announcing Mr. Wanamaker's withdrawal so vigorously denounces what he terms "machine politics" in the party as to indulge the prediction that he may continue in the race as an independent candidate. General J. P. S. Gobin, Commander in Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, was nominated for Lieutenant Governor; General James W. Latta, of Philadelphia, for Secretary of Internal Affairs; Galusha A. Grow and Samuel A. Davenport for Congressmen at Large, and Judge William Porter for Superior Court Judge.

The attendance was the largest since the convention of 1890, when the fight for Governor was between George Wallace Delamater, of Meadville, and Daniel H. Hastings. The galleries and rear of the stage were crowded with spectators.

Congressman William A. Stone, of Allegheny, the nominee, has been a lifelong Republican. He was born in Tioga County, Pennsylvania, April 28, 1846, and received his early education at the State Normal School, Mansfield. He served during the war as Second Lieutenant of Company A, 187th Pennsylvania Volunteers. He studied law with S. F. Wilson at Wellsboro, and was admitted to the bar in 1870. He has been District Attorney of Tioga County and was appointed United States Attorney for the Western District of Pennsylvania. He was elected to the Fifty-second, Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses. He is a personal friend of Senator Quay.

SPAIN'S ABJECT POVERTY.

Twenty Thousand Persons in Madrid Alone Living Upon Public Charity.

MADRID, Spain (By Cable).—The economic situation in Spain is becoming more and more critical. The poverty of the people has never been so distressing, and the financial difficulties of the Government are becoming overwhelming. The war absorbs all funds obtainable and the country is daily creating new debts for the sake of the war, which, in certain political circles, is now described as imbecile foolishness.

The national subscription which the Spaniards confidently assured the world would bring to the Government 50,000,000 pesetas in two days only amounts to 8,000,000, including the royal gifts. The greatest sum to be hoped for from the subscription cannot exceed $10,000,000 pesetas.

The Government is exacting contributions and imposing new taxes in every direction. The customs officers on the frontier have been ordered to be extremely particular that luggage is thoroughly searched, and that no opportunity of claiming duty, even on hats, neckties and boots, if new or nearly new, be allowed to escape.

When a traveler reaches his destination his luggage is re-examined lest anything should have been overlooked at the frontier.

The Government takes no interest in the people further than taxing those who are able to pay, while the poor are abandoned to their fate. There are from 15,000 to 20,000 persons in Madrid alone who are living on public charity. Men, women and children, garbed almost indecently in rags, follow one another along the streets, whining piteous appeals for a morsel of bread.

The correspondent says that he has seen a beggar come from a fishmonger's shop with his hands full of refuse and portions of raw fish, and biting ravenously into the disgusting mass. It is a sight too common to attract attention to see a Spaniard of dignified mien, wearing the familiar sombrero and cloak, raking over dust heaps in search of a crust. If a bit of food is found it is devoured immediately.

All this wretched population sleeps in corners of doorways. They may starve, rob or murder, but nobody cares. They do not count in the social organization, to which they are unable to pay taxes. As they pay the Government nothing they must cost nothing.

The political system on which Spain is organized is responsible for this state of affairs, and it may be that some day, driven by hunger, this neglected proportion of the population may give serious trouble to the rulers of the Peninsula. Meanwhile, the hordes of starving and unfortunate beggars who infest the magnificent avenues of the Spanish capital and contrast so painfully with the splendid palaces, are a shocking, pity-inspiring sight which no foreigner is likely to forget.

Cycling Notes.

A Bordeaux cyclist intends attempting to ride backward from Soulac to Bordeaux, a distance of ninety-two miles. An English cyclist some years ago rode backward from London to Brighton.

In Germany 60,000 workmen were employed in bicycle factories in 1896. This does not include those making only separate parts, such as rubber tires, etc., who would probably bring the number up to 100,000.

Pneumatic tires are displaced in a Brooklyn man's invention in which the wheels are mounted on vertical rods attached to the frame and held by springs to allow a small amount of play when the wheels strike a rough spot.

A COLLIER TORPEDOED.

An American Coal Ship Sunk in Santiago Harbor.

NOW BLOCKS THE ENTRANCE.

Our Fleet Bombarded the Forts and the Merrimac Was Then Sent Into the Channel—She Sank at the Second Line of Mines—An Officer, an Engineer and Six Sailors Captured.

CAPE HAYTIEN, Hayti (By Cable).—A report was received here from Santiago that the Merrimac had accidentally [illegible] was sunk within a specially selected spot to force the entrance of the harbor during an attack made by the American fleet. The Merrimac is a coal collier. The Spanish batteries are reported to have been silenced.

Rear Admiral Sampson, it is added, off Santiago, had ordered the sinking of one of Cervera's warships [illegible] of the shore batteries on the [illegible] Point of torpedoes and the ships of Admiral Cervera's fleet, the collier to sail into the harbor in order to force a passage.

According to the first and only official report the Merrimac made a dash through the narrow and crooked entrance of the harbor, braving the guns of the Spanish fleet, braving the mines with which the entrance is thickly sown.

Indeed the forlorn hope of the Merrimac seems to have been to explode the mines and so leave free the entrance for the American fleet. The men on her were ready, even anxious, to take the one chance in a million of exploding the mines and escaping alive. The matter of sending in a vessel with a volunteer crew has been debated for several days.

With the mines out of the way there would remain only the Spanish fleet for the American fleet to meet. For the American fleet had extinguished the fire of the forts at the harbor's entrance.

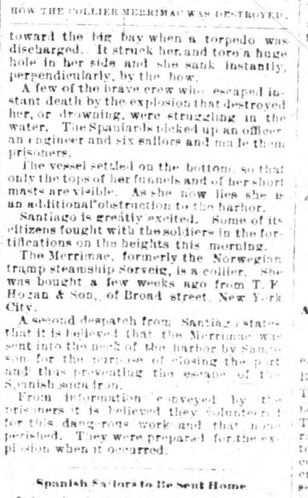
At 8 o'clock a. m. the American fleet again began to bombard the fortifications. A lively cannonade ensued for two hours, and at the end of that time the forts were silenced.

Then the Merrimac at her fullest speed steamed into the entrance of the harbor, while the other American ships kept moving here and there in the offing, ready to follow if by that one chance in a million she succeeded in entering.

The Merrimac passed the first line of mines, although it is always difficult to take a big ship through the narrow, crooked channel.

Perhaps her splendid audacity astonished the Spaniards that they were paralyzed. She had proceeded about 500 feet toward the big bay when a torpedo was discharged. It struck her and tore a huge hole in her side and she sank instantly, perpendicularly, by the bow.

SUBMARINE MINE EXPLOSION



HOW THE COLLIER MERRIMAC WAS DESTROYED.

A few of the brave crew who escaped instant death by the explosion that destroyed her, or drowning, were struggling in the water. The Spaniards picked up an officer, an engineer and six sailors and made them prisoners.

The vessel settled on the bottom, so that only the tops of her funnels and of her short masts are visible. As she now lies she is an additional obstruction to the harbor.

Santiago is greatly excited. Some of its citizens fought with the soldiers in the fortifications on the heights this morning.

The Merrimac, formerly the Norwegian tramp steamship Sorveig, is a collier. She was bought a few weeks ago from T. F. Hozan & Son, of Broad street, New York City.

A second despatch from Santiago states that it is believed that the Merrimac was sent into the mouth of the harbor by Sampson for the purpose of closing the port and thus preventing the escape of the Spanish squadron.

From information conveyed by the prisoners it is believed they volunteered for this dangerous work and that most perished. They were prepared for the explosion when it occurred.

Spanish Sailors to Be Sent Home

It has been decided to release all the crews of the captured Spanish steamers at Key West and return them to Barcelona in the steamer Catalina.

Chairman Cannon Says Six Hundred Million Will Be Needed in One Year.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—In presenting the Urgent Deficiency bill for $17,845,000 in the House Chairman Cannon of the Committee on Appropriations estimated the appropriations already made on account of the war and likely to develop as essential, including the first six months of the fiscal year beginning June 1, 1898, at $350,000,000. In response to a question by Mr. Dingley, Mr. Cannon said the war would cost approximately $600,000,000 provided it should continue one year.

Daily disbursements of the Government are expected to average nearly $2,000,000 from now until the end of the war. Appropriations are now being made to meet the estimated expenditures until January 1, with the idea that, if the war is not over by that time, Congress will again be in session and additional appropriations can be made.

The House unanimously passed the bill appropriating $17,845,000 to meet certain urgent demands for war expenditures.

The Secretary of war sent to Congress a request for appropriations amounting to $33,870,858. These appropriations will be used for the equipment and maintenance until January 1, 1899, of the 75,000 volunteers recently called for by the President.

In the Senate Mr. Hale, Rep., Maine, Chairman of the Naval Committee, said he had no doubt that if the war continued a year it would cost from $700,000,000 to $800,000,000.

By a vote of 45 to 31, seven Democrats and one Populist voting with thirty-seven Republicans, the Senate adopted the amendment providing for the issue of $100,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness and $300,000,000 of bonds to be used exclusively for the payment of the expenses of the war.

When the firing began many of the men in the city whose sympathies have been with the insurgents started for the insurgent [illegible], which are but a short distance from the town to offer their services. The fighting began at just about 2 o'clock, [when] the signal to begin the battle was displayed on the Brooklyn.

Owing to the height of the bluff on which Morro Castle is situated at the entrance to the harbor it was impossible for the [illegible] to run ashore and elevate their [guns] to a sufficient height to do any damage to the old fortifications. Consequently the big ships with the heavy rifles stood [at a] distance [illegible] from where they [could] pour in a [illegible] fire, while the smaller vessels [illegible] the shore [illegible] themselves [illegible] the sand and [illegible] under batteries [illegible] [illegible] made known some days ago that two or three of Admiral Cervera's squadron were lying some distance below the city, and it is possible that they may have been engaged. They could not be seen from the city, and this probably accounts for the indefiniteness of the statements regarding the squadron's participation in the fight.

Judging from the reports of the fight that have been received here, it is almost certain that little, if any, damage was done to the Americans.

It may be that Commodore Schley did enter the harbor for a short distance, countering as he went, and awaiting a more favorable opportunity for proceeding up the bay to engage the Spanish warships.

During the fighting a number of troops were hastily despatched from the city, and it is judged from this that the Spanish losses in the batteries must have been heavy, and that the artillerymen were needed to man the guns.

The despatch says that the Americans were compelled to retire after the battle had lasted about two hours. The firing ceased shortly after 4 o'clock. Just before it ceased the cannonading was the heaviest of the day.

During the engagement a large number of shells fell into the bay, raising large masses of water as they exploded.

Of course all the information that has reached this point is from Spanish sources.

The first engagement between Commodore Schley and the Spanish fleet commanded by Admiral Cervera took place Tuesday night when two torpedo boat destroyers about midnight slipped quietly out of Santiago harbor bent on mischief. They crept along in the shadow of old Castle Morro and the mountain for two miles to the westward before they were discovered by the lookout on the Texas, where the men were sleeping by the guns so that the battleship could be quickly manned.

An instant after the lookout gave the alarm the white stream of the Texas' searchlight flashed along the shadow under the mountain, revealing the desperate game of the imprisoned Spaniards.

The torpedo boat destroyers when they saw that they had been discovered dashed toward the Texas, which, with the cruiser Brooklyn close beside it, was lying inshore.

The Texas promptly opened fire with her port fortward batteries and her crack six-pounders, and the hiss of the armor-piercing shells thrown in the direction of the advancing torpedo boat destroyers startled the entire fleet. The Brooklyn also came into action, firing several rounds at the Spanish craft, but the bulk of the shooting was done by the Texas.

The entire fleet went to general quarters, and soon their searchlights were playing around the narrow entrance of the harbor in the expectation that Admiral Cervera's whole fleet would emerge from its haven and fight it out.

The torpedo boat destroyers made a plucky dash through the rain of shells from battleship and cruiser, but foiled in their attempt to surprise the watchful Schley, turned and ran back into the harbor.

No attempt was made to pursue them. It is thought that they were not struck, as they retreated quickly and made small targets in the uncertain moonlight.

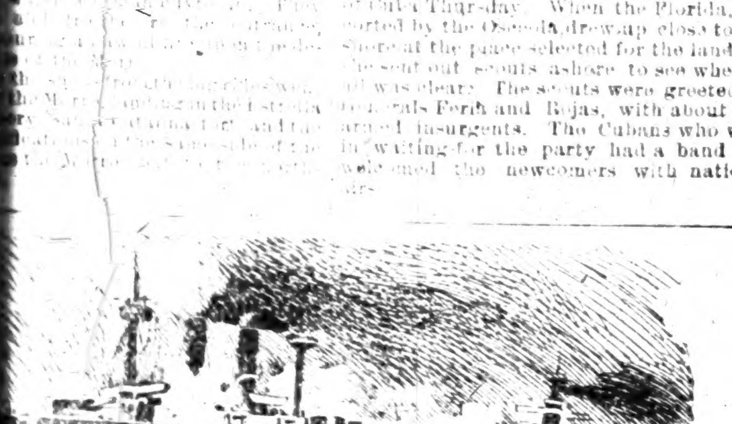
The Spaniards did not discharge any torpedoes, although within 500 yards of the Texas.

AID FOR THE CUBANS.

Four Hundred Men With Provisions and Ammunition Delivered Safely.

Key West, Fla. (Special).—There are rejoicings and shouts of "Viva America" around a hundred Cuban camp fires in the hills of a certain Cuban province. The steamer Florida has returned to Key West after landing great quantities of arms and ammunition and supplies and delivering them safely into the hands of the eager insurgents in Eastern Cuba.

The expedition was landed on the coast of Cuba Thursday. When the Florida, escorted by the Osceola, drew up close to the shore at the place selected for the landing, she sent out scouts ashore to see whether all was clear. The scouts were greeted by Generals Ferin and Rojas, with about 1500 armed insurgents. The Cubans who were in waiting for the party had a band and welcomed the newcomers with national airs.



[illegible] TO DESTROY AMERICAN BATTLESHIP.

This is the most powerful anti-Spanish expedition ever sent to Cuba. Nearly 400 men were landed and 300 of them are Cubans. The others are Americans. The entire corps of the expedition is composed entirely of Americans, under Aurelian [illegible], and includes experts in explosives. Three of the four physicians with the party are Americans. The men were dressed in canvas uniforms furnished by the United States Government, and the Commissary Department had rations enough to last fifteen days after the landing. The pack-train consisted of seventy-five mules and twenty-five horses. The expedition carried 7000 rifles and 2,000,000 rounds of ammunition for General Calixto Garcia. General Castillo, General Sanguily and Colonel Lacret are fine looking men, and the expedition is composed of hardy fellows who looked fit for anything. The expedition was under the command of [illegible], formerly insurgent commander in Matanzas province. [illegible]

LEITER'S WHEAT DEAL.

The Chicago Speculator Brings His Corner to a Profitable End.

STORY OF HIS OPERATIONS.

The Profits of the Deal Estimated at $4,000,000—It is Said He Has Earned $7.50 a Minute Since He Entered the Market—Still Holds Much Wheat on Which He Will Lose.

Chicago (Special).—Leiter's famous wheat deal was formally closed Tuesday. The last moments were lively, and Joseph Leiter, to all appearances, was master of the situation. As if to emphasize his command of the market, Leiter sent May wheat down from $1.75 to $1.25. This move was plainly for the purpose of evading the big receipts and to circumvent the "tailers,"

JOSEPH LEITER.

(He has just successfully engineered a stupendous corner in wheat.)

who wanted to "ring in" a lot of wheat on Leiter at fancy prices. Leiter fooled them by putting the price down. Nevertheless, he had to take on another 500,000 bushels to-day, in addition to the five million or six million bushels which he still has on his hands.

It was generally believed that Leiter would force up the price beyond the two-dollar mark, in order to eclipse the record made in 1888 during the Hutchinson "corner." Then, on settlement day, the bull clique controlling the market sent the price up nearly sixty cent.

The wheat deal just closed has been the most stupendous in the history of the grain markets. Leiter not only made himself rich—his profits are estimated at $4,000,000, or $7.50 a minute since April, 1897—but he has placed the farmers of the United States in a condition of wealth such as they have never known. Kansas and several Central Western States, which a few years ago were plastered with mortgages, are now experiencing great prosperity.

The bull clique in wheat, of which Leiter and French are the remnant, originated in Wall street. This was nearly eighteen months ago. The price of wheat was at such a low ebb that planters refused to let go of their holdings except in cases where they were obliged to do so in order to secure the necessaries of life. The railroads were doing nothing and the stock market was down to hard pan.

J. R. Keene and several others decided to boom wheat, cause its marketing, and put the price of stocks to a higher level. Chicago, being the largest wheat market of the world, was selected as the base of operations. Leiter was placed at the head of the clique. The scheme worked like a charm.

After the first healthy feeling had pervaded the market and the country looked upon wheat prices as likely to remain near the new prices established, George B. French induced Leiter to go into a bull movement in earnest without any clique. Everything favored higher prices in this country. Foreigners had to look to America for everything they needed in the way of breadstuffs. Countries which had always been good exporters came to Chicago for wheat, and they got it at advances.

Leiter has had many obstacles to encounter, but he has surmounted them all. The big elevator interests at Chicago made an attempt to drown him with high-priced wheat in December, but their offerings were all taken without a murmur. Leiter has always had plenty of money with which to conduct his business, and this has enabled him at all times to cope successfully with those against him. He will have to market considerable cash wheat at a loss, but he has cleared enormous profits, estimated at $4,000,000 on his May deal, and can afford to lose on his cash wheat.

To Go to Cuba at Once.

Secretary Alger sent to Congress a letter from General Ludlow, Chief of Engineers, in which campaign plans are briefly outlined. It is said that the first force to be sent to Cuba will consist of fifteen thousand or twenty thousand men, and that fifty thousand more will follow as rapidly as possible.

Tragedian Keene Dead.

Thomas W. Keene, the well-known actor, died at Staten Island following an operation for appendicitis. He was born in New York City October 26, 1840.

Uniforms Lacking.

More than half the 18,000 volunteers in Camp Alger, and the 8000 at Mobile, lack arms, uniforms or other equipment. Only those troops equipped by their States are ready for actual service. The troops gathering at San Francisco for service in the Philippines are nearly all equipped.

Youth to Hang For Murder.

OMAHA EXPOSITION OPENED.

Great Civic Parade With 100 Bands of Music.

Omaha (Special).—Amid the music of a hundred bands the cheers of a hundred thousand people, the blasts of many whistles and the waving of innumerable flags, the Trans-Mississippi and International Exposition was dedicated.

The great civic parade started on its march from the centre of the city to the grounds. The Marine Band from Washington led the splendid pageant and a hundred musical organizations from the various States of the Middle West contributed to the occasion. The parade was three miles long, consisting of the officers and guests of the Exposition in carriages, the semi-military organizations and all the secret societies of this and adjacent States.

One hundred thousand people had arrived from the surrounding cities and States. These mingled with the citizens of Omaha and formed one phalanx along the route of the parade for ten miles.

President McKinley addressed the assembled multitude by long distance telephone, touched the magic button and the Exposition was dedicated.

The Rev. Dr. Nicholas, of St. Louis, opened the exercises with prayer. President G. W. Wattles, John L. Webster, of Omaha, and John N. Baldwin, of Council Bluffs, delivered addresses.

In the afternoon the Marine Band gave a concert at the grounds, and at night a pyrotechnic display on the most elaborate scale enlivened the occasion.

PRINCE LUIGI'S EXPEDITION LOST.

His Schooner Sinks and Thirty-Six of the Party Drowned.

Seattle, Wash. (Special).—Prince Luigi's expedition to Kotzebue Sound, Alaska, has resulted in disaster. His schooner, the Jane Gray, is at the bottom of the sea, ninety miles off Cape Flattery, and thirty-six members of the party, including Sig. Eduardo Gala and Sig. Secundo, of Italy, the friends of Sella, the world renowned photographer, are lost.

Twenty-seven survivors have reached shore and bring word of the disaster to this city. The vessel foundered at two p. m. May 22 and went down in ten minutes.

Most of the victims were seasick in their bunks between decks and were drowned like rats.

The expedition was under command of Major E. S. Ingraham, of Seattle, who accompanied Prince Luigi to Mount St. Elias last summer, and who two months ago was commissioned by the Prince to organize a party to explore the gold bearing streams of Alaska emptying into the Arctic. Ingraham is among the saved.

MEDALS FOR DEWEY'S MEN.

A Board Appointed to Select Designs For Manila Heroes.

Secretary Long has appointed Assistant Secretary Allen president of a board which is to be charged with the selection of designs for the medals which are to be awarded to Admiral Dewey and the members of his ships' crews in recognition of their achievements at Manila. It is the purpose to secure designs for the medals of more than usual excellence, both in originality of theme and beauty, as is believed to be warranted by the splendor of the victory. It is expected that the widest opportunity will be opened to American genius to submit designs.

A Big Engineering Feat.

A dispatch from Bismarck, N. D., says that the east pier of the big iron bridge of the Northern Pacific, sixty feet in length and weighing over 9,000,000 pounds, was moved from its foundation to a new position, a distance of nearly four feet. This is the first engineering feat of the kind ever attempted. The work of preparation for moving the pier has been going on for nearly a year, but with everything ready it took but a minute to slide it into its new position. The engineers availed themselves of an artificial earthslide, which carried the huge granite pile along the rollers provided to its new position.

Spain's Finances in Bad Shape.

The condition of Spain's finances is so desperate she may not be able to carry on the war much longer. The Government has been unable to check the disastrous run on the Bank of Spain, which now has only $20,000,000 in silver with which to meet its note circulation of $260,000,000.

SANTIAGO FORTS SILENCED

All Day Monday Sampson's Ships Shelled the Fortifications.

1,600 PROJECTILES FIRED BY AMERICANS

Inflicting Immense Damage on the Land Batteries—Cubans Maintained Attack by Land on the Doomed City. Spanish Loss is Very Heavy.

Cape Haytien, Hayti, June 7.—The bombardment of the forts of Santiago de Cuba, it appears from information obtained here, lasted from 8 a. m. until 11 o'clock yesterday morning, inflicting immense damage on the fortifications, which are riddled and shattered by the American shells.

It appears from the best information obtainable at this place, the cable station connecting with Santiago de Cuba, that immense damage was inflicted on the enemy. The Spaniards admit that the bombardment from the American fleet was most destructive. About 1,600 projectiles are said to have been fired by the American warships, and it seems that the responsive fire from the Spanish forts and ships was scarcely felt as all by the Americans. The fortifications near the entrance of the harbor are described as being riddled with solid shot and scattered by the explosion of the immense shells fired by the American battleships. The Spanish batteries are understood to have been virtually silenced and El Moro and the fortifications at Punta Gorda are reported to have been demolished by the three hours of uninterrupted hammering of the American fleet.

It is also understood here that the Cuban troops maintained throughout the greater part of yesterday an attack by land on Santiago and the Spanish reports say the garrison lost heavily in killed and wounded.

The military commander of Santiago de Cuba acknowledges the following casualties among the land forces: Colonel Ordonez, Captain Sanchez, Lieutenant Yrizar, of the artillery, and Pres and Garcia, Spanish officers, whose rank is not mentioned. These officers were killed. The Spaniards also admit the loss of twenty-one infantry soldiers severely wounded, and say one soldier was killed, but it is believed the losses of the Spaniards were much more heavy. In the naval force the Spanish say the officer who was second in command of the partly dismantled cruiser Reina Mercedes and five sailors and an ensign were killed. The Spanish sailors wounded, it is asserted, number sixteen men.

The American attack is next said to have been especially directed against Aguadores, a small coast town to the east of the entrance of Santiago bay. The idea of the American admiral, it appears, was to land troops and siege guns there there after reducing the defenses of the place and thence make a close assault upon Santiago, which, in view of the present conditions of its fortifications, may be expected to yield very soon after the beginning of such an attack. Heavy cannonading was opened on Aguadores about midday yesterday.

The latest advices received here from Spanish sources do not indicate the duration of the fire or whether American troops and siege guns were actually landed at Aguadores, but, from the information obtained, it cannot be doubted that the net results of Monday's fighting was extremely disastrous to the Spanish defenses.

Cervera's Official Dispatch.

The following official dispatch has been received at Madrid from Cervera: "Vessels have bombarded the fortifications at Santiago and along the adjacent coast. Six were killed and seventeen wounded on board the Reina Mercedes, three officers were [killed] and an officer and seventeen [k]illed among the troops."

The Buffalo Arrives.

[It] was received at the navy department Tuesday that the Buffalo, formerly the Nictheroy had arrived in Hampton Roads from Brazil. She will be given a modern armament of quick-firing guns, and will be prepared for service. Her command will be Captain Hemphill.

Republicans Carry Everything in Oregon.

The latest returns from the Oregon elections show large republican gains in every county of the state over the vote of 1896. Partial returns from twenty-five out of the thirty-two counties of the state show that Geer, republican, for governor, will have about 10,000 plurality. Moody, republican, for congress in the Second district, will have a plurality approaching 5,000. Tongue, republican, is re-elected to congress from the First district by more than 2,000 plurality.

The legislature is overwhelmingly republican, being as follows: Senate, republicans 23; opposition 7. House, republicans 44; opposition 16.

Orders to Recruit to Maximum Strength.

Orders were received at Mobile from Washington Monday for all of the volunteer regiments to recruit to the full strength of 160 men to the company, as per the latest requirements. Colonel Higdon, of the First Alabama, has appointed Captain G. F. Hart and four enlisted men to open a recruiting office in Birmingham. Orders have been received for the headquarters of the Fourth army corps, now stationed at Mobile, to move to Tampa. When the boys will move could not be learned.

MOVEMENT HAS BEGUN.

The President Issues Orders for Troops at Tampa to Embark.

A Tuesday's special from Washington says:

The troops at Tampa are at last off. The word went from President McKinley yesterday that they must leave, and this afternoon he was advised that the movement had begun. Secretary Alger made the official announcement this afternoon that the transports were being loaded and would cut moorings and sail tonight.

From the reports from Santiago this afternoon and tonight it would seem that the troops will be too late for anything save garrison duty there. They will be pushed toward Porto Rico as rapidly as possible, and as the conquest at Santiago is complete, the guns of Sampson will open upon San Juan. The movement of the troops from Tampa is the effect of a direction of the president, and the officers there dared not hesitate any longer. The reports of Gen. Miles reached the president yesterday morning and immediately the answer was flashed back to set all men to work to distribute the ammunition as rapidly as possible and make the start today.

CAVITE HAS SURRENDERED.

Two Thousand Spaniards Taken Prisoners by Aguinaldo.

United States Consul Wildman at Hong Kong has received the following letter from Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader in the Philippines:

"Before opening an attack upon any town, I summoned the Spanish officer in command to surrender. In one case one of the officers so summoned replied by stating that the garrison was not quite ready to fight and he asked if I would defer the attack for three hours. I complied. The first engagement we had with the Spanish occurred on May 28, when we captured nineteen with their arms and ammunition. We hemmed them in. One hundred and ninety Casedores and seventy loyal natives participated. We lost four killed. The Spaniards lost sixteen killed, including one officer. The result of this engagement was that fighting became general throughout the province of Cavite. After four days' fighting over 2,000 Spaniards were taken prisoners, including many officers, and General Leopoldo Pana, governor of Cavite, who handed me his sword, revolver and golden belt and a formal letter of surrender."

PUSHING THE WORK.

On Fortifications at Havana—Spaniards Claim Victories Over Insurgents.

Havana.—Work on the fortifications about Havana is being pushed without an hour's intermission. Even the civil government of Havana and all the employes of the government are at work on the forts or batteries, and all persons out of work are finding similar employment.

The cultivation zones are turning out very successful and are proving a great relief to the poor.

It is announced from the palace that a Spanish column has defeated an insurgent force near Palisade, near the province of Pinar Del Rio. The insurgents are said to have left seventeen dead men on the field. The insurgents, it appears, were almost naked. The Spaniards admit they lost fifteen men killed.

The Monterey Off.

The monitor Monterey and collier Brutus departed from San Francisco for Manila Tuesday. Every steam whistle blew a farewell as the two vessels moved down the harbor toward the Golden Gate. The second expedition to the Philippines will hardly be able to leave before Saturday. High rates of charter and the scarcity of ships is preventing the war department from getting the third expedition under way.

Commander Sturdy is Dead.

The United States collier Pompeii, formerly the British steamer Harlach, arrived at Key West Monday from Norfolk, Va., with her commander, Lieutenant Commander E. W. Sturdy, dead on board, and Lieutenant Norton in charge of the ship. He was taken sick off Cape Henry, became unconscious, and died Monday. He was a native of Maine, 51 years of age and had been in the service thirty six years.

Capt. Gridley's Remains Cremated.

At the suggestion of Mrs. Gridley, widow of Captain Gridley, late commander of the cruiser Olympia, with Admiral Dewey's fleet, the Acting Secretary of the Navy cabled instructions to Paymaster Galt at Yokahoma to turn the remains of the deceased officer over to Mr. Copman, of that city, with the view to their cremation.

Cotton Mill Sold Under Mortgage Decree.

The property of the Eagle and Phœnix Manufacturing company, at Columbus, Ga., valued at $3,000,000, was sold Monday at public outcry by Commissioner J. W. Murphey. The plant brought $500,000, the only bid.

Blanco Believed To Be Isolated.

Information received at Washington indicates that the French cable between Santiago and Hayti had not been working since midnight Monday. If such is the case General Blanco is cut off from communication from his his home government by that source.

No Republican State Ticket.

The republican state convention of Alabama assembled in Montgomery Tuesday and determined that no state ticket be nominated.

THE County Commissioners have been in session since Monday and amongst other things have examined carefully all the books and accounts of the Tax Collector. Every receipt and stub was found correct and the insolvent list compared with the receipts, etc., was just as it should be. This is an excellent showing for Tax Collector Hubbard, and the redoubtable "Expert" examiner, who lived with us so long last year, would not be able to muddle this account, even though he tried to the utmost.

THE Populist State Campaign committee has decided to open the State campaign at Clanton on Monday, June 30. Congressman W. M. Howard, of the Seventh District, and several other speakers from different parts of the State will be here and some splendid speaking is to be expected. Every Populist in the county should attend this meeting and help to start the campaign with a flourish. All the county nominees have promised to be on hand.

THE Republicans, at their State convention at Montgomery on Tuesday, decided not to put out a State ticket, and advised all their following to use every endeavor to defeat the Democratic nominee, Joseph F. Johnston. Our Republican friends have acted wisely, and by their action have greatly increased the prospect of the Populist ticket being elected by an increased majoriuy. Naturally, the Republican vote will fall to the Populist nominees, and the combined Populist and Republican vote will require a heap of counting out if it is to be overcome.

ALABAMA is proud of her heroic son, Richmond P. Hobson, whose gallant deed of daring the whole world is now discussing in tones of deepest admiration. There are various forms of heroism, but for cool, unflinching courage, death staring them straight in the face from the moment of starting, the eight men led by gallant Dick Hobson are entitled to rank with the world's greatest heroes. We are proud that Hobson is a member of a well-known Populist family, both his father, Judge Hobson, and his brother, Gus, standing high in the councils of the party.

AT the meeting of the Populist County Executive Committee yesterday at Clanton, at which all the Party nominees were present, a plan of the campaign was mapped out and other business transacted. The Committee issued an address (which will be found on page 1) to the people of the county and a list of appointments for public speaking all over the county was made. We will publish the appointments next week. Every member of the committee is confident of victor, in August the only difference being as to how much the majorities can be increased over the last election. Much satisfaction was expressed at the quiet but persistent manner in which all true Populists are working for the success of the cause.

TROOPS are now being landed in Cuba, and it can only be a question of a very short time before a battle takes place.

THE BEAUTIES OF NATURE.

"The Banner" Gold Medal Awarded to J. Wylie Logan.

AT the closing exercises of the University School the followiug essay by J. Wylie Logan was awarded the Gold Medal offered by THE BANNER for the best English composition. The committee, comprising J. C. Dennis, A. C. Smith and J. M. Calloway, was unanimously of the opinion this was the best essay presented.

As we pass off our limited career we find that nature is not very lavish in her luxuries for us. We find that our everyday duties, whatever may be our avocation, must be executed regardless of pleasure or happiness.

Nature has been very profuse in her material for us to work with and at the same time she has put over us the mighty boss, Necessity, assisted by Ambition, to force us to convert this rough material into myriads of objects of utility. Although she has laid out this broad field for us to work in and has given this obstinate ruler almost absolute dominion over us; yet she has enhanced it with so many of her own beauties that we scarcely know that the performance of these duties is actually labor.

To the tasteful eye and to the ear that loves music, the hand of nature has made almost all things beautiful.

She has covered her plains with elegant grass and has made a breeze to waft it to and fro like a mild sea wave. She has covered her rugged mounds and unmodeled cliffs with beautiful hanging moss and has augmented its beauty by pouring forth from its small veins a stream of water as clear as crystal and as pure as purity can be.

It is almost sublime to glide along a mild stream in a small boat or skiff and to look beneath and see the white pebbly bottom revealed by the transparency of the water and to see yourselt surrounded with many varieties of evergreen and the yellow jessamines that hang by thin little tendrils to the small growth along the banks and adorned with her golden flowers that fill the surrounding air with sweet fragrancc.

The skill of man has made many things that are truly beautiful.

By his art he has made things that would almost arouse a sense of the beautiful in the tasteless. But there never has been nor never will be a structure by the hand of man that will rival such beauties of nature as the perennially snowcapped peaks of the Rocky Mountains, the floral beauties of Florida or its discovery; or the wondrous beauties of the Alps.

Although it may appear to us that our home flowers are more by the skill of man than by nature; but they are nature's gifts and nature serves to produce them when she replenishes them with constant rain that nourish their tender buds and develop them into their bloom and growth nature has furnished us beauty in animate as well as inanimate objects.

O how beautiful it is to hear the melodious songs of the forest birds singing out on the still air in early morning, and how attractive to see the peacock stalk proudly down the farm path with his gay plumage streaming lengthily out behind contrasted by the little canary housed up in his pleasant little cage.

And of all nature's beauties the most magnanimous beauty is the beauty of expression that combination of beauties that enables us to read almost the very thought of anyone. It is that beauty alone of mankind that tells us whether the mind is in a pleasant or an unpleasant state.

The artistic touch of the hand has painted many beautiful pieces but they were only beautiful because they imitated nature.

Backache vanishes, headache disappears, strength takes the place of weakness, and the glow of health readily comes to the pallid cheek when this wonderful remedy is taken. For sickly children or overworked men it has no equal. No home should be without this famous remedy. Brown's Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

Political Pointers.

Peoples Party Press Bureau
St. Louis, Mo., June 8, 1898.

Hon. O. D. Jones, late Populist candidate for governor in Missouri and one of the curators of the state university, created quite a ripple of excitement at the commencement of that institution recently by demanding that a British flag, which was a conspicuous feature of the stage decoration, should be removed. Many people condemn Judge Jones for objecting to this demonstration at a time when it is the style to protest the greatest good fellowship with England. As a conscientious Populist he is acquitted of all blame. The flag was removed silently and promptly.

The Kansas miners have scored another triumph in the higher court, confirming the decision of the lower, in declaring the script and screen laws as interpreted and acted upon by the mine owners to be unconstitutional. Much credit is due those state officials who have so vigorously prosecuted these cases.

The war with Spain is teaching the people many lessons, showing the advantages of "paternalism" and unless they are willfully blind they may in the future refuse to be scared by that hoary bugaboo, Uncle Sam has found it necessary to limit and control the transmission of war news, such news being transmitted entirely by telegraph. This step will naturally lead to government ownership of such lines. The owners of ships suitable and available for transporting the United States troops to the various scenes of action, believing that they could force the government to pay, set a most exorbitant price on the use of their vessels. They were promptly notified that Uncle Sam did not intend to accede to their unreasonable demands and in case they refused to come to terms their ships would be taken possession of and a reasonable fee paid for their use. The French cable line which had delivered a message at the war department after what seemed to all concerned a most unreasonable delay, was notified that if an acceptable explanation was not forthcoming within twenty four hours the franchise granted to said cable company would be revoked and they would be debarred in future from transacting business in this country. This is a very startling step in view of the many supreme court decisions as to the sanctity of franchises. If this war is going to set aside any of the decisions of our highes courts it will indeed be revolutionary.

The disgraceful delay in furnishing supplies for the soldiers is openly ascribed to the fact that all government contracts are being giving out to those men whose names stood opposite handsome sums on the financial sheet of Mark Hanna during the last campaign

Great concern is being felt among the silver men because a poll of the recently enlisted troops from the west and south develops the fact that more than seventy per cent of the men recently sent to the field are supporters of the white metal. Iowa with her seventy thousand Republican majority has been one of the slowest to supply her quota of men.

Republican Illinois, has so arranged her list of officers that the additional expense to the United States government, unless the number of well paid places is greatly reduced, will exceed $235,000 more than is necessary, or customary in military affairs. Governor Tanner has not stinted himself in appointing favorites to official positions with fat salaries attached.

Senator Stewart, of Nevada, on May 25, made a speech favoring the coinage of silver to supply money for war expenses that fairly bristled with unanswerable argument and convincing facts

"Dick" Bland sees in the war cloud, a silver lining for the future. He believes that the people will be educated on the subject of finance by watching the manner of raising money for the war as no amount of campaigning of books could do.

The proposed tax on corporations was defeated in the house last week by a large majority. "Unconstitutional."

Senator Wolcott, of International Bimetallism fame, recently had a violent attack of the rabies, on the floor of the Senate Chamber, over what he termed "the senate sick craze." He expressed the most poignant grief that men who should "not the Populists" should openly ally themselves with so dangerous a doctrine as unredeemable money.

Senator Allen has excited the wonder and admiration of all the country by requesting Gov. Holcomb not to appoint his son to an officer's position in the militia. He expressed a belief that merit alone should win in such cases rather than heredity. A rather severe slap for some of the "Sons of Fathers" recently promoted to exalted military positions when they are grossly ignorant of the rudiments of military tactics.

It is now definitely known that W. J. Bryan was among the first who offered their services to President McKinley, when the present war begun. No response has yet been received by Mr. Bryan and his efforts to identify himself with the militia from his own state have been somewhat hampered. It is, however about definitely settled that he will go as a colonel with a Nebraska com that will be sent to Manila. If not he will probably accept the colonelcy of a Missouri regiment offered him by Gov. Stephens. A. R.

Did You Take

through the winter? If so, we are sure it quieted your cough, healed the rawness in your throat, increased your weight, gave you more color, and made you feel better in every way. But perhaps your cough has come back again, or you are getting a little thin and pale.

Then, why not continue the same helpful remedy right through the summer? It will do you as much good as when the weather is cold.

Its persistent use will certainly give you a better appetite and a stronger digestion.

It will cure your weak throat and heal your inflamed lungs. It will cure every case of consumption, when a cure is possible.

Don't be persuaded to take something they say is just as good.

The nervous system controls the action of the vital organs of the body. Unless they are in a perfect state of health they lose the functions nature intended them for. The nervous system cannot be in proper working order unless properly fed by rich, red and life-giving blood. The blood's active principle is the red corpuscles that contain iron. The white corpuscles are the sewers of the body to carry off impurities. Too few red corpuscles in proportion to white ones means an impoverished condition of the blood that shows itself in the pale face and colorless lips. Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic is a preparation containing iron in such form that it immediately strikes the circulatory system and furnishes what nature has not provided. Dr. Harter's Iron Tonic is put up in a scientific manner. It has had 42 years actual test on the market.

TERRIBLE DYNAMITE CRUISERS AND BATTERIES.

WE OWN TWO SHIPS UNLIKE THOSE OF ANY OTHER NAVY.

With the incorporation of the Brazilian cruiser Nictheroy into the United States Navy under the name of the Buffalo that branch of the service will have two ships that are unlike those of any other navy in the world—destroyers on a huge plan. These two ships—the Vesuvius and the Buffalo—are throwers of dynamite. The explosives which they throw do not depend, as do those thrown from the torpedo tubes of ordinary warships or the missile sent from a torpedo boat, on any mechanical contrivance inside of the missile. They travel through the air, and their propulsive force comes from compressed air, which is stored in a tube that is more like a gun than a tube. The shots have ranges far superior to those of the torpedo and accuracy which is almost perfect.

The one question is whether large ships like these can get near enough to an enemy to reach him with their shot. They are not like torpedo boats or torpedo boat destroyers. They are large and noticeable objects, and while the Vesuvius is armored, the Buffalo has little defensive power. But if they do get near enough to an enemy to use their dynamite guns properly the ship against which they operate is doomed. No armor, no strength of construction, no bulkheads can save the warship that is struck by the tremendous charge of nitro-glycerine or explosive gelatine with which the aerial torpedo is loaded.

The Nictheroy originally was a merchant vessel owned by the Morgan line, and her name when she was in a peaceful occupation, was El Cid. She was bought by the Government of Brazil in the time of the last revolution there, and was to be used against the insurgents, who had seized the navy and were bombarding the forts in the harbor of Rio de Janeiro. She was refitted pretty thoroughly as a cruiser, and her coal bunkers were so arranged that they protect the machinery and the parts necessary to operate the gun. The latter is mounted in the bow, and projects through an opening in the spar deck, giving it a clear range forward and permitting a free motion on each side, so that it can be trained either to port or starboard. The air reservoirs of the gun are in the lower hold, on the starboard side, directly under the gun, and a central air-pipe leads up through the foundations on which the carriage of the gun rests. Shields protect the weapon and the men who serve it.

On the way to Brazil the crew practiced with it, using "dummy" projectiles, and its accuracy was found remarkable. The gun was so new, however, that the men were almost as much afraid of it as the enemy was expected to be, and there was considerable relief on board when it was found on arrival in Brazil that there would be no need for firing it with real dynamite, as the revolution was over. Since then the successful installation of two batteries of these guns in United States forts has made artillerists more confident, and much reliance is placed in the work of both the Vesuvius and the Buffalo.

One weakness of the dynamite gun system is the fact that the projectiles are discharged with compressed air. This makes necessary a special plant which, of course, means complications of the kind that every naval officer is anxious to avoid. It is not so bad on land, where the necessary steam plant can be protected with earthworks, but on a ship the matter is different. Against this objection the gun offers these advantages over the submarine torpedo: It has greater range, is almost absolutely accurate, and the projectiles cannot be stopped in its course by torpedo nets or exploded by rapid fire guns, as it is too swift in its flight.

The aerial torpedo which is thrown from the dynamite guns on these two ships is shaped like the head of a rocket and is about ten feet long.

FIFTEEN-INCH FULL CALIBRE DYNAMITE PROJECTILE.

Spiral vanes guide its flight and the explosive charge, consisting of from 200 to 500 pounds of nitro-glycerine, is in the head and middle of the projectile. When loaded the entire affair weighs 1000 pounds. It can be set to explode either on impact or by a time fuse. A range of 2000 yards with entire accuracy is attainable.

As said before, the question is whether a ship carrying these guns could get near enough to attack an enemy. To approach an alert ship of war close enough to use the dynamite gun the Vesuvius or the Buffalo must steam for several miles under fire, for the ordinary powder guns of any warships will throw shot at least three or four miles, and the big guns will carry seven miles with fair accuracy. The dynamite throwers must rush at the enemy under a storm of shot, therefore, and this, at the rate of speed of either these ships, would mean that they would be exposed to it for fifteen minutes at the least before they could reply. But if they survive this fire and drop one projectile within fifty yards of the greatest battleship afloat, the result will be the enemy's annihilation. No craft can withstand the shock of an explosion of the amount of gelatine or nitro-glycerine which their projectiles can carry.

It is somewhat misleading to speak of dynamite guns when referring to the dynamite battery on Sandy Hook. What they are really is torpedo tubes that discharge aerial torpedoes instead of the submarine variety. The tubes are mounted like cannon, and to an extent look like them; but, exactly speaking, they are torpedo tubes, and nothing else. Like the submarine torpedo, they are of use only at close range, or what is considered close range in these days of high power steel cannon which throw shot ten miles. The dynamite battery has an extreme range of only 4300 yards, a little over two miles.

The accuracy of fire of the dynamite battery is great. This is due to the absolute evenness of the propelling force. Compressed air projects the torpedo. The best of powder varies in pressure, while compressed air is exact. The full calibre projectile (called full calibre in distinction from the smaller projectiles, which are made to fit the tube by means of fingers) weighs 1000 pounds, 500 pounds of it being explosive gelatine, either nitro-glycerine or guncotton, and it is fired with an air pressure of 1000 pounds to the square inch. This pressure is exerted so evenly and gradually that the explosive is not shocked into premature detonation, and it is so steady that the unwieldy torpedo or projectile hits with remarkable accuracy. The enormous charge would wreck the hull of any battleship afloat, even if it did not strike the ship directly, but exploded anywhere within fifty feet of it under water.

There are two dynamite batteries at forts in this country. One is in Fort Scott in San Francisco Harbor and the other is in Fort Hancock, on Sandy Hook. The Fort Scott battery consists of three fifteen-inch and the Fort Hancock battery has two fifteen-inch and one eight-inch tube or gun. The torpedo boat Vesuvius has fifteen-inch guns.

FIGHTING NEAR SANTIAGO.

Spanish Troops From the City Going Out to Meet Americans.

SAMPSON'S GUNS RAZING FORTIFICATIONS.

United States Troops and Garcia's Forces Reported to Be Marching on to Santiago and a Great Battle Expected Momentarily.

A special from Cape Haytien Monday says:

There is great fighting at the seashore, near Santiago de Cuba. That city reports that troops have been going out all day toward Sirgidero de Aguadores (the little bay of water carriers). The landing place at Aguadores is a few miles east of Morro castle, and, in a sense, commands the land approaches to the fortifications on the east side of Santiago bay. The firing began early this morning and grew in violence as the day progressed. The detonations indicated that the big guns of the America fleet were hammering at the fortifications at Aguadores, and the movement of the Spanish troops to the front was taken to mean that a landing was being attempted.

The batteries at Aguadores were recently established and the guns are small. All the artillery that can be spared from the defenses of the city itself is being sent there, and at least 3,000 men have gone to the front. Among them are marines from Admiral Cervera's ships, who volunteered for the service, specially requesting the admiral to detail them for the dangerous duty.

Tonight Santiago reports that the big guns have ceased firing. Many stragglers are coming into the city, bearing conflicting tales. Some say the Americans are marching on the city, while others assert that the Spaniards are holding them at bay. Panic prevails. The shops are all closed and people huddle in the houses. There has been some firing on the outskirts, but as yet nothing indicates a general attack by the insurgents.

General Lenares went to the sea front today to personally direct operations. Troops have been coming in from all the outlying forts and stations all day. Some of them report brushes with General Garcia's troops and the hospitals are filled up with the wounded. It is feared the insurgents will destroy telegraphic connection between Santiago and Guantanamo at any time, and thus shut off the scene of conflict from the cable connections with Cape Haytien by way of Mole St. Nicholas.

LATER.—SANTIAGO, VIA CAPE HAYTIEN.—An alarm has been sounded indicating an attack on the city by insurgents or Americans, coming from the southeast.

Col. Sargent at Columbus.

Col. H. H. Sargent, of the Fifth Infantry, United States Volunteers, is now in Columbus, Miss., where he was ordered by the war department, and has commenced to mobilize his regiment. Col. Sargent was appointed by the president on the recommendation of the war department to command the immune regiment of volunteers which is to be raised under a special act of congress, providing for ten regiments of immunes. One regiment is to be raised from Alabama and Mississippi, enosisting of six companies from each state.

Must Increase Quota.

Col. E. L. Higdon, commanding the First Alabama Volunteers, has received an order from Washington to have the First Alabama recruited to 106 men in each company. The regiment will, therefore, be ready to accept any number of recruits and transportation will be furnished them.

Ready to Jump the Question.

The senators who are most strenuously opposed to the annexation of Hawaii have been canvassing the senate and claim that they have a sufficient number of senators pledged to adjourn in preference to taking up the annexation resolution.

Dewey Will Protect Foreigners.

Advices from Manila say Admiral Dewey has gathered the steamers blocked in the river to lay off Cavite in readiness to receive foreigners. The Spaniards are losing arms, ammunition and field pieces almost daily, so persistent are the rebels' attacks. The natives are flocking to Aguinaldo's standard. He is, on the whole, conducting the campaign on humane principles.

Judging from the general tenor of the news from Manila, there is reason to believe the city will fall into Dewey's hands before the arrival of the American troops.

FIERCE FIGHTING AT MANILA.

Spanish Outposts Driven In With Loss of One Thousand Men.

MANILA, VIA HONG KONG.—The Spanish outpost have been driven in all along the line simultaneously and with great slaughter. It is reported that over a thousand have been killed. There has been fierce hand-to-hand fighting for seventy hours, despite the typhoon which has been raging. The violent winds and torrents of rain render the rifles of the Spanish troops unavailing. The natives easily win at every step with their slashing knives. The insurgents hold Malabon, Torlac and Baccor. They are now attacking Santa Mesa and Molate, the suburbs of the city which is completely encircled for a distance of seven miles.

A native regiment under Colonel Aguinaldo, cousin of the insurgent leader, has joined the insurgent leaders.

The governor has issued a despairing proclamation, begging the insurgents to come to terms, and meanwhile he is arranging to remove all the Spanish population inside the old walled city. He is filling the moats, testing the drawbridges and placing artillery along the walls. All the other troops are camping in the suburbs.

Chief Aguinaldo, in the course of an interview, has said that the insurgents are eager to rush upon Manila forthwith, but that Admiral Dewey refuses to allow hordes of passionate, semi-savages to storm a civilized metropolis. Admiral Dewey intends to await the arrival of the American troops. In the meantime the insurgents have been forbidden to cross the Melot river, seven miles south of Manila, otherwise the Petrel will be stationed there to bombard them.

Many natives will try to secure the large reward the government has offered for the capture of the insurgent chief, Aguinaldo, dead or alive. Already several of the insurgent officers have been assassinated.

It is officially declared that four armored cruisers, with colliers, torpedo boats and transports, carrying ten thousand troops have left Spain for eastern waters. The Spaniards are utterly unimpressed by the naval defeat here. They explain that their squadron was vastly outclassed and are confident of a victory on shore. They are determined to fight to the end as the ships did.

The admiral reports that the insurgents have been actively engaged within the province of Cavite during the past week. They have won several victories, taken prisoners about 1,800 men, and fifty officers of the Spanish troops, not natives. The arsenal of Cavite has been prepared for occupation for the United States troops upon their arrival on transports.

Hay Protests to England.

LONDON.—The United States ambassador, Col. John Hay, called at the foreign office Monday and presented evidence of Spanish officials making Canada the base of operations and protested against the continuance of this practice. The protest is based upon the fact that it would be a breach of neutrality for Great Britain to have her territory used for such hostile purposes.

Earthquake in Kentucky.

A severe earthquake occurred in Northern Kentucky Monday. At Maysville the vibrations lasted thirty seconds, and were very strong. At Millersburg the people were panic-stricken. At Cynthia the shock was accompanied by a loud report, and at Owensville meteors have been falling during the day time.

Chandler for Governor of Georgia.

The democrats of Georgia voted Monday in primary for governor and state officials, for senators and members of legislature and for congressmen. The result of the contest is as follows: For Governor, Allen D. Chandler; Secretary of State, Philip Cook; Comptroller-General, William A. Wright; Commissioner of Agriculture, O. B. Stephens; Attorney General, J. M. Terrell; State School Commissioner, G. R. Glenn; Prison Commissioner, J. S. Turner; State Treasurer, Wm. J. Speer.

Monadnock for Manila.

The government gave orders Monday that the monitor Monadnock, now at Mare Island, Cal., should be ready to sail for Manila within ten days.

Spanish Agents Arrested.

MONTREAL, CANADA.—Lieut. Carranza and Senor DuBosc were arrested Monday on capias in which it is alleged they were about to leave the country. The capias was taken out in accordance with a suit of $25,000 damages for defamation of character entered by Detective Kellert. They were released on $1,000 bond.

A Big Sham Battle.

A big sham battle was the event of Monday at Chickamauga. The battle was between the regiments composing the First Division of the Third Corps and about 1,000 men participated.

Hobson to Be Made a Commander.

The navy department began Monday the consideration of Naval Constructor Hobson's exchange. It is more than probable that this gallant Alabamian will be raised to the rank of lieutenant-commander, which would necessitate the transfer from the construction department of the navy to the line.

SINKING OF THE MERRIMAC

Detailed Account of the Deed of Heroism.

BRAVE MEN WHO FOLLOWED HOBSON

Graphic Description of an Event That Will Live in the Memory of Generations—List of Men Who Were on the Collier Merrimac.

PORT ANTONIO, JAMAICA, Special.—A single deed of magnificent American daring has lost the once kingdom of Spain the power to do evil. Admiral Cervera, after having lain for seven days in the harbor of Santiago with the Merrimac under the fire of Morro's batteries and another fort on the hill beneath a spot on the mainland and the wrecked hull of the sunken collier effectually closes the entrance to the harbor within which the Spanish squadron is hopelessly locked.

This splendid piece of work which the government at Washington has kept a secret until further fruit of the Spanish fleet was planned by Lieut. Richmond P. Hobson, who commanded the expedition. With him went Daniel Montague, George Charette, J. E. Murphy, Oscar Deignan, John P. Philips and John Kelly, all non commissioned officers or enlisted men. A steam launch from the flagship New York, commanded by Cadet J. W. Powell, followed the Merrimac to the mouth of the harbor and despite the fire from the forts cruised in the vicinity for an hour and a half after the collier was sunk, but no sign of the brave Americans was seen, and Cadet Powell was finally compelled to join the flagship.

The plan to block the entrance to Santiago harbor had been under consideration for several days, as Rear Admiral Sampson had decided that it was impossible to take his fleet inside. All day Thursday the preparations proceeded and by nightfall the craft was in readiness. A row of torpedoes had been arranged outside the hull so that Lieut. Hobson could explode them from the bridge of the vessel and thus insure her rapid sinking. At night the various ships of the fleet passed the doomed Merrimac, cheering her lustily.

Hundreds of men and scores of officers volunteered for the duty and Commodore Merrimac, begged permission of Admiral Sampson to go, but Lieut. Hobson wanted only six men. By 1 o'clock all but the men who were going on the dangerous errand had been taken from the Merrimac and the collier took a position near the New York to await the appointed hour.

Soon after 3 o'clock the black hull of the Merrimac began to drift slowly toward the land, and in a half hour was lost to sight.

It was Lieut. Hobson's plan to steam past Morro, swinging crossways the channel, drop his anchors, open the valves, explode the torpedoes on the port side, leap overboard, preceded by his crew, and make their escape in a little life boat which was towed astern, if possible; and if not, to sw m ashore.

Scarcely had the ship disappeared when a flash from Morro's guns proclaimed that she had been discovered. Immediately the other batteries around opened fire. This morning only her top masts can be seen in the water near Morro. A heavy cannonade and musketry fire continued for about a half hour, and guns were fired at intervals until long after daylight.

None of the American ships dared to fire for fear of striking the Merrimac's crew.

Until 5:30 the search was continued and then under a shower of Spanish shells, which flew wide of their mark, Cadet Powell steamed away and a half hour later boarded the New York and reported to Admiral Sampson that he believed the entire crew of the Merrimac had been lost. Not one of them did he catch sight of. The Merrimac, he said, lay well across the channel, her masts showing that Lieutenant Hobson had done his work well, sinking the ship almost at the exact spot decided upon. The channel is not as wide as the Merrimac's length and it is impossible for the Spaniards to raise or destroy the wreck under the guns of the American fleet.

General Oates' Command.

WASHINGTON Special.—Gen Oates has secured in his command one Alabama regiment and may be given both. His command at present consists of one Alabama and two Texas regiments. There is quite a rivalry going on between him and Gen. W. W. Gordon for the remaining Alabama regiment. General Oates said if he is going to be cut down to three regiments to a brigade he would prefer to let the Georgian have one of Texas regiments.

General Gordon said: "I would like a regiment of Alabama boys in my brigade. Those fellows already know what discipline is, and have little to learn."

Overwhelming Military Force to Be Used.

There seems to be no doubt that it is the purpose of the government to push forward with the greatest possible expedition the military and naval movements against Santiago and Porto Rico, and for the purpose of making the result of both expeditions absolutely certain the large military forces will be dispatched to both points to co-operate with the navy and the insurgents. The purpose is to make them overwhelming in strength and numbers at every point and bring the war to a speedy termination.

AN ALABAMIAN THE HERO OF THE WAR

Naval Constructor Hobson Advanced Into the Very Jaws of Death.

MAGNIFICENT TEST OF AMERICAN BRAVERY.

Sampson Reports That the Collier Merrimac Now Obstructs the Passage at Santiago Harbor. Americans Held as Prisoners of War.

WASHINGTON (Special). The navy department has posted the following bulletin:

MOLE, HAYTI.—Succeeded in sinking Merrimac in the channel off Santiago at 4 a. m., June 3. This was carried out most gallantly under the command of Naval Constructor Hobson and seven men. By a flag of truce from the Spanish admiral, Cervera, sent in recognition of their bravery, I am informed all are prisoners of war, two slightly wounded. Request authority to approve exchange, if possible, between these and the prisoners at Atlanta. Six of the Spanish squadron in the harbor of Santiago unable to avoid being captured or destroyed.

(Signed) SAMPSON.

Four Thousand Men Volunteered.

Rear Admiral Sampson during Friday decided to close the narrow harbor entrance of Santiago de Cuba by sinking the collier Merrimac, loaded with coal, in the channel. He called for volunteers to go to almost certain death and 4,000 men offered themselves. Lieut. Hobson and six men were chosen and at 3 a. m. Friday the Merrimac, under her own steam, entered the channel under a terrible Spanish fire. The vessel was riddled with projectiles, but she anchored and swung round. Lieut. Hobson then set off an internal torpedo with an electric attachment, there was an explosion, the Merrimac sank, the channel was closed and apparently Admiral Cervera will be unable to escape.

How the Heroes Were Rescued.

KINGSTON, JAMAICA.—Hobson and the hero crew of the Merrimac were saved in the following manner:

Unable after the sinking of their vessel to make their way back through the storm of shot and shell, they rowed into the harbor to the Spanish flagship and were taken on board unharmed. The Spanish admiral, under a flag of truce, on Friday sent word to the American admiral that he offered to exchange the prisoners, adding that in the meanwhile Hobson and his party would be treated with the greatest kindness.

Won Cervera's Admiration.

MOLE ST. NICHOLAS, HAYTI.—All the members of the Merrimac expedition are safe. Only two of them are slightly injured, and their names are not known. Lieut. Hobson was not hurt. All of the Merrimac's men are held as prisoners of war. The news of their wonderful escape was sent to Rear Admiral Sampson by Admiral Cevera, the Spanish admiral being so struck with the courage of the Merrimac's crew that he thought Admiral Sampson should know that they had not lost their lives. Admiral Cervera's chief of staff, Capt. Oviedo, boarded the New York under a flag of truce bearing the announcement of the safety of the Merrimac's men, and returning with a supply of provisions and money for the prisoners.

A Bold and Dashing Officer.

Lieut. Richmond P. Hobson, who commanded the Merrimac on its perilous mission in Santiago harbor, is a native of Hale county, Alabama, having been born and reared at Greensboro. He is the son of Judge Augustus Hobson, who was probate judge of Hale county for twenty-five years, and is 28 years old.

Lieut. Hobson took high standing at the naval academy, finishing at the head of his class. He has been several times assigned to special work on account of his eminent fitness for the same. He is a bold, dashing officer and no one who knows him is surprised to hear of his remarkable achievement.

75,000 MEN AT CHICKAMAUGA.

Order Issued to Use Park for Mobilization of Troops Under the Second Call.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary Alger has directed the Chickamauga Park commissioner and officers now on duty there to prepare camping grounds for 75,000 troops for the summer. Store houses are to be erected and additional land leased. A large commissary and quartermaster supply depot is to be established. The troops sent to the park will be formed into army corps and thoroughly armed and equipped. This will make Chickamauga the principal military camp of the country and forces required for field service will be drawn from the troops mobilized there.

Censorship Grows Tighter.

The censorship at Tampa has been again tightened to a greater extreme than before. No comments will hereafter be allowed on the movements of the regular or volunteer troops either to or from this point, nor will anything bearing on any phase of the situation here be permitted. Correspondents are practically limited now to the veriest camp gossip. Nothing in the nature of information or denial of the reports of embarkation of troops at this point or any comment which might indicate a movement will be allowed.

INVESTMENT OF SANTIAGO.

Five Thousand United States Soldiers Have Landed and Joined Garcia.

A special to the New York Journal says: The investment of Santiago by the American troops has begun. The latest dispatches from the secrecy beset capital of Eastern Cuba told of the landing of 5,000 soldiers of the United States army at Punta Cabrea, six miles to the westward of Santiago harbor and the massing of General Linares' army to oppose them. The Americans have united with Gen. Calixto Garcia's 3,000 Cuban patriots. The nominal force of the Spaniards in the city of Santiago de Cuba is 25,000 men. Of these, only 9,000 are regulars, 5,000 are volunteers like our national guard, and the rest are Spaniards of the city, given arms and pressed into service.

Admiral Cervera's fleet brought over 18,000 Manser rifles to arm these raw levies. Other Spanish troops are being hurried from Guantanimo, Holguin and Manseanillo to reinforce Linares' army. More United States soldiers are coming daily. Their landing is perfectly protected by the guns of the American fleet.

Among Garcia's Cubans are the 400 men under Gen. LaCrete, recently sent over in the Florida. Karl Decker, Evangelina Cisnero's rescuer, and Seely, who won fame by the Little Egypt dinner in New York, are with LaCrete. The Santiago forts were built with reference to sea attack alone, so heights that command them from the land side are left entirely unguarded.

The guns of Morro and Socapa only point out to sea. If the Americans can only seize these hills and plant batteries there, the forts can be made untenable. With the fleet at the same time pounding away from the ocean, they will not last any time. Since the attack on Santiago became a known design, Gen. Linares has thrown up earthworks on these heights and built block-houses.

Linares sent troops to Cabrea to oppose the landing of the Americans, but the fleet shelled the wood and the Spaniards fell back to make their defense out of range of Sampson's guns. The heights west of Santiago are all ablaze every night with the signal fires of the insurgents, the Spaniards making no attempt to destroy them.

SECOND PHILIPPINE EXPEDITION

Ordered to Board the Ships at San Francisco Tuesday.

SAN FRANCISCO.—Maj.-Gen. Otis has issued an order directing the First Colorado and the Tenth Pennsylvania volunteers to embark on transports for the Philippines Tuesday.

The Colorado regiment is 1,008 strong, and there are 640 men from the Keystone State. The order of Gen. Otis read simply that the colonels of the regiments would take their commands on board ship on Tuesday with ammunition to each man and six months' rations.

It is not expected that the transports will sail before Thursday. It is stated that the Zalandia is ready, but the China and Colon will not be in condition to receive the men for several days, and then stores will have to be taken on board. These vessels will carry more troops than are contained in the regiments named, and there is a strong probability that the Twenty-third regiment of United States regulars will form a part of the expeditionary force.

SCHLEY SENDS HIS REPORT.

Says His Attack Upon Santiago Fortifications Was to Develop the Enemy's Position.

WASHINGTON.—The navy department has received an official report from Commodore Schley regarding his attack upon the fortifications at the entrance to Santiago harbor. The purpose of the demonstration, the commodore states in effect, was to develop the positions of the enemy's water batteries and other works and to obtain an estimate of the character of the unstability of the Spaniards in the matter of gunnery, etc. The movement was entirely successful and satisfactory. Not a single shot touched a vessel of our fleet. The commodore has no reasonable doubt that Cervera's squadron is hemmed in Santiago bay.

SPAIN IN DESPERATION.

Has Addressed Another Appeal to the Powers for Peace.

LONDON (Special.)—The Vienna correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "Spain has addressed another appeal to the powers to intervene in the war and Austria is prepared to accede, but only in conjunction with other powers."

WASHINGTON.—If the queen regent of Spain has instructed Senor Castillo to ask the powers to intervene for peace that has not yet taken any form in Washington.

Revolt in San Domingo.

CAPE HAYTIEN, HAYTI.—The mystery surrounding the movements of the Clyde steamer Fanita is now said to be fully explained. It appears, beyond a doubt, that the reports of an uprising in the republic of San Domingo against the power of President Heurreaux are correct. The initial blow was struck at Monto Cristo, on the borders of Hayti, the nearest Dominican port to Cape Haytien.

The preparations for the revolution are said to have been very elaborate, and there is a strong belief here that the revolutionists are sure of success.

MAKING DELICATE WIRES.

Some So Small that No Gauge Can Measure Them.

Gold wire is mentioned in connection with the [illegible] of the sacerdotal robes of Aaron, [illegible] true, yet the oldest pieces of wire of which the world has any knowledge, says Science Siftings, is a specimen made by the Ninevites some 800 years B. C. Solid gold drawn wire is now practically unknown in the trade. However, gold wire is made in the following manner: Silver rods are coated with gold in proportion of 2 per cent of gold to the weight of silver to be manipulated. When the gilding is performed the rods are about one and three fourths inches in diameter by two feet six inches long and weigh about 400 ounces each. The two metals are then drawn down together, first through steel dies and afterward through drilled rubies or diamonds. The process of drilling the gems is kept a secret. A better idea of the minuteness of some of these borings may, however, be learned from the fact that the holes cannot be discerned by the naked eye, and only by the aid of a magnifying glass can one be convinced that they really exist.

For the manufacture of silver and silver gilt wires, the silver is sometimes bored out and internal copper rods inserted, and they are then drawn together. Wires as fine as a human hair, for example, .003 of an inch in diameter, and even finer, can be gauged by instruments termed "micrometers." The scales for weighing the gold coin at the mint are so exquisitely fine they can detect the most minute particle added to either side of the balance. There are fine woven wire gauzes and cloth, some of which are made with as many as 40,000 meshes to the square inch.

The more delicate classes of wires find application in scientific instruments. So fine are these that it is difficult to get them measured; but the task has been accomplished, and platinum wire has been drawn to 1-7,000 of an inch, and to even greater fineness. Aluminum wire has been drawn as fine as 10,500 yards to the ounce, a size too fine to be practically measured by any gauge or instrument. While mentioning practical examples of fine-drawn wires, it may be stated that iron has been attenuated so that over two and a half miles in length only weighed one ounce. Again, twenty-four grains of gold have been drawn on a silver wire to a length of 120 miles.

Coal tar, when used for dyes, yields sixteen shades of blue, the same number of yellow tints, twelve of orange, nine of violet, and numerous other colors and shades.

A Remarkable Case.

The following case was printed originally in The Monitor, a newspaper published at Meaford, Ontario. Doubts were raised as to its truthfulness, consequently a close watch was kept on the case for two years and the original statement has now been completely verified.

Mr. Petch had been a hopeless paralytic for five years. His case has had wide attention. He was confined to his bed, was bloated almost beyond recognition and could not take solid food. Doctors called the disease spinal sclerosis, and all said he could not live. The Canadian Mutual Life Association, after a thorough examination, paid him his total disability claim of $1,650, regarding him as forever incurable.

For three years he lingered in this condition. After taking some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People there was a slight change, a tendency to sweat freely. Next came a little feeling in his limbs. This extended, followed by a pricking sensation, until at last the blood began to course freely and vigorously through his body. Soon he was restored to his old time health.

Paid His Claim.

A reporter for The Monitor recently called on Mr. Petch again and was told:

"You may say there is no doubt as to my cure being permanent. I am in better health than when I gave you the first interview and certainly attribute my cure to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

"To these pills I owe my release from the living death, and I shall always bless the day I was induced to take them."

Such is the history of one of the most remarkable cases in modern times. In the face of such testimony, can anyone say that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are not entitled to the careful consideration of every sufferer (man, woman or child)? Is not the case, in truth, a miracle of modern medicine?

These pills are sold by all druggists and are considered by them to be one of the most valuable remedial agents known to science.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

From Girlhood to Womanhood.

DON'T LET YOUR DAUGHTER have a wrong merging into womanhood. The greatest crisis in every girl's life is at this stage, when the menstrual functions are being established, and she should have every precaution obtainable for establishing this period properly, without which she can never become a perfect woman. Mothers teach your daughters to confide in you. Explain their condition to them and watch over them as you would the most delicate plant and as this most critical age draws near commence giving her

When there is any costiveness, move the bowels gently with moderate doses of ST. JOSEPH'S LIVER REGULATOR.

My daughter was suffering from a severe billious attack, together with great "bearing down" pains and back-ache during her monthly-periods. She had violent nervous spells which produced a peculiar quivering and jerking sensation. I bought a bottle of GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA (G. F. P.) and some ST. JOSEPH'S LIVER REGULATOR and commenced treating her. All pains and billiousness were removed and the jerking was stopped. It is the best I ever saw for young girls. MARY ELIZA BENES, Beulah, Ala.

WINE OF CARDUI

MONTHLY SUFFERING.

Thousands of women are troubled at monthly intervals with pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides hips and limbs. But they need not suffer.

These pains are symptoms of dangerous derangements that can be corrected. The menstrual function should operate painlessly.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

makes menstruation painless, and regular. It puts the delicate menstrual organs in condition to do their work properly. And that stops all this pain. Why will any woman suffer month after month when Wine of Cardui will relieve her? It costs $1.00 at the drug store. Why don't you get a bottle to-day?

For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. ROZENA LEWIS, of Oenaville, Texas, says: "I was troubled at monthly intervals with terrible pains in my head and back, but have been entirely relieved by Wine of Cardui."

Why She Smiles Sweetly.

Sparkling eyes, quick beating heart, and the rosy flush of pleasure in the cheeks, makes the strong man happy when he notices his lady love. That's the kind of a man whose very touch thrills because it is full of energy, vigorous nerve power and vitality. Tobacco makes strong men impotent, weak and skinny. No-To-Bac sold by druggists everywhere. Guaranteed to cure. Book, titled, "Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Life Away," free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co., New York or Chicago.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

is the greatest Labor Organization the world has ever seen.

It is the only organization which is unitedly striving to secure for wage-workers the best possible terms as to wages, hours and conditions, aims at reforming the causes of industrial injustice.

It secures to each trade and locality absolute control over its own trade or local affairs, yet is a perfect organization of trades by means of which unitedly, promptly, and therefore, effectively, when concentrated action becomes necessary to remedy injustice or to resist oppression.

It is pledged to work for the overthrow of the capitalistic system of production and of currency, yet maintains that reforms are only secured and permanent when they rest upon the convictions of a well educated people, it seeks to accomplish objects only by appeals to reason and to science—never by force.

It is a secret organization only so far as secrecy is necessary to protect its members from wrong and persecution, and can never be used to shield wrong-doing.

Its doors are open to all who labor, honestly and usefully, either by hand or brain, without question or discrimination on account of creed, race or nationality.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION

The Democratic convention of Chilton county met yesterday at the court house at Clinton at 12 noon, and while the Executive committee was examining the qualifications of the delegates, the convention adjourned until 1:30.

Promptly at half-past one the convention proceeded to temporarily organize by electing F. B. Baldwin chairman, R. N. Martin secretary, and Clay Jones assistant secretary. The Executive committee presented a roll of delegates and all went merry as a marriage bell until Beat 4 was reached when several members of the convention were surprised to find ten Robbins delegates were elected and four other names were added with one-half a vote each. This was strongly objected to by the Robins faction who undertook to show how and why they were entitled to the full delegation of twelve votes. Some rather strong accusations were made and for quite a while there was considerable wrangling, the chair repeatedly calling for order. Finally, after about two hour's hard work, the Executive committee's report was adopted and the delegates seated in accordance therewith. This was a victory for the Plowman men.

G. L. Speer, of Beat 6, then made a motion that the temporary organization be made the permanent organization and this was carried without a dissentient voice.

Mr. Baldwin thanked the convention for the honor and incidentally mentioned his regret at having ever been led astray by the Palmer & Buckner heretics. He stated that in future, if the Democratic party undertook to coin money from Irish potatoes he should support the party.

R. Ehrman made a motion that the chair appoint a committee of one from each beat on rules and order of business. The committee was appointed and adjourned to prepare its report.

W. M. Adams offered a resolution that no proxies be allowed to vote in the convention, but the resolution failed.

While the committee was out another Democratic candidate for congress from Dallas, Percy Clark, was called upon to address the meeting. Mr. Clark made a good democratic speech and favorably impressed the audience. He urged the convention to be more tolerant to each other and come to a harmonious settlement of their differences, and deeply regretted some things he had noticed in the convention.

The committee on order of business reported, the first in order being the election of the five delegates to the Fourth District congressional convention at Talladega Springs on August 9.

T. A. Curry offered a minority report. This was in substance the same as the committee's report with the addition of a recommendation that no nominations be made for county offices. The minority report was tabled by a vote of 38 to 26.

Tipton Mullins moved that the five following-named delegates and five alternates be elected to the district convention: G. L. Speer, J. M. Garner, R. Ehrman, F. B. Baldwin and B. F. Robinson; alternates T. G. Williams, W. H. Merritt, J. P. Givhan, M. A. Pinson, and W. P. White. These were Plowman men, and on vote were elected; the vote for the Plowman delegation being 37 3-11 against 27 8-11 for Robbins. The result was announced with much cheering.

A call for Capt. Plowman was made, and he was introduced by John Garner. The Captain briefly thanked the convention for this the second nomination by Chilton county Democrats and said that he stood squarely upon the Chicago platform.

R. Ehrman made a motion that if Capt. Plowman failed to secure

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

To the Voters of Chilton County:

Can you find a better man or one more qualified in Chilton county for Probate Judge than Bro. S. M. Adams?

Has any man in your county a cleaner record than he?

What man in your county, or the State, has done one half for the People's Party that Mr. Adams has? Has he not been in the front ranks and in the thickest of the fight all along the line in the interest of the people? Has he not stumped the whole State in the reform cause, and that at his own expense, turning sinners to repentance, and Democrats and Republicans from their ungodly ways? (except friend H. A. Wilson and his sort.)

Now, honor bright, you can make Mr. Adams Probate Judge of Chilton county, and you owe it to yourselves and the people of the State to so honor him, in part for services rendered. The hour and the man have met! Now do your duty and elect Mr. Adams, and all loyal "Pops" and good men of Alabama will join in applauding you for duty done. Very truly

Robbed The Grave.

A startling incident of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow. Eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides. No appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying "Electric Bitters" and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at J. S. Johnson's Drug Store.

Maplesville.

Society is on the qui vive since the return of Mr. Savage and his lovely daughters and the presence of Selmians as summer friends at the Goodwyn house.

Rain! Rain! Rain! and sweet is the sound thereof after such a drought.

Miss Moore did not return to her home in Mississippi last week as she anticipated, much to the delight of her many friends here.

Quarterly conference of the Methodist church was held here last Saturday and Sunday and resulted in much good in many ways. Come again, brethren.

The M. & O. will put on through vestibule trains on the 15th according to the latest reports.

Dr. Urquhart, presiding elder, preached here Sunday and showed up sin in its true form.

The election has passed and results are not yet reliably learned. Some concede the majority to Capt. Plowman, others to Mr Robbins. Both gentlemen are well thought of and no bitter feelings here.

Luck to the BANNER and may she long wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Mrs. Bearden and Mrs. Glass have been visiting relatives.

Farmer's spirits have revived with our last refreshing rain. Much attention has been paid side crops, such as small grains, potatoes and gardens; blackberries and plums are ripe and the red wolf is no longer heard howling.

Bad management keeps more people in poor circumstances than any other one cause. To be successful one must look ahead and plan ahead so that when a favorable opportunity presents itself he is ready to take advantage of it. A little forethought will also save much expense and valuable time. A prudent and careful man will keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house, the shiftless fellow will wait until necessity compels it and then ruin his best horse going for a doctor and have a big doctor pill to pay, besides; one pays out 25 cents, the other is out a hundred dollars and then wonders why his neighbor is getting richer while he is getting poorer. Austria is the only empire in the world which has never had colonies, or even transmarine possessions.

That patriotic circus man who tendered twenty-five elephants to the war department for service in Cuba evidently understands the advertising value of printers' ink.

Sometimes the proof-readers build better than they know. The one who passed the statement that "Spain is now looking for an alley" evidently understands his business.

A Frankfort (Ky.) woman can certainly be credited with having enjoyed considerable of the spice of life, provided variety counts. In 1894 she was sent to the insane asylum. In 1895 she was released. In 1896 she was divorced. In 1897 she married again and had a child. In 1898 she goes back to the asylum.

It is learned from the Cincinnati dailies that the street railway company in that town has issued a general order that "from and after this date and until further notice any employe of the Cincinnati Street Railway Company who goes upon duty within twenty-four hours after partaking of onions in any form will be summarily discharged."

That "good men with poor ships are better than poor men with good ships," has ever been a navy motto. Fortunately for the United States, foreign experts all declare she has good men with good ships. And it is this that gives reason for the confidence the Nation displays in its defenders. Men like Dewey, Sampson, Schley and Sigsbee would do wonders with a tugboat.

A Paris paper says that M. Antoine Varicle, of the French Geographical Society, is confident that he will reach the Klondike in his new balloon. It is to be steered by means of a sail and rope, as in the trips he made from Paris to Thenenil and from Paris to Hamburg. The balloon is cylinder-shaped, the sail being below. It is furnished with electric lights and a searchlight, and will carry a total weight of about three tons. The balloon will be inflated with hydrogen at Juneau, where the start will be made.

When American women once start any movement they generally make it a great success. An English teacher, who is spending a well-earned vacation in this country, says that the collections of needlecraft made by the New York Association of Sewing Schools is not only better than the famous collection in South Kensington, but is the best in the world. The compliment means much, when it is remembered that the association is still a young organization, having been started but a few years ago, although, on the other hand, its collections represent the work of at least 2000 different schools and institutions.

It is very proper that indecent books should be excluded from public libraries, and for that matter from private ones also; but touching the former the wrong means are used to accomplish the end desired. Instead of simply excluding the objectionable volume, without comment or discussion, a set of high sounding resolutions must be adopted by the Library Board and published to the world. Curiosity is an inherent attribute of human nature, consequently the public generally, who perhaps would never entertain a thought touching the book, are aroused to hunt it up, and by personal examination satisfy themselves as to the correctness of the judgment of the board. Mr. Edward Everett Hale sums up the whole matter in a nutshell when he says: "Nobody is so happy as the nasty publisher of a nasty book if the director of a public library is foolish enough to say it is nasty." Hereafter, suggests the St. Louis Star, let Library Boards simply exclude the book without comment, and the end will be accomplished without bestowing upon the publisher a class of advertising that money cannot buy.

AMERICAN FLAG OVER CUBA.

Six Hundred American Marines Are Now Holding Guantanamo Bay.

REFULSED SPANIARDS AND BURNED TOWN.

To Captain Clark and Battleship Oregon Belong the Honor of Accomplishing the First Successful Landing Since Declaration of War.

A Saturday's cable from off Guantanamo, Cuba, says: The invasion of Cuba by the American forces began today. Six hundred marines have pitched their tents about the smoking ruins of the outer fortifications, and the Stars and Stripes for the first time float from a Spanish flagstaff in Cuba.

To Captain Clark and the battleship Oregon belong the honor of accomplishing the first successful landing of the war. Forty marines from the battleship went ashore this morning and occupied the left entrance of the bay until the troopship Panther arrived with 600 marines. These, under the command of Lieut.-Col. R. W. Huntington, arrived at 3 o'clock, and within half an hour they had burned the buildings of the Spanish camp and had set fire to the miserable little village which crouched on the beach under the hilltop of Guantanamo. The whole operation of silencing the guns and landing the forces was as easy as placing a Sunday school picnic.

The Marblehead, backed by the Vixen and Dolphin, opened fire on the earthworks yesterday. The shores to the right of the entrance were lined with guns and rifle pits, but the Spaniards stampeded after firing a few shots.

The city of Guantanamo lies four miles up the bay, and a little Spanish gunboat came down to help the shore batteries. But she stayed just long enough to turn around. Numerous shots were fired by the Spaniards, but not one landed, and no Americans were injured. The main fort lies within the city limits and is still to be reduced, but it is not in a difficult position, and American officers say it can be taken in fifteen minutes when desired.

The marines will hold the position until the arrival of the expected troops, in the meantime scouting in the vicinity, with the Marblehead, Vixen and Dolphin lying by to protect him.

Rear Admiral Sampson now has a harbor and a base of supplies on the south side of the island, and troops can be landed at will.

The troopship Panther reached the fleet off Santiago early today.

On her way over the Yosemite fired a dozen shells into the port of Daiquire (Baiquiri) but received no response.

Guantanamo is forty miles east of Santiago, and is a splendid location for a base of supplies for the blockading fleet.

It is understood that the island of Cuba is entirely cut off from cable communication with the outside world. Report here has it that the cable-ship Adaia cut the cable at Santiago Monday, and that the same day the St. Louis cut the cable running from Guantanamo to the Mole St. Nicholas, Hayti. She was interrupted in the work by shells from shore, but the Marblehead sent several shells at the soldiers and scattered them.

Reported Landing is Confirmed.

CAPE HAYTIEN.—Information has been received here by way of Port au Prince that a large force of Americans landed Saturday on the shores of Guantanamo bay, near Lareaimanera, and it is understood the cable terminus at that point is in the possession of the Americans and that every effort will be made at once to reopen communication with New York via Cape Haytien. A force of cable repairers may be sent from Cape Haytien as soon as a steamer can be sent here to take them.

BLANCO HAS LOST CONFIDENCE.

Believed That the Captain General Will Surrender After a Nominal Resistance.

KEY WEST.—Trustworthy information smuggled out of Havana shows that the city has a garrison of 46,000 regulars and half as many volunteers. The interior of Havana province has been abandoned to the insurgents, who make daily attacks on the picket lines in the suburbs of the capital. It is common talk that Blanco will surrender after a merely nominal resistance. He has lost confidence in the volunteers, refusing to arm many independent companies for fear that they would join the insurgents. The reconcentrados and their families are starving in their hovels.

James Nixon was run over and killed by a Central Railway of Georgia train at Tromwell, Ala., Sunday. He was asleep on the track.

Captain Harrington, of the Puritan, and Lieutenant-Commander Everett, of the Mangrove, have succumbed to the strain and hardships of service in Cuban waters and have been removed to the naval hospital at Key West. Captain Frederick Rogers will command the Puritan.

The Terror Was Not Sunk.

The report that United States warships had sunk the Spanish torpedo boat destroyer Terror is now known to have no foundation.

HURRYING PORTO RICO TROOPS.

The President Extremely Anxious to Gain Possession of This Point.

WASHINGTON.—(Special.)—The Porto Rico expedition is to be expedited in every way possible. Orders to this effect have been sent to General Coppinger and Lee who are charged with the formation of this command. It was the intention at first to wait the action at Santiago. This plan has been abandoned and rush orders have been issued to all bureaus of the war department connected with the formation of the expedition.

The command to hurry comes direct from the president. He is extremely anxious to have possession of this important point and has instructed Secretaries Alger and Long to leave all other projects for the present and to work on this one. The quartermaster-general has been instructed to obtain every available vessel for transport purposes. The vessels used in the Santiago expedition will be withdrawn as soon as they land the troops and will be hurried back to Florida to be utilized for Porto Rico.

The information that the president may carry the war to Spain grows stronger each day. This will not be done unless Spain shows that she is not willing to surrender after the capture of Santiago and Porto Rico. The president has no desire to go beyond the limits fixed upon, but it is in his mind to force Spain to terms by attacking her own ports if she does not succumb. He will not favor a lingering war costing millions of dollars when the strife might be ended by attacking Spain at her own doors to teach her a lesson.

THE ARMY MOVEMENT.

Troops Are Now Under Way to Santiago de Cuba.

WASHINGTON.—All the troops destined for the Santiago-Porto Rican expedition are now on their way. The vessels which have been detained at Tampa, owing to the mismanagement of the war department in the handling of men and supplies, sailed Saturday, and General Shafter and his staff went along. The squadron can reach Key West in twelve hours. There most of the transports that have already sailed are rendezvoused, and the convoying fleet is also there awaiting the arrival of the transports from Tampa.

The start for the eastern end of Cuba commenced early Sunday morning. All the troops necessary to invest the town were debarked. Those not needed will accompany the warships to Porto Rico, which, after the reduction of the San Juan fortifications, will be occupied.

ARMY CAMPS MAY BE MOVED.

Soldiers at Coast Points Will Probably Be Sent to High Ground.

Surgeon-General Wyman, of the Marine Hospital service, says that every possible care is being taken to prevent the development and spread of yellow fever anywhere in the South, and that he believes the prompt discovery of the cases at McHenry, Miss., will enable the authorities to keep it confined to that point. Nothing will be left undone to guard against the fever. Congress will provide ample means for protection as a precautionary measure. The war department has under discussion the advisability of breaking the camps on the coast and moving them to higher grounds.

BATTLE IN PROGRESS

Between Spaniards and Rebels at Manila. Dewey Will Prevent Massacre.

A Saturday's special cable dispatch from Hong Kong says that a battle for the possession of Manila is in progress between the Spanish forces and those of Aguinaldo. Admiral Dewey has promised to prevent a massacre should the insurgents capture the city.

The Spanish governor has been notified that unless he withdraws the price put upon the head of the insurgent leader Aguinaldo, he will get no quarter. Otherwise he rules of civilized warfare will be strictly adhered to. As a result of this price being placed on his head, three attempts have been made to take Aguinaldo's life.

Japan Protests Duty on Tea.

Japan has entered a strong protest against the duty on tea provided for in the war revenue bill. The protest is based on the ground that a uniform duty of 10 cents a pound on all teas, cheap or dear, will have the effect of ruining Japan's tea trade with the United States. Japan, it says, would not object to a duty graded according to value.

An Havana dispatch to Madrid says eleven merchantmen, probably bearing American troops, have arrived before Santiago de Cuba. There is little doubt that Shafter's army is ready to land.

Hawaiian Debate Began.

The Hawaiian debate in the house began Saturday. Six speeches were made, covering generally the contentions of the support and opposition to the resolutions providing for annexation. The debate will continue Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and probably forty members will make speeches.

Two New Cases of Yellow Fever.

The Mississippi board of health has been advised that there are two new cases of yellow fever at McHenry, developed since the seven cases were reported. No deaths have yet been reported to the board.

Judicious advertising pays.

YELLOW FEVER BREAKS OUT

Seven Cases Officially Reported at McHenry, Miss.

THE TOWN DECLARED UNDER QUARANTINE.

Active Measures Taken by the State and Federal Authorities to Prevent the Spread of the Disease—All Mississippi Gulf Ports Quarantined.

Gen. J. F. Hunter, secretary of the Mississippi board of health, has made the following statement:

"It having been reported to me by Drs. Haralson and Folkes, sanitary inspectors of this board, that seven cases of yellow fever exist at McHenry, Miss., I hereby declare the town of McHenry under quarantine, in charge of Dr. Haralson, who will observe the quarantine and sanitary rules and regulations adopted by this board.

(Signed.) J. F. HUNTER,
"Secretary Mississippi State Board of Health."

McHenry is a small town in Harrison county, near a Gulf port, and located on the Gulf and Ship Island railway. The place was visited by the fever last year and there were many deaths. The state health officers say every effort will be made to confine the fever to McHenry, and no one will be allowed to leave that place.

WASHINGTON.—There is some apprehension here over the outbreak of seven cases of yellow fever at McHenry, Miss., and steps have been taken not only to check the spread of the fever from McHenry, but to prevent any possibility of an epidemic in the south.

Dr. R. G. Giddings, of the Marine Hospital Service, now stationed at Tampa, has been ordered to proceed directly to McHenry and take charge of Camp Fontainebleu, where the present cases will be confined.

Surgeon Murray telegraphed that he had gone to McHenry and confirmed the diagnosis made by the state authorities. The town is now guarded, and Marine Hospital Surgeon Carter is already there with Surgeon Murray and the federal and state authorities are co-operating.

Will Be No Epidemic.

Dr. Goode, acting state health officer for Alabama, has quarantined all Mississippi gulf ports and so have Louisiana and Florida authorities. Dr. Goode does not believe the fever developed from last year's left-over germs. "McHenry, Miss.," said he, "is within fourteen miles of Ship Island quarantine station, and is was from that point the fever is believed to have been spread last summer. The medical authorities have been watching for it, and the quarantine system is greatly improved. We believe that there will be no epidemic; that the cases, all of a mild type, will be speedily stamped out."

ENGLAND WOULD INTERVENE

If Both Countries Show a Disposition to Negotiate for Peace.

LONDON.—In the house of commons Friday A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury and government leader, replying to a question as to whether, "in view of the condition of the population in Cuba and the suffering and evils arising from the Spanish-American war, her majesty's powers have any intention of intervening to secure a cessation of hostilities by inducing one or both belligerents to negotiate treaties of peace," said:

"Her majesty's government will gladly take any favorable opportunity for promoting a cessation of hostilities and negotiations for peace, but any action upon our part for this purpose can only be undertaken if there is reasonable prospect that it will be well received by both parties and of its being likely to lead to an agreement between them. Unfortunately there is not sufficient ground for believing this condition exists."

Lieutenant Hobson Well Cared For.

British Consul Ramsden, at Santiago de Cuba, cables that he visited Lieutenant Hobson and his colleagues, that he found them well and well cared for by the authorities.

May Send Vessels to Coast of Spain.

Seven of the swiftest ships in the American navy are now at Hampton Roads or nearby. They are the Minneapolis, Cincinnati, Newark, Buffalo, Yale, Harvard and Dixie. Every ship is being coaled to its utmost capacity, which leads to the belief that a long trip is planned, possibly as far as the coast of Spain. The appearance of this squadron off the coast of Spain is expected to have a strong influence on Spain in the direction of peace.

It is announced that Senor DuBosc and Lieut. Carranza will sail for Madrid June 25.

Finest Depot in the South.

The city council of Nashville passed the railway terminal bill, and Mayor Dudley will sign it at once. The bill provides that the city shall build approaches to the depot. The structure is to be mostly of marble, and with freight depots, etc., will cost over a million and a half dollars. Work will begin at once. It will be the finest depot in the South.

The war revenue bill became a law Monday.

SPANISH FLEET IS ALL THERE.

Lieutenant Blue Made a Detour of Santiago Harbor and Found All of Cervera's Fleet Inside.

WASHINGTON (Special).—The navy department Tuesday posted the following:

"Mole St. Nicholas, Lieutenant Blue has just returned after a detour of seventy statute miles of observation of the harbor of Santiago de Cuba. He reports that the Spanish fleet is all there. The Spanish attack [illegible] us yesterday at the camp at Guasimas. A outpost of four marines was [illegible] and their bodies mutilated. Hall and Surgeon Gibbs was killed.

"SAMPSON."

The last lingering doubt [illegible] have existed as to the presence of Cervera's fleet in its entirety in Santiago harbor was removed when Admiral Sampson's dispatch, given above, reached the navy department. Up to that time information as to the number and character of the vessels in the harbor, shielded from observation in great part by the hills at the entrance, had been obtained through Cuban sources supplemented by such glimpses as could be had by naval officers from the outside entrance.

Now, however, according to Lieutenant Blue, the ships have been actually seen by an American officer, counted from such points of vantage as were afforded by the high hills surrounding the harbor. The officers here are full of praise of Lieutenant Blue's achievement.

ACUTE SITUATION AT SANTIAGO.

Sampson Preparing to Force the Harbor When the Army Arrives.

KINGSTON, JAMAICA.—The dynamite cruiser Vesuvius, which joined Admiral Sampson's fleet off Santiago Tuesday morning is to be followed by the Ericsson, the Foote and other torpedo boats, and arrival of the torpedo fleet will confirm the opinion that Admiral Sampson intends to force Santiago harbor on the coming of the troops. Every man in the fleet is anxiously awaiting the soldiers, for it is recognized that no decisive movement is possible until the troops effect a landing. Every body in Sampson's fleet is desperately tired of the present disheartening conditions. The tedious manoeuvers, the ceaseless watching and the exasperating inactivity are telling on officers and men. At no place are the troop ships more anxiously watched for than at the sun blistered hill top where Lieutenant Huntington's marines lie in rifle pits under an almost continuous hail of Spanish bullets.

HAVANA'S CONDITION

Is Growing Desperate and Many Persons Are Dying of Starvation.

KINGSTON, JAMAICA (Special).—The British cruiser Talbot has arrived here. She left Havana closely blockaded on Tuesday. The condition of the city was desperate. The last supply of provisions arrived forty-five days ago, and the food supply must fail entirely within thirty days. Many persons are dying of starvation. All the flour in the city has been exhausted, and bread is now made of corn meal. The horses and mules, without grass or corn, are fast being exterminated. It was reported that the Americans had seized a coaling station at Calmanera.

Report That Americans Were Repulsed

CAPE HAYTIEN, HAYTI.—The United States auxiliary cruiser St. Louis and several dispatch boats—so it is reported here—brought to Mole St. Nicholas a story that a landing was effected by the Americans late on Monday very near Santiago. According to this account the Americans took possession of a fortified position commanding a portion of the point, but the Spaniards rallied and attacked the invading force, finally dislodging it and retaking the position.

More Regiments for the Front.

It is stated that orders were received Tuesday at Chickamauga from the department that fifteen of the best equipped regiments in Gen. Brooke's corps be designated for movement to the front. It is understood that 15,000 men are to be taken from the camp to make up the next expedition, which will go to Porto Rico.

Big Demand for Bonds.

The Treasury officials say the indications are that the $200,000,000 loan will be largely over subscribed.

Dan Curran Shot.

Superintendent Daniel D. Curran, of the Queen and Crescent railroad, was shot and seriously wounded by his stenographer, W. J. Reppert, in the company's office at New Orleans. Mr. Curran was formerly superintendent of the Central of Georgia railroad from Columbus, Ga., to Birmingham.

Attachment Against Leiter.

Justice Daly, of the New York supreme court, has issued an attachment against the property of Joseph Leiter, the wheat speculator of Chicago, for $793,925 in favor of Otto E. Lohrke, Wm. P. Callagha and Wm. Knight, grain dealers, for money advanced.

Prefers Occupation by America.

The Vienna Neue Freie Press says Spain has requested the powers to urge the United States to occupy Manila with American troops should the town surrender, and not allow the city to fall into the hands of the insurgents.

Cuba Shut Off From the World.

The Yankee and the St. Louis cut the cable at Guantanamo, sixty miles east of Santiago de Cuba, and Cuba is now believed to be shut off from communication with the outer world.

GOVERNMENT CROP REPORT.

Less Cotton Planted by Over a Million and a Half Acres.

The final reports of the agricultural department on cotton planting makes area planted 22,460,334 acres against 24,091,394 acres last year, a reduction of 1,631,000 acres or 6.8 per cent. The decrease in the different states as compared with last year is as follows: Virginia, 8 per cent; North Carolina, 7; South Carolina, 8; Georgia, 6; Florida, 11; Alabama, 4; Mississippi, 4; Louisiana, 7; Texas, 8; Arkansas, 7; Tennessee, 10; Missouri, 18; Oklahoma, 2; Indian Territory, 12.

The average condition on June 1 was 89 compared with 83.5 per cent at the corresponding date last year, and with an average the general condition for the last ten years of 87.10 per cent.

The condition by states is as follows: North Carolina, 86; South Carolina, 85; Georgia, 89; Florida, 76; Alabama, 89; Mississippi, 91; Louisiana, 89; Arkansas, 96; Tennessee, 90; Missouri, 96; Oklahoma, 82; Indian Territory, 80. The general condition is highly favorable.

TO SEIZE LADRONES.

The Charleston Said to Be Bound for That Group of Spanish Islands.

SAN FRANCISCO.—The Evening Post says that the cruiser Charleston will not go to the Philippine Islands immediately, but her destination is the island of Guahan, in the Ladrone group, which are controlled by the Spanish and which are about 1,500 miles from Manila and 3,500 miles from Honolulu. The chief city of Guahan is exceedingly well fortified for such a small place and affords one of the best harbors and coaling stations in the Pacific. The United States will seize the group and use the island of Guahan for a Pacific coaling station in addition to any others she may seize in the future. The Charleston, the Post continues, was ordered to wait at Honolulu for the first fleet of transports and then proceed to the Ladrones. When captured, the Charleston will go to Manila.

SIXTEEN WARSHIPS ASSEMBLED

At Port Tampa to Serve as a Convoy to Troop Transports.

WASHINGTON.—Another formidable American fleet has been assembled, consisting of sixteen war-ships of various classes, headed by the big battle ship Indiana, which for all around effectiveness stands at the head of the navy. This fleet assembled at Port Tampa, and is to serve as a convoy to the troop transports from that point.

The formation of this formidable convoy fleet is due to the reports, more or less indefinite, that Spanish ships were lurking between Florida and Cuba with a view of intercepting the troop transports. The navy department has not given serious credit to these reports, yet they were more or less circumstantial. In order to avoid the slightest possibility of a dash by some Spanish ships against the troop transports, this new fleet of sixteen war-ships was determined upon.

A Briton Banished From Porto Rico.

Suspected with having furnished the United States with information of the mining of San Juan harbor, Walter Bett, secretary of the British consulate at that port, has received his passports and has been banished from Porto Rico by order of Governor General Macias. The British consul general has made a formal protest to his government and serious international complications are imminent.

Europe Warned Against America.

HAMBURG.—The leading article in The Hamburger Nachrichten on America and Europe, inspired by Bismarck, points out America's increasing preponderance, and warns European governments to take care in time, lest America's triumph over Spain should over-strain the bow. The newspaper also says that France seems ready openly to side with Spain.

Austria Will Not Intervene.

The Austrian government has declined to initiate mediation between the United States and Spain as it wishes to avoid the appearance of making intervention in the interest of the queen regent, which might perhaps give fatal offense.

TO COMPEL CERVERA TO FIGHT.

Plans to Force the Passage Leading to Santiago Will Soon be Ready.

It is believed the navy will follow the landing of troops by forcing the passage of the narrow channel leading to the harbor of Santiago de Cuba, fishing up the sunken mines and compelling Admiral Cervera to make a stand. If the destruction of the Spanish fleet is successfully carried out, it will end the last vestige of Spanish dominion in Eastern Cuba.

The harbor of Guantanamo is completely under the control of the American fleet and the landing of marines at that point is expected to occur simultaneously with the landing of troops at Santiago de Cuba.

Guarding Soldiers From Yellow Fever.

WASHINGTON.—Surgeon-Generals Sternberg of the army and Van Reypin of the navy have taken every precaution to protect the army and navy from yellow fever. They do not feel that the present conditions give ground for serious apprehension, although our troop ships are now in a country infected with yellow fever.

The wheat experts now put the new crop at 775,000,000 bushels, or 150,000,000 more than the largest previous crop.

FOUR BRAVE MEN KILLED

In a Hand to Hand Fight With Spanish Guerillas.

COWARDLY NIGHT ATTACK BY THE DONS.

The Fight Occurred at the Outer Harbor of Guantanamo and Was Continuous for Almost Thirteen Hours—The Marblehead in the Battle.

A Sunday's special from Mole St. Nicholas, Hayti, says: Col. R. W. Huntington's battalion of marines, which landed from the transport Panther on Friday and encamped on the hill guarding the abandoned cable station at the entrance to the outer harbor of Guantanamo, has been engaged in beating off a bush attack by Spanish guerillas and Spanish regulars since 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The fighting was almost continuous for thirteen hours, when reinforcements were landed from the Marblehead. Four of our men were killed and one wounded. The advance pickets, under Lieutenants Neville and Shaw, are unaccounted for.

Among the killed is Assistant Surgeon John Blair Gibbs, of the regular army, who fell in the Custer massacre. His home was at Richmond, Va., but he has been practicing in New York, and he entered the service since the war began. The others killed are Sergeant Charles H. Smith, of Smallwood; Private William Dunphy, of Gloucester, Mass.; Private James McColgan, of Stoneham, Mass.

Corporal Glass was accidentally wounded in the head. The Spanish loss is unknown, but it was probably considerable. The splashes of blood found at the position the Spaniards occupied indicate fatalities, but their comrades carried off the killed and wounded.

The engagement began with desultory firing at the pickets 1,000 yards inland from the camp. Captain Spicer's company was doing guard duty and was driven in, finally rallying and repulsing the enemy at 5 o'clock. The bodies of Privates McColgan and Dunphy were found, both shot in the head, stripped of shoes, hats and cartridge belts and horribly mutilated with machetes. When they were brought in the battalion formed three sides of a hollow square about the camp on the hill top. Below in the bay were the warships at anchor. Inland from the hill camp is a deep ravine and beyond this are high hills. The adjacent country is heavy with a thicket growth. Night fell thick and impenetrable. The Spanish squads concealed in the chaparel cover had the advantage, the Americans on the ridge furnishing fine targets against the sky and the white tents. The Spaniards fought from cover till midnight, discoverable only by flashes, at which the marines fired volleys.

The Marblehead launch, a Colt machine gun in her bow, pushed up the bay, enfilading the Spaniards, and it is thought that some were killed.

The ships threw their searchlights ashore, the powerful electric lights sweeping the deep tropic foliage and disclosing occasionally skulking parties of Spaniards. Each discovery of the enemy was greeted by the cracks of carbine fire along the edge of the camp ridge or by the long roll of the launch's machine guns searching the thickets with a leaden stream.

Shortly after midnight came the main attack. The Spaniards made a gallant charge up the southwest slope, but were met by repeated volleys from the main body and broke one-third the way up the hill. They came so close that at some points there were almost hand to hand struggles. The officers used their revolvers. Three Spaniards got through the open formation to the edge of the camp. Colonel Jose Campina, the Cuban guide, discharged his revolver, and they turning and finding themselves without support, ran helter skelter down the side of the hill. It has during this assault that Assistant Surgeon Gibbs was killed.

The surgeon of the hospital corps then removed their quarters to the trenches about the old Spanish stockade north of the camp. The attacks were continued at intervals throughout the rest of the night, with firing from small squads in various directions.

Merritt Wants More Troops.

Major-General Merritt wants more troops. He is now in communication with Washington on the subject, and hopes to receive word within a few hours that additional forces have been granted him. General Merritt contemplates leaving San Francisco for Manila two weeks from Saturday, and is desirous that his expeditionary forces shall precede him to the Philippines. With the troops present he has a force of about 16,000. It is said the governor-general has been in constant communication with the department and has has finally demanded that the full quota of 20,000 specified by him be filled.

Further Reports of the Massacre.

Steamers which have arrived at Liverpool from Sierra Leon report that a thousand persons were killed in the recent uprising in that district. One hundred and twenty inhabitants of Freetown, most of them traders are known to have been massacred and other colonists were carried into the bush by the "war boys" and undoubtedly met a worse fate. Three hundred friendly natives were killed and besides the white missionaries six colored missionaries of the United Brethren of Christ were murdered.

CURRENT EVENTS IN ALABAMA.

BRIEFLY MENTIONED.

The state convention of Alabama miners will be held in Birmingham on the 20th instant.

Montgomery inaugurated quarantine against Mississippi and Louisiana gulf port towns Saturday.

Fire at Elyton destroyed the residences of Dr. McCarty, D. O. Watkins and J. H. Holcomb. Loss estimated at $12,000, partially insured.

The new division of the Mobile and Ohio railroad will establish cotton compresses at Tuskaloosa, Centerville and other points along its line.

Thomas J. Lacey, who lives near Powderly, was thrown from a mule, dragged for a hundred yards over the rocky ground and as a result he is now lying at the point of death.

The Alabama Great Southern railroad has begun relaying their sixty-pound steel rail with seventy-five pound steel rails. Twenty-five miles of rail will be laid, beginning at Birmingham and going southward.

General Oates will go to Mobile Tuesday to take charge of his brigade. There appears to be very little doubt but that he and his Alabama and Texas volunteers will be sent to Porto Rico.

By the 15th of the present month through freight trains will be running on the Mobile and Ohio road from Montgomery to St. Louis.

The supreme court has reversed and remanded the cases of Walter Neville and Lewis Thompson, the two negroes who were sentenced to death in Decatur for an alleged assault on little Nellie Lawton several months since.

All of the property of the Southern States Land and Timber company, situated in Baldwin county, Ala., and Escambia county, Fla., was sold Friday at public outcry at Daphne, and was bought by C. F. Brent, of Pensacola. The property consisted of 330,000 acres of timber lands and the cutting right on 11,000 acres additional, with saw mills, stores, stocks of goods, six locomotives, logs, timber, etc. The price paid for the property was $199,570.

Paid Sum Due the State.

State Campaign Managers Named.

Chairman Robert J. Lowe, of the state democratic committee, Saturday announced the members of the state campaign committee of the democratic party. They are: Chas. M. Shelley, Francis L. Pettus, Wilson R. Brown, Ross C. Smith and E. W. Booker.

Duel With Pistols.

At a picnic at Tank Branch, near Mount Meigs, Montgomery county, Messrs. Charles Lucas, of Waugh, and Charles Perkins, of Cecil, had a trivial difficulty, which resulted in a duel with pistols between them, in which Mr. Lucas was instantly killed and Mr. Perkins shot three times, and it is thought he will die.

Young Lady Burned to Death.

By the accidental overturning of a large parlor lamp during an entertainment at the residence of Mr. Walter Cullers at Opelika, Miss Sallie Wimberly, of Greenville, lost her life and a half dozen others were more or less injured last Thursday night. The parlors were well filled with guests, when early in the evening, at 10 o'clock the awful catastrophe occurred. The lamp exploded at the feet of Miss Wimberly, and in an instant her clothing was ablaze. Some half dozen seized the unfortunate young lady, but their efforts to free her from the flames only inflicted injuries on themselves. The young woman tore away from her companions and rushed into the street, where she fell burned almost to a crisp. The following were injured: F. L. Yarbrough, George Williams, Dr. I. N. Stowe, Mrs. Walter Cullers, Miss Kittie Frazier, E. S. Thigpen and Walter Cullers.

SPAIN DESIRES PEACE

According to Private Advices Received at Vienna.

Private advices received at Vienna show that the situation in Spain is such that peace is speedily and earnestly desired. The finances of the country are threatened, and the famine and intrigues of the Carlists render peace imperative.

The Spanish government is drawing up a memorandum to the powers requesting their friendly intervention. France and Austria are prepared to accede to the request, while Russia and Germany disapprove of intervention.

A Mob's Work in Kansas.

In the public square fronting on the principal business street of Great Bend, Kan., a mobbing occurred Monday by a crowd of 800. It is estimated that at least 1,000 men of Great Bend's population of 2,000 persons witnessed the tragedy. The victim was John Becker, a white man, who on April 8 killed Myrtle Huff-Meister.

Mary M. Force has been appointed postmaster at Selma.

GOVERNMENT IS CAUTIOUS.

Moving to Secure Complete Success Unattended With Disaster

THIRTY-FOUR STEAMSHIPS ARE WAITING.

The Transportation Fleet and Convoy Will Make One of the Most Formidable Marine Processions Ever Witnessed in Any Country or Time.

WASHINGTON (Special).—Out of the maze of doubt and contradiction as to the departure of the first army of invasion to Cuba, the one thing stands out clearly, namely, the government is strong in its present position and plan, is moving cautiously and with deliberation which it believes will assure success unattended with disasters.

With this purpose in view, the army and navy are co-operating toward the dispatch of troops, some 25,000 in number, under escort of a strong fleet of naval convoys made up of sixteen warships, headed by the Indiana. Unattended by the strong fleet, the troops might have left last Friday, when one strong naval convoy was ready for this service. Since then, however, reports have come as to the presence of Spanish ships in the North Atlantic. Realizing that nothing was to be gained by haste and that the war was progressing steadily forward, it was determined not to take one small chance of having our transports menaced by some scouting ship of the enemy. As a result, the troop transports have not proceeded to Cuba, as has been repeatedly asserted. They are in readiness to go, but will not move until the naval convoy is ready to accompany them, assuring safe conduct from Florida to the point of destination.

The administration feels that the time has come when it is of the utmost importance that the precise movements of this invading fleet should not be published in this country and thus heralded to the enemy.

The completeness with which the transports of troops has been planned is shown in the official list of transport vessels given out at the war department. Of this list thirty-four large steamships, varying from 4,100 tons down to 600 tons, are at Florida ports ready to carry our troops to the point of invasion. There are some fifteen other crafts, including vessels suitable for carrying fresh water, stores, etc., and for lightering the troops and supplies from the ships to the beach when the embarkation begins. The entire transportation fleet of about fifty steamships, augmented by the fleet of naval convoys, sixteen in number, will make a formidable marine procession.

SPANIARDS AGAIN SHELLED.

Sampson Pours Shot and Shell Into the Forts at Santiago.

LONDON.—(Special.)—Sampson has shelled the Spaniards again. Bermuda reports that it has cable connection with Havana, and that the Spanish there assert the Americans bombarded the Santiago forts again Friday, a fierce fire being kept up for three hours to cover the landing of troops near the harbor mouth. The Spanish reports declare that they twice repulsed the Americans, but do not go into details nor definitely say that they finally prevented a landing. The bombardment began early and continued until nearly noon, but just where the landing was attempted is not told in the Bermuda dispatch, nor could Bermuda secure any further details from Havana.

Bombarded Bai Quari.

HAVANA.—(Special.)—Several American warships Friday bombarded Bai Quari, some distance east of Aguadores and near the railway line to Santiago de Cuba. Official advices from Santiago say that the bombardment caused no damage. Bai Quari is a mining locality and some of the mines are under American control. At the palace it is denied that there has been any bombardment of the Santiago fortifications.

FORT MONROE EXCITED.

Spanish Warships Reported to Be Lurking Off Cape Henry, Va.

At Fort Monroe intense excitement was caused Friday night by a dispatch received from the signal station at Cape Henry stating that Spanish warships were lurking in that vicinity. A short while later a message was received from Washington instructing the commandant of the fort to be on the alert. Reports as to the number of ships seen conflict. A lieutenant who was seen after midnight said he had been informed that a Spanish battleship, two cruisers and a torpedo boat had been caught under the searchlight at Cape Henry steaming from a northerly direction.

Guanatanamo Has Been Taken.

The navy department Friday posted the following bulletin:

On June 7 Admiral Sampson ordered the Marblehead, Commander McCalla, and the Yankee, Commander Brownsod, to take possession of the outer bay of Guanatanamo. These vessels entered the harbor at daylight on the 7th, driving a Spanish gunboat into the inner harbor and took possession of the lower bay, which is now held by the Marblehead.

ALABAMA TROOPS MAY GO TO THE FRONT.

Orders Received Countermanding the Removal of Men to Mt. Vernon.

A special from Mobile Monday night says: Orders were received about midnight countermanding all orders relative to the movement of troops from here to Mount Vernon. No explanation of the change is obtainable. It is surmised it means that the troops will be sent to the front.

This morning orders were received that the volunteers here, including two Texas, two Louisiana and one Alabama regiment located at Spring Hill, and one Alabama regiment now on the bay shore, the latter to be mustered in today, be transferred tomorrow to Mount Vernon, the old military post established by Jackson as the most suitable for a military station. This post is thirty miles from Mobile, on the Mobile and Birmingham railroad.

SECOND INVADING EXPEDITION

Is Being Hurried at the War Department. Will Select Other Ports.

WASHINGTON.—Arrangements for the second expedition of invasion from the United States for the West Indies are being hurried at the war department. There seems to be no doubt that this expedition, if its number approaches the first, will be sent from the east coast of the United States. The experience in embarking at Tampa has convinced war department officials that other ports where railroad and other facilities are more adequate than at Tampa are much more desirable places for the concentration of troops and their embarkation.

A board of army officers for the past week has been forming various places in the south with a view to their occupation for camping purposes. Fernandina and Savannah are looked upon with favor by the war department officials as suitable ports for the departure of the invading army, and Charleston has been suggested.

Cadiz Squadron Is Unseaworthy.

The Madrid correspondent of the London Chronicle says: "Captain Aunon's reception along the route from Madrid to Cadiz was not very enthusiastic. The reserve squadron is not ready. Indeed, it is doubtful whether it will ever depart. The cruiser Alfonso XIII. is practically eliminated as unseaworthy, and the Princess de Astorias is unfinished on the dock with all her armament incapacitated. Probably Captain Aunon came to see why the Alfonso XIII. is unseaworthy or to avoid awkward questions in the cortes. The military governor of Cadiz is vigilant, and night alarms are frequent. The lighthouses have been destroyed and the forts strengthened, some twenty fresh guns being mounted, of which six are modern."

The Daily Chronicle comments upon the dispatch, and adds: "The bogie man reserve squadron ought no longer to frighten the most timid soul in America."

Egan Opposes Proposed Alliance.

Patrick Egan, former United States minister to Chili, has written a declaration of his views on the proposed Anglo-American alliance. In it he scored Joseph Chamberlain, Chauncey M. Depew and Joseph H. Choate as jingoes, tories and Anglo-maniacs. He warned the republicans and the administration at Washington of disaster unless it adheres more firmly to patriotic American moorings. He praises former Cabinet Minister John Morley for his repudiation of the sentiments recently expressed by the British secretary of state for the colonies.

Bond Subscriptions Asked For.

Secretary Gage has issued a circular to the public explaining the proposed bond issue, and inviting subscriptions from the people of the United States for $200,000,000 of the bonds of the 3 per cent loan authorized by congress. The bonds will be issued in both coupon and registered form, the coupon bonds in denominations of $20, $100, $500, $1,000 and $10,000.

Iowa's Troops to Join Lee.

The Forty-ninth regiment of Iowa volunteers arrived at Jacksonville Tuesday, where they go to join Gen. Fitzhugh Lee's corps. This was the first Iowa regiment to be called out during this war. Another of Iowa's regiments is on its way to San Francisco to join the Manila expedition, another has already gone to Jacksonville, and a fourth to Chickamauga.

Spanish Guerillas Resumed the Fight.

At 9 o'clock Sunday morning fighting was again resumed by the Spaniards at Guantanamo. The fire was promptly returned by the Americans with thirteen rifles and a 3-inch field gun, and in a short time all signs of the enemy had disappeared. No casualties were reported.

Will Raise Flag Over Hawaii.

Senators and representatives who called on President McKinley Monday say that after the house has voted for annexation, if the senate desires to filibuster, the flag will be raised over Hawaii by the president without waiting for the senate's action.

An Important Capture.

The United States cruiser St. Louis captured the British steamer Twickenham off the coast of Jamaica. The vessel had been acting as a coaling steamer for the Spaniards.

Eleven Men Injured in an Explosion.

A disastrous explosion occurred at the smelting plant of the Arkansas Mining Company, near Hatfield, Ark. Eleven men were injured, eight seriously, and some of them cannot recover.

Austria is the only empire in the world which has never had colonies, or even transmarine possessions.

That patriotic circus man who tendered twenty-five elephants to the war department for service in Cuba evidently understands the advertising value of printers' ink.

Sometimes the proof-readers build better than they know. The one who passed the statement that "Spain is now looking for an alley" evidently understands his business.

A Frankfort (Ky.) woman can certainly be credited with having enjoyed considerable of the spice of life, provided variety counts. In 1894 she was sent to the insane asylum. In 1895 she was released. In 1896 she was divorced. In 1897 she married again and had a child. In 1898 she goes back to the asylum.

It is learned from the Cincinnati dailies that the street railway company in that town has issued a general order that "from and after this date and until further notice any employe of the Cincinnati Street Railway Company who goes upon duty within twenty-four hours after partaking of onions in any form will be summarily discharged."

That "good men with poor ships are better than poor men with good ships," has ever been a navy motto. Fortunately for the United States, foreign experts all declare she has good men with good ships. And it is this that gives reason for the confidence the Nation displays in its defenders. Men like Dewey, Sampson, Schley and Sigsbee would do wonders with a tugboat.

A Paris paper says that M. Antoine Varicle, of the French Geographical Society, is confident that he will reach the Klondike in his new balloon. It is to be steered by means of a sail and rope, as in the trips he made from Paris to Thenenil and from Paris to Hamburg. The balloon is cylinder-shaped, the sail being below. It is furnished with electric lights and a searchlight, and will carry a total weight of about three tons. The balloon will be inflated with hydrogen at Juneau, where the start will be made.

When American women once start any movement they generally make it a great success. An English teacher, who is spending a well-earned vacation in this country, says that the collections of needlecraft made by the New York Association of Sewing Schools is not only better than the famous collection in South Kensington, but is the best in the world. The compliment means much, when it is remembered that the association is still a young organization, having been started but a few years ago, although, on the other hand, its collections represent the work of at least 2000 different schools and institutions.

It is very proper that indecent books should be excluded from public libraries, and for that matter from private ones also; but touching the former the wrong means are used to accomplish the end desired. Instead of simply excluding the objectionable volume, without comment or discussion, a set of high sounding resolutions must be adopted by the Library Board and published to the world. Curiosity is an inherent attribute of human nature, consequently the public generally, who perhaps would never entertain a thought touching the book, are aroused to hunt it up, and by personal examination satisfy themselves as to the correctness of the judgment of the board. Mr. Edward Everett Hale sums up the whole matter in a nutshell when he says: "Nobody is so happy as the nasty publisher of a nasty book if the director of a public library is foolish enough to say it is nasty." Hereafter, suggests the St. Louis Star, let Library Boards simply exclude the book without comment, and the end will be accomplished without bestowing upon the publisher a class of advertising that money cannot buy.

Salmon as an Army Ration.

The president has authorized canned salmon to be added as one of the meat components of the army rations. Ordinarily fresh beef will be issued to the troops six days in ten; salmon salt meats three days in ten, and canned salmon one day in ten.

AMERICAN FLAG OVER CUBA.

Six Hundred American Marines Are Now Holding Guantanamo Bay.

REFULSED SPANIARDS AND BURNED TOWN.

To Captain Clark and Battleship Oregon Belong the Honor of Accomplishing the First Successful Landing Since Declaration of War.

A Saturday's cable from off Guantanamo, Cuba, says: The invasion of Cuba by the American forces began today. Six hundred marines have pitched their tents about the smoking ruins of the outer fortifications, and the Stars and Stripes for the first time float from a Spanish flagstaff in Cuba.

To Captain Clark and the battleship Oregon belong the honor of accomplishing the first successful landing of the war. Forty marines from the battleship went ashore this morning and occupied the left entrance of the bay until the troopship Panther arrived with 600 marines. These, under the command of Lieut.-Col. R. W. Huntington, arrived at 3 o'clock, and within half an hour they had burned the buildings of the Spanish camp and had set fire to the miserable little village which crouched on the beach under the hilltop of Guantanamo. The whole operation of silencing the guns and landing the forces was as easy as placing a Sunday school picnic.

The Marblehead, backed by the Vixen and Dolphin, opened fire on the earthworks yesterday. The shores to the right of the entrance were lined with guns and rifle pits, but the Spaniards stampeded after firing a few shots.

The city of Guantanamo lies four miles up the bay, and a little Spanish gunboat came down to help the shore batteries. But she stayed just long enough to turn around. Numerous shots were fired by the Spaniards, but not one landed, and no Americans were injured. The main fort lies within the city limits and is still to be reduced, but it is not in a difficult position, and American officers say it can be taken in fifteen minutes when desired.

The marines will hold the position until the arrival of the expected troops, in the meantime scouting in the vicinity, with the Marblehead, Vixen and Dolphin lying by to protect him.

Rear Admiral Sampson now has a harbor and a base of supplies on the south side of the island, and troops can be landed at will.

The troopship Panther reached the fleet off Santiago early today.

On her way over the Yosemite fired a dozen shells into the port of Daiguire (Baiquiri) but received no response.

Guantanamo is forty miles east of Santiago, and is a splendid location for a base of supplies for the blockading fleet.

It is understood that the island of Cuba is entirely cut off from cable communication with the outside world. Report here has it that the cable-ship Adaia cut the cable at Santiago Monday, and that the same day the St. Louis cut the cable running from Guantanamo to the Mole St. Nicholas, Hayti. She was interrupted in the work by shells from shore, but the Marblehead sent several shells at the soldiers and scattered them.

Reported Landing is Confirmed.

CAPE HAYTIEN.—Information has been received here by way of Port au Prince that a large force of Americans landed Saturday on the shores of Guantanamo bay, near Lareaimanera, and it is understood the cable terminus at that point is in the possession of the Americans and that every effort will be made at once to reopen communication with New York via Cape Haytien. A force of cable repairers may be sent from Cape Haytien as soon as a steamer can be sent here to take them.

BLANCO HAS LOST CONFIDENCE.

Believed That the Captain General Will Surrender After a Nominal Resistance.

KEY WEST.—Trustworthy information smuggled out of Havana shows that the city has a garrison of 46,000 regulars and half as many volunteers. The interior of Havana province has been abandoned to the insurgents, who make daily attacks on the picket lines in the suburbs of the capital. It is common talk that Blanco will surrender after a merely nominal resistance. He has lost confidence in the volunteers, refusing to arm many independent companies for fear that they would join the insurgents. The reconcentrados and their families are starving in their hovels.

James Nixon was run over and killed by a Central Railway of Georgia train at Tromwell, Ala., Sunday. He was asleep on the track.

Captain Harrington, of the Puritan, and Lieutenant-Commander Everett, of the Maugrove, have succumbed to the strain and hardships of service in Cuban waters and have been removed to the naval hospital at Key West. Captain Frederick Rogers will command the Puritan.

The Terror Was Not Sunk.

The report that United States warships had sunk the Spanish torpedo boat destroyer Terror is now known to have no foundation.

HURRYING PORTO RICO TROOPS.

The President Extremely Anxious to Gain Possession of This Point.

WASHINGTON—(Special.)—The Porto Rico expedition is to be expedited in every way possible. Orders to this effect have been sent to General Coppinger and Lee who are charged with the formation of this command. It was the intention at first to wait the action at Santiago. This plan has been abandoned and rush orders have been issued to all bureaus of the war department connected with the formation of the expedition.

The command to hurry comes direct from the president. He is extremely anxious to have possession of this important point and has instructed Secretaries Alger and Long to leave all other projects for the present and to work on this one. The quartermaster-general has been instructed to obtain every available vessel for transport purposes. The vessels used in the Santiago expedition will be withdrawn as soon as they land the troops and will be hurried back to Florida to be utilized for Porto Rico.

The information that the president may carry the war to Spain grows stronger each day. This will not be done unless Spain shows that she is not willing to surrender after the capture of Santiago and Porto Rico. The president has no desire to go beyond the limits fixed upon, but it is in his mind to force Spain to terms by attacking her own ports if she does not succumb. He will not favor a lingering war costing millions of dollars when the strife might be ended by attacking Spain at her own doors to teach her a lesson.

THE ARMY MOVEMENT.

Troops Are Now Under Way to Santiago de Cuba.

WASHINGTON.—All the troops destined for the Santiago-Porto Rican expedition are now on their way. The vessels which have been detained at Tampa, owing to the mismanagement of the war department in the handling of men and supplies, sailed Saturday, and General Shafter and his staff went along. The squadron can reach Key West in twelve hours. There most of the transports that have already sailed are rendezvoused, and the convoying fleet is also there awaiting the arrival of the transports from Tampa.

The start for the eastern end of Cuba commenced early Sunday morning. All the troops necessary to invest the town were debarked. Those not needed will accompany the warships to Porto Rico, which, after the reduction of the San Juan fortifications, will be occupied.

ARMY CAMPS MAY BE MOVED.

Soldiers at Coast Points Will Probably Be Sent to High Ground.

Surgeon-General Wyman, of the Marine Hospital service, says that every possible care is being taken to prevent the development and spread of yellow fever anywhere in the South, and that he believes the prompt discovery of the cases at McHenry, Miss., will enable the authorities to keep it confined to that point. Nothing will be left undone to guard against the fever. Congress will provide ample means for protection as a precautionary measure. The war department has under discussion the advisability of breaking the camps on the coast and moving them to higher grounds.

BATTLE IN PROGRESS

Between Spaniards and Rebels at Manila. Dewey Will Prevent Massacre.

A Saturday's special cable dispatch from Hong Kong says that a battle for the possession of Manila is in progress between the Spanish forces and those of Aguinaldo. Admiral Dewey has promised to prevent a massacre should the insurgents capture the city.

The Spanish governor has been notified that unless he withdraws the price put upon the head of the insurgent leader Aguinaldo, he will get no quarter. Otherwise he rules of civilized warfare will be strictly adhered to. As a result of this price being placed on his head, three attempts have been made to take Aguinaldo's life.

Japan Protests Duty on Tea.

Japan has entered a strong protest against the duty on tea provided for in the war revenue bill. The protest is based on the ground that a uniform duty of 10 cents a pound on all teas, cheap or dear, will have the effect of ruining Japan's tea trade with the United States. Japan, it says, would not object to a duty graded according to value.

An Havana dispatch to Madrid says eleven merchantmen, probably bearing American troops, have arrived before Santiago de Cuba. There is little doubt that Shafter's army is ready to land.

Hawaiian Debate Began.

The Hawaiian debate in the house began Saturday. Six speeches were made, covering generally the contentions of the support and opposition to the resolutions providing for annexation. The debate will continue Monday. Tuesday and Wednesday and probably forty members will make speeches.

Two New Cases of Yellow Fever.

The Mississippi board of health has been advised that there are two new cases of yellow fever at McHenry, developed since the seven cases were reported. No deaths have yet been reported to the board.

Judicious advertising pays.

YELLOW FEVER BREAKS OUT

Seven Cases Officially Reported at McHenry, Miss.

THE TOWN DECLARED UNDER QUARANTINE.

Active Measures Taken by the State and Federal Authorities to Prevent the Spread of the Disease—All Mississippi Gulf Ports Quarantined.

Gen. J. F. Hunter, secretary of the Mississippi board of health, has made the following statement:

"It having been reported to me by Drs. Haralson and Folkes, sanitary inspectors of this board, that seven cases of yellow fever exist at McHenry, Miss., I hereby declare the town of McHenry under quarantine, in charge of Dr. Haralson, who will observe the quarantine and sanitary rules and regulations adopted by this board.

(Signed.) J. F. HUNTER,
"Secretary Mississippi State Board of Health."

McHenry is a small town in Harrison county, near a Gulf port, and located on the Gulf and Ship Island railway. The place was visited by the fever last year and there were many deaths. The state health officers say every effort will be made to confine the fever to McHenry, and no one will be allowed to leave that place.

WASHINGTON.—There is some apprehension here over the outbreak of seven cases of yellow fever at McHenry, Miss., and steps have been taken not only to check the spread of the fever from McHenry, but to prevent any possibility of an epidemic in the south.

Dr. R. G. Giddings, of the Marine Hospital Service, now stationed at Tampa, has been ordered to proceed directly to McHenry and take charge of Camp Fontainebleu, where the present cases will be confined.

Surgeon Murray telegraphed that he had gone to McHenry and confirmed the diagnosis made by the state authorities. The town is now guarded, and Marine Hospital Surgeon Carter is already there with Surgeon Murray and the federal and state authorities are co-operating.

Will Be No Epidemic.

Dr. Goode, acting state health officer for Alabama, has quarantined all Mississippi gulf ports and so have Louisiana and Florida authorities. Dr. Goode does not believe the fever developed from last year's left-over germs. "McHenry, Miss.," said he, "is within fourteen miles of Ship Island quarantine station, and is was from that point the fever is believed to have been spread last summer. The medical authorities have been watching for it, and the quarantine system is greatly improved. We believe that there will be no epidemic; that the cases, all of a mild type, will be speedily stamped out."

ENGLAND WOULD INTERVENE

If Both Countries Show a Disposition to Negotiate for Peace.

LONDON.—In the house of commons Friday A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury and government leader, replying to a question as to whether, "in view of the condition of the population in Cuba and the suffering and evils arising from the Spanish-American war, her majesty's powers have any intention of intervening to secure a cessation of hostilities by inducing one or both belligerents to negotiate treaties of peace," said:

"Her majesty's government will gladly take any favorable opportunity for promoting a cessation of hostilities and negotiations for peace, but any action upon our part for this purpose can only be undertaken if there is reasonable prospect that it will be well received by both parties and of its being likely to lead to an agreement between them. Unfortunately there is not sufficient ground for believing this condition exists."

May Send Vessels to Coast of Spain.

Seven of the swiftest ships in the American navy are now at Hampton Roads or nearby. They are the Minneapolis, Cincinnati, Newark, Buffalo, Yale, Harvard and Dixie. Every ship is being coaled to its utmost capacity, which leads to the belief that a long trip is planned, possibly as far as the coast of Spain. The appearance of this squadron off the coast of Spain is expected to have a strong influence on Spain in the direction of peace.

It is announced that Senor DuBosc and Lieut. Carranza will sail for Madrid June 25.

Finest Depot in the South.

The city council of Nashville passed the railway terminal bill, and Mayor Dudley will sign it at once. The bill provides that the city shall build approaches to the depot. The structure is to be mostly of marble, and with freight depots, etc., will cost over a million and a half dollars. Work will begin at once. It will be the finest depot in the South.

The war revenue bill became a law Monday.

SPANISH FLEET IS ALL THERE.

Lieutenant Blue Made a Detour of Santiago Harbor and Found All of Cervera's Fleet Inside.

WASHINGTON (Special).—The navy department Tuesday posted the following:

"Mole St. Nicholas.—Lieutenant Blue has just returned after a detour of seventy statute miles of observation of the harbor of Santiago de Cuba. He reports that the Spanish fleet is all there. The Spanish attacked vigorously at the camp at Guantanamo. An outpost of four marines were killed and their bodies mutilated barbarously. Surgeon Gibbs was killed.

"SAMPSON."

The last lingering doubt that may have existed as to the presence of Cervera's fleet in its entirety in Santiago harbor was removed when Admiral Sampson's dispatch, given above, reached the navy department. Up to that time information as to the number and character of the vessels in the harbor, shielded from observation in a great part by the hills at the entrance, had been obtained through Cuban sources supplemented by such glimpses as could be had by naval officers from the outside entrance.

Now, however, according to Lieutenant Blue, the ships have been actually seen by an American officer, counted from such points of vantage as were afforded by the high hills surrounding the harbor. The officers here are full of praise of Lieutenant Blue's achievement.

ACUTE SITUATION AT SANTIAGO.

Sampson Preparing to Force the Harbor When the Army Arrives.

KINGSTON, JAMAICA.—The dynamite cruiser Vesuvius, which joined Admiral Sampson's fleet off Santiago Tuesday morning is to be followed by the Ericsson, the Foote and other torpedo boats, and arrival of the torpedo fleet will confirm the opinion that Admiral Sampson intends to force Santiago harbor on the coming of the troops. Every man in the fleet is anxiously awaiting the soldiers, for it is recognized that no decisive movement is possible until the troops effect a landing. Every body in Sampson's fleet is desperately tired of the present disheartening conditions. The tedious manoeuvers, the ceaseless watching and the exasperating inactivity are telling on officers and men. At no place are the troop ships more anxiously watched for than at the sun blistered hill top where Lieutenant Huntington's marines lie in rifle pits under an almost continuous hail of Spanish bullets.

HAVANA'S CONDITION

Is Growing Desperate and Many Persons Are Dying of Starvation.

KINGSTON, JAMAICA (Special).—The British cruiser Talbot has arrived here. She left Havana closely blockaded on Tuesday. The condition of the city was desperate. The last supply of provisions arrived forty-five days ago, and the food supply must fail entirely within thirty days. Many persons are dying of starvation. All the flour in the city has been exhausted, and bread is now made of corn meal. The horses and mules, without grass or corn, are fast being exterminated. It was reported that the Americans had seized a coaling station at Calmanera.

Report That Americans Were Repulsed

CAPE HAYTIEN, HAYTI.—The United States auxiliary cruiser St. Louis and several dispatch boats—so it is reported here—brought to Mole St. Nicholas a story that a landing was effected by the Americans late on Monday very near Santiago. According to this account the Americans took possession of a fortified position commanding a portion of the port, but the Spaniards rallied and attacked the invading force, finally dislodging it and retaking the position.

More Regiments for the Front.

It is stated that orders were received Tuesday at Chickamauga from the department that fifteen of the best equipped regiments in Gen. Brooke's corps be designated for movement to the front. It is understood that 15,000 men are to be taken from the camp to make up the next expedition, which will go to Porto Rico.

Big Demand for Bonds.

The Treasury officials say the indications are that the $200,000,000 loan will be largely over subscribed.

Dan Curran Shot.

Superintendent Daniel D. Curran, of the Queen and Crescent railroad, was shot and seriously wounded by his stenographer, W. J. Reppert, in the company's office at New Orleans. Mr. Curran was formerly superintendent of the Central of Georgia railroad from Columbus, Ga., to Birmingham.

Attachment Against Leiter.

Justice Daly, of the New York supreme court, has issued an attachment against the property of Joseph Leiter, the wheat speculator of Chicago, for $793,925 in favor of Otto E. Lohrke, Wm. P. Callagha and Wm. Knight, grain dealers, for money advanced.

Prefers Occupation by America.

The Vienna Neue Freie Press says Spain has requested the powers to urge the United States to occupy Manila with American troops should the town surrender, and not allow the city to fall into the hands of the insurgents.

Cuba Shut Off From the World.

The Yankee and the St. Louis cut the cable at Guantanamo, sixty miles east of Santiago de Cuba, and Cuba is now believed to be shut off from communication with the outer world.

GOVERNMENT CROP REPORT.

Less Cotton Planted by Over a Million and a Half Acres.

The final reports of the agricultural department on cotton planting makes area planted 22,460,334 acres against 24,091,334 acres last year, a reduction of 1,631,000 acres or 6.8 per cent. The decrease in the different states as compared with last year is as follows: Virginia, 8 per cent; North Carolina, 7; South Carolina, 8; Georgia, 6; Florida, 11; Alabama, 4; Mississippi, 4; Louisiana, 7; Texas, 8; Arkansas, 7; Tennessee, 10; Missouri, 18; Oklahoma, 2; Indian Territory, 12.

The average condition on June 1 was 89 compared with 83.5 per cent at the corresponding date last year, and with an average the general condition for the last ten years of 87.10 per cent.

The condition by states is as follows: North Carolina, 86; South Carolina, 85; Georgia, 89; Florida, 76; Alabama, 89; Mississippi, 91; Louisiana, 89; Arkansas, 96; Tennessee, 90; Missouri, 96; Oklahoma, 82; Indian Territory, 80. The general condition is highly favorable.

TO SEIZE LADRONES.

The Charleston Said to Be Bound for That Group of Spanish Islands.

SAN FRANCISCO.—The Evening Post says that the cruiser Charleston will not go to the Philippine Islands immediately, but her destination is the island of Guahan, in the Ladrone group, which are controlled by the Spanish and which are about 1,500 miles from Manila and 3,500 miles from Honolulu. The chief city of Guahan is exceedingly well fortified for such a small place and affords one of the best harbors and coaling stations in the Pacific. The United States will seize the group and use the island of Guahan for a Pacific coaling station in addition to any others she may seize in the future. The Charleston, the Post continues, was ordered to wait at Honolulu for the first fleet of transports and then proceed to the Ladrones. When captured, the Charleston will go to Manila.

SIXTEEN WARSHIPS ASSEMBLED

At Port Tampa to Serve as a Convoy to Troop Transports.

WASHINGTON.—Another formidable American fleet has been assembled, consisting of sixteen war-ships of various classes, headed by the big battle ship Indiana, which for all around effectiveness stands at the head of the navy. This fleet assembled at Port Tampa, and is to serve as a convoy to the troop transports from that point.

The formation of this formidable convoy fleet is due to the reports, more or less indefinite, that Spanish ships were lurking between Florida and Cuba with a view of intercepting the troop transports. The navy department has not given serious credit to these reports, yet they were more or less circumstantial. In order to avoid the slightest possibility of a dash by some Spanish ships against the troop transports, this new fleet of sixteen war-ships was determined upon.

A Briton Banished From Porto Rico.

Suspected with having furnished the United States with information of the mining of San Juan harbor, Walter Bett, secretary of the British consulate at that port, has received his passports and has been banished from Porto Rico by order of Governor General Macias. The British consul general has made a formal protest to his government and serious international complications are imminent.

Europe Warned Against America.

HAMBURG.—The leading article in The Hamburger Nachrichten on America and Europe, inspired by Bismarck, points out America's increasing preponderance, and warns European governments to take care in time, lest America's triumph over Spain should over-strain the bow. The newspaper also says that France seems ready openly to side with Spain.

Austria Will Not Intervene.

The Austrian government has declined to initiate mediation between the United States and Spain as it wishes to avoid the appearance of making intervention in the interest of the queen regent, which might perhaps give fatal offense.

TO COMPEL CERVERA TO FIGHT.

Plans to Force the Passage Leading to Santiago Will Soon be Ready.

It is believed the navy will follow the landing of troops by forcing the passage of the narrow channel leading to the harbor of Santiago de Cuba, fishing up the sunken mines and compelling Admiral Cervera to make a stand. If the destruction of the Spanish fleet is successfully carried out, it will end the last vestige of Spanish dominion in Eastern Cuba.

The harbor of Guantanamo is completely under the control of the American fleet and the landing of marines at that point is expected to occur simultaneously with the landing of troops at Santiago de Cuba.

Guarding Soldiers From Yellow Fever.

WASHINGTON — Surgeon - Generals Sternberg of the army and Van Reypin of the navy have taken every precaution to protect the army and navy from yellow fever. They do not feel that the present conditions give ground for serious apprehension, although our troop ships are now in a country infected with yellow fever.

The wheat experts now put the new crop at 775,000,000 bushels, or 150,000,000 more than the largest previous crop.

FOUR BRAVE MEN KILLED

In a Hand to Hand Fight With Spanish Guerillas.

COWARDLY NIGHT ATTACK BY THE DONS.

The Fight Occurred at the Outer Harbor of Guantanamo and Was Continuous for Almost Thirteen Hours—The Marblehead in the Battle.

A Sunday's special from Mole St. Nicholas, Hayti, says: Col. R. W. Huntington's battalion of marines, which landed from the transport Panther on Friday and encamped on the hill guarding the abandoned cable station at the entrance to the outer harbor of Guantanamo, has been engaged in beating off a bush attack by Spanish guerillas and Spanish regulars since 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The fighting was almost continuous for thirteen hours, when reinforcements were landed from the Marblehead. Four of our men were killed and one wounded. The advance pickets, under Lieutenants Neville and Shaw, are unaccounted for.

Among the killed is Assistant Surgeon John Blair Gibbs, of the regular army, who fell in the Custer massacre. His home was at Richmond, Va., but he has been practicing in New York, and he entered the service since the war began. The others killed are Sergeant Charles H. Smith, of Small wood; Private William Dunphy, of Gloucester, Mass.; Private James Mc Colgan, of Stoneham, Mass.

Corporal Glass was accidentally wounded in the head. The Spanish loss is unknown, but it was probably considerable. The splashes of blood found at the position the Spaniards occupied indicate fatalities, but their comrades carried off the killed and wounded.

The engagement began with disultory firing at the pickets 1,000 yards inland from the camp. Captain Spicer's company was doing guard duty and was driven in, finally rallying and repulsing the enemy at 5 o'clock. The bodies of Privates McColgan and Dunphy were found, both shot in the head, stripped of shoes, hats and cartridge belts and horribly mutilated with machetes. When they were brought in the battalion formed three sides of a hollow square about the camp on the hill top. Below in the bay were the warships at anchor. Inland from the hill camp is a deep ravine and beyond this are high hills. The adjacent country is heavy with a thicket growth. Night fell thick and impenetrable. The Spanish squads concealed in the chaparel cover had the advantage, the Americans on the ridge furnishing fine targets against the sky and the white tents. The Spaniards fought from cover till midnight, discoverable only by flashes, at which the marines fired volleys.

The Marblehead launch, a Colt machine gun in her bow, pushed up the bay, enfilading the Spaniards, and it is thought that some were killed.

The ships threw their searchlights ashore, the powerful electric lights sweeping the deep tropic foliage and disclosing occasionally skulking parties of Spaniards. Each discovery of the enemy was greeted by the cracks of carbine fire, along the edge of the camp ridge or by the long roll of the launch's machine guns searching the thickets with a leaden stream.

Shortly after midnight came the main attack. The Spaniards made a gallant charge up the southwest slope, but were met by repeated volleys from the main body and broke one-third the way up the hill. They came so close that at some points there were almost hand to hand struggles. The officers used their revolvers. Three Spaniards got through the open formation to the edge of the camp. Colonel Jose Campina, the Cuban guide, discharged his revolver, and they turning and finding themselves without support, ran helter skelter down the side of the hill. It has during this assault that Assistant Surgeon Gibbs was killed.

The surgeon of the hospital corps then removed their quarters to the trenches about the old Spanish stockade north of the camp. The attacks were continued at intervals throughout the rest of the night, with firing from small squads in various directions.

Merritt Wants More Troops.

Major-General Merritt wants more troops. He is now in communication with Washington on the subject, and hopes to receive word within a few hours that additional forces have been granted him. General Merritt contemplates leaving San Francisco for Manila two weeks from Saturday, and is desirous that his expeditionary forces shall precede him to the Philippines. With the troops present he has a force of about 16,000. It is said the governor-general has been in constant communication with the department and has has finally demanded that the full quota of 20,000 specified by him be filled.

Further Reports of the Massacre.

Steamers which have arrived at Liverpool from Sierra Leon report that a thousand persons were killed in the recent uprising in that district. Quite hundred and twenty inhabitants of Freetown, most of them traders are known to have been massacred and other colonists were carried into the bush by the "war boys" and undoubtedly met a worse fate. Three hundred friendly natives were killed and besides the white missionaries six colored missionaries of the United Brethren of Christ were murdered.

Duel With Pistols.

At a picnic at Tank Branch, near Mount Meigs, Montgomery county, Messrs. Charles Lucas, of Waugh, and Charles Perkins, of Cecil, had a trivial difficulty, which resulted in a duel with pistols between them, in which Mr. Lucas was instantly killed and Mr. Perkins shot three times, and it is thought he will die.

Young Lady Burned to Death.

By the accidental overturning of a large parlor lamp during an entertainment at the residence of Mr. Walter Cullers at Opelika, Miss Sallie Wimberly, of Greenville, lost her life and a half dozen others were more or less injured last Thursday night. The parlors were well filled with guests, when early in the evening, at 10 o'clock the awful catastrophe occurred. The lamp exploded at the feet of Miss Wimberly, and in an instant her clothing was ablaze. Some half dozen seized the unfortunate young lady, but their efforts to free her from the flames only inflicted injuries on themselves. The young woman tore away from her companions and rushed into the street, where she fell burned almost to a crisp. The following were injured: F. L. Yarbrough, George Williams, Dr. I. N. Stowe, Mrs. Walter Cullers, Miss Kittie Frazier, E. S. Thigpen and Walter Cullers.

SPAIN DESIRES PEACE

According to Private Advices Received at Vienna.

Private advices received at Vienna show that the situation in Spain is such that peace is speedily and earnestly desired. The finances of the country are threatened, and the famine and intrigues of the Carlists render peace imperative.

The Spanish government is drawing up a memorandum to the powers requesting their friendly intervention. France and Austria are prepared to accede to the request, while Russia and Germany disapprove of intervention.

A Mob's Work in Kansas.

In the public square fronting on the principal business street of Great Bend, Kan., a mobbing occurred Monday by a crowd of 800. It is estimated that at least 1,000 men of Great Bend's population of 2,000 persons witnessed the tragedy. The victim was John Becker, a white man, who on April 8 killed Myrtle Huff-Meister.

GOVERNMENT IS CAUTIOUS.

Moving to Secure Complete Success Unattended With Disaster

THIRTY-FOUR STEAMSHIPS ARE WAITING.

The Transportation Fleet and Convoy Will Make One of the Most Formidable Marine Processions Ever Witnessed in Any Country or Time.

WASHINGTON (Special).—Out of the maze of doubt and contradiction as to the departure of the first army of invasion to Cuba, the one thing stands out clearly, namely, the government is strong in its present position and plan, is moving cautiously and with deliberation which it believes will assure success unattended with disasters.

With this purpose in view, the army and navy are co-operating toward the dispatch of troops, some 25,000 in number, under escort of a strong fleet of naval convoys made up of sixteen warships, headed by the Indiana. Unattended by the strong fleet, the troops might have left last Friday, when one strong naval convoy was ready for this service. Since then, however, reports have come as to the presence of Spanish ships in the North Atlantic. Realizing that nothing was to be gained by haste and that the war was progressing steadily forward, it was determined not to take one small chance of having our transports menaced by some scouting ship of the enemy. As a result, the troop transports have not proceeded to Cuba, as has been repeatedly asserted. They are in readiness to go, but will not move until the naval convoy is ready to accompany them, assuring safe conduct from Florida to the point of destination.

The administration feels that the time has come when it is of the utmost importance that the precise movements of this invading fleet should not be published in this country and thus heralded to the enemy.

The completeness with which the transports of troops has been planned is shown in the official lis of transport vessels given out at the war department. Of this list thirty-four large steamships, varying from 4,100 tons down to 600 tons, are at Florida ports ready to carry our troops to the point of invasion. There are some fifteen other crafts, including vessels suitable for carrying fresh water, stores, etc., and for lightering the troops and supplies from the ships to the beach when the embarkation begins. The entire transportation fleet of about fifty steamships, augmented by the fleet of naval convoys, sixteen in number, will make a formidable marine procession.

SPANIARDS AGAIN SHELLED.

Sampson Pours Shot and Shell Into the Forts at Santiago.

LONDON.—(Special.)—Sampson has shelled the Spaniards again. Bermuda reports that it has cable connection with Havana, and that the Spanish there assert the Americans bombarded the Santiago forts again Friday, a fierce fire being kept up for three hours to cover the landing of troops near the harbor mouth. The Spanish reports declare that they twice repulsed the Americans, but do not go into details nor definitely say that they finally prevented a landing. The bombardment began early and continued until nearly noon, but just where the landing was attempted is not told in the Bermuda dispatch, nor could Bermuda secure any further details from Havana.

Bombarded Bai Quari.

HAVANA—(Special.)—Several American warships Friday bombarded Bai Quari, some distance east of Aguadores and near the railway line to Santiago de Cuba. Official advices from Santiago say that the bombardment caused no damage. Bai Quari is a mining locality and some of the mines are under American control. At the palace it is denied that there has been any bombardment of the Santiago fortifications.

FORT MONROE EXCITED.

Spanish Warships Reported to Be Lurking Off Cape Henry, Va.

At Fort Monroe intense excitement was caused Friday night by a dispatch received from the signal station at Cape Henry stating that Spanish warships were lurking in that vicinity. A short while later a message was received from Washington instructing the commandant of the fort to be on the alert. Reports as to the number of ships seen conflict. A lieutenant who was seen after midnight said he had been informed that a Spanish battleship, two cruisers and a torpedo boat had been caught under the searchlight at Cape Henry steaming from a northerly direction.

Guanatanamo Has Been Taken.

The navy department Friday posted the following bulletin:

On June 7 Admiral Sampson ordered the Marblehead, Commander McCalla, and the Yankee, Commander Brownsod, to take possession of the outer bay of Guanatanamo. These vessels entered the harbor at daylight on the 7th, driving a Spanish gunboat into the inner harbor and took possession of the lower bay, which is now held by the Marblehead.

ALABAMA TROOPS MAY GO TO THE FRONT.

Orders Received Countermanding the Removal of Men to Mt. Vernon.

A special from Mobile Monday night says: Orders were received about midnight countermanding all orders relative to the movement of troops from here to Mount Vernon. No explanation of the change is obtainable. It is surmised it means that the troops will be sent to the front.

This morning orders were received that the volunteers here, including two Texas, two Louisiana and one Alabama regiment located at Spring Hill, and one Alabama regiment now on the bay shore, the latter to be mustered in today, be transferred tomorrow to Mount Vernon, the old military post established by Jackson as the most suitable for a military station. This post is thirty miles from Mobile, on the Mobile and Birmingham railroad.

SECOND INVADING EXPEDITION

Is Being Hurried at the War Department. Will Select Other Ports.

WASHINGTON.—Arrangements for the second expedition of invasion from the United States for the West Indies are being hurried at the war department. There seems to be no doubt that this expedition, if its number approaches the first, will also be sent from the east coast of the United States. The experience in embarking at Tampa has convinced war department officials that other ports where railroad and other facilities are more adequate than at Tampa are much more desirable places for the concentration of troops and their embarkation.

A board of army officers for the past week has been forming various places in the south with a view to their occupation for camping purposes. Fernandina and Savannah are looked upon with favor by the war department officials as suitable ports for the departure of the invading army, and Charleston has been suggested.

Cadiz Squadron Is Unseaworthy.

The Madrid correspondent of the London Chronicle says: "Captain Aunon's reception along the route from Madrid to Cadiz was not very enthusiastic. The reserve squadron is not ready. Indeed, it is doubtful whether it will ever depart. The cruiser Alfonso XIII. is practically eliminated as unseaworthy, and the Princess de Astorias is unfinished on the dock with all her armament incapacitated. Probably Captain Aunon came to see why the Alfonso XIII. is unseaworthy or to avoid awkward questions in the cortes. The military governor of Cadiz is vigilant, and night alarms are frequent. The lighthouses have been destroyed and the forts strengthened, some twenty fresh guns being mounted, of which six are modern."

The Daily Chronicle comments upon the dispatch, and adds: "The bogie man reserve squadron ought no longer to frighten the most timid soul in America."

Egan Opposes Proposed Alliance.

Patrick Egan, former United States minister to Chili, has written a declaration of his views on the proposed Anglo-American alliance. In it he scored Joseph Chamberlain, Chauncey M. Depew and Joseph H. Choate as jingoes, tories and Anglo-maniacs. He warned the republicans and the administration at Washington of disaster unless it adheres more firmly to patriotic American moorings. He praises former Cabinet Minister John Morley for his repudiation of the sentiments recently expressed by the British secretary of state for the colonies.

Bond Subscriptions Asked For.

Secretary Gage has issued a circular to the public explaining the proposed bond issue, and inviting subscriptions from the people of the United States for $200,000,000 of the bonds of the 3 per cent loan authorized by congress. The bonds will be issued in both coupon and registered form, the coupon bonds in denominations of $20, $100, $500, $1,000 and $10,000.

Iowa's Troops to Join Lee.

The Forty-ninth regiment of Iowa volunteers arrived at Jacksonville Tuesday, where they go to join Gen. Fitzhugh Lee's corps. This was the first Iowa regiment to be called out during the war. Another of Iowa's regiments is on its way to San Francisco to join the Manila expedition, another has already gone to Jacksonville, and a fourth to Chickamauga.

Spanish Guerillas Resumed the Fight.

At 9 o'clock Sunday morning fighting was again resumed by the Spaniards at Guantanamo. The fire was promptly returned by the Americans with thirteen rifles and a 3-inch field gun, and in a short time all signs of the enemy had disappeared. No casualties were reported.

Will Raise Flag Over Hawaii.

Senators and representatives who called on President McKinley Monday say that after the house has voted for annexation, if the senate desires to filibuster, the flag will be raised over Hawaii by the president without waiting for the senate's action.

An Important Capture.

The United States cruiser St. Louis captured the British steamer Twickenham off the coast of Jamaica. The vessel had been acting as a s ting steamer for the Spaniards.

Eleven Men Injured in an Explosion.

A disastrous explosion occurred at the smelting plant of the Arkansas Mining Company, near Hatfield, Ark. Eleven men were injured, eight seriously, and some of them cannot recover.

In consequence of the short notice given, the meeting of Editors of the Reform Press called for last Thursday at Birmingham, was postponed until Wednesday, June 22. It is hoped that every Reform Editor in the State will be at Birmingham on Wednesday next, when a vigorous plan of the campaign will be decided upon. The meeting is called for 12, noon, at the Opera House Hotel.

YELLOW FEVER has started early this season, seven cases being reported from McHenry, Miss. Every precaution has been taken to prevent the spread of the disease, and it having been discovered in time it is greatly to be hoped it will be confined to the one locality. Quarantine is strictly enforced against the infected district, and everyone should see at once that their premises are thoroughly cleaned up, then the danger will be reduced to a minimum.

By an unfortunate mistake of the types last week the date of the opening of the state campaign was made to read Monday, June 30, when it should have been Monday, June 20. We want to impress upon the people of Chilton county that this is the first move in the State campaign and in order to give it a good send off every Populist in the county should make a point of being here. Congressman M. W. Howard, of the Seventh district, Hon. G. B. Deans, candidate for Governor, Hon. J. M. Whitehead, candidate for Attorney-General, Dr. G. B. Crowe, chairman of the State campaign committee, and other well-known speakers will be on hand and address the meeting. Don't forget the date, it is NEXT Monday, June 20.

THE Democratic county convention is over and, ignoring the recommendation of their state committee, no nominations were made for our county offices. This amounts to an acknowledgement on the part of our Democratic friends that they realize it is impossible to beat the Populist ticket. Of course, they are glad to see the independent candidates making a fight and to some extent will give them their aid and assistance, but which of the independent candidates will be benefitted by their assistance is rather problematical. There is still some talk of another independent candidate for the Probate Judge's office, but it seems to be mere talk, and we are inclined to think none but those now before the public need be taken into consideration.

POLITICS are stirring these hot days, and from now until August promises to be a warm time. With the public speaking at Clanton on Monday next the campaign is fairly under weigh, and the State will be sytematically canvassed. The great fight is really for and against a constitutional convention. Some of the Democratic party are determined to have a new constitution, but there is a large element of Democratic voters opposed to that policy. Populists and Republicans understand the proposed new constitution is in reality intendid to cut down their voting strength, and their united efforts should be made to elect representatives to the legislature who will oppose the constitutional convention.

THE American flag has been raised on Cuban soil, and the first engagement between American soldiers and the Spanish occured last Saturday. Four Americans were killed, but how many Spaniards were slain could not be definitely ascertained. Fifteen thousand troops have left Tampa, and it is expected they would land at Santiago to-day. An expedition is preparing for Porto Rico, and Dewey will soon be reinforced at Manilla. Stirring events may be looked for.

Spanish Failure in the Philippines.

The Spaniards honestly tried to make Europeans of the Malays and bring them into the bonds of civil life. They failed hopelessly, because the race genius of the Malays is wholly out of tune with European civil life, and because that very civil life, existing for the privileged classes, carries within it the seeds of anarchy which are destined to break forth at home, and which will break forth the more certainly when difference of race aggravates the mischief of difference of caste and privilege.

The Spaniards honestly tried to make the Malays Christians. They totally failed, though they made them so in name. Race genius was against them, and race genius is strong as death. The Anglo-Indians say frankly that there are only two religions in the East, white man's religion and black man's religion and that only fools try to mingle them. And if the English who govern India had their way and were not cowed by public opinion, they would drive out the missionaries to-morrow as a gang of breeders of mischief. But the Spaniards, the Catholic monks and friars, honestly tried to convert the Malays to the Church of Christ, as they understood it. They succeeded to the ear and failed to the heart. And when they saw their failure they lost faith and began to enrich themselves at the Malays' expense. And the Malays turned against this alien church with its privileges, as it was decreed by destiny that they must turn.—From "The Philippines in History," by Charles Johnston, in American Monthly Review of Reviews for June.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption, and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr, King's New Discovery for Consumption, she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefitted from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, fouud herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at Dr. Johnson's Drug Store. Large bottles 50 cents and $1.00,

The State committee is wise in determining to force a straight party issue in all the counties. There will be no alliances, and no alignments outside the party organization. Democrats must vote straight democrats, and for no others. The leaders of democratic factions are invited to consult and advise with the committee as to the conduct of the campaign, so that there may be a clear understanding and harmony maintained. And all who are democrats will vote the regular ticket, or pass over to the enemy, whatever name he calls himself.—Montgomery Journal.

the nomination at the district convention, the Chilton delegation be instructed to vote for Rebbins for second choice, provided Robbins carries Dallas county. The motion was agreed to and the delegates so instructed.

A suggestion was then made to go ahead and nominate a Judge of Probate, but before the suggestion was acted upon a motion was made to adjourn sine die, and this being put to the convention was carried and the proceedings closed at 5 p. m.

Populist Nebraska seems to be a hot place for Pinkerton men. Several of these worthies have been dealt with summarily by Chief of Police Gallagher of Omaha.

A big scandal in regard to the failure to secure legislation in Nebraska unfavorable to the big express companies is coming to the surface. A boodle fund is said to have been dispensed with a lavish hand during the last two sessions of the legislature, blocking all efforts to regulate and limit charges of these rapacious monopolies.

The recent split in the populist ranks in Illinois, as exemplified in the state convention, has been repeated in many county meetings throughout the state.

The employes of the Singer sewing machine works at South Bend, Ind., are striking for a return to the scale of wages of 1892. Over 1,000 workers are out.

Senator Butler's amendment to the war revenue bill, providing for the substitution of a postal savings bank system for the proposed bond issue, was defeated.

The Senate has passed the Republican amendment to the war revenue bill which provides for the issue of $400,000,000 of bonds. The vote was 45 to 31. The bond amendment was really a substitute for the legal tender note feature. All of the Republicans and seven Democrats and one Populist voted for it. The Democrats were Caffery Faulkner, Gorman, Gray, Lindsay, Mitchell and Murphy. Kyle was the Populist.

Senator Pettigrew's amendment to the war revenue bill which was intended to repeal the law of 1875 under which the Secretary of the treasury issues bonds without the authority of Congress, was defeated by a vote of 43 to 31.

A bill passed by the Senate provides that service in the war with Spain on the part of homesteaders, shall be considered as residence and work upon the land and that by enlistment the claim shall not be forfeited.

Ex-Senator Peffer has accepted the Prohibition nomination as candidate for governor of Kansas with the understanding that financial discussions are to be eliminated from the state campaign. It is generally understood that Mr. Peffer still holds a grudge against the Populists of Kansas because they saw fit to retire him to private life.

The election in Oregon resulted in a victory for the Republicans, which fact is heralded by the gold-ite press as an evidence of the decline of the silver "heresy." As purely local issues entered into the campaign the result has little national significance.

A. R.

Every Populist in the county should come to the opening of the State campaign at Clanton on Monday next, June 20. Lots of good speakers. Congressman Howard, G. B. Deans, J. M. Whitehead, Dr. Crowe and other speakers will be on hand.

HOW are the children this summer? Are they doing well? Do they get all the benefit they should from their food? Are their cheeks and lips of good color? And are they hearty and robust in every way?

If not, then give them

of cod liver oil with hypophosphites.

It never fails to build up delicate boys and girls. It gives them more flesh and better blood.

It is just so with the baby also. A little Scott's Emulsion, three or four times a day, will make the thin baby plump and prosperous. It furnishes the young body with just the material necessary for growing bones and nerves.

THE UNIFORM BALE.

It seems that under the auspices of Cotton Growers' Protective Association in Texas there has been arranged a great diversity of the crops. The farmers have been drawn closer together for their mutual benefit, and a great reform in the baling of cotton has resulted, and the barrier heretofore existing between the planters and the mercantile interests have been broken down, and they are now working in unison and harmony to secure a diversity of crops and the improvement of American cotton baling to the standard size, 24x54 inches. There are too many advantages to be derived from the adoption of this size bale to be covered in a short interview. He said among other things that the adoption of this uniform bale will not only save the farmers a vast amount of money, but it will so improve the present system of baling cotton, that if at any future time a better system should be introduced the farmers would be in a position to fix the terms upon which they would use it. At the meeting in Atlanta Mr. A. F. Churchill, of Brunswick, Ga., a large steamship agent, said that if he could be given cotton pressed in this uniform box, 24x54 inches, of an average density of forty pounds per cubic foot, which it has been demonstrated could be obtained, he would be willing to make contracts for the delivery of cotton from Brunswick to all European points at a reduction in freight rates of 50 per cent. He stated that the present rate from Brunswick to Bremen and Liverpool was 65 cents, and that for cotton baled by this standard he would be willing to make contracts at 32½ cents per hundred pounds, thereby creating a saving to the farmers of the South of $1. 67½ per bale.—Montgomery Advertiser.

A TEXAS WONDER.

Hall's Great Discovery.

One small bottle of Hall's Great Discovery cures all kidney and bladder troubles, removes gravel, cures diabetes, seminal emissions, weak and lame back, rheumatism and all irregularities of the kidneys and bladder in both men and women. Regulates bladder troubles in children. If not sold by your druggist, will be sent by mail on receipt of $1. One small bottle is two month's treatment, and will cure any case above mentioned. E. W. Hall sole manufacturer. P. O. Box 218. Waco, Texas. For sale by Dr. J. S. Johnson jr., Clanton, Ala.

Chronic Dyspepsia Cured.

AFTER suffering for nearly thirty years from dyspepsia, Mrs. H. E. Dugdale, wife of a prominent business man of Warsaw, N. Y., writes: "For 28 years, I was a constant sufferer from dyspepsia and a weak stomach. The lightest food produced distress, causing severe pain and the formation of gas. No matter how careful of my diet I suffered agonizing pain after eating. I was treated by many physicians and tried numerous remedies without permanent help. Two years ago I began taking Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills and Nervine. Within a week I commenced improving, and persisting in the treatment I was soon able to eat what I liked, with no evil effects. I keep them at hand and a single dose dispels any old symptoms."

Blood and Brawn

Impoverished blood means loss of strength. Probably seventy-five per cent. of the diseases with which mankind is afflicted are caused by impure blood. Very many diseases—such as tetter, eczema, scrofula, erysipelas, etc., could not exist if the blood were perfectly pure. V. V. V. makes pure blood. It is composed of natural vegetable remedial agents skillfully compounded in the exact proportions to secure right results.

V. V. V.

The Great Family Remedy

thoroughly cleanses the blood, tones up the whole system and brings back health, strength and happiness.

A purely vegetable, compound and a wonderful specific, we only for all blood and skin diseases, but, for rheumatism, catarrh, liver and kidney complaints, dyspepsia, malaria, etc. Sold by all dealers in medicine, or sent by mail on receipt of $1. A book of value mailed to anyone on request.

HABERS, MORROW & SIMMONS, Birmingham, Ala.

MONEY AND TRADE.

RESTRICT THE FORMER AND THE LATTER IS HURT.

The Policy of the Republican Party Seems to Be to Restrict Both Money and Trade for the Benefit of the Monopolies.

Barter is out of date. It was always an unwieldy system, and during its use trade moved slowly. It was because of this slow movement of trade that the barter system had to be finally abandoned. A general medium of exchange took its place. This medium we call currency. It is valuable just in the degree that it allows business to move freely and quickly. Any restriction of the currency decreases the value of the general system to the public, but increases the value of every unit to the individual possessing it.

Money is a vehicle of transfer as much as a cart or a bushel measure. If a quantity of anything has to be transferred to a certain place the fewer the carts available the longer will it require for the transfer. If a mountain of dirt has to be moved to another place the number of laborers that can be employed in the work will be determined by the number of carts that can be secured for the work. It is not otherwise in the great domain of commerce. When the volume of money is too small for the proper conveying of values the first result is idle laborers. When trade is normal there should be no idle labor. The increase of population should make no difference in this principle, for when a new laborer comes into the field a new consumer of labor comes also. If conditions are right the consumer will always use up all that the producer can make. The world has never been too full of goods if they could only be distributed.

While there have never been in the world more goods than the people could use if they could get them, yet the increase of goods has almost always been more rapid than the increase of the currency. Increase the currency as rapidly as goods increase, and you thereby increase the consuming power of every man, woman and child. Increase the currency as fast as the goods increase and prices keep up, while the volume of exchange increases as rapidly as the goods. Under our civilization money has become the key to material happiness. If we restrict its volume we decrease the happiness of the whole world, for we lay upon all men the necessity of waiting for their share of good things till the carts that are in so great demand get around to delivering to each one a portion of goods. As the carts can never catch up with the work they have to do, nearly all of the people must put up with a small share of what really belongs to them.

In the face of these great truths we find a party in every nation bending its energy to restrict the currency. It proudly tells the world that it is working for a more "valuable dollar," and hopes thereby to benefit mankind. As the only way to make the dollar more valuable is to restrict the number of dollars, the process is easy. If it be true that what hampers trade distresses the people, then there is no figuring out the misery that has been caused by the party of restrictions in the United States alone.

There are to be congressional elections this fall and the people will have the opportunity to declare in favor of the free flow of trade or of its restriction. The man that votes for the party of the gold standard votes to place beyond the reach of himself and family a part of the goods belonging by rights to himself. Only in the party that would coin to their full volume both gold and silver can be found the true developers of trade and conferers of happiness.—H. F. Thurston.

BIMETALLISM.

There is only one side to this question of bimetallism. If you argue from the standpoint of the welfare of the majority there is absolutely not one argument to be advanced, philosophical, historical, or practical, in behalf of a single gold standard that is not susceptible of instantaneous and triumphant refutation; not one.

The only defense for it is the defense that is made in England, where they say, "We admit that the gold standard causes an appreciating money unit; that it grows big while everything else grows little. That is the reason we want it."

They say the rest of the world has to pay England $675,000,000, or thereabouts, tribute every year. How is it paid? In products. One hundred and forty-five millions of pounds sterling of adverse balance of trade in merchandise against Great Britian, offset by six millions, or thereabouts, of exported specie, leave about a hundred and thirty-nine million pounds sterling every year that she must go abroad for, paid to her for interest on the public and private debts that nations, corporations, and individuals in the rest of the world are owing to her.

Harcourt said in Parliament:

"These debts are paid to us in the products of those countries. Shall we therefore accept a policy that will pay us half as many products as now?"

And you and I who furnish the products with which this debt is paid to England are asked to continue a policy which will constantly make us give more of everything that we raise to pay England the same nominal amount of money.

If you argue, therefore, in behalf of the favored class who are out of debt and have debts in gold owing to them, or of a great creditor nation out of debt and having debts owing to it payable in gold or the equivalent of gold in products of labor, then you can defend the gold standard.

C. A. TOWNE.

ALFRED H. LOVE, TRAITOR.

There is a society with headquarters in Philadelphia bearing the flamboyant title of The Universal Peace Union. Its president is an eminent traitor named Alfred H. Love.

Scientists have asserted that love is a disease, but this particular Love is a pestilence. He has written a letter to the Queen Regent of Spain in which he says:

"Our hearts are full of sympathy for you in your no doubt embarrassed position, but the right will sustain you. Our country would receive you if your people rebel in your efforts to avail of any opening to still avert war and meet the demands of humanity, freedom and peace."

This fellow, Love, has free quarters in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, and dates his traitorous letter from that cradle of liberty. In the room of this society a Spanish flag was found ostentatiously displayed.

If the Universal Peace Union continues to occupy a room in Independence Hall the authorities of Philadelphia will be guilty of harboring an enemy to this country. President Love's love letter to the Queen Regent of Spain was stopped in the mail by United States authorities, but Love boasts that he forwarded a copy in a roundabout way.

Love should be sent to join the Spaniards whom he loves. There is no place in the United States for the president of the Universal Peace Union who is also a traitor.

Another fact: This is the same Love that organized a "sound money" parade in the interest of the Republican presidential candidate in 1896. He should be made short work of.

Hancock and Barnum.

A committee appointed by the Rhode Island legislature has just reported that the depression in the cotton industry is the result of overproduction or underconsumption, or both. This is luminous, blinding in its effulgence. The committee does not recommend much of any thing, but suggests that lower duties on machinery and other materials of the manufacturer might be wise. At the same time it is careful to say that the present tariff policy should not be changed. Of course not. Apply the policy except when it hurts us. Never mind the other fellows. But the other fellows are meanwhile appointing wise men to think for them, and counter recommendations may be expected of exactly the same sort, of opposite application. Truly the tariff is a local question. Gen. Hancock was right. Protect our locality, but no other. And while the local and special interests fight each other for exclusive privilege to reap where they do not sow, the people suffer, but sustain the policy. Barnum, too, was right; for the people like to be fooled. —Post-Dispatch.

Fitting Rebuke to Professor Norton.

In spite of Professor Norton's ill-advised attempt to stifle the patriotic spirit among the students at Harvard these young men continue their loyal demonstrations with increasing enthusiasm. His pro-British, pro-Spanish theories do not move the whole number of students. Many of them have already enlisted in the army and navy; dozens of others are eager to do so, and the entire student body has united in presenting a beautiful set of colors to the auxiliary cruiser which has been named in honor of the university. These acts form a stinging rebuke to Professor Norton's un-American utterances. This same Norton almost dislocated his jawbone yelling for "national honor" in 1896. He ought to be given his passports back to Canada.

May Be No Emergency.

Better a fusion with Silver Republicans than a total absorption of the party in a Democratic alliance. Better a straight-out Populist ticket than all—sink or swim by it, and be in shape for 1900, when Fitzhugh Lee, backed by gold Democrats, will try to kill Bryan.—Denver Road.

That's right. Brother Georg, keep the Populists together for emergencies. But have no fear that Fitzhugh Lee or anybody else will run away with the Democratic party. The one good turn that Cleveland did the party was to make it careful whom it shall nominate. Bryan will be just as big a man in 1900 as he is now. The Democratic party will be bigger.—Ed. National Democrat.

A Republican.

Coming up on the train the other day we noticed a very important individual shooting off his mouth in a very self-satisfied sort of a way. "There are too many people," he said, "and it is a good thing to kill off a whole lot of them in the war." There is a political economist for you. We asked him if he was aware of the fact that the killing of these people would make less mouths to feed, and if he was not familiar with the other fact that there is already an over-production of food stuff? The world is full of such political economists, who reason things out on the line of this man who sits at home and urges others to go to the front and get killed.—The New Road.

Forced into defending the nation's honor by the demands of the people, the republican party cannot snatch the glory of a war they were anxious to avoid.

AMERICAN FINANCE.

AS ADVOCATED BY REPRESENTATIVE GUNN.

The Terrible Results of the European Financial System That Will Be Reproduced in Our Country Unless a Halt Is Called.

In debating the bond bill, Representative Gunn, of Idaho, said:

I have ever been an advocate of an American financial system. Why not? When we established our government we abandoned the European governmental system.

It is a common expression among the single standard advocates that we must follow the financial methods that the experience of all civilized nations have proven to be the best. By this is meant European nations. When we look at the conditions in Europe what do we see there that claims our admiration? In time of profound peace huge standing armies eating up the substance of the people; a moneyed class that owns the earth controls the circulating medium, and swarms of human beings living at the lowest round of poverty and destitution. It has been thus on that continent as far back as the memory or the annals of man reach. The money controlled by the few, the masses with a monopoly on nothing but poverty. To me it is a source of surprise that any American would advocate the adoption of a system that has produced such disastrous results.

The men who laid the foundation of our governmental system were not idle dreamers or vain tourists; they were energetic, practical men, who were not afraid to try new theories in government. They made every man equal before the law, placing like opportunities before all. Every nation in Europe declared that the experiment was dangerous and impracticable and would end in disaster.

They adopted a constitutional government based on the free and untrammeled will of the majority; divided governmental functions between three co-ordinate branches—the executive, legislative and judicial—with the powers of each defined and limited by a written constitution. Outside of the United States it might be said that all nations raised their voice with one accord against this innovation in the construction of a government. It was said to be contrary to the experience of all mankind. In every government that then existed the executive was the overshadowing power and the other departments were all subject to it.

We decreed manhood suffrage, free speech and freedom of conscience—all innovations on the established order of things and all against the experience of the human family.

After more than a century we have demonstrated the wisdom of our fathers, and Europe, perhaps unconsciously, pays tribute to their worth, for all nations on that continent, with the exception of Russia and Turkey, have remodeled their governments more or less closely on the lines their fathers rejected one hundred years ago. It is dangerous to say that we must adopt a financial system because other nations have always had such a system. Had this argument prevailed in the days of Washington, Jefferson and Ben Franklin we would not have had a written constitution today, nor would we have had free speech, free press, freedom of conscience, nor any of the other blessings handed down to us by a wise, patriotic and noble ancestry. Therefore, when the argument is used in a discussion of the financial issues that we must adopt European methods, no attention should be paid to it, for it is contrary to the history, traditions and experience of our government.

We adopted European financial methods, it is true, and are endeavoring to perpetuate them, and it is drawing us down to European conditions. The system that produces abject poverty on the other side of the Atlantic Ocean will produce a like state of affairs on this side of the ocean. It should be a patriotic study with every citizen how to substitute improved American methods for the enervating, poverty-breeding system in vogue in the Old World.

Measure the extent of country and count the people who are using money today; then measure the extent of country and count the people who used it one hundred years ago, and you will find that the production is not keeping pace with the demand.

The money of final redemption is gold. It is the sole standard by which values are measured. Of this metal the human family has at its disposal in the shape of coin $4,000,000,000, or about $4 to each inhabitant of the earth using money. This scant supply accounts for the poverty and distress which encumbers the earth; this is why we have periodical famines. The earth always produces enough for man, and with our rapid means of travel all parts of the globe can be easily and speedily reached.

The closing of the mints in British India was followed by a famine the most terrible of modern times. Not less than 8,000,000 of human beings perished. It is true that a drought afflicted a large area of the country. As a consequence there was a short crop in some localities and a total failure in others; yet there were large sections of the country that produced food enough for all.

Julian Hawthorne, an American writer, was sent by the Cosmopolitan Magazine to write up the Indian famine for that publication. In one of his communications he made the following statement (Cosmopolitan Magazine for August, 1897):

"As to sending grain, as I see has already been done, it can only result in harm to the starving persons, for there is at this moment grain enough in India to feed everybody there. This grain is held by native dealers and is sold at the highest possible price. Now, if we import grain and sell it at a low figure or give it away, the course of trade is disturbed, the dealers withdraw altogether from the market, and the condition is far worse than ever. * * * Unless you are willing to take upon your shoulders the whole burden of supplying 300,000,000 people with grain, you are only doing harm by sending any grain at all."

Mr. Hawthorne in the foregoing says there is plenty of grain in India to feed the starving millions, and advises against sending any grain to that country. In the next quotation he tells how to arrest the famine.

"Send money, and it will enable those who need grain to buy it. The dealer will be enriched, no doubt, but the people will be saved. * * * Let each of us remember that $1, properly applied, will keep a human being alive in India a month."

The pitiful sum of $1 was all that was needed to carry a starving wretch over a month, but the poor native did not have the dollar. Thus you see the fact is established that the famine was not caused by want of grain, but by want of money. At the time that starvation was running riot in India the British government closed the mints, added to the dearth of money, and thus accelerated the work of starvation.

We have about exhausted the fertile resources of the English language in the denunciation of General Weyler, but he stands as a white-robed angel alongside of those who created the money famine in British India.

We were all witnesses of strange scenes in the United States but a few years ago. In 1893, when we repealed the Sherman law and so many of the silver mines closed down, thousands of laborers were thrown out of employment. Whole communities were abandoned, families were forced to separate, while the husband, with a roll of blankets on his back, penniless and heartbroken, started out in the world to seek employment and to endeavor once more to build up a home where he could gather his family around him. Too often they sought companionship in the ranks of the "commonweal army," and in bands and small groups of ragged, dirty and half-starved men begged their way from door to door.

These horrible sights were witnessed in the United States at a time when our harvests were so abundant that political theorists found fault with the farmers because they had caused an overproduction. Agricultural products were so cheap that they brought the farmer no adequate return for his labor. To say that his bins were bursting was no figure of speech; it was an actual fact. At this time, strange to say, the land swarmed with men half clad and hungry. This is the condition we came to under the operations of the gold-standard—hungry and ill-fed men in the midst of abundance. Like the poor wretch in India, a dollar would keep him a long time, but he did not have the dollar. Under the gold standard they were scarce. A dearth of money worked just the same in the United States as it did in India.

The Plutocratic Programme.

The financial lords, who have milked the labor and enterprise of the civilized world since Joseph worked his famous corner on corn in Egypt, are keenly alive to everything that affects their interests, and always "view with alarm" any indication that people are likely to learn the true nature of the bunco game that is played upon them. Here is what the London Times said in 1865:

"If that mischievous financial policy which had its origin in the North American republic during the late civil war in that country should become indurated down to a fixture, then that government will furnish its money without cost."

What a calamity—to the usurers—that would be! The Times discerned further doleful conditions resulting from our people creating their own tools of trade—for that is all money is—and continues:

"It will pay off its debts and be without debt. It will have all the money that is necessary to carry on its trade and its commerce. It will become prosperous beyond precedent in the history of civilized governments of the world. The brains and the wealth of all countries will go to North America. That government must be destroyed or it will destroy every monarchy on this globe."

But there was no hope that this government could be destroyed by force of arms. But its statesmen could be corrupted and a financial policy fostered upon it which, in its consequences, would be more disastrous than war, and as effectually subjugate our people as could the most conclusive victory by force of arms.—Cleveland Recorder.

The Patriotic Oil Magnates.

The bankers of Europe have refused to loan Spain any more money. It requires money to carry on a war, and as Spain has chosen war, it is presumed that she has received financial aid from some quarter. It is rumored that on March 23 Spain sold her oil privileges to the Standard Oil company and that the price paid runs into the millions. The Standard has been trying to secure these privileges for some time, and probably took advantage of the situation. We should remember that the Standard stockholders are all American citizens, and that they depend principally upon America for a market. We should also remember that the date of the rumored sale was eight days after the Spaniards blew up the Maine and war between the two countries was an assured fact.—Indianapolis Union.

THE SOLACE A SUCCESS.

Surgeon-General Van Reypen Pleased With the New Naval Hospital Ship.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—Surgeon-General Van Reypen, of the Navy, is back from a trip to New York, where he inspected the naval ambulance ship, the Solace, and saw the sick and wounded brought up from Admiral Sampson's fleet, fifty-four in all. The wounded include those who participated in the engagements at Cardenas, Cienfuegos and Matanzas. The men are doing well, and there will be no fatalities resulting. One of the men will lose an arm, as that member was so blown to pieces by a shell that amputation above the elbow was necessary. All the other patients will be more fortunate.

Surgical science has made great advances since the Civil War, and there will be no such loss of limbs and other permanent disfigurements as occurred thirty years ago.

The sick men, about forty-four in number, have no signs of contagious diseases, their ailments being chronic, such as consumption, heart disease, etc. They were taken from the fighting ships, as the Northern latitude will aid in their recovery, and also because sickness on board ship has a depressing influence on the fighting crews. The sufferers, both sick and wounded, show their delight when taken aboard the Solace. It is appointed like a modern hospital, with cheerful wards and every facility toward restoring health.

Some of the old tars speedily named the Solace the "ice-cream ship," as the ice-making machine aboard permitted the nurses to give the sick and wounded ice-cream as one of the delicacies. When chicken was served to some of the patients they declared that they were now living in a hotel. The substantials are furnished by the Navy, but many delicacies, such as lemons, oranges, jellies, chickens, etc., have been furnished by private contribution, and are looked upon in the care of the sick as almost essential as solid foods.

As the Solace is a neutral ship, under the Red Cross, all ports are open to her. She has returned to the Key West squadron.

A BRAVE ENSIGN.

Great Courage Displayed by Joseph W. Powell While Aiding Hobson.

Naval Cadet Joseph W. Powell, who ran the launch of the flagship New York up in under the guns of Morro Castle, Santiago de Cuba, and there waited in hope of rescuing the Merrimac's crew, is a native of Oswego, N. Y. He is but twenty-one years old, having been appointed to the Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1893 and having been graduated in 1897. He stood third in a class of sixty-two at graduation. At the declaration of hostilities he was taking a supplemental course in the naval construction corps, from which he was assigned to Admiral Sampson's flagship.

The Ensign and those with him in the launch were exposed to the fire of the shore batteries and showed great courage and coolness. Oswego is justly enthusiastic over its son's exploit.

Feud Brings Lawlessness.

Circuit Judge Brown, of Laurel County, who has been holding court at Manchester, Clay County, Kentucky, will call on Governor Bradley for troops to suppress the Howard-Baker feud. The Howards are now strongly intrenched in town, while the Bakers are about twelve miles out in the country. Bitter feeling has existed since the killing of ex-Sheriff White by Tom and Ans Baker.

Kentucky's Fine Wheat Crop.

The crop report issued by Kentucky State Agricultural Commissioner Moore shows the State average for wheat to be the best record in the history of the State. Other crops are proportionately flourishing.

Suicide Because He Was Left Behind.

Private Rich, of the First Regiment, South Dakota Volunteers, committed suicide at Sioux Falls with morphine because he had been left behind by the regiment.

Spain's Shocking Misery.

Countess Casa Valencia, wife of the former Spanish Ambassador to Great Britain, who started a Spanish fund in London, which realized only $5000, has received from Madrid a despatch describing the shocking misery of the Spanish sick and wounded.

Japanese Officers to Go to Cuba.

Secretary Alger granted special permission to Commander Ketsuro Narita, of the Imperial Japanese Navy, and Lieutenant Saneyuki Akiyama, to go with the army of occupation of Cuba.

Little 4-year-old Fannie had been given a piece of bony shad for breakfast, but left it untouched upon her plate. "Why, Fannie," asked her mother, "what is the reason you don't eat your fish?" "Because," was the reply, "dis piece is all full of splinters."

Nettie, aged 4, was sitting on the floor crying. Suddenly she ceased and seemed lost in thought and a moment later she asked: "Mamma, what was I cwyin' about jus' now?" "Because I wouldn't give you any more candy," replied her mother. "Oh, yes, I 'member now!" she exclaimed; and the tears began to flow afresh.

Women in Business.

From the Free Press, Detroit, Mich.

A prominent business man recently expressed the opinion that there is one thing that will prevent women from completely filling man's place in the business world—they can't be depended upon because they are sick too often. This is refuted by Mrs. C. W. Mansfield, a business woman of 58 Farrar St., Detroit, Mich., who says:

"A complication of female ailments kept me awake nights and wore me out. I could get no relief from medicine and hope was slipping away from me. A young lady in my employ gave me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I took them and was able to rest at night for the first time in months. I bought more and took them and they cured me as they also cured several other people to my knowledge. I think that if you should ask any of the druggists of Detroit, who are the best buyers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills they would say the young women. These pills certainly build up the nervous system and many a young woman owes her life to them.

"As a business woman I am pleased to recommend them as they did more for me than any physician and I can give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People credit for my general good health today."

Suddenly Prostrated.

No discovery of modern times has done so much to enable women to take their proper place in life by safe-guarding their health as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Acting directly on the blood and nerves, invigorating the body, regulating the functions, they restore the strength and health to the exhausted woman when every effort of the physician proves unavailing.

For the growing girl they are of the greatest benefit, for the mother indispensable, for every woman invaluable.

For paralysis, locomotor ataxia, and other diseases, long supposed incurable, these pills have proved their efficacy in thousands of cases.

Mother—Mali, I wish you'd never go to Frau Hofrathin's house! Daughter—But why not, mamma? Mother—Because she's always gadding about the streets! Why, she actually has printed on her visiting cards, "At home Mondays from four o'clock!" The Lord only knows where she can be the rest of the time.—Der Floh.

At Hamburg, in Germany, and Dantzic, in Prussia, the longest day has seventeen hours. At St. Petersburg, Russia, and Tobolsk, Siberia, the longest is nineteen hours, and the shortest five hours. At Tornea, Finland, June 21 brings a day nearly twenty-two hours long, and Christmas one less than three hours in length. At Wardbury, Norway, the longest day lasts from May 21 to July 22 without interruption, and in Spitzbergen the longest day is three and a half months. At St. Louis the longest day is somewhat less than fifteen hours, and at Montreal, Canada, it is sixteen.—Saturday Evening Post.

GOOD ROADS NOTES.

Instruction in Road-Building.

With the building of better highways there has arisen a demand for practical road-builders and competent highway engineers, not only for occasional work in constructing country roads, but for permanent positions as street superintendents and road commissioners in towns and cities. This demand is beginning to be recognized, and preparations made to meet it, by affording courses of instruction on the subject in various institutions, public exhibitions of the working of road machinery, and in other ways.

As Massachusetts was among the first to improve her highways, so she was about the earliest to provide instruction on the subject of road-building. In the Institute of Technology and the Lawrence Scientific School, Harvard University, complete courses of instruction are given; models, drawings and photographs are used in the the lecture rooms, and visits are made to works in process of construction. Anyone may enroll himself in the course in highway engineering at the Lawrence Scientific School, by the payment of a small fee.

But, however good the instruction furnished to young men in institutions of learning, it will be some years before their training is completed, and more years before they acquire the experience that will make them most valuable. In the meantime, roads must be built, and those engaged in building them, and others who are responsible for the care of them, require practical instruction. To afford this, in connection with the construction of the State highways, has always been a feature of the work of the Massachusetts Highway Commission.

In the last four years the State has expended nearly two million dollars on its roads. The work has been located in 125 different municipalities scattered throughout the State, out of a total of 353, or over one-third of the entire number. Fifty other municipalities have built modern roads, or 175 in all: so that almost exactly one-half of the entire number of towns and cities have had experience in first-class road-building. As towns are given the first choice of taking contracts to construct State highways in their own territory, and many have undertaken it, there are hundreds of men scattered over the State who have had actual experience in building some of the best roads in the world. This alone has proved a valuable means of disseminating information. One result is that good foremen can now be readily secured where, four years ago, it was a difficult task.

High-class road-building, according to the most approved, scientific methods, and the use of modern machinery, in so many widely-separated localities, has afforded town officials, whose duty it is to look after the roads, opportunities for obtaining information that they could get in no other way. These men ordinarily fill other offices and are engaged in business, and have no time to leave home to study road-building theoretically; but, when roads are constructed near their doors, under competent supervision, they are quick to appreciate it.

The Highway Commission employ about sixty resident engineers, one of whom is stationed wherever the State builds a road, to instruct the contractor in the methods to be employed, and he remains on the ground from start to finish. These engineers are, in turn, looked after by five divisional engineers and a chief engineer, to secure uniformity. At the end of the season, all the engineers are called together, and discuss the year's work in detail. The meetings are lively and interesting, and anyone who has attended them will appreciate their value.

Besides this, the Commission holds a public hearing in each county every year. Town officials, and all others interested in the roads, attend them, and views are freely interchanged. An association has also been formed, at whose meetings experiences are interchanged and papers read. By these methods the young and inexperienced man learns both theory and practice, and the older practical man becomes acquainted with modern theories.—L. A. W. Bulletin.

Free Delivery Depends on Roads.

To promote the business, social and educational interests of the people are the objects of the Road Inquiry Bureau and the Postoffice Department of the Government. Having these things in view, they desire to extend the system of free rural postal delivery, and will test it under all conditions. Routes have been selected in New Jersey and Pennsylvania over stone, gravel, clay and dirt roads, and the results in each case will be carefully noted. It is obvious that they must prove most satisfactory where the work can be done most rapidly and regularly in all weathers—that is, on the best roads.

In considering this question, E. G. Harrison, the Government road expert says, "the advantages of delivering letters to factories and other industrial establishments, particularly where large numbers are employed, need not be dwelt upon. The mails left at public schools can be distributed to a great number of families through the pupils living remote from postoffice and carrier routes. Letters brought to the nearest school for mailing can be collected by the rural letter-carrier to the nearest postoffice for mailing. Teachers can use these letters as object-lessons in giving suggestions and instruction in regard to proper, plain and neat addressing, etc. In schools remote from postoffices, the teachers might, with advantage, be made stamp agents, and in this way families far away from postoffices can be supplied with stamps, stamped envelopes and postal cards. This will promote letter-writing and use of mails, and will also insure more regular school attendance. The rural districts are anxious for free postal delivery. They need it. It will come with good roads and be a practical advantage which they will realize and appreciate."

Circulation is Life.

The roads and highways of a civil division are as the veins and arteries of the human system, says the Suffern Independent. Life and health, that is, business and prosperity, of each part can be had and secured only by the freest circulation, and the conduits must not be allowed to clog. While the limb would wither if the circulation was interrupted, the heart would also suffer. Where would the proud city of New York be without her magnificent railways, and what would have been her condition if the great blizzard of 1888 had continued a month?

The village with its paved streets and flagged walks may say, "let the farmer build his roads; he is the party benefitted." The lord of the manor who surrounds his grounds with a high wall and morass, and then beautifies his place for his own enjoyment and benefit, may be wise if he has within himself all he requires to satisfy his needs. The village which has placed its streets in perfect condition and has neglected the highways leading thereto, has arranged, like the lord of the manor, to live in seclusion.

Has the village all it requires? Does it depend upon anything or anybody for its existence, growth and prosperity? Is it, not, in fact, most dependent? Does not every village depend upon the extent of the accessible area of which it is the centre and metropolis, and the prosperity of that area?

The village cannot shift the burden upon the farmer, nor the farmer upon his brother farmer. Each is interested, and the contiguity of the highway is but an incident. Suppose the Erie Railroad were abandoned; whose loss would be the greater, that of the farmer living within one-half mile, or the one a mile distant?

Effect of the New York Law.

The road improvement bill passed by the New York Legislature is valuable for what it makes it possible to accomplish, and as opening the way for active work by the State. It depends for actual results, however, on, first, State appropriations to make State aid a reality; second, public sentiment in the counties which shall be strong enough in favor of making improvements to force the supervisors, or property owners, to apply for them; and, thirdly, sympathy with the movement on the part of the State engineer, in order that when applications are made for improvements they may be granted.

The measure is conservative in nature and permissive in form. While opening up great possibilities, it is not mandatory in effect, nor does it force any improvements on any section. A local initiative is required in order to secure State aid and start work in any locality. The people have it strictly in their own hands to decide whether any road work shall be inaugurated. Under these circumstances it seems strange that it should have encountered any opposition. It merely opens the way for work to be done, if the people favor it, and it leaves the people entirely free to say whether they will enter upon it.

It is a long step forward for the Empire State to make practical road improvements possible in this way, but the work does not end here. Public sentiment must be educated up to the point of demanding work, and in order to accomplish this the agitation for better highways must be prosecuted with unabated vigor.

Unequal Axles With Wide Tires.

Wide tires are not only good things, but their value is much increased if they are used on axles of different lengths, so that four distinct tracks are made by the wheels instead of two. A concern in central New York does much heavy hauling with four-inch front and five-inch rear tires, and rear axles fifteen inches longer than the front ones. It carries four and five-ton loads and keeps the road surface good and smooth.

Shots at Bad Roads.

A Pennsylvania paper says that a Mississippi steamboat could have steamed along the placid bosom of some of the roads in the State recently without fear of grounding.

The State-aid appropriation for roads in New Jersey is $150,000 for 1898. The counties add $300,000 to this, and enough local expenditures are made to foot up a considerable sum.

Many students of the highway question believe that there are more public roads in the country than are needed and that hard roads, in each direction, two miles apart on the average, would meet every possible requirement.

Wheelmen and farmers with advanced ideas in New Jersey have been endeavoring to persuade Governor Voorhees to sign the bill increasing the road improvement appropriation of that State by $50,000. They have not yet succeeded.

The State Organizer of the Missouri Good Roads and Public Improvement Association is a woman. She visits all the county seats, organizes road improvement societies, sees all the voters and secures a good membership list. Her work is reported to be very successful.

A study of sixteen French railroads seems to show that branch lines contribute to the main line gross receipts 1 4-10 times greater than those which the main lines earn. If this be correct the importance to the railroads of good highways is simply enormous, for the country roads are the feeders of the railways.

The "Ivory" is a favorite shaving soap because it makes a profuse rich lather, which softens the beard to be removed and leaves the skin unharmed.

It costs about one-fifth as much as the so-called shaving soaps and many who have used it for this purpose for years, will not have any other.

The vegetable oils of which Ivory Soap is made, fit it for many special uses for which other soaps are unsafe or unsatisfactory.

A WORD OF WARNING—There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

WINE OF CARDUI

MONTHLY SUFFERING.

Thousands of women are troubled at monthly intervals with pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides hips and limbs. But they need not suffer.

These pains are symptoms of dangerous derangements that can be corrected. The menstrual function should operate painlessly.

McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui

makes menstruation painless, and regular. It puts the delicate menstrual organs in condition to do their work properly. And that stops all this pain. Why will any woman suffer month after month when Wine of Cardui will relieve her? It costs $1.00 at the drug store. Why don't you get a bottle to-day?

For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. ROZENA LEWIS, of Ozonaville, Texas, says: "I was troubled at monthly intervals with terrible pains in my head and back, but have been entirely relieved by Wine of Cardui."

Why She Smiles Sweetly.

Sparkling eyes, quick beating heart, and the rosy blush of pleasure on the cheeks, makes the strong man happy when he meets his lady love. That's the kind of a man whose very touch thrills because it is full of energy, vigorous nerve power and vitality. Tobacco makes strong men impotent, weak and skinny. No-To-Bac sold by druggists everywhere Guaranteed to cure. Book, titled, "Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Life Away," free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co., New York or Chicago.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

Is the greatest Labor Organization the world has ever seen.

It is the only organization which, while striving to secure for wage-workers the best possible terms as to wages, hours and conditions, aims at reforming the causes of industrial injustice.

It secures to each trade and locality absolute control over its own trade or local affairs, yet its perfect organization enables its members to act unitedly, promptly, and, therefore, effectively when concentrated action becomes necessary to remedy injustice or to resist oppression.

It is pledged to work for the overthrow of the capitalistic system of production and exchange, yet, realising that reforms can only be beneficial and permanent when they rest upon the convictions of a wise educated people, it seeks to accomplish its objects only by appeals to reason and conscience—never by force.

It is a secret organization only so far as secrecy is necessary to protect its members from wrong and persecution, and can never be used to shield wrong-doing.

Its doors are open to all who labor honestly and usefully either by hand or brain, without question or discrimination on account of creed, race or nationality.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in the "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for it is, as the Bookman says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such, it prints for its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the political, economic, and literary happenings which are of value to intelligent men and women. The Editor's "Progress of the World" tells succinctly an illustrated story of the month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current magazines in five continents; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the man of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of immediate serious import.

"We know of no review published, in this country or in Europe, which combines so successfully as the AMERICAN MONTHLY the alertness, timeliness, and energy of journalism with the sound judgment, carefully weighed opinion, exact knowledge, and well-chosen English of the purely literary periodical."—The Outlook.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly volume the information needed by intelligent people of "live" instincts is best gauged by the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library in itself"; "a historical cyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of aid for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a triumph of editorial genius"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

THE CAMPAIGN IS ON.

The campaign of '98 was fairly started on Monday, when the opening guns, which were of heavy calibre, were fired at Clanton. Considering the busy season, and how all our people are gladly devoting their whole time to their crops after the late welcome rain, the attendance was larger than we had anticipated. As is usual in all Populist meetings the attention of the audience was directed solely to the words uttered by the speakers, and little demonstration, was indulged in.

Promptly at 11 o'clock Hon. G. B. Deans, our nominee for governor, was introduced to the audience, and prefacing his speech with the remark it was scarcely necessary for him to be introduced to a Chilton county audience, as for the last twenty years he had resided within three miles of our borders and was the state senator from this district, at once commenced. He said, as everyone knew, the opening speech of a campaign was always subjected to the closest criticism of the opposition, and to prevent any wrong quotations he had written his speech down. Then for about an hour he kept the audience engaged in attentively listening while he expounded sound Populistic doctrine, and severely arraigned the Democratic party of Alabama for their misdoings in the past, and pointing out what their purpose was in the immediate future, providing they can again secure themselves in power. He produced lots of evidence of their fraudulent practices in elections, and showed how the Democratic party used the cry of white supremacy merely as a blind to retain possession of office. He advocated an improved educational system in the interests of the people, and opposed the proposed constitutional convention as a device of the Democrats to disfranchise our votes.

Dr. G. B. Crowe, chairman of the state campaign committee, was the next speaker. He said today inaugurates our state campaign. Never before in Alabama has our party been so solidified as it is today. The Democrats were claiming 80,000 majority, but where it was coming from he did not know. The Republicans at their state convention, recognizing a three-cornered fight could not be successful, had declined to put ont a state ticket and they are now with us. The sound money Democrats and others who had furnished the brains of the party had left it. There were counties in the state which we had never carried before we would carry this time. When he called upon the people of Alabama to meet him in Montgomery to assert our rights he knew the men of Chilton county would be there. He cautioned the Chilton Populists not to be led away by independent candidates, but to stand by their organization and regular nominees.

A. P. Longshore, of Shelby, made a stirring speech pointing out the necessity of organization and sticking to it. He dwelt at some length upon the financial question, and promised to speak again some time during the campaign. He advised every Populist to go home and go to work for the election of their ticket.

S. M. Adams next addressed the meeting and poured red-hot shot into the independent candidates who were running for office to save the party by trying to destroy it. He invited all the independent candidates to come out to the public speakings and discuss the issues before the people in public and let the people decide for themselves which was right and which was wrong.

L. H. Reynolds, in answer to calls, came forward. He endorsed all that the previous speakers had said, and was willing and ready to do all in his power to advance the cause of the people in any part of the state, and urged Populists to work to that end.

The opening of the campaign was declared by all present to be eminently satisfactory.

The editor of the Evans City, Pa. Guide, writes, "One Minute Cough Cure is rightly named. It cured my children after all other remedies failed." It cures coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles. Stanfield and Mathews.

Jemison, June 20th, 1898.

Dear Bro. Honeycutt:—I have always regarded you as a good man and a Christian gentleman and I regret exceedingly that the time has come, whe we are on opposite sides politically, and if you are right I am wrong, and I most respectfully invite you to meet me and let us discuss the issues now before the people and do it respecting each other as friends, and when the people have heard then they can judge as to which of us is right.

Come and you will be respected and the people will patiently hear you. Your friend,

S. M. ADAMS.

Jemison, June 20, '98

Editor BANNER: I wish to say a few words concerning the political outlook in this section of the country. The people were somewhat confused about the time of the primary election. Judge Honeycutt came out in a long letter and intimated that there was about to become great wrongs perpetrated in the primary, and announced himself an independent candidate. Owing to that fact many friends of the People's Party were confused and did not vote in the primary election but as the days go by and people quietly investigate they can see no reason for leaving their party and following any one man, and Judge Honeycutt has thus far failed to show one good reason why the people should leave their party and follow him. I think that when a man gets to the place where he is unwilling to abide by the counsels of the party and the men who have always been his political friends, and comes out as Brother Honeycutt has, independent, insinuating that the People's Party is a party of fraud the time has come to teach that man a lesson that will do him good the remainder of his days, and I am sure that will be done on the first Monday in August.

There is quite a difference between R. M. Honeycutt and J. W. Moore. Honeycutt comes out a month previous to the primary and cries out that the things we have so strongly condemned in others is now to be met in our own ranks.

J. W. Moore went through the primary election and watched with a jealous eye, and after the people spoke declared himself satisfied with the result and pledges his loyal support to the nominees of the party. Behold the difference in the two men. One declaring against the party before it acts and without evidence, the other going through the primary with all the facts before him. J. W. Moore like a true man comes out and advises the people to stand by their party and pledges his support to the ticket, and the people will not soon forget men like Moore. He shows that he understands the People's Party is indeed the People's Party and was not organized to perpetuate one man in office.

If Judge Honeycutt has any information concerning the sins of the People's Party the time has come to let us have the facts. The people will not be satisfied with insinuations. Turn on the light, we are ready and anxiously awaiting.

Bad management keeps more people in poor circumstances than any other one cause. To be successful one must look ahead and plan ahead so that when a favorable opportunity presents itself he is ready to take advantage of it. A little forethought will a so save much expense and valuable time. A prudent and careful man will keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy in the house, the shiftless fellow will wait until necessity compels it and then ruin his best horse going for a doctor and have a big doctor pill to pay, besides: one pays out 25 cents, the other is out a hundred dollars and then wonders why his neighbor is getting richer while he is getting poorer. CLANTON, - ALABAMA.

A large part of the literature of the world is becoming unintelligible to this generation through lack of ability to understand quotations from the Bible, asserts the Christian Herald. Allusions to sayings and events which our fathers would have understood at a glance now signify nothing to many readers.

"Neither can be on top; they must walk hand in hand." These words of Bishop Potter in reference to capital and labor, the New York Herald thinks, should be inscribed in big letters wherever capital and labor meet. They put in terse form the only solution of the useless and perilous disputes which disorganize both sides.

The Illinois Central Railroad has beaten its record, having delivered 1,000,000 bales of cotton at New Orleans during the current season of eight months beginning September 1, 1897. The one million and first bale was presented by Stuyvesant Fish, President of the railroad, to Colonel H. G. Hester, Secretary of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, and it is to be disposed of for the benefit of the poor of the Crescent City.

"The talk about European intervention in the Cuban affair and a Continental league against the United States has a hollow sound," declares the New York Tribune, "when American control of food supplies is demonstrated so completely. America stands in no dread of a European concert in defense of the worm-eaten Spanish throne, when by withholding food supplies she could menace every Continental State except Russia with bread riots and starvation; nor is it necessary for Americans to be importunate in their wooing for an Anglo-Saxon alliance. England not only speaks the same language and reads Shakespeare, but it also lives on American wheat. Self-interest rather than sentiment is the true basis of an Anglo-American alliance; in future bread is more important than blood relationship."

It has been repeatedly stated in the past few months that the ships of nations at war could not pass through the Suez Canal. That was the common belief, and many people who prided themselves on the accuracy of their general information have been not less confused than surprised to find, on looking the matter up, that they were entirely mistaken. The canal is as free—except for the little detail of tolls—to the navies of every nation and at all times as are the waters of the open sea itself, and this has been the case ever since 1888. Early in that year England, France and Turkey agreed on a convention making the canal a neutral highway, and a few months later all the powers gave their acquiescence. The instrument explicitly permits the transportation of war material and ships of war through the canal, whether peace prevails or not, and only prohibits overt acts of hostility between or within three miles of the termini.

The battleships of modern times are a necessity to any great nation which intends to maintain its rights and protect its interests, believes the Atlanta Journal, but their cost is heavy. An outlay of something like $5,000,000 is required to construct and equip a ship which would take high rank in any modern navy. After such a ship is complete the expense of maintaining it is very heavy. This item for each of our big battleships is now about $1500 a day even when they do no firing. The daily expenses of our navy are now over $50,000 a day. The total annual expenses of a first-class battleship are estimated at $547,000, divided as follows:

Pay of officers, crew and marines	$326,000
Rations	48,000
Equipment	12,000
Navigation charges	6,000
Ordnance	18,000
Construction and repairs	13,000
Steam engineering	82,000
General supplies	,000
Medicine, surgery, secr
fice and incidental exp	000

The cost of ammunition used during an engagement is immense, but it is of course impossible to estimate this in calculating the expense of a navy. Repair to warships, cruisers and other craft even in time of peace is large, but after every engagement it is necessarily immense, even for the victor. War on a modern basis is a terrific absorber of money, and there never was a time when the importance of money as a factor in war was anything like as great as it is now.

CUBAN INVASION POSTPONED

American Fleet May Be Sent to the Coast of Spain,

SEIZE THE CANARIES AND BOMBARD CADIZ.

Postponement Due to the Effects of the Rainy Season—No Reinforcement Will Be Sent to General Shafter—Gen. Miles Returns to Washington.

A Washington special says: The invasion of Cuba will be postponed until fall and in the meantime the fleets will be sent towards the Spanish coast, seize the Canary islands and bombard Cadiz, if Spain does not sue for peace before then.

The postponement of the Cuban invasion is due largely to the report made to the president by Surgeon General Sternberg to the effect that should the army be thrown into Havana province at this time or during the rainy season that 40 per cent of the troops will die.

In the meantime Santiago is to be made the basis of operations and thoroughly fortified and garrisoned. General Miles said that the expedition to Porto Rico would be pushed forward with great rapidity and that it should be started within two weeks. The reinforcement of 10,000 troops will be sent next week to General Merritt, which will put the army in a position of absolute safety.

General Miles Returns to Washington.

Major-General Miles, general-in-chief of the army, accompanied by Colonel Maus, Major Davis and Colonel Greenleaf, of his staff, arrived in Washington Friday, after having directed the departure of the first army of invasion to Cuba. It had been his intention to remain in the field, directing the succeeding expeditions, which will follow rapidly from this time forward, all of which it can be stated are a part of a well matured offensive campaign.

No Reinforcements for Shafter.

There is little likelihood that a second expedition of 5,000 men to reinforce General Shafter at Santiago will leave within the next few days as has been reported. The necessity of sending these additional forces is questioned by high military officials. The main consideration just at present is the equipment of an expedition of greater dimensions than any heretofore dispatched with Porto Rico as the objective point.

FORMING A THIRD SQUADRON.

Reported That Spanish Warships Are Heading for Boston.

MADRID.—Admiral Camara's fleet, said here to consist of over twenty vessels, is reported to have been divided at sea and to have proceeded to different destinations. Some rumors have it that the warships are now heading for Boston, Mass., with the intention of bombarding New England towns, and others set forth that the Spanish reserve fleet is going to the Philippine Islands.

Work on the fortifications at the different ports of Spain is being actively pushed, and it is asserted that a third squadron of warships is to be formed immediately. Cadiz is to be the rendezvous of this squadron.

It is the general opinion here that a protracted war is ahead, and it is semi-officially announced that the government does not count on the support of any power.

Yellow Fever Situation More Hopeful.

WASHINGTON.—The most encouraging news about the yellow fever situation in the south yet received came in official dispatches to the marine hospital officers Friday. Surgeon Murray, one of the experts at McHenry, Miss., wired an official report that he believed the yellow fever is confined to the town of McHenry. Surgeon Carter, who has been making a thorough investigation in that field, reported that he had nearly completed the investigation of the place and houses along the line running into McHenry south of Hattiesburg, and that there is no fever at any of them. The authorities are very hopeful, but by no means confident that the danger is past.

Cadiz Fleet Going East.

GIBRALTAR—The captain of a German steamer which arrived here Friday morning reports having sighted the Spanish Cadiz fleet off Ceuta, north coast of Africa, about opposite and soventeen miles southwest of Gibraltar. The warships, it is added, were going in an easterly direction. The fleet consisted of two battleships, four large cruisers and four torpedo boat destroyers.

Mississippians Going to Tampa.

Aguinaldo Will Form a Republic.

MANILA.—Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader, has issued a proclamation calling on the natives to assemble at Cavite, and inviting the Americans to be present at the ceremony of a declaration of independence.

Incessant skirmishing goes on in the vicinity of Matabar, Santa Mesa and Melate. The Spaniards are making desperate attempts to regain their lost positions. Under American orders the insurgents are holding back and playing elusive tactics that are cruelly exhausting to the Spaniards.

SANTIAGO AGAIN BOMBARDED.

It Is Believed the Enemy's Loss of Life Was Very Heavy—The Vesuvius in Action.

Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet bombarded the batteries at Santiago de Cuba for the third time at daylight Thursday morning. For hours the ships pounded the batteries at the right and left of the entrance, only sparing El Morro, where Lieutenant Hobson and his companions of the Merrimac are in prison. The western batteries, against which the main assault was directed, were badly damaged. One was utterly destroyed. In others many guns were dismounted.

At first the Spaniards replied passionately and wildly, but impotently. Then most of the guns were deserted. Not a ship was struck nor a man injured in the American squadron. It is believed that the enemy's loss of life was heavy.

As a preliminary to the hammering given the batteries, the dynamite cruiser Vesuvius at midnight was given another chance. Three 250-pound charges of guncotton were sent over the fortifications at the entrance. The design was to drop them into the bay around Angle, back of the eminence of which El Morro is situated, where it was known that the Spanish torpedo boat destroyers were lying. Two charges went, though no reports were heard, a peculiarity of guncotton in water. The third charges exploded with terrific violence on Cayo Smith. From where the fleet lay the entrance to the harbor looked in the black night like a door opening into the livid fire of a Titanic furnace. A crater big enough to hold a church was blown out of the side of the Cayo Smith and was clearly seen from the ship.

Admiral Sampson is highly gratified with the results of the bombardment. He thinks the western batteries are practically demolished. It is judged from a position near the flagship, that probably no fewer than 5,000 projectiles were fired, of a total weight of half a million pounds.

APPORTIONMENT OF SECOND CALL

Alabama Will Furnish Two Battalions of Infantry.

WASHINGTON—Adjutant General Corbin has made public the number of additional regiments, battalions, companies or batteries required from each state under call for volunteers. The organizations from each state—the number of which is herewith given—will be in addition to the number of men which will be enlisted from the several states to fill to the maximum of 106 men to a company, the organizations now in the field.

Of the 75,000 men required under the president's second call, 43,000 will be needed to recruit the existing volunteer regiments up to the maximum strength.

According to the statement made by General Corbin, the new organization will be apportioned among some of the states as follows: Georgia, one regiment of infantry; South Carolina, two battalions of infantry; Alabama, two battalions of infantry; Louisiana, three light batteries of artillery; Mississippi, six companies of infantry; North Carolina, seven companies of infantry; Tennessee, one regiment of infantry; Texas, one regiment of infantry; Virginia, two battalions of infantry; West Virginia, one regiment of infantry.

Florida having under the first call furnished in excess of its quota, will not be called upon to furnish any new organizations under the second call.

TO TAKE POSSESSION OF HAWAII.

Annexation Within the Next Two Weeks Now Considered Certain.

A special from Wasnington says: Vigorous efforts are to be made to get the Hawaiian annexation resolution through the senate by the end of this week. Annexation within the next two weeks is now considered so certain that the administration is considering plans for formally taking possession of the islands and raising the American flag over them. This duty is to be entrusted to Rear Admiral Miller, commanding the Pacific squadron, and extraordinary haste is being made to prepare the cruiser Philadelphia for sea, so that he will have a creditable flagship when he goes to Honolulu.

It is understood that the president will appoint President Dole to be the first governor of the island.

HOBSON'S PROMOTION.

The Hero of the Merrimac Wants to Be a Line Officer.

At the request of the Alabama delegation and the friends and relatives of Naval Constructor Hobson congress has held up the promotion of the hero of the Merrimac. The president on receiving the report of Admiral Sampson on the bravery of Hobson promptly sent a recommendation to the senate to return a vote of thanks to him and at the same time to advance him ten numbers in the construction corps, which would be equal to about 250 numbers were it in line.

Friday morning Senator Morgan, in the senate, and Representative Underwood in the house, each offered a resolution tendering to the hero of the Merrimac the thanks of the American congress and authorizing his transfer from the construction corps to the line of the navy, with the rank of lieutenant commander.

Sir Edward Coley Burne-Jones, the painter, died in London last week, aged 66 years. He was knighted in 1894.

MANILA'S SURRENDER NEAR.

Insurgents Are Gaining Everywhere and Now Surround the City.

8,000 SPANIARDS TAKEN PRISONERS.

Aguinaldo's Men Almost Force an Entrance to Manila—Food Supplies Nearly Exhausted—Dewey Can Take the City in 24 Hours.

A special cablegram from Hong Kong says:

The most severe and important battle since Admiral Dewey's annihilation of the Spanish fleet has occurred at Manila. One thousand insurgents attacked 2,000 Spaniards, inflicting heavy losses and almost forcing an entrance to the city.

The insurgents under General Aguinaldo and the American sailors and marines of Admiral Dewey's fleet completely surround Manila. The foreign residents have fled to the ships.

Admiral Montejo and Governor Augusti have placed the women, the children and priests in the forts for safety.

General Augusti is reported to be willing to surrender to the Americans in order to prevent the insurgents from capturing the capitol, setting it on fire and killing the Spaniards. The Archbishop, however, is opposed to surrender, and has overruled Augusti.

The success of the insurgents is wonderful. The Spaniards taken prisoners in the two weeks' campaign aggregate 3,000, including 2,000 soldiers of the regular army. Prominent among them are Generals Garcia and Cordoba. The governors of the provinces of Cavite, Balucan and Bataan were also made prisoners.

Two million rounds of cartridges were seized in the fortified cathedral of old Cavite. The large garrison of old Cavite has surrendered, thus giving the insurgents command of the shore of the entire bay.

All enterior sources of supply are now cut off from the Spanish forces in Manila. The Americans can take Manila within twenty-four hours after the arrival of the troops. The city is now at the mercy of the American fleet. Admiral Dewey's conduct during the blockade has been admirable. A great fire is raging north of Manila.

The insurgents have captured the water works, of which the supply of the city depends.

General Augusti has issued an order declaring all males above the age of 18 shall join the army and do military duty.

It is now officially admitted at Manila that the lack of food supplies has become a serious matter. Gunboats conveying volunteers sent into the lagoon to search for food for the city returned and reported the total failure of their mission.

LATER—It has now been officially admitted that the troops have been thirty-six hours without food. The insurgents are gaining everywhere and are now firing into Manila itself.

The commanders of the gunboats also report that every lagoon and town is hostile and that their garrisons have probably been massacred.

DEWEY HEARD FROM.

Admiral's Advices Show That 2,500 Spaniards Have Been Taken Prisoners.

WASHINGTON.—The navy department has received the following from Admiral Dewey:

"Cavite, June 5, via Hong Kong, June 17.—There is little change in the situation since my telegram of June 3d. Insurgents continue hostilities and have practically surrounded Manila. They have taken 2,500 Spanish prisoners, whom they treat most humanely. They do not intend to take the city at the present time. Twelve merchant vessels are anchored in the bay with refugees on board under guard of neutral men-of-war; this with my permission. The health of the squadron continues excellent. Three German, two British, one French and one Japanese men-of-war now in port. Another German man-of-war is expected. The following is a correct list of the Spanish vessels captured and destroyed: Destroyed—Two protected cruisers, five unprotected cruisers, one transport, one serving vessel, both armed. Captured—The transport Manila and the gunboat Calloa."

Captain-General's Family Captured.

The Hong Kong correspondent of the London Times says:

"According to Manila advices, dated June 13, and brought here by H. M. S. Linnet, the rebels have captured the family of Captain-General Augusti. In most cases the desertion of native regiments has been accompanied by a massacre of officers."

Populists and Democrats Fuse in Kansas.

The Kansas populist state convention renominated the entire state ticket headed by Governor Leedy. The platform is for free silver. The democratic convention at Atchison also nominated the populist state officials.

Germany Will Remain Neutral.

BERLIN.—The Cologne Gazette publishes a note understood to be semi-official, which reads as follows:

"According to trustworthy information all conjectures in the press and political circles in Spain, which are being built on the supposed intention of Germany to abandon her neutrality in the Philippines question are entirely baseless. In official quarters the arrival of German men-of-war at Manila is regarded as perfectly natural, for the great German interests there demand protection."

RECEPTION AT HONOLULU.

Transports Well on Way to Manila—Attempt to Blow Up City of Pekin.

Advices per steamer Miowara, from Honolulu, say:

The United States transports City of Pekin, City of Sydney and Australia arrived here together on the 1st inst. The voyage was pleasant, and the vessels traveled abreast most of the way, although it was necessary for the Pekin and Australia to slow up and wait for the City of Sydney. Eight mild cases of measles broke out on the Australia. As soon as the three vessels were sighted all Honolulu turned out to welcome the soldiers. The docks were lined with people, and as the vessels entered the harbor the spectators yelled themselves hoarse. Such a scene of enthusiasm had never been witnessed in Honolulu as when the vessels docked. During the day they were given the freedom of the city. A committee of citizens furnished free cars and other conveyances. At noon President Dole and his cabinet received the officers of the expedition.

Attempt to Blow Up the Pekin.

HONOLULU.—The Hawaiian Star of June 3 publishes the following story regarding an attempt to blow up the United States ship City of Pekin while that vessel was in port here:

"If the report which is in circulation is true, Honolulu came near being the scene of as frightful a disaster as that of the Maine, and in much the same way. The story is that nothing more nor less than an attempt to blow up the Pekin's magazine was frustrated just in time. An enlisted man, it is said, was caught just in the act of arranging a fuse connecting with the magazine. The magazine contains 400 tons of powder, and has been guarded closely. The dastard, it is said, is now under the closest guard, and when the Pekin gets out on the high seas will be hanged at the yard arm. The greatest secrecy concerning the matter is being maintained, for fear it would mar the spirit of the present occasion. The alleged culprit is said to be half-Spaniard."

Military officers on the ship denied the truth of the story, but there are many corroborative features which tend to prove the truth of the report, which was first circulated by enlisted men. Others admitted that the Spanish half-breed was on board of the Pekin.

ADOPTS VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN.

Efforts Will Be Made by War Department to Speedily Prepare the Army for Active Service.

WASHINGTON (Special).—The original plans of campaign for the conduct of the war against Spain will be adhered to and will be pushed with vigor. That decision was reached at a war council Saturday, at which were present President McKinley, Secretaries Alger and Long, General Miles, Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn, Admiral Sicard and Captain Mahan. Of course there will be some slight modifications, made necessary by the changes that have occurred since the beginning of hostilities, but these, after all, will not affect the general plans of operations.

The official declaration that the campaign is to be pushed with vigor does not necessarily mean an immediate attack upon Havana, although such advice has been tendered. It does mean that the very best efforts are to be put forth to put the army in condition where it can be used with overwhelming effect at almost a moment's notice. To this end troops now in camp are to be thoroughly trained and hardened. With such an army at command, numbering no less than 100,000, the fate of Havana cannot long remain in doubt when once this army is hurled upon it. Meanwhile the smaller expeditionary movements are to go forward uninterruptedly. When Santiago is captured, the trained regulars who do the work there will be pushed on to Porto Rico.

England Will Give China a Navy.

LONDON.—In the house of lords Friday the Marquis of Salisbury, replying to Lord Connemaria, conservative, said her majesty's government was communicating with the Chinese government respecting the reorganization of the army and navy of China. The premier added that negotiations respecting the navy reorganization were well advanced, and that there was every hope that a distinguished British officer would make arrangements with the Chinese government whereby he would renew his help to reorganize the Chinese navy.

Mistrust American Intervention.

A dispatch to the London Times from Havana says: "There is a decided tendency towards reconciliation manifested by a large section of the insurgents, who mistrust American intervention. A proclamation has been issued controlling the sale of provisions and fixing the food tariff."

British to Leave.

KINGSTON, JAMAICA—It is understood that the British warship Talbot which brought thirty-four refugees from Havana five days ago, sailed from Port Royal for Havana to bring away the British subjects who are desirous of leaving the Cuban capital.

CANADIANS' CLAIMS

For Seizures in Behring Sea Amounting to $473,000 Paid.

The claims of Canadian sealers, arising out of seizures made by the United States in Behring sea, have been settled by the payment to Sir Julian Pauncefort, the British ambassador, of approximately $473,000, being the full amount of the claims as settled under an agreement between the United States and Great Britain.

...Fifteen bodies were found scattered through the bush, but the Americans were unable to examine the spot where their firing had been most deadly.

When the Cubans had received permission to finish what was left of the fleeing enemy, the tired marines marched to a Spanish blockhouse on the seaward side of the hills. A few Spanish soldiers who were stationed there made a feeble resistance. After seven or eight of them had been killed the others cleared out and took to the bush as rapidly as possibly. They were followed, but the marines were too tired to put much life into the chase, and the Spaniards escaped.

A number of rifles and several thousand rounds of ammunition were taken from the blockhouse, and the place was then set on fire. Next the water tank and the wind-mill which pumped the water into it were destroyed.

Meanwhile the Cubans were yelling victoriously and following what was left of the Spanish force, driving them back and forth over the hill and slaying them remorselessly. Their bravery was phenomenal. Without the slightest fear of bullets they rushed with joyous cries to hand-to-hand encounters. The Spaniards, as they fled panic-stricken before them, cried "Don't kill us, brothers." The Cubans answered these appeals with cries of "Viva Cuba libre," "Viva los Americanos," and showed the same mercy to the Spaniards as would have been shown to them had the conditions been reversed.

While the Americans were destroying the blockhouse, tank and windmill the Cubans rounded up a Lieutenant and seventeen Spanish privates. These were spared and compelled to surrender.

Then the men started back for the camp, almost completely exhausted, but jubilant over their victory. Captain Spicer was overcome by the heat, and Lieutenant Neville sprained his ankle. Several of the privates were overcome by the heat.

Our loss was two Cuban soldiers killed. The wounded were: Private Walker, Company D, slight wound of ankle; a marine, not reported, and four Cuban soldiers.

DYNAMITE CRUISER A SUCCESS.

The Vesuvius Hurls Earthquakes at Santiago's Forts.

MOLE ST. NICHOLAS, Hayti (By Cable).—The first use in naval warfare of shells containing high explosives and hurled through the air by pneumatic power was made by the United States dynamite cruiser Vesuvius at the entrance of Santiago Harbor.

The Vesuvius dropped three shells, each containing 200 pounds of gun-cotton, on the western headland at the entrance to Santiago. Only a terrific convulsion of nature had ever before produced such an effect.

There was no noise, no smoke, no flash when the Vesuvius discharged her guns. Each mightily destructive missile started on its flight in silence, and silently arose, sped, fell. But as it struck the land shook, waves were raised as by an earthquake, the warships outside the harbor careened. The report of the explosion was deafening, tons of rock were hurled in air, clouds of powdered rock rolled up.

The ships on the blockade lines, two miles away, shook with the explosion. The firing of a thirteen-inch shell is a mere ripple of a crack compared to the deep and mighty roar. Clouds of earth thrown up from the hills seemed to stand against the black sky.

Another package of gun-cotton was dropped on the other side of the battery, and may possibly have struck the torpedo-boats anchored below. Before the echoes of the second died away the Vesuvius sent a third charge hissing out. It fell right on the brow of the hill where the battery seemed to lie. Into the air flew tons of earth and the smoke covered the land for half a mile.

The Vesuvius retired at a sixteen knot rate. Two flashes lighted the hill and two Spanish shells flew beyond the cruiser.

The test was regarded as highly satisfactory, and there is intense interest in the fleet over this first trial in war of a dynamite cruiser.

THE ISLANDS WHICH THE HOUSE HAS VOTED TO ANNEX.

VOTES TO ANNEX HAWAII.

The House Adopts the Joint Resolution by 209 to 91.

A SURPRISINGLY LARGE MAJORITY

Only Three Republicans Vote Against It—Twenty-seven Democrats, Populists and Silverites Vote For It—Speaker Reed Would Have Voted No—Vigorous Fight Against the Theory of Expansion.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—The annexation of Hawaii to the United States by joint action of Congress and the Executive before the adjournment of the present session was made certain by the House of Representatives when, by a vote of 209 ayes to 91 noes, it passed the joint resolution reported from the Committee on Foreign Affairs. The friends of annexation were jubilant when the result of the vote was announced, and they gave free vent to their joy.

The Republicans presented practically a unanimous support to the resolutions, but three Republican members voting in opposition. In the Democratic ranks the division upon the question was more marked, eighteen Democrats voting for annexation.

The vote in support of the resolutions was made up of 179 Republicans, 18 Democrats, 8 Populists and 4 Fusionists, the vote against annexation comprising 77 Democrats, 3 Republicans, 7 Populists and 4 Fusionists.

Prior to announcing the vote, Mr. Dalzell, who, in the absence of Mr. Reed, was presiding, said:

"The Speaker of the House is absent on account of illness. I am requested by him to say that, were he present, on this proposition he would vote 'No.'"

The announcement was applauded by the opposition to annexation. Mr. Dalzell then announced the vote—yeas, 209; nays, 91; absent, 5.

The announcement of the vote was cheered upon the floor and applauded generally by the spectators.

The resolutions adopted, in a preamble, relate the offer of the Hawaiian Republic to cede all its sovereignty and absolute title to the Government and crown lands, and then by resolution accept the cession, and declare the islands annexed. The resolutions provide for a commission of five, at least two of whom shall be resident Hawaiians, to recommend to Congress such legislation as they may deem advisable. The public debt of Hawaii, not to exceed $4,000,000, is assumed; Chinese immigration is prohibited, all treaties with other powers are declared null, and it is provided that until Congress shall provide for the government of the islands all civil, judicial, and military powers now exercised by the officers of the existing Government shall be exercised in such manner as the President shall direct, and he is given power to appoint persons to put in effect provisional government for the islands.

MERRIMAC HEROES PROMOTED.

Substantial Recognition Given to the Gallant Crew.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—Substantial recognition has been given by the Navy Department to the members of the gallant crew who took the Merrimac into the entrance of Santiago Harbor and sunk her across the channel under the very muzzles of the Spanish guns. Official recognition was taken of their valor, when Secretary Long signed the orders to Admiral Sampson directing the promotion of all the members of the crew. Lieutenant Hobson's reward will come later through Congress.

The men still linger in a Spanish prison, but when they return again to their ships their promotions will be awaiting them. The orders sent to Admiral Sampson direct the promotion of the men as follows:

Daniel Montague, master-at-arms, to be a boatswain from $50 a month to $1300 a year.

George Cherette, gunner's mate, to be a gunner, from $50 a month to $1300 a year.

Rudolph Clausen, Osborn Deignan and —— Murphy, coxswains, to be chief boatswain's mates, an increase of $20 a month.

George F. Phillips, machinist, to be chief machinist, from $40 a month to $70 a month.

Francis Kelly, water tender, to be chief machinist, from $37 a month to $70 a month.

SANTIAGO DEFENSELESS.

Sampson Bombarded Forts Until the Spaniards Deserted Their Guns.

LAST EARTHWORKS SWEPT AWAY.

Success of Our Fleet's Third Attack on the Harbor that Holds Cervera's Ships—Shell From the Texas Struck a Magazine—None of Our Ships Hit—The Enemy's Loss Must be Very Heavy.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA (By Cable).—Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet bombarded the batteries at Santiago de Cuba for the third time at daylight Thursday morning.

For hours the ships pounded the batteries at the right and left of the entrance, only sparing El Morro, where Lieutenant Hobson and his companions of the Merrimac are in prison.

The western batteries, against which the main assault was directed, were badly wrecked. One was utterly destroyed. In others many guns were dismounted. At first the Spaniards replied passionately and wildly, but impotently. Then most of the guns were deserted.

Not a ship was struck nor a man injured on the American side. It is believed that the enemy's loss of life was heavy.

The ships steamed in five-knot speed to a 3000-yard range, when they closed up, broadside on, until a distance of three cable lengths separated them. They were strung out in the form of a crescent, the heavy fighting ships in the centre, the flagship on the right flank, and the Massachusetts on the left flank. The line remained stationary throughout the bombardment.

The Vixen and Scorpion took up positions on opposite flanks, close in shore, for the purpose of enfilading any infantry that might fire upon the ships.

The New York opened with a broadside from her main battery at the works on the east of the entrance to the harbor. All the ships followed in red streaks of flame. The fleet, enveloped in smoke, pelted the hills and kicked up dirt and masonry. It was a magnificent spectacle.

The measured crash of the big thirteen-inch guns of the battleships sounded above the rattle of the guns of the secondary batteries like thunder claps above the din of a hurricane. The enemy responded spiritedly at first; but their frenzied, half-crazed fire could not match the cool nerve, trained eyes and skilled gunnery of the American sailors. Our fire was much more effective than in preceding bombardments.

In fifteen minutes one western battery was completely wrecked. The Massachusetts tore a gaping hole in the emplacement with a thousand-pound projectile, and the Texas dropped a shell into the powder magazine. The explosion wrought terrible havoc.

The batteries on the east of Morro were harder to get at, but the New Orleans crossed the bows of the New York to within 500 yards of the shore, and played a tattoo with her long eight-inch rifles, hitting them repeatedly, striking a gun squarely muzzle on, lifting it off its trunions, and sending it in sweeping somersaults high in the air.

When the order came to cease firing, every gun of the enemy had been silenced for ten minutes; but as the ships drew off some of the Spanish courage returned and half a dozen shots were fired spitefully at the Massachusetts and Oregon, falling in their wakes.

CAIMANERA FORT DEMOLISHED.

Texas, Marblehead and Suwanee Batter Fortifications on Guantanamo Bay.

CAMP MCCALLA, Guantanamo Bay (By Cable).—The brick fort and earthworks at Caimanera, at the end of the railroad leading to the city of Guantanamo, have been demolished by the bombardment of the Texas, Marblehead and Suwanee. The bombardment lasted one hour and thirty minutes.

The Texas steamed slowly up the channel leading to the fortifications, followed closely by the Marblehead. The Texas fired two shots as range finders, both falling short and to the right. The Marblehead stood out to the west side of the channel and opened with her five-inch guns on the fort, knocking down part of the wall.

The Texas then threw in some twelve-inch shells, tearing down the wall of the fort and throwing the bricks and mortar thirty feet in the air.

After badly damaging the fort, the Marblehead stood further in to shell the earthworks and barracks at the west end of the harbor. She knocked them into the air, and when the Spaniards fled from the fort they were shelled by the St. Paul and driven into the bushes. The Spaniards fired only five shots, which did no damage.

MORE TROOPS OFF FOR MANILA.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. (Special).—The four transports—China, Colon, Zealandia and Senator—with about 3500 troops, are now on their way to Manila. The China is the flagship and carries General Greene and staff. Accompanying General Greene as aides are Captain W. G. Bates and Captain Wadsworth, of New York.

The remainder of the staff and the regulars of the Eighteenth and Twenty-third Infantry have fine quarters on the China. Colonel Hawkins and the Tenth Pennsylvania have sole possession of the Zealandia.

The China was first to weigh anchor, and, escorted by a fleet of small steamers gayly decorated with flags and bunting, steamed slowly down the bay. Every vessel in the bay blew its whistle as long as the transport fleet remained in sight.

As the China passed the Senator the latter turned slowly about and followed. The Zealandia was slow in making a start, but she skimmed along the water front like a race-horse, a good mile ahead of the Colon, the last of the fleet to get under way.

The last the boys in blue heard of California was the cheers of San Francisco's people, the roar of the whistles and of bombs and rockets as the transports passed the Presidio.

THE campaign is fully started. The opening meeting at Clanton on Monday was marked not by any outburst of applause, but by the deep and earnest attention Populists always give to their affairs. The impression made by the speakers was good and lasting, and each one in the audience went home imbued with the spirit of conviction. Great good is already the result of that meeting.

IT is to be presumed that all the independent candidates are now before the people of Chilton county. The advent of two new candidates for Probate Judge it appears to us has rather had the effect of clearing the situation. There is no doubt but that during the last week or two all the old time Populists have become more firmly united than any time since 1892, and in the process of unification have attracted a very considerable number of those whose political affiliations have hitherto been with the opposition. The outlook now is that the Populist majority in August will be largely in excess of any majority in the last two elections.

A FEW colored voters met Mr. H. A. Wilson at Clanton last Saturday and endorsed Judge Honeycutt's candidacy for judge of probate. This action on their part is rough on the Judge. At the same time it effectually disposes of Mr. Wilson' possible candidacy. We never thought that there was any serious intention of his becoming a candidate, and it emphasizes the fact that the people should not be led away by reported candidacies of any one. Unless a man comes out publicly before the people you can depend upon it he is seeking to delude you. Take no notice of any other candidates than those whose announcements you can read in THE BANNER. Other candidates, if there are any, are a delusion and a snare.

THE meeting of editors of the Reform Press of Alabama held yesterday at Birmingham was a decided success and promises good results to the cause. It means, among other things, concerted action by Populists throughout the State. Some highly interesting information was given, and from every quarter the most cheering news was received. The object of the meeting was to devise a plan, and it was agreed to appoint a committee at campaign headquarters, with Dr. Crowe at its head, who will every week furnish the Reform press with about two columns of campaign matter. J. M. Woods, of the Cullman Progress, was elected chairman of the meeting, and Thos. Cureton, of the Clayton Banner, secretary.

THE war progresses slowly but surely. At the present some few thousand American troops have landed in the neighborhood of Santiago. If the Spaniards meet them there there may be a decisive battle fought within the next few days. If they should evacuate Santiago and retreat towards Havana it may be some time before a battle takes place.

THOMAS HARRISON.

THE candidacy of Mr. Thomas Harrison, of Jemison, for the office of Probate Judge has been talked of for some little time past, and his announcement, which appeared in our last issue, came in too late for our accustomed introductory notice. Mr. Harrison is a gentleman well known to a large number of our citizens and favorably spoken of by all who know him. He has lived in our county since his boyhood's days, having for several years been connected with the saw mill business. For some years he has been one of Jemison's prominent merchants and was postmaster for the past four years. He was twice justice of the peace in his district and is a man of mature years and good business experience, and if elected to the important office to which he aspires will doubtless make an efficient and worthy officer.

W. H. FOSHEE.

THE list of candidates for the office of Probate Judge is swelled this week by the announcement of Mr. W. H. Foshee. Probably none of the other candidates are better known than Mr. Foshee. Born and raised in the western part of the county, for many years a prominent member of the Democratic party, twice elected Clerk of the Circuit Court, after having served in that office half a term by appointment, a Mason, a Knight of Pythias, and a Knight of Honor, he has a large number of friends whose enthusiastic support renders his candidacy one of the strongest among the independent factions now before the people. That he will make a strong effort to induce the voters to elect him we are satisfied, and it behooves the other candidates to look to their position before it is too late. Mr. Foshee's experience is such that if he is elected it insures a competent and careful official.

Mr. P. Ketcham of Pike City, Cal., says: "During my brother's late sickness from sciatic rheumatism, Chamberlain's Pain Balm was the only remedy that gave him any relief." Many others have testified to the prompt relief from pain which this liniment affords. For sale by J. S. Johnson jr.

From the Montgomery Advertiser.

Are we to have a repetition of past scenes in the Fourth congressional district? This early in the game the Selma Times is publishing that a majority of Chilton county delegates were elected to support Mr. Robbins, but that when counting time has come Mr. Plowman waltzed off with the delegates. The Fourth district democrats ought not to give the opposition so much material with which to wage a contest for the seat in congress.

From the Selma Times:

Chilton county has gone for Plowman. Robbins got the votes of the people, and Plowman waltzed off with the delegates. Mr. Robbins had 39 out of the 63 delegates in the convention, but when the vote was taken Captain Plowman had two majority in the convention and got an uninstructed delegation.

This was tough on Mr. Robbins but good for Capt. Plowman. It would seem that the ex-congressman had the most sinews of war, and he knew what batteries to charge. He made a gallant fight and carried the redoubts of the enemy.

Everything is fair in war and politics, and Capt. Plowman's friends can congratulate him on wresting victory from the very jaws of defeat. Carrying Chilton county is a big feather in his cap. Had Mr. Robbins succeeded in carrying the delegation he would have been hard to beat in the congressional convention on August 6. As the fight now stands there is no telling who is going to get the nomination. Calhoun and Dallas can unite if they want to and nominate whom they please. There is a right pretty little fight ahead in the congressional convention when it meets at Talladega Springs on August 6.

An Old Idea.

Every day strengthens the belief of eminent physicians that impure blood is the cause of the majority of our diseases. Twenty-five years ago this theory was used as a basis for the formula of Browns' Iron Bitters. The many remarkable cures effected by this famous old household remedy are sufficient to prove that the theory is correct. Browns' Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

Political Pointers.

Peoples Party Press Bureau
St. Louis, Mo., June 22, 1898.

The result of the recent gold bug victory in Oregon is attributable directly to the fact that the silver elements were more or less divided, while the gold advocates were completely united.

The Populist State convention of Missouri convenes at St. Louis July 7. It is unlikely that any attempt will be made to "fuse" with any other political party.

The question of whether the ballot or colonization is the more potent means of reforming the world has split the social Democracy. At their recent meeting in Chicago a vote of 52 to 36 in favor of colonization caused Eugene V. Debs and some of his more enthusiastic adherents to leave the hall. Meeting elsewhere they adopted a platform declaring for the use of the ballot as the means of remedying public ills, municipal and government ownership of all utilities, abolition of war, woman's rights, the initiative and referendum, transportation reforms and the nationalization of farm mortgages. Those favoring colonization propose to establish a mining colony at Green Mountian Falls, Colorado.

The Hawaiian annexation resolution having passed the House is now before the Senate. Advocates of the measure expect its passage before July 4, and that the American flag will be floating over the islands on that date.

Hon. Geo. L. Finn, a free silver Republican, has been nominated for congress in the 8th Iowa district by the Democrats, Populists and free silver Republicans of that district. Finn is a fighter and stands a good show for election.

The meeting of the Populist National committee at Omaha, on the 15th inst. resulted in a victory for chairman Butler. Some concessions were made to the radicals, who were under the leadership of Milton Park of Texas, but in the main their cherished ideals were not realized. There will be no convention in 1899 to outline the policy of the party. In 1900 there will be an early convention to nominate a national ticket, the same to be held prior to the Democratic convention. No overtures looking to fusion will emanate from the national committee and none will be received and entertained by it. The national committee is required to keep hands off in state campaigns; or, if its assistance is invited, it may interfere only on behalf of the Populist ticket, and not assist in fusion. The effort to force Chairman Butler to resign proved futile, and he will continue to act until the next national convention in 1900. A. R.

E. C. Blanks, of Lewisville, Texas, writes that one box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve was worth $50.00 to him. It cured his piles of ten years standing. He advises others to try it. It also cures eczema, skin diseases and obstinat esores. Stanfield & Mathews.

The thread factories of the northeast, after having reduced their spinners to starvation by the long lockout, of the past winter, are prepairing to unite in a gigantic trust.

Old John Sherman has gone out west for his health and at that safe distance from Washington City he announces to interviewers that when his lost health is regained he means to re-enter politics in his home state.

Democratic leaders in New York are again discussing the feasibility of dropping the silver issue in the campaign of 1900.

Does Baby Thrive?

If your baby is delicate and sickly and its food does not nourish it, put fifteen or twenty drops of Scott's Emulsion in its bottle three or four times a day and you will see a marked change.

We have had abundant proof that they will thrive on this emulsion when other food fails to nourish them.

It is the same with larger children that are delicate. Scott's Emulsion seems to be the element lacking in their food. Do not fail to try it if your children do not thrive. It is as useful for them in summer as in winter.

Ask your doctor if this is not true.

The eight hour extension bill was called up by the senate committee on labor and education, June 16. Representatives of nearly all the big corporations that are engaged on government orders for coal, supplies and ships were given a hearing. They were a unit in declaring that the limitation of a days labor to eight hours would ruin them and make it impossible for them to fill rush orders that they now hold from the government.

Thanking words ever penned by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Grimes, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs. Cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four Doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at Dr. J. S. Johnson's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded.

The Populists of Kansas in state convention at Topeka, on June 16, renominated the present state officers, as follows: Governer, John W. Leedy; lieutenant governor, A. M. THE campaign is fully started. The opening meeting at Clanton on Monday was marked not by any outburst of applause, but by the deep and earnest attention Populists always give to their affairs. The impression made by the speakers was good and lasting, and each one in the audience went home imbued with the spirit of conviction. Great good is already the result of that meeting.

IT is to be presumed that all the independent candidates are now before the people of Chilton county. The advent of two new candidates for Probate Judge it appears to us has rather had the effect of clearing the situation. There is no doubt but that during the last week or two all the old time Populists have become more firmly united than any time since 1892, and in the process of unification have attracted a very considerable number of those whose political affiliations have hitherto been with the opposition. The outlook now is that the Populist majority in August will be largely in excess of any majority in the last two elections.

A FEW colored voters met Mr. H. A. Wilson at Clanton last Saturday and endorsed Judge Honeycutt's candidacy for judge of probate. This action on their part is rough on the Judge. At the same time it effectually disposes of Mr. Wilson' possible candidacy. We never thought that there was any serious intention of his becoming a candidate, and it emphasizes the fact that the people should not be led away by reported candidacies of any one. Unless a man comes out publicly before the people you can depend upon it he is seeking to deceive you. Take no notice of any other candidates than those whose announcements you can read in THE BANNER. Other candidates, if there are any, are a delusion and a snare.

Miraculous Benefit

RECEIVED FROM

Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

ELI P. BABCOCK, of Avoca, N. Y., a veteran of the 3rd N. Y. Artillery and for thirty years of the Babcock & Munsel Carriage Co., of Auburn, says: "I write to express my gratitude for the miraculous benefit received from Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. I suffered for years, as result of army life, from sciatica which affected my heart in the worst form, my limbs swelled from the ankles up. I bloated until I was unable to button my clothing; had sharp pains about the heart, smothering spells and shortness of breath. For three months I was unable to lie down, and all the sleep I got was in an arm chair. I was treated by the best doctors but gradually grew worse. About a year ago I commenced taking Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and it saved my life as if by a miracle."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address,

Providence has once more smiled on us by bringing good rains, thus ending a drought of about six weeks duration. The crops though small at this season, bid fair for a good harvest.

The Gregory Coe Lumber Co. has lost a great deal of time the last two weeks on account of having to do some repairing on their machinery.

Friday is the day for the big masonic dinner and we expect a large crowd with well filled baskets. After the installation of officers, Prof. W. A. Kelly, the renowned musical manipulator, and "one man band" will furnish music for the afternoon pleasure at the Academy.

It will be quite a treat for those who have never heard him play to see one gifted with such ambidexterity and it might be well for those who enjoy dancing to avail themselves of this opportunity.

I was seriously afflicted with a cough for several years, and last fall had a more severe cough than ever before. I have used many remedies without receiving much relief, and being recommended to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, by a friend who, knowing me to be a poor widow, gave it to me, I tried it, and with the most gratifying results. The first bottle relieved me very much and the second bottle has absolutely cured me. I have not had as good health for twenty years. Respectfully, MRS. MARY A. BEARD, Claremore, Ark. Sold by J. S. TENT LIFE AT TAMPA.

SNAP SHOTS DESCRIBING THE DOMESTIC SIDE OF CAMPING.

FULLY a mile and a quarter north of the Court House on Franklin street, in a grove of Florida pines, lies the camp of the United States forces in Tampa.

The Northerner reaching Tampa at night now can hardly realize that he left New York or Washington so short a time before. The real color of this first impression is given by the brown-faced, roughly clothed troops, who tramp up and down, and gossip in the doorways—men who show in their faces the grit and daring that have led to victory since Cæsar's time, and in their bodies the endurance of Indians and the strength of a 'Varsity rush-line. At first the carelessness of their attire creates an unfavorable impression. Half of them parade the streets in their shirts. Every man seems to have an individual way of wearing his hat. Some stick the top straight up, others jam it flat, and the rest wear it as sane people always thought it should be worn. Their leggings are of undressed leather, neat and serviceable. For the most part their chins are covered with the fuzzy beginnings of campaign beards.

Electric cars run from the camp. Once on the camping-ground the visitor finds the soft shade of the pines in place of the white glare of the open he has left. He sees the new Krag-Jorgensen rifles stacked down the company streets, and the ammunition belts, each carrying two hundred cartridges, hung over them. The new bayonet is a knife-like weapon several inches shorter than those of the old triangular form, and furnished with a haft.

SHOWERY WEATHER.

Most of the men, when at leisure, go into town, the others lounge in their tents, reading and talking. A reasonable amount of good-natured horseplay is seen among them. Among the men nothing but words of praise are to be heard for their officers, and among the officers nothing but good things of their men.

The officers know that in battle the troops under them will do as they are ordered, to the letter; and the men know that they will be told to do the right thing at the right time.

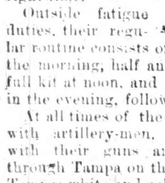
AFTER THE RAIN.

Outside fatigue duties, their regular routine consists of drill at six in the morning, half an hour's march in full kit at noon, and "guard mount" in the evening, followed by "retreat."

At all times of the day troop-trains with artillery-men, and pack-trains with their guns and horses, pass through Tampa on their way to Port Tampa; white and colored fly through, followed by cheers and blessings. Then the last car swings out of sight, and we know that in half an hour another battery will be under canvas in the neighboring camp, and that another pawn is moved to help in the checkmating of Spain.

In the camp there is drill every morning at seven; regimental drill and brigade drill. As an instance of how regiments are scattered among the cramped army posts of the United States, it is to be noted that many officers have now seen regimental drill for the first time. Brigade drill is a still greater novelty. After morning drill the men are allowed and expected to loaf. In this hot weather loafing is, in fact, a part of the regimen. The camps look like very sleepy places by noonday, though all as they should be.

On Sundays there is still greater relaxation. Many go to the long railway piles and docks at Port Tampa, where a breeze may be had if waited for long enough. One excursion is to Battery Point, on the other shore of the stubby peninsula which supports Port Tampa. In the foreground is the high hulk of a vessel left to strand there several years ago under yellow fever quarantine, and since used for storage purposes by a phosphate company. The vessel is or was the Osceola, of Buenos Ayres. Blue-shirted soldiers fishing for suckers and occasional pompano from her rotting decks or stripping and swimming in the shade of her uplifted bilge are among the exotic sights in Tampa these days.



CAMP FORAGERS CAPTURE A PRIZE.

The camp of a regiment is laid out like a little village and is a model of neatness and order. Not a scrap of paper or vestige of debris of any sort is seen through its length and breadth.

EVERY SOLDIER HIS OWN "WASHERWOMAN."

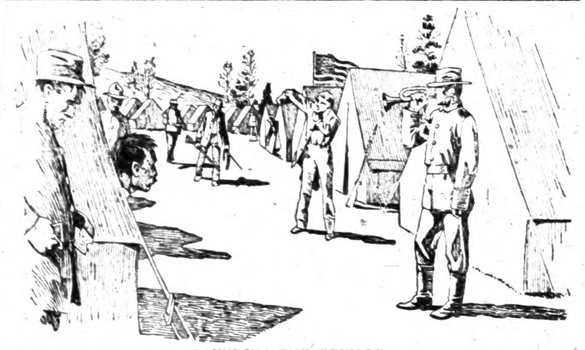
STORY-TELLING AROUND THE CAMP-FIRE.

The men in camp usually smuggle in some kind of a pet or "mascot," which is not always left behind when the order comes to move, unless it may be into action.

AFTER THE RAIN.

night are patrolled by sentries who have two hours on and four off alternately. Near the company street are the kitchens—the tents where the 'grub" is cooked for the men, and for the officers as well, who have theirs served in the "mess tent," where two or three have gathered together to be served as one set instead of eating separately. Not only do the officers thus have one another's society, but clubbing together cuts down expenses, for whatever an officer has in mess outside of the commissary provision he pays for from his own pocket.

There are always several "messes" (the work strikes civilian ears most unpleasantly) through the regiment, and those officers who are known to be bons vivants under all conditions are eagerly besought to take into theirs those who are not so expert in providing the goods of life even when they have the money and inclination. The officers' "line" is always a little away from the men's tents, which are under the immediate charge of the first seargeant and corporals of each company, and at the top of the "line" is "headquarters," where the colonel and his staff are established.



SOUNDING THE REVILLE.

and the men who "police," or clean, go over the field as a New England housewife picks threads from her carpet. All the work of this sort in a regiment is done by its prisoners—men who are under short arrest for misdemeanors or for some breach of military regulations; and, clad in brown, they go about in detachments of two or three under guard of a sentry, who bears a loaded rifle and who is responsible for the prisoners he is in charge of.

When a regiment is going into camp the busiest and most harassed person in it is the quartermaster. He it is who has charge of all camp equipage and who is responsible for the transportation of it. Also he must stand ready to supply any deficiency, from feed for horses or mules to a coat for some private who is suddenly minus his; and he and the commissary sergeant, his right hand man, think not of themselves until the regiment is installed under cover. Each officer carries his own camp outfit—tent, blankets and mess chest—and sees to it before he leaves garrison. There his responsibility practically ceases and falls upon the shoulder of his "stryker"—not a socialist, but a servant provided an officer by army regulations. The stryker is a sort of general factotum, and is usually a man from the officer's own company or troop. He is a jack of all trades, and good at them, too; and when the regiment reaches camp he makes at once for his own particular officer and looks after him. It is the stryker who pitches the tent and unpacks what luggage his superior may have after he has first extracted it from the pile of regimental impedimenta. He fetches water and puts the towels by the hand basin, and sometimes he even builds a bed.

In the meantime, while officers' tents are going up, those for the companies are being pitched with perfect order, and in an incredibly short time are taut and fast. They are laid out in sets of two lines on what are called the "company streets," and day and

The Sailors' Hen Coop.

A sailorman is fond of pets, but a ship is no place for animal life. However, there are few ships, sail or steam, that do not carry out of port a coop of hens and a rooster. These seem to be for company, or association, or something of that sort, for the oldest mariner never heard of one of the hens being killed for the mess, and a hen at sea absolutely refuses to lay eggs; and small blame to them.

The hen coop is generally placed on the forward deck, near the fo'c'sle, in which the sailors live. They have a box of sand in which to roll and are made as comfortable as possible. After one or two voyages the hens become excellent sailors, and it is a queer sight to see them balance themselves on their sea-legs when the ship tosses and rolls.

When the ship is in dock the fowls are always driven into their coop and kept there until the ship is at sea, when they are released and given the freedom of the deck. At night they seek the shelter of their coop of their own accord.—Kansas City (Mo.) Star.

A Runaway Star.

There is in the constellation of the Great Bear a famous little star which has been called a "runaway," because of the extraordinary speed with which it is moving. But it is so far away that the effect of its motion can only be noted by careful astronomical observations. Professor Simon Newcomb has said of this star, which bears the name "1830 Groombridge," that the united attractions of the entire known universe could not have set it going with such velocity and would be unable to arrest it. Now Professor Kapteyn announces the discovery of a telescopic star in the southern hemisphere, in the constellation Pictor, which appear to be moving considerably faster yet. What its real velocity is, however, can only be told when its distance is known.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Elastic Shoestrings.

Our English cousins have added a great convenience to the toilet in the form of elastic shoestrings, elastic corset laces and other similiar articles. They are far superior to the old styles of elastic cords, which are made both there and here. They are remarkably strong and durable, and give a play to the muscles and joints, which prevents stiffness and discomforts. For low shoes they are simply delightful, as they enable one to have a laced shoe, which is the neatest and trimmest of all footwear, and at the same time to have the give and yielding quality which is the chief charm of elastic gaiters.—San Francisco Chronicle.

PHILIPPINE INSURGENTS DECLARE INDEPENDENCE.

General Aguinaldo Elected President—Will Not Oppose American Protectorate.

A special cable to the Chicago Record, from a staff correspondent with Dewey's fleet, reads as follows:

"HONG KONG.—General Filipino officially proclaimed a provisional government in old Cavite on June 12. There were great ceremonies, and a declaration of independence was read renouncing Spain's authority. General Aguinaldo was elected president and General Parindo vice-president. The insurgent government will not oppose an American protectorate or occupation.

"The rebels have captured the Spanish governor and the garrison of 300 men at Bulacan.

"The governor and garrison at Pampanga are surrounded, and the governor and garrison of 450 men have been captured at Batangas.

"On June 9 the family of Governor-General Augusti fled to the interior for safety.

"The Spaniards in Manila are reported as having shot thirty cabineros for attempting to desert to the rebels. Aguinaldo sent an ultimatum to the governor that if more were executed he would retaliate on Spanish prisoners.

"The Baltimore has sailed to meet the Charleston and troopships."

erican Troops Expected.

MANILA, via HONG KONG.—The situation here is unchanged. The insurgents are unable to take Manila owing to their lack of field guns. They could not take it even if Admiral Dewey permitted, which he will not. All the foreigners are leaving on neutral ships.

CALL FOR ALABAMA TROOPS.

The State's Quota Will Be Raised Among the Negroes.

MONTGOMERY.—The call from Washington for troops from Alabama was received at the governor's office Monday. In the notice it is recommended that a preliminary examination of the men be had in order to save the government the cost of transportation, etc. The call is for two battalions of troops and it is known to be the purpose of the governor to organize both battalions of Alabama negroes already in camp at Mobile into a full negro regiment with Alabama West Pointers as field officers and high class white men, preferably members of the National Guard, as line officers. Eight or ten companies of negroes have already been organized in the state in anticipation of this call and it is believed the full quota can be put into camp within a week.

To Build the Canal.

senate committee on the Nicaraguan canal Monday agreed to report a bill providing for the construction of the Nicaraguan canal, but on lines very different from those of bills previously reported. The bill practically provides for the construction of the canal by the United States. The Maritime Canal Company is to be continued in existence, but all the stock is to be held by the governments of the United States, Nicaragua and Costa Rica. The bill provides for the payment of $5,000,000 to the present stockholders for the work already performed.

Why Hobson Is Not Exchanged.

A Madrid correspondent of the London Times says: "Spain's refusal to exchange Lieutenant Hobson and his companions of the Merrimac is easily explained, and is justified. Without any intention of acting as spies, they must have seen many things in and around Santiago about which the American naval and military authorities would gladly have for information.

May Require a Ransom.

KINGSTON.—S. G. Ramsden, the British consul at Santiago de Cuba, who is acting for the United States in the negotiations with the Spaniards for the exchange of Lieutenant Hobson and his companions of the Merrimac expedition, has suggested to the officials at Washington that a ransom might be paid to secure the prompt release of the American prisoners.

Ex-Queen Natalie as a Nurse.

A special dispatch from Belgrade, Servia, says ex-Queen Natalie is organizing an expedition to go to the seat of war between the United States and Spain in order to nurse both Americans and Spaniards.

Two New Cases of Yellow Fever.

Two new cases of yellow fever have broken out at McHenry, Miss., the quarantined town, and were reported to Surgeon General Wyman, of the marine hospital service Monday. The official dispatch announcing the fresh developments in the yellow fever situation located the new cases in the same houses where the first seven cases occurred.

Bryan Will Serve Under Lee.

It is regarded as probable that Col. Wm. J. Bryan and the Nebraska regiment under him will be assigned to the army corps commanded by Major-General Fitzhugh Lee.

Accidentally Killed.

As the result of a scuffle for a pistol Will Gibson, a 16-year-old colored boy, was accidentally shot through the head and instantly killed by Sam Stillman, colored, Monday in Birmingham.

Second Mississippi.

The Second Mississippi regiment, under Colonel Montgomery, arrived at Jacksonville, Fla., Tuesday, and will go in General Lee's command. Forty-six cars were required to transport them.

EXPEDITION AT SANTIAGO

General Shafter's Army Arrives at the Seat of War.

GREAT REJOICING AMONG SAMPSON'S MEN

The Troops Will Be Landed and a Combined Attack by Land and Sea Will Be Made on the City of Santiago.

OFF SANTIAGO, VIA PORT ANTONIO.—Shafter's troops arrived here Monday on board the fleet of transports and were greeted with enthusiastic cheering on the part of the crews of the warships. General Shafter boarded the flagship and had a long conference with Admiral Sampson with regard to the landing place for his troops. This is not yet, so far as learned, been decided upon, but it is expected that Guantanamo will receive the larger part of the troops. Other landings will be made in the vicinity of Santiago and when the army is ready a combined attack will be made by land and by sea.

VOLUNTEER TROOPS TO MOVE.

Ordered From Mobile to Miami, Fla.—Colored Troops Mustered In.

MOBILE.—(Special.)—The six regiments of Alabama, Louisiana and Texas volunteers, comprising the First division, Fourth army corps, have received orders to prepare to move to Miami, Fla. By the last of this week all the regiments will have started for the extreme southern part of Florida, near Key West. At headquarters it is believed that they are destined to reinforce General Shafter's army at Santiago, for the reason that Washington dispatches indicate Fernandina and Jacksonville as the points of concentration of the Porto Rican expedition, for which there is no especial hurry. It is evidently an emergency order and contemplates a call from General Shafter for reinforcements.

The troops are now equipped with everything except canteens and underclothing, and these articles are supposed to have arrived at the army depot warehouses. While no order has been issued, it is understood from an authentic source that Brigadier-General Wheaton has been transferred to the Seventh army corps at Jacksonville and that Wm. C. Oates will at once succeed to the command of the brigade composed of the First Alabama, First Louisiana and First Texas regiments. Gen. W. W. Gordon, of Georgia, will remain in command of the Second Alabama, Second Louisiana and Second Texas.

The first muster of colored volunteers in the United States army took place here Monday, when the four companies of the Alabama battalion of colored troops were taken into the service. The companies are A, B, C, and D, from Montgomery, Mobile, Huntsville and Troy, respectively, averaging eighty men and officers.

RETENTION OF COLONIES

Is Spains Only Condition of Peace Declares the Cabinet.

A Monday's special from Madrid says: The newspapers say the cabinet at its meeting yesterday discussed the "peace tendencies in the United States and in certain personages in Spain," but added that Spain will "unanimously repudiate unworthy conditions," holding that peace is only possible "if the conditions are honorable and include the retention of the colonies."

Government circles admit satisfaction in Cuba, but in regard to Manila the belief is expressed that Captain General Augusti will ask the foreign warships to land detachments to occupy Manila on the ground that he is no longer able to resist the insurgents.

Troops Believed to Have Been Poisoned.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA.—From twenty to thirty members of Company L, First Wisconsin Regiment, were taken seriously ill Monday. There is every indication that the men are suffering from the effects of poisoning. The food at dinner is the only cause that can be attributed. The men ate canned beans, bread and potatoes.

Camara Conveying 4,000 Troops.

A special from Gibraltar says: It is asserted here that six Trans-Atlantic liners, having on board 4,000 Spanish troops, accompanied Admiral Camara's fleet.

MADRID.—It is confidently believed here that Admiral Camara's fleet is going to Manila, and that this may prevent the dispatch of American troops there, and at least postpone the loss of the Philippine islands.

McArthur in Command.

It is now definitely announced that the third expedition to the Philippines will be commanded by Brigadier-General Arthur McArthur.

Returns of German Election.

BERLIN—Complete returns of the elections for members of the reichstag show that there have been returned sixty-eight conservatives, ten imperialists, eighty-five centrists, five candidates of the reform party, ten national liberals, one radical union candidate, one candidate of the radical peoples' party, one agrarian leaguer, thirty-two social democrats, thirteen Poles, one Dane, nine independents and three peasant league candidates. The second ballots will be necessary in 138 districts.

MAMMOTH STEEL PLANT.

Birmingham to Have One of the Greatest Industries in the South.

The Alabama Steel and Shipping company was organized at Birmingham Saturday as an off-shoot of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, with a capital stock of $490,-000, and with authority to issue bonds to the amount of $1,100,000. This company will build and operate a $1,000,000 steel plant at Ensley City, six miles from Birmingham. The following directors were elected at a meeting of the stockholders; J. K. McDowell, N. E. Barker, P. H. Earle, Walker Percy, G. B. McCormack, Rufus N. Rhodes and J. H. Barr. The directors elected these officers: President, N. E. Barker; vice-president, J. K. McDonald; secretary and treasurer, P. G. Shook. The entire capital stock and issue of bonds have been subscribed for. Among the subscribers are the Louisville & Nashville railroad for $200,000, the Southern railway for a like amount, James T. Woodward, president of the Hanover National bank of New York, $150,000, and Moore & Schley, of New York, $100,000.

The contract for the construction of the plant has been let to the Wellman-Seaver Company of Cleveland, O., and the management announces that work on the plant will begin within the next thirty days. Citizens of Birmingham take $150,000 of the bonds. The new steel plant will embrace twelve open hearth furnaces with a capacity of fifty tons each per heat and adequate blooming mill capacity to break down to four-inch billets, a total of 1,000 tons of eighteen-inch ingots per day. In addition to the steel mill, 3,000 dwelling houses will be erected at Ensley City for the occupation of the employes of the plant, who will number several thousand, including those who work at the coke ovens, iron furnaces, etc.

MOB LYNCHED FOUR NEGROES.

Troops Sent from Montgomery to Wetumpka, But Arrived Too Late.

Last Tuesday night Wm. Carden, wife and brother-in-law were murdered, robbed and burned at their home, about seven miles north of Wetumpka. Four negroes were arrested suspected of having committed the crime, and were lodged in jail at Wetumpka. Thursday night a large mob from the country assembled and battered down the doors of the jail, broke open the steel cages and took the men out to the scene of the crime. There were about 1,100 men assembled, and after a confession of guilt by two of the negroes and a statement that implicated the other two, the infuriated mob took the negroes to a neighboring tree and swung them to a limb. The four were Sol Jackson, Lewis Speir, Jesse Thompson and Camp Reese. Troops were sent from Montgomery but did not arrive in time to prevent the lynching.

Negro Republican State Ticket.

The Alabama negro republican leaders met in convention at Birmingham the past week and nominated a full state ticket, headed by Rev. A. J. Warner, of Birmingham, for governor. This action was taken by the leaders, who are discontented with the action of the regular state convention in failing to put a republican ticket in the field.

IN A HAMMOCK SHROUD.

When my turn comes, dear shipmates all,
Oh! do not weep for me;
Wrap me in my hammock tight
And put me into the sea;
For it's no good weeping
When a shipmate's sleeping,
And the long watch keeping
At the bottom of the sea.

But think of me sometimes and say:
"He did his duty right,
And strove the best he knew to please
His captain in the fight;"
But it's no good weeping
When a shipmate's sleeping,
And the long watch keeping
Through the long, long night.

And let my epitaph be these words:
"Cleared from this port, alone,
A craft that was stanch and sound and true—
Destination unknown;"
And it's no good weeping
When a shipmate's sleeping,
And the long watch keeping
All alone, all alone.

And mark this well, my shipmates dear,
Alone the long night through,
Up there in the darkness behind the stars
I'll look out sharp for you;
So it's no good weeping
When a shipmate's sleeping,
And the long watch keeping
All the long night through.

—Barrett Eastman, in Chap Book.

THE MONTEVALLO SCHOOL HAS A RECORD UNSURPASSED.

Three Hundred and Sixty-eight Pupils—Money Made in the School—Both Literary and Practical Education Given.

In this day of progress in educational methods the Girl's Industrial School of Alabama under its able management has taken advanced ground in many respects. It has surpassed any record as a school ever known in the history of our country.

It has five music teachers, twenty-seven pianos, a large and experienced corpse of literary teachers, a splendid department of art and china painting, a commercial department including telegraphy, stenography, typewriting, etc; a domestic science department, consisting of scientific cooking, sewing and dress making, millinery, etc. This school has demonstrated the fact never before attempted, that the girls of Alabama can, during school hours, be taught how to earn money. The dress making and millinery department having had actual counters, show cases, ribbon cases, cash drawers, saleswomen, bookkeepers, shipping clerks, etc. The amount of cash taken in by these departments was over $2,000.

Three hundred and sixty-eight pupils were enrolled from over fifty counties in the state. The cost for the expenses is lower than ever known in any school of such reputation. Eighty-seven dollars covers the cost of board, laundry, tuition, use of all text books, lights, fuel, etc. This, too, is divided up in installments of four payments so it may come within the reach of all. Each county in the state is entitled to its quota of pupils at these rates. The Girl's Industrial school is indeed a blessing to the girls and Montevallo and the entire state should be proud of it. A handsome catalogue illustrating the school will be issued soon.

A Fatality Avoided.

From the Democrat, Goshen, Ind.

When neuralgia is accompanied by a dull, heavy pain near the heart, frequently becoming intense, it generally terminates fatally. Mrs. Nancy Flynn, who lives near Goshen, Indiana, survived such an attack and her advice is worth heeding.

"In the fall of '92," she said, "I began to have trouble with my heart. There was a sharp pain in my breast which became rapidly worse. The doctor was puzzled and put me under the influence of opiates. These sharp attacks followed one another at intervals and I became weak and had a haggard look. I was constantly in pain, seldom slept and had no appetite.

"At the end of two years I was confined to my couch most of the time and the doctors agreed that my death was only a matter of a short time.

A Serious Time.

"One day I noticed in a newspaper an item about a woman having been cured of neuralgia of the heart by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People and I concluded to try them.

"When I had finished one box I noticed an improvement in my condition, and when I had taken twelve boxes I was completely cured. 'Those pills have done for you what we could not do,' said one of my physicians, 'they have saved your life.'

"That was two years ago and my heart has not troubled me since. I believe I owe my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and I take pleasure in telling others about them."

Among the many forms of neuralgia are headache, nervousness, paralysis, apoplexy and locomotor ataxia. Some of these were considered incurable until Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People were formulated. To-day thousands testify to having been cured of such diseases by these pills. Doctors frequently prescribe them and all druggists sell them.

New Zealand Colored Race Is Fast Succumbing Before the Whites.

The Maoris of New Zealand seem to be doomed to extinction in spite of the fact that all the conditions surrounding them appear to be favorable to their survival. The quarrel between the races is ended, and large tracts of land are reserved for them. The young men are educated, 90 per cent. of them being able to read and write. Their chiefs in many cases derive large incomes from rents of land, and are represented in the legislature. A great Maori college stands at Te Auti, Hawke's Bay, and not a few of the cleverer Maori youths have passed through the classes of the New Zealand university. And yet the Maoris, under that mysterious law which makes a colored race vanish before the breath of the all-conquering whites, are passing away.

A conference of educated Maoris was held a short time ago, and papers were read on the condition and prospects of the race. These are now published in pamphlet form, and make a very melancholy bit of literature. It is declared that 90 per cent. of educated Maoris go back from their schools to mere savagery. The race, these representative Maoris declare, is lower both in morals and in vitality than it has ever yet been, and threatens to perish. Yet physically and intellectually the Maori is—or was—the finest colored race in the southern hemisphere.—New York Evening Post.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

The Chinaman can write all day, he can work all day, he can stand for a whole day in one position, weaving, hammering gold, or cutting ivory, without once being attacked by nervousness. This peculiarity makes itself apparent in early youth. The Chinaman can bear any kind of bodily exercise. Sport and play are to him unnecessary labor. He can sleep anywhere and in any position—amid thundering machines, deafening noises, the cry of children, or the wrangle of grown people; on the ground, in bed, or on a chair. In his own innocent way the Chinaman is almost a Sybarite.

Longevity Among Contemporaries.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

Motherhood

THIS event in the life of a woman is looked forward to with a feeling akin to horror—not because the little one is not welcome, but because the mother dreads the direful consequences to herself. Those long hours of agonizing labor stand out before her like a hideous nightmare. An improper delivery, followed by child-bed fever, may end the scene in a few short days, leaving the little one motherless. But there is another side to the picture. If women who are expecting to become mothers will commence the use of the great female tonic,

GERSTLE'S FEMALE PANACEA, TRADE (G. F. P.) MARK

regularly as directed a few weeks before confinement, and continue its use until the organs are restored to their normal condition, the hours of labor will be shortened, the pain lessened, and recovery complete. If there is any costiveness, move the bowels gently with mild doses of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator.

SOLD AT DRUG STORES. L. GERSTLE & CO., Proprs., CHATTANOOGA, TENN.

WINE OF CARDUI

MONTHLY SUFFERING.

Thousands of women are troubled at monthly intervals with pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides hips and limbs. But they need not suffer.

These pains are symptoms of dangerous derangements that can be corrected. The menstrual function should operate painlessly.

McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui

makes menstruation painless, and regular. It puts the delicate menstrual organs in condition to do their work properly. And that stops all this pain. Why will any woman suffer month after month when Wine of Cardui will relieve her? It costs $1.00 at the drug store. Why don't you get a bottle to-day?

For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. ROZENA LEWIS, of Oenaville, Texas, says: "I was troubled at monthly intervals with terrible pains in my head and back, but have been entirely relieved by Wine of Cardui."

OUR GREAT FREE Offer!

THIS SPOON is an elegant and patriotic souvenir of the world-famed battleship Maine. Thousands have been sold in the last few weeks. The illustration gives but a faint idea of the real beauty of the spoon. It bears very elegantly engraved and embossed and heavily silver-plated, the exact size of cut. It is pronounced by the largest souvenir spoon house in the country and delights everyone to whom it secures one. It has a retail value of from 50 cents to 75 cents, and will be found in any table or collection.

THE COLUMBIAN which we send you to 1900 free, in addition to the Spoon, is a large, well-edited and very handsomely printed and illustrated, patriotic, family and Pictorial Monthly Magazine, published at Boston, Mass. It gives you a generous supply of interesting and instructive reading matter and will be a welcome visitor to your home every month. The Columbian is edited by MME. Why She Smiles Sweetly.

Sparkling eyes, quick beating heart, and the rosy blush of pleasure on the cheek, makes the strong man happy when he meets his lady love. That's the kind of a man whose very touch thrills because it is full of energy, vigorous nerve power and vitality. Tobacco makes strong men impotent, weak and skinny. No-To-Bac sold by druggists everywhere. Guaranteed to cure. Book, titled, "Don't Tobacco Spit or Smoke Your Life Away," free. Ad. Sterling Remedy Co., New York or Chicago.

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists, price fifty cents and one dollar.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

is the greatest Labor Organization the world has ever seen.

It is the only organization which, while striving to secure for wage-workers the best possible homes to work in, hours and conditions, aims at reforming the causes of industrial injustice.

It is not local in finde and locality absolute control, keeps out trade or local affairs, yet its perfect organization enables its members to act unitedly, promptly, and to the best advantage, every concentrated effort being backed by the power of the entire organization.

It is pledged to work for the overthrow of the capitalistic system of production and establishment of co-operative industry. That reforms enforced by law, if they are to be of any benefit, must be the result and permanent when they rest upon the convictions of a wise public sentiment. It seeks to accomplish its ends only by appeals to reason and conscience, never by force.

It is a secret organization only so far as is necessary to the protection of its members and its aims and methods, and can have no need to conceal information on economical, political or social questions.

Its doors are open to all who labor honestly and [illegible] the kind of brain, skill or muscle employed, or the color of the skin.

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for as the Boston Beacon says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such, it gives its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the [illegible] economic, and literary [illegible] which are of value to [illegible] men and women.

"We know of no review published in this country or in Europe which is so successfully as the American Monthly the actual [illegible] and clearly [illegible] with the sound judgment [illegible] exact knowledge and well-[illegible] of the party, literary periodical [illegible]"

"Progress of the World" [illegible] cinctly an illustrated [illegible] month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current magazine articles; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of serious import.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one magazine all information needed by intelligent people of "live" inquisitive brains is the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library in itself"; "a historical cyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of aid for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a triumph of genius"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

Jemison, June 20, '98.

Editor BANNER:—With due regards for all the candidates, we must say, hats off for S. M. Adams and L. H. Reynolds. Mr. Adams has spent the most of his life in the interest of the people, and we must aim to engage him for Probate Judge. He is the best man in the county for that office; we defy contradiction. He is for the People's Party, for the people's rights: he is true to principle; has been tried and and has never been found wanting. Come along, brothers, all to the polls for Hon. S. M. Adams, we must have the right man and must not be defeated by scheming. Our interest is the same as the sacred interest of a family. Think of it!

Next, we must elect Hon. S. H. Reynolds for representative. He is the man that will represent and defend our rights. We want a man who will not be hired to serve a few landlords, who are boasting their four hundred and five hundred dollars to pay legislators to procure the stock law in Chilton county. The poor, honest people are greatly in the majority, and they are not ready for the stock law by several years. God is feeding our cattle in the woods over half the year and said God causeth the grass to grow for the cattle. What does it mean, all this talk about paying for legislation? The few against the many. May a higher intervening power protect the rights of the industrious farmer and his cattle. On to the polls, brothers, vote for Mr. Reynolds, who will protect your summer woods pasture.

How can any one afford to be without the BANNER? I would split rails by moonshine to pay for the noble BANNER.

E. R. FLETCHER.

Editor BANNER—Will you allow me space to say a few words in behalf of our ticket? Now, brother Populist, I don't think we have any reason to be parleying over candidates; the people have spoken and let us stick to what was done on the 29th day of April. I don't think that we can afford to let this opportunity slip; let us be steadfast. I don't say this because I am such an all-fired Adams man or Deason man or Reynolds man or Strock man, but it is because I am a Populist. I want to tell you about a conversation which occurred between two Democrats in this county. One said that he was a Democrat and always had been, that he never had voted anything but the straight Democratic ticket but he believed in a free vote and a fair count. The other fellow said it that is what you want you are not a Democrat, you are nothing in the world but a Populist. Now you see what it takes to be a Democrat. I believe there are enough in this county who want a free vote and a fair count to elect our ticket. I see what it takes to be a Populist in elections and that is one reason why I am such an all-fired Populist, because they believe in fairness.

From Our Soldier Boys

The following letter addressed to Mr. Henry W. Tickner is of such general interest at the present time we gladly give it room:

U. S. Camp, Mobile, Ala., June 21.

Friend Henry: You ask me to tell you how camp life is. I will tell you plainly without flowering it in the least.

We, the volunteers, have as good a time as could be expected. We have all the the necessities of living so why should we object? Our rations consists of such as the average man would receive at home. It is true our drills are hard, but in case a man gives out he has the privilege of dropping out of ranks any time and returning to his quarters for rest. We are not under as strict dicipline as the regulars, for they are in the business for a living and we (the volunteers) for principle. I do not mean to say that the regulars as a whole are non-patriotic, for there are some who love the stars and stripes as well as we, but generally speaking I think the volunteers are preferable. The boys who mostly raise objection to our fare are those who receive less at home and you never hear of a patriotic boy complaing of our fare. We are here at no expence to ourselves getting a good living and receiving $15.60 per month with chance of promotion; so why should we object?—there's no room for objection whatever and my advice to all who have the blood of patriotism flowing through their veins is to join the U. S. Volunteer servicee. I have experienced it and I know what it is; therefore I am in a position to speak plainly.

In case any of us at any time gets homesick we have the chance and privilege of securing a furlough and returning home. But strange to say after a boy arrives at camp he forms such an attachment to the boys that he does not care to return, though he has the privilege. In short, I will say it is much better than I anticipated. Regards to all. Your friend, R. K. BLACKSHEAR

Bad management keeps more people in poor circumstances than any other one cause. To be successful one must look ahead and plan ahead so that when a favorable opportunity presents itself he is ready to take advantage of it. A little forethought will also save much expense and valuable time. A prudent and careful man will keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy in the house; the shiftless fellow will wait until necessity compels him and then run his best horse going for a doctor and have a big doctor bill to pay, besides; one costs but 25 cents, the other is out a hundred dollars and then wonders why his neighbor is getting richer while he is getting poorer. THE BANNER.

PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

CLANTON, - ALABAMA.

Now that the English army under Sir Herbert Kitchener is approaching Khartoum, the memory of Gordon's fate returns to English minds, and naturally the thought of giving him a monument in the city has found expression.

Philadelphia public school authorities have been much vexed by the question whether a new school should be named for the late Judge Joseph Allison. Finally local pride has prevailed, and the school is to be known by the name of the judge.

The days of chloroform seem to be numbered. Frederic W. Hewitt, anæsthetist to the London hospital, states in a recent article in the Lancet, that it was administered in only 677 cases out of the 6657 cases anæsthetized at that institution during 1897.

Not long ago a Western orator said that for every foot of military road from Puerto Principe to Havana a Cuban patriot has yielded up his life in battle. The Atchison Globe figures up that the road contains 11,080,000 square feet, and says that such a large number of fatalities out of a total population of less than 2,000,000 is appalling.

A general rule arrived at is that the modern steel gun should not be fired more than 100 times. After that, it matters not what the emergency may be, it is safer to dismantle the gun and send it back to the shop than to risk firing it, for the explosion of a gun is a decidedly and extensively dangerous occurrence to all in its immediate locality. The firing of a gun causes the steel to crystallize, and thereby become as brittle as a file.

One of the ideas offered by inventors to the Washington authorities is to build tanks to contain crude petroleum at convenient places near the entrances of exposed harbors, so that the surface of the water may be flooded with oil in a few minutes when warning is given of the approach of the fleet of the enemy. Then with rockets this oil may be set on fire in various places, and offer a barrier of flame, which the invader cannot cross without inviting his own destruction.

The enterprising managers of the Oregon River and Navigation company will test this year the agricultural possibilities of the country in which it is located. They have secured land in Umatilla county, Oregon, for an experiment station, and have made arrangements for irrigation. They will test the soil and climate with cotton, tobacco, sweet potatoes, peanuts, amber cane, sweet corn, and Mercer corn. All the products will be prepared for market in the usual way, and the station will be provided with a canning outfit, with a mill to crush the cane, and with an evaporator. In addition to this central experiment station there will be several subsidiary posts. Tests will be made in several places of various grasses, and at others crops that seem best suited to the soil will be tried. The Mercer corn mentioned is a new variety, which is said to yield 100 bushels to the acre, and to be ready for harvest seventy-five days after planting. It makes excellent meal for bread, and is also a superior food for live stock, the stalks as well as the grain being used for cattle.

A feature of the postoffice department display at the Omaha exposition that is expected to attract much attention in these war days will be an exhibit of photographs of soldiers taken during the civil war, which miscarried and landed in the dead-letter division of the postoffice department. There are about 16,000 of these old pictures, and they form a most interesting collection for a variety of reasons. During the civil war it was a common thing for soldiers in the Northern armies who happened to be near a town to have their pictures taken to send to wives, sweethearts, parents, or friends at home. In thousands of cases the addresses were defective in some particular or became entirely separated from the picture in the course of the rough handling to which some of the mails were necessarily subjected at times, and the postoffice authorities were unable to deliver them. They were preserved, however, and have now become a valuable collection from a historical standpoint. There were many thousands of them originally, but large numbers of them were claimed from time to time, and the number has now been reduced to about 15,000.

FLEET ORDERED TO SPAIN.

Commodore Watson Ordered to Join Admiral Sampson at Santiago.

WILL THEN PROCEED TO COAST OF SPAIN.

Two Strong Battleships, Three Cruisers and Three Colliers Will Make Up His Fleet, Which Starts at Once.

WASHINGTON.—The navy department Monday posted the following bulletin: "Commodore Watson sails today in the Newark to join Sampson, when he will take under his command an armored squadron with cruisers and proceed at once off the Spanish coast."

The navy department also posted the following bulletin showing Commodore Watson's squadron. It is designated the eastern squadron and is as follows:

Flagship Newark, battleships Iowa and Oregon, cruisers Yosemite, Yankee and Dixie, and the colliers Scendia, Abarenda and Alexander. The start will be made at once off Santiago.

The purpose is to bring the Spanish people to a realizing sense of the hopelessness to continue the present struggle, and to destroy or capture the Cadiz fleet by a bold stroke and then take up the work of harrassing the Spanish at home, providing that the blow does not suffice to bring about peace.

SPAIN'S INTERNAL TROUBLES.

Hunger and Misery Bringing the Country to the Verge of Revolution.

LONDON.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: "Spain is in a state of ferment without equal during the present century. Troubles of the most serious kind are brewing all over the provinces. The political and social institutions are threatened in turn, and the least nervous among far-sighted politicians apprehend complete debacle.

"But the failure of the national defense is not alone accountable for this. Incredible as it may seem, the majority of Spaniards have absolutely no interest in the war, and even display a willingness to forget the past and to endeavor to rub along without colonies.

"Hunger and misery are making themselves felt throughout the country. There will soon be 35,000 unemployed in Catalonai, and everywhere else there are similar accounts of distress, going from bad to worse day by day.

"The government is painfully conscious and is now taking energetic measures, but all of these are of a coercive character. Troops which might have successfully defended the Philippines are being massed at all the centers where starvation protests are likely to assume an aggressive form, while money is being wasted on warships that will never fire a shot."

REWARD FOR NAVAL HEROES.

Wants Hobson Thanked and Transferred to the Line.

President McKinley sent a message to congress Monday recommending that Assistant Naval Constructor Hobson receive the thanks of congress for valiant conduct in sinking the Merrimac in Santiago harbor, and further recommending that he be transferred to the line of the navy and promoted to such position therein as the president by and with the advice and consent of the senate may determine.

A Second Message.

A second message from the president Monday recommends that, in recognition of the signal act of heroism of First Lieutenant Frank H. Newcomb in the battle of Cardenas, the thanks of congress be extended to him and to his officers and men of the Hudson; and that a gold medal of honor be presented to Lieutenant Newcomb, a silver medal of honor to each officer, and a bronze medal of honor to each member of his crew who served with him at Cardenas.

NOT BLOCKED

Is the Entrance to Santiago Harbor—Confirmed by the Vesuvius.

A dispatch to the New York Herald from Port Antonio says:

It has remained for the staunch dynamite cruiser, the Vesuvius, to demonstrate that the entrance to Santiago harbor was not completely blocked by the sinking of the Merrimac. While poking her nose about the entrance to the harbor a few nights ago the Vesuvius discovered ample room in which to pass the wreck of the Merrimac. She went in, made the observations along the inner harbor and then came back to sea, getting around the wrecked collier without difficulty.

Miners' Demands Rejected.

The demands adopted by the Alabama miners' convention at Birmingham were presented to the officers of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad company and the company rejected them, agreeing, however, to grant an advance of 2½ cents after July 1, but refusing the other proposition. The Sloss Iron & Steel company has a twenty years' contract and proposes to stand by it. A compromise on 2½ cents is probable.

MORE TROOPS LEAVE TAMPA.

Nine Thousand Men Under Brigadier-General Snyder D part for Santiago.

WASHINGTON.—Orders have been issued for the departure of another large army expedition from Tampa, composed of about 9,000 men of the second division of the Fourth army corps, under command of Brigadier-General Snyder, and six batteries of artillery, three light and three heavy. The preparations have been proceeding quietly for some days, and although the stores have been going aboard at Tampa, a rigid censorship at that point prevented any word getting out as to the expedition.

The actual departure from Tampa is expected by the war department to occur Wednesday, although there may be unavoidable delays.

The plans of the movement have been thoroughly determined upon. Twelve transports are to carry the expedition. They will move first to Key West, at which point a strong naval convoy will meet them and escort the expedition to Santiago. This will bring Shafter's army up to about 30,000 men.

SITUATION AT MANILA.

Twenty-five Thousand Rebels Surround the City.

MADRID (Special).—The government has received the following dispatch from Captain-General Augusti, dated Manila, June 23:

"The situation is still grave. I continue to maintain my position inside the line of blockhouses, but the enemy is increasing in numbers as the rebels occupy the provinces, which are surrendering. Torrential rains are inundating the entrenchments, rendering the work of defense difficult. The number of sick is increasing, making the situation very distressing and causing increased desertions by the native soldiers.

"It is estimated that the insurgents number 30,000, armed with rifles, and 10,000 who are armed with swords, etc.

"Aguinaldo has summoned me to surrender, but I have treated such proposals with disdain, for I am resolved to maintain the sovereignty of Spain and the honor of the flag to the last extremity.

"I have over 1,000 sick and 200 wounded."

Captain-General Augusti's family is still in the hands of the insurgents.

General Pen, with 1,000 soldiers, has surrendered.

The rebels who are besieging Manila exceed 25,000 men. The city is completely isolated, and the arrival of the Spanish squadron is anxiously awaited, for the position of Manila is untenable.

BLOCKADE EXTENDED.

Southern Coast of Cuba and San Juan Have Been Included.

WASHINGTON.—The President has issued a proclamation extending the blockade of Cuba to the southern coast from Cape Frances to Cape Cruz, inclusive, and also blockading San Juan, Porto Rico.

By proclamation the Government is to assume the formidable task of blockading about 500 miles of Cuban coast line in addition to the section already blockaded. This increases the extent of the blockade fully ten fold, it having been confined heretofore to a stretch of a little more than 100 miles on the north and the single port of Cienfuegos on the south coast of the island.

The vessels for the additional blockade service will be supplied almost entirely from the patrol fleet which, under Commodore Howell, has been guarding the North Atlantic coast from Maine to South Carolina.

THIRD CALL WILL BE ISSUED.

One Hundred and Fifty Thousand Men Will Be Asked to Enlist.

WASHINGTON.—The president will issue early next week a third call for troops. The exact number to be called for is not determined, but there seems to be no doubt that at least 150,000 will be invited to enlist.

The war department estimates that 50,000 troops will be needed in Santiago province, 125,000 in Havana province, 20,000 in Cienfuegos and vicinity, 30,000 in Porto Rico, and 60,000 in the Philippines. A reserve force of 100,000 is held to be essential for retention in this country. The president is convinced that the estimates of American strength needed for subjugating Cuba have been short.

BATTLE EXPECTED WEDNESDAY

The Army Near Santiago Ready to Make a Forward Movement.

A Tuesday's dispatch from Washington says: According to telegraphic dispatches a battle may occur at Santiago tomorrow, as the army will be ready to make another forward movement, assisted by the navy. It is expected that Commodore Watson will be ready to sail with his expedition to Spain in a week. No uneasiness is felt in cabinet circles for Admiral Dewey. The fourth Manila expedition, it is expected, will leave San Francisco about July 9. During the next two weeks 25,000 men will be added to the army in Cuba.

Gen. Merritt Goes to Manila.

SAN FRANCISCO. — Major-General Merritt has abandoned his headquarters at the Phelan, and formally turned over the office to General Otis. General Merritt notified his staff officers that they must have all their baggage aboard the steamer Newport Tuesday and clerks and messengers attached to the various offices of General Merritt's department were ordered to go aboard the steamer. General Merritt announced that he would embark at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning on the Newport.

MORE TROOPS FOR SHAFTER

An Expedition of 6,000 Men to Leave Tampa This Week.

37,000 SPANISH TROOPS IN EASTERN CUBA.

War Department Will Take No Chance of a Serious Reverse at Santiago. Drafts on Chickamauga Will Probably Be Made at Once.

WASHINGTON.—Secretary Alger and General Miles held several conferences Saturday, not so much to go over the struggle of Friday as to give every military preparation for the great struggle yet to come. As a result heavy reinforcements will go forward at once, both from Tampa and Newport News. An expedition of 6,000 men is expected to leave Tampa within the next three days. It comprises the command of Brigadier-General Snyder, the Third division of the First army corps. The stores are already going aboard the transports, and the start of the expedition only awaits the arrival of the naval convoy. Part of the warships sent over with General Shafter's expedition have been released from Admiral Sampson, and are now on their way back to Tampa to escort the additional troops. Others will follow, and the formidable marine procession will start across the Gulf to Cuba. There will be several warships as well as lighter craft, to give safe conduct to General Snyder's division. Simultaneous with this General Henry's division will be moving along the Atlantic coast and thence to Santiago. In all the reinforcements from Tampa and Newport News will be in the neighborhood of 12,000 or 14,000 men.

Drafts on Chickamauga are likely to follow soon, as the hurry orders recently given have led to the full equipment of the several commands. The war department is acting on the theory that it is not politic to take any possible chance of a serious reverse near Santiago.

The latest information reaching here shows that the Spanish army is larger than has been estimated thus far. Lieut. Joyce, of the regular army, reported to General Miles Saturday, giving much information as to the number and location of the Spanish troops. Before Joyce entered the United States army he had served with General Garcia, and had traversed a good part of Santiago province. He was on the ground only a few weeks ago, leaving there in April, and at that time he had opportunities to get an accurate idea of the Spanish forces at the eastern end of the island. He reports the number as 37,000, of which 12,000 are at Santiago, 10,000 at Holguin and 15,000 at Manzanillo. Once concentrated at Santiago this would make a formidable army.

EN ROUTE TO MANILA.

Sagasta Announces Destination of Camara's Fleet.

A dispatch from Madrid says Senor Sagasta informed the chamber Thursday that Camara's squadron is on the way to the Philippines.

PALERMO.—The Giornale di Sicilia publishes a dispatch from the island of Pantellaria, southwest of Sicily, announcing that Admiral Camara's squadron, consisting of seven war ships, including three torpedo boats and conveying five transports, passed there on Tuesday, June 21, going in the direction of Suez.

That the Spanish Cadiz fleet is proceeding steadily eastward is no longer doubted at Washington. Trusted agents of the government on the shores of the Mediterranean are watching every movement of the ships and availing themselves of every reliable source of information.

Still Possible to Save Philippines.

MADRID.—A declaration by General LeChambre, deputy governor of the Philippines under General Polloviado, has been issued, in which he declares against an immediate peace, on the ground that Spain at present would have to accept all or most of America's conditions. He considers, despite the military situation there, it will still be possible to save the Philippines, providing diplomacy is conducted skillfully and energetically.

GEN. WHEELER'S SEAT.

Special Election to Fill the Alleged Vacancy Will Probably Be Held.

Regarding the truth of the report that Attorney-General Fitts has rendered a decision declaring the seat of Representative Joseph Wheeler for the Eighth district in congress vacant, because he accepted a major-general's commission and absented himself from Washington, Governor Johnston admitted a decision had been rendered, but declined to divulge its purport. He said he would take the matter up in a few days, and if a special election was ordered it will probably be called for the same date as the state election, on the first Monday in August Transports Haven't Reached Manila.

MANILA, via HONG KONG.—Up to the time this dispatch is sent (June 23) the transports from San Francisco having on board American troops intended to reinforce Rear Admiral Dewey have not arrived here, and there is no change in the situation.

The insurgents have not made any further advance, and the Spaniards have been continuing the construction of sandbank fortifications and sharpening bamboo around Manila for the purpose of stopping the insurgents' advance.

REIGN OF TERROR AT HAVANA.

Those Dissatisfied With the Government Will Be Shot.

KEY WEST, FLA.—The most authentic and reliable news yet obtained of the true condition of affairs in Havana was furnished a representative of the Associated Press by a British subject, who left Havana on board the British cruiser Talbot and who arrived here Monday. He says a reign of terror exists at the Cuban capital.

Captain-General Blanco has issued a proclamation announcing that any one daring to express an unfavorable opinion of, or suspected of being dissatisfied with the present policy of the government, will be summarily shot without trial or investigation.

Famine it seems is imminent, and the stories of the arrival of supplies at Havana by the way of Banataba are pronounced to be untrue.

The informant of the Associated Press thinks Havana cannot possibly hold out six weeks longer. The city is pronounced to be panic-stricken, its inhabitants expecting every moment to be bombarded by the American fleet, as they realize that Captain-General Blanco releases the United States from the obligation of giving the usual bombardment notice. Riots are daily expected at Havana, as the troops are suffering from hunger and the volunteers are seeing their wives and children dying for want. Under such conditions the captain-general cannot much longer keep the military forces in check, and a rebellion is likely to devastate Havana before the city is captured by the Americans.

Captain-General Blanco admits the situation is desperate. He recognizes, it is pointed out, his inability to control his troops goaded by hunger, much longer, and he is reported to have said that he will never leave Havana alive, as he is prepared to take his own life when the outbreak occurs.

Referring to the strength of the Spanish forces, the Briton says there are 120,000 men under arms at Havana, but the great majority of them are ready to surrender rather than die of hunger.

TO SECURE PEACE.

Sagasta Planning to Provoke a Crisis and Form a Coalition Ministry.

According to a special dispatch from Madrid, published in London Monday, the Spanish government is actively preparing to dispatch reinforcements to Porto Rico by the fastest available trans-Atlantic liners.

Continuing, the dispatch says: "It is reported now that the cortes are closed, and that Premier Sagasta is planning to provoke a crisis and form a coalition ministry drawn from the different monarchial parties, including Marshal Campos and General Polaveija. The new ministry will proclaim the whole peninsular in a state of siege, will reinforce the garrisons in the Carlist and republican centers, and then appeal to a friendly nation, probably France or Russia, to secure terms for peace."

CAMARA FORBIDDEN TO COAL

At Port Said and Will Remain There Pending Deliberations.

PORT SAID.—Upon the application of the United States consul here orders have been issued forbidding the coaling at this port of Admiral Camara's fleet, which is there until further orders.

Egypt Refused.

NEW YORK.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Cairo, Egypt, says "Admiral Camara has asked to be allowed to purchase 10,000 tons of coal for the Spanish fleet at Port Said, but the Egyptian government refuses to permit the ships to coal in Egyptian waters. Pending deliberations, which are likely to last a long time, the fleet intends to remain at Port Said."

Resolution Providing for Negro Troops

Representative McDonald, of Maryland, has introduced a joint resolution authorizing the president to muster into the United States service as volunteers one regiment of colored troops composed of the following independent companies: Two companies from Virginia, one from District of Columbia, four from Maryland, two from Mississippi, one from Alabama, and two from West Virginia. The subaltern officers are to be selected by the captains and the field and staff and captains under the war department regulations.

Alarm Grows on Spains Coast.

MADRID.—In view of the American threat to send a fleet to the peninsula, the government deems it advisable to be prepared for eventualities. The lights at certain ports have been extinguished, torpedoes have been prepared, and additional guards have been mounted.

Voted to Accept Compromise.

The coal miners of the Birmingham district have voted to accept an advance of 2½ cents per ton for mining coal during the next fiscal year beginning July 1. This action was in the nature of a compromise, the miners having demanded an advance of 5 cents per ton.

Populist Nominations.

The populists, in convention at Birmingham, have nominated candidates for judge of the Tenth circuit and chancellor of the Northwest chancery division. They are: For circuit judge, W. H. Smith, Jr.; for chancellor, Robert Chisholm.

Jones Renominated for Governor.

The democratic state convention met at Little Rock, Ark., and renominated Dan W. Jones for governor.

At the end of the pier the companies and regiments quickly lined up and were marched away.

General Lawton threw a strong detachment, for the night, about six miles west, on the road to Santiago, and another detachment was posted to the north of the town, among the hills. The rest of the troops were quartered in the town, some of them being housed in the buildings of the iron company.

Others of the troops were quartered in deserted houses, while others still preferred the shelter of their tents in the adjoining fields.

The morning's fire had destroyed the roundhouse, the repair shops and several small dwellings.

The sun-bronzed soldiers, in their slouch hats and service uniforms, quickly searched the buildings and beat up the thickets after landing in search of lurking foes, and marched into the unknown country beyond at nightfall with long, swinging stride and the alert bearing of the old frontier army men, ready to fight the Spaniards Sioux fashion or in the open wherever they could be found.

The cheers of their comrades still waiting on the transports and of the bluejackets, and the strains of "Yankee Doodle" from the bands on the troop ships, greeted them as they disappeared from view over the hills of Baiquiri.

No Men Killed.

The landing was accomplished without loss of life, the only casualty being the wounding of an insurgent on the hills by a shell from one of the warships. He will lose his arm. The insurgent troops at Baiquiri are commanded by General Castillo, and number a thousand men.

The boats rushed forward simultaneously from every quarter, in good-natured rivalry to be the first, and their occupants scrambled over one another to leap ashore.

Besides, the men are anxious to begin active land operations against the enemy, and it would have been especially trying to them to remain cooped up on the troopships with the Spaniards ashore in sight. Never did soldiers spring more gladly to their work than did those who were selected to be the first to land.

In five minutes the sea was alive with flotillas of small boats, headed by launches, speeding for the Baiquiri pier. Some of the boats were manned by crews of sailors, while others were rowed by the soldiers themselves. Each boat contained sixteen men, every one in fighting trim and carrying three days' rations, a shelter tent, a gun and two hundred cartridges, ready to take the field on touching the shore should they be required to do so.

The firing of the warships proved to be a needless precaution, as their shots were not returned and no Spaniards were visible.

General Shafter, on board the Seguranca, closely watched the landing of the troops.

Brigadier-General Lawton, who had been detailed to command the landing party, led the way in a launch, accompanied by his staff, and directed the formation of the line of operation.

The Cuban insurgents under General Garcia assisted materially in protecting the debarkation. The Cubans numbered 5700 men, and were stationed in the region surrounding Santiago, with a view of cutting off any possible advance of Spanish soldiers to attack the troops while landing. The Cubans held positions on the north, east and west of the city. General Garcia will have about 10,000 men ready to co-operate with the American forces within a short time, or as soon as a decisive blow is struck at Santiago.

After our men had landed, the Cubans up on the hill, under General Castillo, attacked the Spaniards in the block house and fort. Indeed, hard though desultory fighting is going on in the mountains on all sides of Santiago.

While this was going on several transports proceeded westward twelve miles, and troops were landed to co-operate directly with the Cuban forces marching upon the doomed city in that direction. From hills back of Santiago nine hundred Cubans have appeared and are harassing the enemy.

Spaniards Repulsed.

Two bodies of Spaniards were driven from the hills in this direction back upon Santiago. This was only done after a desperate fight, in which twenty-five Spaniards are said to have been killed and twice that number wounded.

The Spaniards have plenty of ammunition, but show the effects of the terrible strain they must have been under since the appearance of the American troops.

Cubans who have come out of Santiago report that the city is suffering terribly. Hunger is encroaching upon citizens and soldiers alike. The citizens of Santiago are already petitioning the Governor that surrender be made without further fighting.

Advancing the Heavy Guns.

The force at Baiquiri began to advance immediately after landing. Already the engineers have bridged gulleys and prepared a roadway for the passage of the heavy siege guns and artillery.

They have moved up the hill without waiting for reinforcements.

COPPINGER'S CORPS

Consisting of 18,000 Men, Will Soon Leave Tampa, With Gen. Miles, for Santiago.

WASHINGTON.—General Miles has made all arrangements to leave Washington at once for Tampa to embark there as soon as possible with General Coppinger and the Fourth army corps, of about 18,000 men, for Santiago, that point being definitely announced as the chief outlying base of supplies for subsequent military and naval operations against the enemy in the West Indies. General Shafter has been directed by cable to get all the supplies out of his transports as quickly as possible and hasten them back to Tampa for General Coppinger's troops. General Coppinger's force is composed almost altogether of the brigades which were originally selected to participate with General Shafter, and it has the advantage of thorough and compact organization.

A PEACE "FEELER."

Probable Attempt to Ascertain American Sentiment.

MADRID.—Special.—The Correspondencia, of the city, published a report Saturday to the effect that the peace conditions suggested by the government of the United States include the possession of the United States of the Island of Porto Rico, the independence of the Island of Cuba, under the protectorate of the United States, the establishment of a naval station for United States warships in the Philippines and the establishment of a coal depot for the United States warships in the Canary Islands.

A Denial From Washington.

WASHINGTON.—The announcement from Madrid that the United States has suggested peace conditions with Spain was received here with great interest, for the reason that the report was regarded as a feeler set down for the distinct purpose of developing the state of public feeling in America as well as Europe. There is no basis of fact for the report, and was met at the state department with a prompt and unqualified denial.

WHEELER COMMANDED CAVALRY

The Alabamian Has Had His Most Cherished Wish Fulfilled.

WASHINGTON.—General Wheeler has had one wish fulfilled. He has commanded the first cavalry charge on Cuban soil. The Alabamians in the city were jubilant as the reports came into the department showing that General Wheeler was commander of the regulars and Rough Riders in the fight which took place Friday.

At the department the greatest interest was manifested; especially was this so around General Miles' headquarters. General Miles was greatly pleased that General Wheeler had the command, for he has all along predicted great achievements for the little leader. It was under his orders that General Wheeler accompanied the first expedition.

SHELL EXPLODES ON THE TEXAS

Killing One Man and Wounding Eight Others—Lively Exchange of Shots.

PLAYA DEL ESTE, GUANTANAMO BAY.—While shelling the batteries of Santiago de Cuba, the battleship Texas was struck by a six-inch shell, which passed through her port side, killing R. R. Blakely, an apprentice, and wounding eight others.

The Texas, with a number of transports, was making a feint west of the entrance of Santiago harbor and was shelling the woods. A Spanish battery on the hill west of the harbor opened on the warship and for three hours there was a lively exchange of shots.

The Spaniards shot wildly, but the last shell struck the Texas just above the gun deck and exploded. Blakely, who was standing directly in the path of the shell, was cut to pieces.

Capt. Roland C. McFarland, editor of the Florence Ala.) Standard-Journal, died from injuries received in a fight. McFarland's skull was fractured and he was unconscious, except at brief intervals, until his death.

Camara Will Not Go to Manila.

A Madrid special says: Admiral Camara's fleet will not go to Manila, but to another port in the Philippines to land troops in order to hold a strong position. The fleet will then be ready for action and Admiral Dewey will thus have to leave the bay unprotected or divide his fleet.

Spanish Fleet May Make a Sortie.

Officers on the blockading vessels on the north coast of Cuba infer from movements on small Spanish vessels in the harbor of Havana, that the Spaniards contemplate a sortie with the best fleet that they can get together within a day or two.

Bodies Not Mutilated.

In response to a telegram from the navy department requesting definite information concerning the alleged mutilation of the bodies of the four marines killed in the outpost of Guantanamo, Admiral Sampson has wired Secretary Long as follows:

"Playa del Este.—Replying to your dispatch I have to report that a careful investigation has been made and it is reported to me that the apparent mutilation was probably due to the effect of small caliber bullets fired at short range, and I withdraw the charge of mutilation."

ROUGH RIDERS AMBUSHED

Roosevelt Led a Stirring and Victorious Charge on the Spaniards.

FIGHT LASTED OVER AN HOUR.

Spanish Troops Were Hidden in the Tall Grass on the Road to Santiago and the Rough Riders Were in the Advance—A Deadly Fire Poured Into Our Troops—Spaniards Were Put to Flight.

ARAMORES, Cuba, via Playa del Este (By Cable).—The Theodore Roosevelt's "Rough Riders," First Regular Cavalry, Massachusetts Volunteers, and a detachment of Cubans fought a bloody fight with the Spaniards eight miles from Santiago. It was the first pitched battle of the American invading army.

Ten of the rough riders were killed in the engagement with the Spanish forces that ambushed them. These troops had requested that they be sent to the front at ance, and they were ordered to march over the foothills from Baiquiri.

The troops sent out in advance were commanded by General Young. The rough riders were on his flank several miles further inland. They were guarding him from a surprise. Of the cavalry there were in the expedition several troops of the First and Tenth Cavalry, and eight battalions of the rough riders, all dismounted. There were not 1200 men in all. They found 2000 Spanish in a thicket and finally drove them back to the defenses of the town. Fourteen dead Spaniards were found, but this does not measure the Spanish loss. The last resistance of the Spanish was at a blockhouse, which was stormed and carried. Four regiments of infantry, including the Seventy-first New York and some of the Ninth Cavalry, were hurried forward as a reinforcement.

After a forced march the troops dismounted. They were then eight miles distant from Santiago. They heard the Spaniards felling trees a short distance from them, and they were ordered to advance upon the enemy.

The country about is covered with high grass and chaparal, and in this a strong force of the Spaniards was hidden. As the Americans moved forward they were met by a withering fire.

Colonel Leonard Wood and Lieutenant Colonel Roosevelt led the charge with great bravery. They scorned to hide themselves in the grass or underbrush as the enemy did, and ultimately drove the enemy back toward Santiago, inflicting heavy losses upon them.

The rough riders were supported by the Second Massachusetts Volunteers and the First regular cavalry.

The Killed.

Captain Allyn Capron, First Artillery, U. S. A.

Sergeant Hamilton Fish, Roosevelt's rough riders.

Captain Luna.

Private Tillman, Private Docherty, Private James Crews, Private Edward Culver, Private Erwin, Private Dawson, Private Harry Heffner, of Troop G.

In the First Cavalry the following were killed: Corporal Wheeler and privates Kolbe, York, Dixon, Lennark and Burlin.

Thirty-seven men were wounded, ten of them fatally, according to first reports.

A number of Cubans took part in the fighting, and forty of them were killed.

Edward Marshall, a correspondent of the New York Journal, was at the front with the rough riders, and he was seriously wounded.

The enemy received reinforcements from Santiago, who brought with them ten field pieces. They fortified the hill at Savilla, which commands the road to Santiago.

The rough riders have received high praise from General Shafter for the gallant style in which they defeated the Spaniards. The enemy was utterly routed.

General Castillo, with 2000 Cubans, reports having defeated the Spaniards at Guasima with heavy loss. The Cuban losses were less than fifty.

The insurgents captured two railroad trains laden with food supplies and a hundred tons of coal.

Hamilton Fish, third, one of the killed.

Casualties at Baiquiri.

General Van Horne, commanding the First Division, was hurt by a fall while making the landing at Baiquiri, Cuba. Two enlisted men of the Tenth (colored) Cavalry were crushed between a lighter and the pier. Captain O'Neill, of "Teddy's Terrors," heroically leaped into the sea and tried to save the men at the risk of his own life.

Buried at Sea.

F. W. Blakeley, the naval apprentice who was killed by a Spanish shell on the Texas, was buried at sea as soon as the engagement was over.

AN IRRESISTIBLE ADVANCE.

The Americans Marched to Santiago as the Spaniards Retreated.

Our forces in Province of Santiago de Cuba, By Cable.—Two days' work in the disembarkation at Baiquiri by the troops of the American Army resulted in the capture of Aserraderos and in which the harbor of Santiago de Cuba lies. Here seven miles from Morro Castle as the crow flies, the vanguard of the army pushed forward, and the Spaniards were in full retreat toward Santiago de Cuba.

General Lawton's brigade, which had rested four miles west of Baiquiri, resumed its march at daylight. Before it was the brigade consisting of the Twenty-second Infantry, the First Infantry, the Second Massachusetts Volunteers with a squadron of the Eighth Cavalry and a troop of the Tenth Cavalry and several companies of the Twenty-fifth Cavalry, a mounted brigade, five miles beyond, and the American flag was hoisted there.

The Spaniards doggedly resisted before the advance, which was covered by the Cuban skirmishers, burning the blockhouses as they went.

The Cubans drove the Spaniards back eight miles from the coast. A dozen Spanish blockhouses were burned by the troops as they advanced.

Three hundred Spaniards were routed out of Altares and the Americans are in possession.

Five thousand Cubans, under General Babi and General Garcia, were landed on transports at Aserraderos, west of Santiago, and landed at Altares to join in the general movement on Santiago from the east. Very picturesque was the landing of the Cubans under the protection of the fleet's guns, with the Spaniards falling back before them.

The plan is to put the Cubans in control of Santiago when the city has been taken, and leave the American troops free for Porto Rico and other operations.

Surgeon Lagarde, Color Sergeant Wright and Trumpeter Platt, of Roosevelt's rough riders, planted the American flag on the summit of Mount Losiltires, in full view of the American fleet. It was a magnificent spectacle as Americans and Cubans cheered the colors, while the vessels of the fleet joined in with joyous blasts from their whistles.

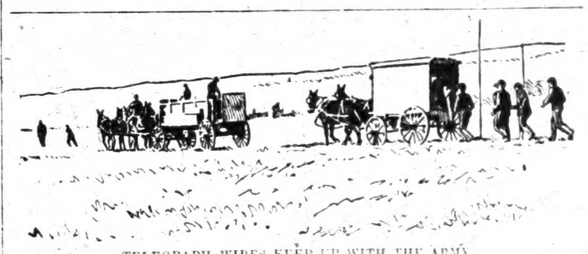
Siege guns and heavy artillery are in good position. The Spanish troops destroyed everything in the surrounding country before retiring to Santiago.

TO RAVAGE SPAIN'S COAST.

If Camara Enters Suez Canal Schley Will Bombard Barcelona.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—The definite news that Camara's squadron was sailing east through the Mediterranean Sea for the Philippines resulted in the prompt planning of a naval campaign of offence. If Spain sends the Cadiz fleet through the Suez Canal to attack Dewey in the Philippines, before the last Spanish vessel has passed through the canal an American squadron will be steaming at full speed across the Atlantic straight for the coast of Spain. Confident that Dewey, who will be soon reinforced, can serve that fleet as he did Montojo's, the Government plans to send our best warships to bombard the Spanish coasts as soon as Camara's squadron is fairly inside the Suez Canal.

The German Ambassador at Washington has given assurance that his Government



TELEGRAPH WIRES KEEP UP WITH THE ARMY.

The crop outlook in Oklahoma is as good as it could possible be, and the Territory will harvest at least 30,000,000 bushels of wheat and, in all probability, a corn crop largely in excess of last year.

THE celebration of the Fourth seems to be more general this year than usual. All over the county preparations are in progress, and on Monday next picnics, barbecues singings and gatherings of all kinds are the order of the day.

CONGRESSMAN W. F. Aldrich has introduced two bills in the House of Representatives this week which it is much to be hoped will become law. The first is "a Bill to retire the United States legal tender and Treasury notes, and to substitute therefor Treasury certificates, and for other purposes." The other is entitled "A Bill to create the army and navy supply board, to define its duties, and for other purposes." We will refer more fully to these bills at some future time.

THE Birmingham Times, in a despairing cry, says "the Republicans of Alabama do not support their papers," presumably meaning the Times. This is not at all surprising when such inaccurate reports as the following are given out in its columns:

The Republican county committee of Chilton county, met at Clanton on last Saturday and decided that, as there were two Populist tickets and two Independent Democrats in the field for Probate Judge, they would not put out a ticket, but would endorse such candidates as would serve the county the best, which resulted in their endorsing R. M. Honeycutt, the present Probate Judge, for re-election, and W. A. B. Falkner for clerk of the circuit court. At a future time candidates for Representative and Superintendent of Education will be endorsed by the committee.

In the first place, the half dozen colored men who met Mr. H. A. Wilson at Clanton are not recognized as the "Republican county committee of Chilton county." In the second place, there are not two "Populist tickets in the field" There is but one Populist ticket and never has been more than one, and that ticket will undoubtedly be elected in August. The action of this little meeting of Mr. Wilson's attracted no attention in the county, for the simple reason it has not the slightest influence on the election. What little influence Mr Wilson ever had has always been used in the interests of the Democratic party, and if he had any now it would go in the same direction. The gentleman endorsed by Mr. Wilson's meeting are to be commisserated, for such an endorsement only diminishes their chance of success.

It is the business of the Annapolis naval academy, and of the West Point military academy to produce men like Hobson. It is the privilege of men like Hobson to set the type for the imitation of the youth of the country. Of course training does not give capacity; that comes through hereditary privilege. And of course the first bent which capacity takes, its direction and in good part its purpose, are acquired in the home. But every people has its standards—what may be called its ethical and practical ideals—which its schools impress and develop. Hobson was the typical conscientious student of Annapolis, the type of the young American of capacity, conscience, and country who can be relied upon in the new emergencies when the policy of expansion will test it.—Review of Reviews.

The Democrats are very much torn up on account of Senator Dean's speech at Clanton last week. It was published in full in the Montgomery Advertiser and Birmingham Ledger and contains about 3,500 words. There are a few broad minded Democrats who are honest enough to admit that Mr. Dean's speech was a frank and open presentation of the whole issue before the people. But truth and frankness is just what the Democratic party does not want. They can't stand it. We hope to arrange for the publication of Mr. Dean's speech in full and from time to time shall refer to his interesting review of conditions in Alabama.

Grover Cleveland has been heard from again. This time he is talking against this country acquiring any more territory. He is opposed to our holding the Phillipine Islands, Cuba, Porto Rico or anything else we have captured or may capture. This is not surprising. Cleveland has never been in favor of anything the people wanted. It does not concern him that it will cost this country the lives of many good and brave men and many millions of dollars to stop the cruelty of Spain, and check the advance of European interests, through the money power, against free government. And Cleveland cannot see where he can come in on any bond deal.

Governor Johnson is getting ready to say something about the Fourth of July, we are told. He is to make a speech at Florence on the glorious Fourth. If the Governor will tell the people what he has done for them during the past two years, we shall be glad to hear it. If he will show that he has redeemed one promise that he ever made to the people, he may be able to make some one believe that there is an excuse for his asking to be Governor again. But the Governcan do nothing. He has done nothing for the people. His administration has been a failure, the most complete failure of any since the war.

Beats the Klondyke

Mr. A. C. Thomas, of Marysville Tex, has found a more valuable discovery than has yet been made in the Klondyke. For years he suffered untold agony from consumption, accompanied by hemmorhages; and was absolutely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. He declares that gold is of little value in comparison with this marvelous cure; would have it even if cost a hundred dollars a bottle. Asthma, Bronchitis and all throat and lung affections are positiyely cured by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Trial bottles free at Dr. J S. Johnson's Drug Store. Regular size 50 cts. and $1.00. Guaranteed to cure or price refunded.

Governor Johnston will soon drop his silver talk. No one who knew him ever had any confidence in Governor Johnston's professions of interest in the fight against the money power. His talk was gotten up to catch Populist voters. His whole record in private and public life has been against the people and he has always been in league with the enemies of the people.

Mr. P. Ketcham of Pike City, Cal., says: "During my brother's late sickness from sciatic rheumatism, Chamberlain's Pain Balm was the only remedy that gave him any relief." Many others have testified to the prompt relief from pain which this liniment affords. For sale by J. S. Johnson jr.

Nothing has been done in the direction of securing honest elections. The public school administration is in the most deplorable condition that that department has been in since the war. It is the worst in the U. S. It is a disgrace to the State of Alabama and an outrage upon the people.

Diseases of the Blood and Nerves.

Political Pointers.

Peoples Party Press Bureau
St. Louis, Mo., June 29, 1898

Representatives of an English syndicate are in this country making bids on all the fishing interests of the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence region. It will require many millions to consolidate such colossal industries but no one doubts the triumph of British gold or that the transfer will make the American pay a much higher price for his fish. Yet we are constantly admonished not to drive away foreign capital if we would see better times here.

The passing of Ignatius Donnelly from Minnesota politics is recorded in the papers of that state. At the recent People's Party State convention at Minneapolis he was decidedly worsted in a conflict with Owen, his old time enemy. The war of words between the two is said to have been most dramatic and the convention up to the time of the bolt of the middle-of-the-roaders was one of the noisiest and exciting in the history of the party.

The middle-of-the-road Populists, led by Milton Park of Texas and Wharton Barker of Philadelphia, met, after the adjournment of the national committee at Omaha last week, and issued a call for a convention to meet at Cincinnati, Ohio, September 1.

The Omaha Bee reported an attendance of thirty four members at the Reform Press meeting that preceded the meeting of the "Reorganization committee" at Omaha.

It is rumored that Mrs. Mary Ellen Lease has transferred her place of residence from Greater New York to Oregon. The rumor is as yet unconfirmed by Mrs. Lease.

Populist congressman Jerry Botkin of Kansas, was one of the most instructive and entertaining speakers at a recent Chautauqua assembly at Carthage, Missouri. His subject was silver but he touched with his usual vigor on many other needed reforms.

Let the war go on. Gold Bug Russell Sage has been lamenting to representatives of the press that the war is ruining the business of Wall street. He also asserts that this country could easily take care of a debt of one hundred billions, and is greatly pleased at the prospect of an Anglo-American alliance. It is a good idea to note what such fellows are approving so that the "way-faring man though a fool" may know what not to approve.

The co-operation of the silver forces in Michigan is assured in the coming campaign. The ticket represents an equal distribution among the three parties. The ticket was ratified in joint convention.

Col. William Jennings Bryan's company has been assigned to that portion of the army commanded by General Fitzhugh Lee and will, in all probability, be sent to Cuba after the rainy season is over.

Are You Pale?

Are your cheeks hollow and your lips white?

Is your appetite poor and your digestion weak? Is your flesh soft and have you lost in weight?

These are symptoms of anemia or poor blood. They are just as frequent in the summer as in the winter. And you can be cured at one time just as well as another.

Scott's Emulsion

of cod liver oil with hypophosphites will certainly help you. Almost everyone can take it, and it will not disturb the weakest stomach.

It changes the light color of poor blood to a healthy and rich red. It nourishes the brain; gives power to the nerves. It brings back your old weight and strength.

CORRESPONDENCE

country, I attended, it being my first time, and also promised a part of all the parties that I was going through the whole show and if I found anything wrong I would report the cause. I promised our courteous editor that I would make my letter short, I cannot go into full details. I know no name for it, I will give it a name, to-wit: a little floating band of conspirators conspiring against the best interests of good government. I searched the inner courts and could get no information. I then searched the outer and got the desired information as follows: By the copious use of money contributed in the way of fare that any aspirant for office could have a smooth ride upon Wilson's potitical train with palace sleepers attached if desired, regardless of party proclivities. I learned from one of our leading Populists that he was asked if he did not think Barbour was bought, from the fact of my having attended Wilson's meeting. I remarked if I had I sold cheap, and showed him the contents of my pocketbook, which contained a single nickle. I will now say to him and to all the people of the county, that I have sold out many years ago and God grant that every official in the U. S. would sell out and receive in payment the kind of script that I received and don't exactly get that from my own men. This same man said that the party thought it hard of me for desertion. My pay is intended that a good name is to be chosen rather than great riches. Loving favors rather than silver and gold. Some time in the near future I will ask the candidates of all the parties to join me in a request to have their executive committees call a mass meeting of every voter in the county. This is the people's business and not that of a few office-seekers.

Suffered 20 Years.

MRS. MARY LEWIS, wife of a prominent farmer, and well known by all old residents near Belmont, N. Y., writes: "For twenty-seven years I had been a constant sufferer from nervous prostration, and paid large sums of money for doctors and advertised remedies without benefit. Three years ago my condition was alarming; the least noise would startle and unnerve me. I was unable to sleep, had a number of fainting spells and slowly grew worse. I began using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills. At first the medicine seemed to have no effect, but after taking a few bottles I began to notice a change; I rested better at night, my appetite began to improve and I rapidly grew better, until now I am as nearly restored to health as one of my age may expect. God bless Dr. Miles' Nervine."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address,

I was seriously afflicted with a cough for several years, and last fall had a more severe cough than ever before. I have used many remedies without receiving much relief, and being recommended to try a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, by a friend who, knowing me to be a poor widow, gave it to me. I tried it, and with the most gratifying results. The first bottle relieved me very much and the second bottle has absolutely cured me. I have not had as good health for twenty years. Respectfully, MRS. MARY A. BEARD, Claremore, Ark. Sold by J. S. Johnson jr.

The Romance of a Trail that Was Scented with Roses.

BY JOAQUIN MILLER.

CHAPTER I.

An artist in Yreka! The time and place were unreasonable, for it was 1854 in Northern California. Yet there he was—Arthur Bantry, a man whose forty years looked more like fifty, as reckoned by the record of sorrow which they had lined in his face. He had come to the Pacific coast with the multitude of gold hunters, and he had handled the pick and shovel more than the brush and palette since his desertion of art for ore. But in his cabin, one day, I found him at work, in the clear light of a northward window, on a portrait of a girl. The original sketch had been made long before, as the worn condition of its leathern case showed. There was a sweet and delicate face, about one-fourth the size of life, and Bantry was carefully touching it here and there with the veriest tip of a fine brush. I saw that he was deftly adding slightly to the apparent age of the subject, and I laughed at this.

"It can't be a portrait, Arthur," said I, "or you'd be taking off the maturity instead of putting it on."

Instead of answering me, he gazed

"HE GAZED BEYOND ME."

beyond me, with an arm on the rude table, and his body leaned forward as though he saw, or was trying to see, the original of the picture. Distraught moments in the conduct of my friend had previously puzzled me, and I had guessed that some deep affliction had affected his manner, if not his mind. Now I realized that the likeness had something to do with the matter, and I hastily apologized for my ill-timed levity. At this moment the cabin mate of the artist entered.

Nelson Garth was as handsome a fellow of 25 as ever gave distinction to the tough garb of an early California adventurer, or preserved the signs of culture in the transition to the manners and customs of the wilderness.

"Ah, my sweetheart!" he exclaimed, on seeing the picture; and thus he, too, perceived that the occasion was not one for careless comment. "I didn't mean to be disrespectful," he added, "and I'm in dead earnest about my regard for that girl. The face is lovely. I admire it—somehow feel that it is a presence—that it is something tangible."

Arthur Bantry straightened up in his chair and said: "Boys, that is a portrait of my wife and daughter both." As we lifted our eyebrows in surprise and inquiry, he gravely continued: "I was a pioneer in these parts, as you know, long before the forty-niners came. A roving disposition, and a desire to find wild and unused subjects for pictures brought me here. That was excusable. The bad thing that I did was to let my wife and child accompany me. The mother was as adventurous as I in pursuit of picturesque Nature, and together we ventured recklessly into the wilderness of Indians. Our child, Rose, was then only four years old. One day I was sketching at the edge of a forest, while the mother and child plucked wild flowers. I had outlined a landscape, and into it I meant to introduce the figure of the child. For that purpose I had separately sketched her face, and was giving it the final touches when, in sport, she scampered away. Her little hands were full of wild roses, and as she ran she scattered the leaves along her trail. 'Chase me, papa,' she cried, 'follow the rose leaves.' The mother pursued the runaway, and together they disappeared behind an immense tree at the border of the woods. Instantly I heard the exultant yells of Indians, and the affrighted shrieks of my wife and child. I rushed to their rescue, but it was too late, even had I been able single-handed to cope with a band of twenty. I only saw and heard the captives departing from me into the forest, and that was the last of them to me. This portrait is the one that I made that day. But from year to year I have added to the age of the child's face. That was my only way to keep her with me. In doing this I have been guided by the well-remembered face of my wife, whom the little girl resembled wonderfully at the time I last saw her, and who may have preserved the likeness until now, if she be alive. I have made every possible effort to find a trace of them, but with no success whatever. Whether they are alive in miserable captivity, or happily have been killed by their captors, I do not know."

That was the story told by the artist at Yreka, and it introduced the girl of the picture to us as vividly as a living creature. Upon Nelson Garth this singular acquaintance with Rose Bantry palpably had an impressive effect. He had already whimsically fallen in love with the picture, and now he became engrossed in thoughts of the original.

Let that stand for a prologue to the historical melodrama which I am to write. Half a year later there was an expedition against the early Modocs, through the gleaming snows and under the somber pines of majestic Mount Shasta. And why this expedition? Because the Indians rose up one night and massacred every white person, with the single exception of myself, in all the vast region now comprised in Modoc County. I was not in my own cabin at the time, but had taken a party of young Indians and gone a day's journey deeper into the mountainous wilderness on a grand annual elk hunt. Possibly my absence from home had something to do with the sparing of my life. But I think not. My insignificance both as a boy and holder of property saved me perhaps.

Our great elk hunt had been wonderfully successful. My excuse for killing thirteen huge cows with my own hand at that time is found in the fact that a friendly tribe of Indians down the mountains near my own house was literally starving. I at once sent back a runner to bear the good news and to bring the famishing tribe to devour the tons of meat where it lay. It was the return of this runner, with hundreds of hungry Indians creeping on after him up the mountain and through the dense woods, that brought me my first news of the terrible massacre. It seemed incredible; it seemed utterly impossible that I should now be the only living white person in a place that only the season before was teeming with happy and hopeful settlers. I took two fine and faithful young Indians, and descending almost with the rapidity of shot on our snow-shoes to the flumes and green grasses of the far-off valley, I found only dead bodies and burned ruins. Believing myself to be the first white man to learn of the massacre, I hastened on alone to the nearest white habitation. This was the now famous Soda Springs, the property of perhaps the wealthiest man in the world, Senator Stanford. I was a part owner of the Springs at this early date. We had a little mountain hotel, my two partners and myself, and took stock to winter at our ranch deeper in the mountains. And this was what I was doing at the time of the massacre away over the spurs of Mount Shasta to the East. I chose to take care of the stock and live with only Indians about me, simply because I liked solitude, and the silent dignity of the Indian was always more decent to me than the garrulous white man.

I hastily told the terrible news, and then threw myself into the saddle, arms in hand, and set out through the tortuous and tedious mountain trail for Yreka. This city of Yreka was at that time a sort of capital of Northern California; a populous and most prosperous mining town, with banks, miles of brick houses, hundreds of hotels. A great city was Yreka in the days of old. I had a ride before me of more than seventy miles. The narrow, snow-bound, steep and stony trail was simply terrible. But I was splendidly mounted. My horse had all the gathered strength of a winter's rest in his strong and supple legs, and he continually bounded along like a ball. I fell from my horse into the arms of friends at Yreka.

When Arthur Bantry heard the news, he cried: "Now for a campaign of extermination against the Modocs."

That was the general sentiment at Yreka. But Nelson Garth and I knew that Arthur Bantry hoped, forlornly yet ardently, to search once more for the lost trail of the rose leaves.

CHAPTER II.

The motley army which set out from Yreka contained no more eager men than Arthur Bantry, who sought to learn the fate of a wife and daughter, and Nelson Garth, who was actuated as really by love of an unacquainted sweetheart as though he had wooed her. And I had been able to impart a faint gleam of tidings from Rose. A year prior to this time some halt hostile and wholly wild Indians had visited my camp with a white girl, whom they proposed to sell for two horses. The girl could not talk to me or understand a word. She had been a captive since a mere child, and as she did not want to come to me, and as I would have surely been misunderstood I did not buy her, but waited, hoping some white men might come my way and help me with their presence and advice. And that was all; I had never seen her any more. But I had kept up constant inquiry for her and had sent word to Lieut. Crook, now Gen. Crook, and famous in many wars, who was then in charge of the nearest military post, of the fact about this poor white girl prisoner. Of course, when the massacre took place, the first question in my mind was as to the fate of the white girl who was a prisoner among that nomadic band of savages.

When I saw the portrait of Arthur Bantry's daughter, even though he had made her grow to womanhood in the picture so strangely, I recognized her as the captive. Desiring to learn more before exciting him, I had worked slow; but now I told him all. Beautiful she was as any dream of beauty. She was sad and silent, piteously sad. She had stood pulling at the tasseled tops of some tall grass at the side of the trail, as the Indians sat on their ponies bartering. That was all she did, and said nothing. She only looked at me once, out of her great, sad eyes that nearly all the time kept looking down. And she did not speak, in any tongue, when I spoke to her. And she would not come to me when I asked her to. Nor did she give me her hand when I offered her mine. And so she went away. But I thought, after she was gone that night, she did not dare show any concern or emotion. I thought, and I thought a thousand things, indeed. I offered my young Indians the two horses for her. Finally I offered to give two horses for even any information about her. Let the fact be at once and frankly confessed that it is doubtful if I should have gone down into the valley of death after the massacre but for the memory and the hope of this beautiful, sad and silent girl.

As the expedition camped for its first night under the somber pines and fir and cedar trees that dotted the mountain slope, it was as motley a set of men as ever grouped about any camp fire on this earth. Could Shakspeare have but seen that gang! Perhaps twenty-five of the men had lost brother, father, friend, fortune in the massacre. These were sober and quiet enough. Perhaps a like number had lost nothing, having nothing to lose, and were now merely adventurers—on their way out to plunder the dead, possibly. Perhaps a like number were of the lowest form of hunianity, for the jails had been given a holiday.

As we stood at breakfast, a tin cup of coffee in the right hand and a sandwich of dough and burnt bacon in the other, two tall and comely Indian warriors stood over like silhouettes against the rising sun on the crest of the snowy mountain before us. Instantly I knew them for my two young friends who had gone down into the valley of death with me when we had first heard of the massacre. Take a map and trace the route of my travel since leaving my own camp, and you will see that in three days I had made almost the entire circuit of the grandest and sublimest snow peak in all the world. I was now not forty miles from my own camp, my own Indians, my own cattle and horses. These swift and splendid young fellows had kept promise, and were coming to tell me how things now stood. Their information, whatever it might be, was of the greatest importance. Did the compact with the Modocs still hold good? Was Pitt River and Modoc and Shasta still friendly, or had they quarreled over the plunder, after the fashion of white nations? All this was important to know.

But such a panic! Pistols in the air instantly! A dozen, forty, fifty shots! The two tall and shapely figures melted back and away as they had come. And that was all—all except a "stampede" of horses, cattle, mules, men! The cattle first took fright at this apparition—those two shapely and shadowy savages on the steep, deep snow under the pines that lifted before us—and they, like the men in the early morning, started for the world below! Then the mules, madly braying, followed the bellowing cattle. Then the horses. Then the men dashed bravely down the mountain after their horses. And they never came back—cattle, horses, mules or men!

Ike Rodgers, the banker, whose father had fallen in the massacre, pulled the remnant of men together that afternoon, had what few cattle butchered that had lodged in the snow, and as night came on, and the crust of deep snow hardened, the little band set forward, silent, slowly, in single file, through the great solemn woods to cross the Sierras. Each man had a horse and drew a sled. The sled was often only the hide of a bullock with blankets, bread, bacon, arms, ammunition, anything indeed that fell to the lot of the man who drew the sledge in the general distribution of provisions. Here were stout, daring, audacious hearts now. Napoleon on the Alps, the hunchback Hannibal before him were simply luxurious robbers in comparison with this sobered and earnest little string of men on their tortuous way through the pines to recover a kingdom that had been lost to civilization. Cortez drawing his ships by piecemeal over the isthmus knew nothing half so terrible in that warm and luxurious land. For here with us on the very first night nearly every man had feet, face, or hands badly frozen. And the wolves? Before it was yet quite full dawn we were compelled to form a solid circle with our faces to the wolves; our sleds and horses in the center. And such beautiful teeth! We sat down on our sleds facing the wolves. The wolves promptly sat down right before us, their great red tongues lolling out of their hungry mouths, their beautiful white teeth glistening in perilous contrast. Two sleds of beef had already been captured and instantly devoured.

"Look here. I've cut myself somehow," whispered one of the men who had lost a sled. We only discovered that he was hurt by the blood that made the white snow red. This poor fellow was reputed to be a professional pickpocket when at home in the enjoyment of civilization and liberty. But he was a good soldier here, and did not even cry out when a wolf tore away a handful of flesh from his leg; but he merely laid it to some accidental awkwardness of his, had his leg bandaged as we all sat there, shivering and looking down into a thousand hungry throats, waiting, praying for sunrise. But had that poor pickpocket by sign or sound indicated that the wolves had begun to eat our men as well as our provisions, there would probably have been a two-second panic. Then some few white bones on the bloody snow—the red epitaph over the common grave of the "Army of Northern California."

When light came and the wolves went back a little from our faces we made roaring fires and broiled, or rather burned, our beef, so that it would be less heavy, and, finally, less attractive to the wolves in these terrible marches at night. While this was being done I posted on alone with Capt. Rodgers, whom I had come to know and greatly respect, if not to quite yet trust, to see, if possible, if there was any abatement in the tremendous depth of snow, for our sleds were now all worn and broken, our horses were weak and failing for want of food. After an hour or so we crossed a huge bear track, or rather what Rodgers called a bear track. It was simply the track of about twenty Modocs on the war-path! They were going toward my own camp. But I kept my own counsel. There was no turning back now. To tell the worn and half-hearted band of men that the Modoc was also with us would have insured a sort of paralysis. It was push on now or perish.

This "bear track" at this time and place could mean but one thing—and how you need a map of the whole thing here—and that was now between the three Indian tribes that hovered about the base of Mount Shasta. Either this or the Modocs were merely on their way to my camp for cattle. This broad bear track was pointing direct for either my cattle or the scalps of my Indians. In either case the only immediate danger to the little army was the danger of a panic. But this is the most fearful danger that any man has to meet in war, especially in the wilderness, where the wild beasts, where even the elements, conspire to destroy.

Captain Rodgers sat down to rest and I went on alone to the top of a bold and tremendous mountain of snow, from which the grasses and flowers of the desolated valley could be seen. It was here that I had rested with my two young Indians both on going to and returning from the scene of massacre. We had left a letter here in Indian characters, and as these two Indians who had created the panic before mentioned had probably passed this way I hoped to find a new letter from them here. I was not disappointed. It took some patient search, some circuitous and tedious delay, which I have not time to set down, but a letter I found on the inner side of a scale of sugar-pine bark. Bear in mind that the sugar-pine tree is always used by the Shasta Indians. You might search the forests in vain for any sign on any other tree than the sugar-pine. It was written in sign language. In the first place an arrow, the arrow is my name. Five dots to the left were merely complimentary adjectives, as if to say "My five times brave and upright and five time faithful brother." The arrow was given me as the sign of my name because I had once been dangerously shot in the face with an arrow. A moon, dry and old, and just so many days old, was the date of the letter. And now here is all the news, and most important it was, as you will see. The sign of the Modoc is the reed, or rather the tule; a long slim line represents the tule. This shows the early history of the Modoc and his "floating islands" among the reeds and tules of the lakes. An awkward figure, looking like a demoralized hour-glass, represents the Pitt River Indians. You see they come by time round from an immemorial custom by keeping a continual girdle of blind pits drawn around the edge of their vast and fertile valley. As these blind pits had sharpened elk and deer antlers at the bottom, to say nothing of deadly pointed spears set upward, you may well understand that they were terrible enough to give a name to any people. And in the latter the tule or reed, although badly broken, is thrust downwards entirely through the pit. So I easily read that the battle was a bloody one, and that many Modocs were killed, as well as many more of their enemies.

And what did an awkward and helpless and overturned heart mean? And what was the round and helpless little circle for? Ah, me! This postscript of the Indians' letter on a bit of sugar-pine bark, may be briefly translated thus: "As for the matter of the beautiful girl, we can only say that we have learned nothing at all; and all our search and inquiry has ended where we began, in this narrow little circle."

UNFORTUNATE DENTON.

He Was a Natural Genius, but Died on the Gallows.

What living man has ever heard of the unfortunate Denton? asks Walter Besant, in the Queen. His life was written and published in a newspaper—name and date unknown—the day after his execution. This fact shows the nature of the misfortune which befell this unhappy person. The biographer truly remarks that the history cannot but "excite a sigh in every feeling heart." Indeed, yes. The unfortunate Denton was a tinman who got some education, found that there was no happiness for him except in the society of books, and became a bookseller in York. He presently removed to London, where he developed extraordinary powers; for, seeing a speaking automaton—was it like a speaking image exhibited about fifteen years ago?—brought over by certain ingenious foreigners, he proceeded to construct one for himself, which spoke admirably. This machine he exhibited. He also made a writing automaton—one wonders what has become of these puppets. He studied chemistry; he translated Pinetti's "Book of Deceptions;" he carried on a business of plating coach harness together with his trade of bookselling. He made mathematical instruments, pentagraphs, etc., and was, in short, a most ingenious, clever and accomplished creature. And then—why? Was it in order to get rich? I think it was rather in order to gratify his conceit—just to prove to himself how clever he was—this successful man actually began to coin base money. He was found out, however, and was tried, sentenced, and duly hanged. On the scaffold he behaved with great levity, laughing at the devotion of his fellow sufferers, and, in a truly scientific spirit, directed that his body should be converted into phosphorus, which was done. And so, to misquote a famous passage,

The hand that once made puppets speak and write,
Now lips a match the kitchen fire to light.

Unfortunate Mr. Denton.

Playing Tricks with Vegetables.

Some very pleasant surprises for children may be obtained by getting fruits to grow inside of glass bottles. Some, especially of the cucumber family, can be inserted into the narrow mouths of bottles attached to the branch, and after full growth it will be a mystery how these fruits got inside of the bottles or jars. Besides the pleasant surprises many a youthful lesson on plant growth can be furnished by these tests. It is stated that King George III., of England, in the earlier stages of the insanity which subsequently overtook him, used to express his surprise to those who were dining with him as to how the apple got inside the dumpling, but with these fruits in glass jars the surprises to even sane people are quite as interesting as the apple dumpling was to this unfortunate monarch.—Meehan's Monthly.

Oklahoma Is Against Gambling.

Oklahoma is drawing the lines of morality rather sharply for a frontier territory. A law recently passed at Guthrie makes any kind of gambling a felony, and even prohibits progressive euchre parties where prizes are offered.

THE FIRST ALABAMA LEAVES FOR THE FRONT.

Great Enthusiasm Prevailed Among the Troops—Will Probably Form a Part of Shafter's Army.

Friday afternoon the First Alabama regiment left Mobile for Miami, Fla., and no doubt in a short time, possibly a fortnight, will form a part of Shafter's army at Santiago, or somewhere in that neighborhood. Up to date ten regiments have moved out of Mobile to the front, eight of the regular army and two volunteers.

Colonel Higdon's gallant command made the eleventh and of the whole not none displayed as much enthusiasm upon leaving as did those North Alabamians.

At 5 o'clock tents were struck and heavy baggage loaded with mules and wagons on long freight trains. This task was completed in short order and at noon the first section pulled out in charge of Captain Wallace, of Decatur. The Birmingham battalion, under Major Smith, and a portion of Major McLad's battalion followed. The remainder, Major Kyle's section, carried Colonel Higdon, Lieutenant Colonel McDonald and staff.

Great enthusiasm prevailed, cheer being answered by cheer, and as the trains pulled out the chorus: "We are the Alabama Boys Who Fear No Harm," came from the coaches, at every window of which appeared a smiling, tanned face.

THE ENSLEY STEEL PLANT.

The Bonds Have Been Taken and the Great Industry Assured.

The New York Times says: "One of the most encouraging signs of the resumption of industrial development of the south is the assured state of the movement which has been in progress for some time to establish an important steel-producing concern at Ensley, Ala., a short distance from Birmingham. The strong financial support which the project has received has removed all doubt of the speedy realization of the plans of its promoters.

"An organization was effected a short time ago under the name of the Alabama Steel and Ship Building Company, and Moore & Schley, bankers of this city, were engaged as financial agents.

"It was decided to issue $1,000,000 of 6 per cent bonds, $440,000 of 6 per cent preferred stock, and $500,000 of common stock, the bonds and preferred stock being guaranteed by the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Company. No difficulty was experienced in disposing of the bonds. The plant, which is to be enacted by the company will have a capacity of 1,000 tons of steel per day.

"Among the various projects under discussion is one for the erection of a wire rod mill, near the steel plant, which will absorb 300 tons of steel per day. A consumer for 250 tons per day is likely to be found in a company which proposes to manufacture ship plates for export. One of the principal features of the business, however, will be the manufacture of steel rails.

"The Wellman-Seaver Engineering Company, of Cleveland, O., have been engaged as the engineers and metallurgists for the plant, and will have charge of the construction of the works."

STATE NORMAL COLLEGE.

Valuable Information as Presented in Announcements of this Institute.

The college has two plans of instruction: "Attendance," that best suited to young people lacking both scholarship and professional training and experience, "Full session," or in absentia, largely designed for those who have age, experience and more or less scholarship. Tuition is $5.00 per term and incidentals same, ten weeks a term. Alabama students taking the obligation to teach pay no tuition, but incidentals merely. A nomination may be made by each senator and representative of the Alabama legislature, outside of the county in which the college is situated and outside of each county having a state educational institution for whites, for a scholarship granting special advantages, and said nomination approved by the county superintendent of education of the proper county, may be appointed by the state superintendent of education for two years, if he approves, preference being given to such candidates as appear to have the greatest worth and qualification for teachers, as indicated by the county superintendent's testimonial.

Board can be had at $6 to $8.50 per month, or students can rent furnished or unfurnished rooms and board themselves much less per month.

Good literary society and young people's Christian association advantages are offered. The president has many scores of calls for trained teachers annually and graduates of the college easily find situations. Young men capable to act as superintendents and principals of schools, and young ladies who can teach art or music and scholastics, too, are in great demand, by school officers asking for teachers. Scores of our students are thus located annually. Address E. R. Eldridge, President, Troy, Ala.

Spread of the English Language.

Mr. Gladstone lately expressed himself as believing that English is to be the language of the future. Mr. Gladstone's reasons are based on what has happened within his own lifetime. When Mr. Gladstone was born English was spoken by 30,000,000 of people. It is now spoken by 120,000,000. The number of people in the earth who speak English is doubled every forty years. This forms the basis of a very simple calculation as to when the entire population of the earth shall speak English. The two great English-speaking countries are Great Britain and the United States. Wherever Great Britain goes she carries the English language, and whoever comes to the United States learns it.

Clergyman's Experiment.

A laudable attempt on the part of a Notting Hill clergyman to practically illustrate to the working class portion of his flock the combined benefits of religion and a tankard of beer has, we regret to hear, proved unsuccessful. The Rev. Prebendary Denison started, for the social pleasure of his congregation, a club, where the reverend gentleman or his curate went, after dispensing theological pabulum in the church, and served the members with beer and other corporeal refreshments. The idea was to keep them away from public houses and to afford them honest recreation with a reasonable amount of tipple. By the rules no man could be served with liquor more than three times in the course of a night. But the clergyman was unaware of the degree if not of original sin at least of bibulous ingenuity among the rougher classes of Notting Hill. They evaded the rule by clubbing together their twopences and treating each other, so that in the course of the evening a member was able to obtain half a dozen, or even more, drinks, instead of three. The result was sometimes unpleasant, and the Prebendary has therefore reluctantly determined to give up the experiment.—London Telegraph.

A LIVING WITNESS.

Mrs. Hoffman Describes How She Wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for Advice, and Is Now Well

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Before using your Vegetable Compound I was a great sufferer. I have been sick for months, was troubled with severe pain in both sides of abdomen, sore feeling in lower part of bowels, also suffered with dizziness, headache, and could not sleep. I wrote you a letter describing my case and asking your advice. You replied telling me just what to do. I followed your directions, and cannot praise your medicine enough for what it has done for me. Many thanks to you for your advice. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured me, and I will recommend it to my friends.—MRS. FLORENCE R. HOFFMAN, 512 Roland St., Canton, O.

The condition described by Mrs. Hoffman will appeal to many women, yet lots of sick women struggle on with their daily tasks disregarding the urgent warnings until overtaken by actual collapse.

The present Mrs. Pinkham's experience in treating female ills is unparalleled, for years she worked side by side with Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, and for sometimes past has had sole charge of the correspondence department of her great business, treating by letter as many as a hundred thousand ailing women during a single year.

THE GREAT BATTLE IS NEAR.

The American and Spanish Troops Are Almost Face to Face.

A Sunday's special from off Juragua says: Troops of the United States and Spain are almost face to face and less than four miles apart.

Tonight the picket lines at certain points are within hailing distance of the enemy. It seems certain that the battle of Santiago must come within a week.

The troops are all ashore here and at Baiquiri with the exception of a few scattered companies that have gone forward. The supplies are sufficient to enable the army to sustain a week's campaign at both landing points.

There is a continual procession of small boats riding on to the beach through the pounding surf, and it is believed all the supplies will be ashore by the 28th.

The landing of the troops, horses and supplies has been extraordinary. Without steam barges and compelled to depend upon treacherous small boats, General Shafter has landed over 16,000 men, horses and mules and thousands of dollars worth of supplies and only two men have lost their lives. No more than fifty animals have been drowned and scarcely a package of supplies has been lost.

The officers generally are surprised at the small loss of life and property. General Shafter said to a correspondent of the Associated Press today:

"I am well satisfied with the progress that is being made. The disembarkation is slow, but considering the limited facilities and the exposed nature of the landing places the men have done well. I only await the landing of sufficient supplies to begin the movement on Santiago. I am unable to say when it will take place. I am much pleased with the gallant conduct of our men in the action at Sevilla yesterday, and with the cool and veteran-like work. The victory was complete."

General Wheeler, in his official report, estimates the number of killed at Sevilla at twenty-two and the wounded at between seventy and eighty. No attempt has yet been made to prepare an official list of the dead and wounded. The high grass and bushes of the battleground made it difficult to find the bodies, but an official list will probably be prepared tomorrow.

The bodies of thirty-nine Spaniards have been found, and the Spanish loss in killed and wounded was doubtless much heavier than the American.

GROWS WORSE DAILY.

People of Havana Said to Be Almost Starving.

KEY WEST.—Food conditions in Havana grow worse daily. General Arolas, the military governor, published June 16 an edict forbidding wholesale transactions in foodstuffs, and only allowing them to be sold at retail and at prices fixed by the government. Importers were compelled to furnish within twenty-four hours a list of the stocks they have on hand. This edict was directed against the wealthy merchants who had stored up huge supplies and were selling for enormous prices.

Two refugees said that they came by railway from Havana to Cienfuegos. The people of Havana are almost starving. Provisions of all kinds are very scarce.

The Opposing Forces.

OFF SANTIAGO DE CUBA.—The situation as regards the disposition and location of the American, Spanish and Cuban forces is as follows: General Shafter's army of 17,500 men is massed to the eastward of Santiago de Cuba, at Baiquiri and Juragua. General Castillo, with 1,300 men, is at Baiquiri, and Colonel Aguirre, with 200, of Juragua. These are to be joined by General Garcia with 4,000 men. Three thousand of General Garcia's men hold 11,000 Spaniards in Holguin, and General Rabi, with 1,000, threatens 2,000 Spanish troops at Manzanillo. In Santiago there are believed to be 9,000 Spanish soldiers, with such reinforcements as are hastened by the concentration movement now in progress.

Urge Peace.

BARCELONA.—The Society of the Friends of Peace, consisting of members of leading commercial and economic industries, have unanimously adopted resolutions urging upon the Spanish government to negotiate for peace.

No New Cases of Yellow Fever.

No new cases of yellow fever have been reported to the marine hospital service at Washington and Dr. Wyman, surgeon-general, said he considered the situation encouraging. Advices from surgeons engaged in the inspection of a number of southern points as a matter of precaution show all points so far inspected to be free from any suggestion of infection.

Miss Wheeler Going to the Front.

Miss Annie Wheeler will leave Tampa Thursday night for Key West. From there she will go to the battlefields in the capacity of nurse. Miss Wheeler is a daughter of "Fighting Joe Wheeler."

Buried on the Field of Action.

With the exception of Capron, all the rough riders killed in Friday's battle near Santiago were buried on the field of action. Their bodies were laid in one long trench, each wrapped in a blanket. Captain Capron's body was buried at Juragua.

The Great Western distillery, at Peoria, Ill., the second largest in the world, was struck by lightning and everything was burned except the bonded warehouse. The loss is estimated at $300,000, fully covered by insurance.

Literary Hacks.

A good word is spoken for the literary hack by Andrew Lang. Man cannot live by literature alone, he says, nor can the publishers. If he and his publishers were to get together and produce only works of scholarship they would both die in poverty. Mr. Lang prefers to live in comfort. He might have added that there is a justification for this position of his which has nothing to do with the butcher's bill, comments the New York Tribune. We refer to the value of good hack work to the world. Such work is of course despised by those who succumb to the cant of letters. But has it never occurred to those austere censors that they are perpetually admiring the mediaeval craftsman because he did just what the modern hack tries to do, he put good work into the trifles of his every-day occupation? Hack work is not necessarily bad. It can be magnificent. De Quincy was a sublime hack. Leslie Stephen is a hack. It is no dishonor to be a hack. The notion that the only men who are producing literature are secluded university dons is pure nonsense. Matthew Arnold wrote for the magazines. Everybody has written for the magazines since they were invented. How short-sighted it is to tell a writer that he is not a man of letters because he condenses an essay into a thousand words! How futile it is to tell him that he ought to retire to his study and write "a great work!"

Beaver in Europe.

It is possible that the beaver will survive longer in Europe than in America. It is said that a few individuals are still to be found on the Elbe, the Rhine and the Danube, and Prof. Collett, of Christiania estimates, according to the Cosmos, that there are now 100 individuals living in Norway, whereas the number in 1880 was estimated at 60. Prof. Collett recommends that government protection be afforded to prevent their extermination.

A Naval Hero's Story.

From the Times-Herald, Chicago, Ill.

Late in 1861, when President Lincoln issued a call for volunteers, L. J. Clark, of Warren, Trumbull Co., Ohio, was among the first to respond. He joined the mortar fleet of Admiral Porter just before the memorable operations on the Mississippi River began. It was at the terrific bombardment of the Vicksburg forts that the hero of this story fell with a shattered arm from a charge of schrapnel.

After painful months in the hospital, he recovered sufficiently to be sent to his home at Warren, Ohio. Another call for troops fired his patriotic zeal and Clark soon enlisted in Company H, of the 7th Ohio Volunteers. In the army of the Potomac, he was in many engagements. Being wounded in a skirmish near Richmond he was sent to the hospital and thence home.

A Wounded Hero.

Soon afterward he began the study and then the practice of veterinary surgery. Seeking a wider field than the Ohio village afforded, he went to Chicago where he now has a wide practice, is a member of Hatch Post, G. A. R., and lives at 4935 Ashland Ave.

Several years ago Dr. Clark's old wounds began to trouble him. He grew weak and emaciated, and his friends despaired of his life. He finally recovered sufficiently to be out but was a mere shadow, weighing only 90 pounds. The best medical attendance failed to restore his lost strength and vigor.

"A friend gave me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," said Dr. Clark, "and they helped me so much that I bought a half dozen boxes and took them. I soon regained my strength, now weigh 190 pounds and, except for injuries that can never be remedied, am as well as ever.

"I consider Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People the best remedy to build up a run-down system, and heartily recommend them to everyone in need of such aid."

A Fortune From a Scare.

An inventive genius who suffered from attacks by stray dogs when riding his wheel, set his wits to work to devise something which would be an efficacious, and yet comparatively harmless, means of defense. As a result he has brought out and patented a pocket pistol which will shoot ammonia, water or other liquid. The most vicious dog cannot withstand a few drops of ammonia in his mouth or eyes, and yet there is no danger of actually injuring a valuable animal which might playfully annoy a rider. The weapon has proved so much of a success as a means of defense as well as fun-making, that the lucky inventor is realizing much money from his device.

Prof. William Libbey, of Princeton university, will lead a scientific expedition to Hawaii this year. He hopes to visit and explore the burial caves of the Hawaiian kings of long ago.

PROTECTION OR FUN.

Shoots Ammonia, Water, Cologne and Other Liquid

It is a weapon which protects bicyclists against vicious dogs and foot-pads; travelers against robbers and toughs; homes against thieves and tramps, and is adapted to many other situations.

It does not kill or injure; it is perfectly safe to handle; makes no noise or smoke; breaks no law and creates no lasting regrets, as does the bullet pistol. It simply and amply protects, by compelling the foe to give undivided attention to himself for awhile instead of to the intended victim.

It is the only real weapon which protects and also makes fun, laughter and lots of it; it shoots, not once, but many times without reloading; and will protect by its appearance in time of danger, although loaded only with liquid. It does not get out of order; is durable, handsome, and nickel plated.

WINE OF CARDUI

MONTHLY SUFFERING.

Thousands of women are troubled at monthly intervals with pains in the head, back, breasts, shoulders, sides hips and limbs. But they need not suffer.

These pains are symptoms of dangerous derangements that can be corrected. The menstrual function should operate painlessly.

McELREE'S
Wine of Cardui

makes menstruation painless, and regular. It puts the delicate menstrual organs in condition to do their work properly. And that stops all this pain. Why will any woman suffer month after month when Wine of Cardui will relieve her? It costs $1.00 at the drug store. Why don't you get a bottle to-day?

For advice, in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, "The Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. ROZENA LEWIS, of Oenaville, Texas, says: "I was troubled at monthly intervals with terrible pains in my head and back, but have been entirely relieved by Wine of Cardui."

"Oliver Optic," William T. Adams, universally recognized as the greatest author of books for boys this world has ever known, was also a valued contributor until his death recently.

The Columbian has now a circulation of over 250,000 copies per month, which shows that it enjoys a large share of popular favor. The regular subscription price is $1.00 a year.

REMEMBER By our offer you get over a year's subscription to The Columbian and the handsome Souvenir Spoon, a combined value of $2.00, entirely free, as a special inducement to you to accept Our Great Offer printed below. We make this liberal proposition only because we have been able to secure from the manufacturers of the spoons and the publishers of The Columbian especially favorable terms for this combination offer.

The subscription offer of The Columbian is a part of the campaign which that excellent magazine has inaugurated to quadruple its circulation before 1900 and secure the largest subscription list in the country.

ALL FOR ONE DOLLAR

The Banner twelve months and the Columbian Magazine right up to January 1900, and this beautiful souvenir spoon all for $1.00. Remember this offer won't last long.

Millions Given Away.

It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one concern in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine, and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs are surely cured by it. Call on Canton Drug Store and get a trial bottle free. Regular size 50c and $1. Every bottle guaranteed, or price refunded.

CORRESPONDENCE.

[We are willing to publish our subscribers views at any time, but it must be distinctly understood we do not hold ourselves responsible for these opinions.—EDITOR.]

Jemison, July 1, 1898

Hon. R. M. Honeycutt.

Dear Sir: Yours of June 27 received on the 29th of the same month, and I also saw your note in the BANNER. I did not hurry to answer your letter for two reasons. First, because I did not consider I had anything to do with the question of the latter's publication. You are responsible, and since my note to you was published, I knew no law of courtecy that should have directed you to ask my permission to publish a reply.

Second. I did not answer because there is not one line in your letter germane to the proposition I made to you in my note. I stated clearly that we were on opposite sides, politically and you know that it is the political issue that I want to discuss with you, and you go off in your letter and take up your official record, when you know that it is not an issue. You also take up the harm that would be done to the church we try to represent. You play on the vilification, and misrepresentation that would be indulged in, and you know that all that sort of thing was excluded in proposition to debate your position before the people.

I notice also that you say in your published note, that you have concluded since I did not answer your letter at once that I am not so anxious for the issues to be discussed, as both sides of the question to know as some may think. You make this statement when you know there is not one word in your letter accepting my challenge to discuss the issues. Do you seek to make the impression on the people that after I have made this challenge I am ready to back down? I cannot understand that statement in any other light. In order that I may not be misunderstood, I renew my challenge that we debate your position politically, not your official, or religious life, neither the church.

You may have done your duty as an officer with the help you have had, but your political position is questionable, and it is that which we should consider, and whether you meet me or not it will be considered. There will not be half as much wrangle if you will be present as there will be if you are not. So I ask you again to meet me and let us settle this question face to face and before the people.

Respectfully,
S. M. ADAMS.

The people met at the Littlejohn school house near Clanton, last Monday to celebrate the Fourth of July with singing the beautiful songs of Zion, speaking etc. Mr. Dock Ayers was elected chairman. The leaders in the music were J. A. Hogan, J. E. Littlejohn, W. Q. Childress, E. Foshee and J. C. Veazey, the latter served as organist also.

At eleven o'clock Rev. L. B. Pounds addressed the people with a short, but very appropriate speech for the occasion.

Then came the hour for everyone to enjoy dinner. And such a bountiful dinner, good enough for a king. The afternoon was spent as the morning, in singing. We had the best of order all the way through. And the singing reasonably good. The class at that place ranks with the best in the country with just one or two exceptions. So the day was spent pleasantly and we hope profitably at this place.

Persons troubled with diarrhoea will be interested in the experience of Mr. Wm. Bush, clerk of Hotel Dorrance, Providence, R.I. He says: "For several years I have been almost a constant sufferer from diarrhoea, the frequent attacks completely prostrating me and rendering me unfit for my duties at this hotel. About two years ago a traveling salesman kindly gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy; much to my surprise and delight its effects were immediate. Whenever I felt symptoms of the disease I would fortify myself against the attack with a few doses of this valuable remedy. CLANTON, - ALABAMA.

The war, by checking the coasting traffic, has reduced the shipments of ice that would otherwise be made (by schooner) from Maine to the Gulf ports, and therefore a special demand has arisen in the Southern States for ice-making machinery.

It is gratifying to learn that the men of Admiral Dewey's fleet are entitled under the law to $100 each as prize money. For their gallant conduct they have already received medals and their country's praise, but, while these were assuredly acceptable, it is highly desirable that they should also receive a more substantial reward.

Now that American beef has advanced a penny a pound in England, there are amazed thousands who learn for the first time that the "roast beef of old England—none of your foreign stuff, I'll have you know"—which they have been consuming with pleasure to their palates and profit to their ribs, was "made in America."

The annual report of the Italian State lotteries shows a total revenue of nearly $13,200,000, which, after the deduction of $7,600,000 for prizes and expenses, leaves a total gain to the exchequer of nearly $5,500,000, or an increase of $35,145 as compared with last year. It is fully recognized by many enlightened Italians that this form of revenue is pernicious, but the impossibility of replacing the money thus obtained by any equally popular source of income makes them despair of ever being able to abolish it.

The Jacksonville (Fla.) Metropolis says: "The war with Spain promises to have at least one good effect—it has frightened Southern farmers into planting food crops, instead of all cotton crops, as heretofore. Reports from every section of the South indicate that the acreage of corn, oats, wheat, potatoes, etc., is larger than was ever known, while more attention is being paid to raising cattle and hogs. In many sections, it is said, farmers have actually plowed up a portion of their cotton crop and put in corn instead."

"Pauperism is the result of so many different causes that it is unjust to try, as one of the speakers at the National Charity Conference does, to throw the chief responsibility for it upon church charity," says the New York Commercial Advertiser. "Undiscriminating charity of every kind, no doubt, has a tendency to breed pauperism among a certain class, but this is more than offset by the relief from want and suffering it brings and the renewed hope and encouragement with which it often inspires recipients. In any event it is better that charity should be sometimes misdirected and abused than that it should be withheld altogether. An ideal system of charity would be that which went hand in hand with measures for helping destitute persons to help themselves. Something of this kind will some day take the place of indiscriminate almsgiving."

The most remarkable personality that has appeared in the public life of the United Kingdom during the last half century, and one of the most striking figures in the long line of English statesmen, passed into history when William Ewart Gladstone breathed his last at Hawarden. It is somewhat startling to recall, muses Bradstreet's, that a man who made his entry in public life at the era of the the Reform bill, survived to be the Prime Minister of the nation nearly sixty-two years afterward. Mr. Gladstone's public life has presented many surprises. Hailed in his youth as the hope of the unbending Tories, he lived to be in his old age the leader of the radicals among the Liberals. Engaged almost without cessation in the exacting toil of political life, he remained throughout his life an earnest student of literature, which he enriched with several productions of his own. An unsurpassed master of financial detail, he became easily the greatest orator among the statesmen of his time. Throughout his whole course in public life he struck with unfailing certainty a note of moral enthusiasm, to which the nation of which he was at his death the most shining ornament and exemplar, seldom failed to respond. His death has closed the greatest career in the parliamentary history of England since the days of Pitt. He so easily overshadowed all the other statesmen of his party, even after his formal retirement from public life, that no successor to his influ-

DESTRUCTION OF CERVERA'S FLEET IS COMPLETE.

The Enemy's Ships Made a Bold Dash for Freedom.

CERVERA WAS CAPTURED; 1300 PRISONERS TAKEN.

Only a Few Shapeless Hulks Lying on the Santiago Beach Remain of the Once Powerful Spanish Squadron—The Spaniards Fought Bravely to the Last, But Were Unable to Escape Under the Terrific Fire of the American Men of War.

OFF SANTIAGO, Sunday.—Admiral Cervera's fleet, consisting of the armored cruisers Cristobal Colon, Almirante O'quendo, Infanta Maria Teresa and Vizcaya, and two torpedo boat destroyers, the Furor and the Pluton, which had been held in the harbor of Santiago de Cuba for six weeks past by the combined squadrons of Rear Admiral Sampson and Commodore Schley, lies today at the bottom of the Carribbean sea, off the southern coast of Cuba. The Spanish admiral is a prisoner of war on the auxiliary gunboat Gloucester, and 1,000 to 1,500 other Spanish officers and sailors, all who escaped the frightful carnage caused by the shells from the American warships, are also held as prisoners of war by the United States navy.

The American victory is complete, and, according to the best information obtainable at this time, the American vessels were practically untouched, and only one man killed, though the ships were subjected to a heavy fire from the Spaniards all the time the battle lasted.

Admiral Cervera made as gallant a rush for liberty and for the preservation of his ships this morning as has ever occurred in the history of naval warfare. In the face of overwhelming odds with nothing before him but inevitable destruction or surrender if he remained any longer in the trap in which the American fleet held him, he made a bold dash from the harbor, at the time the Americans least expected him to do so, and fought every inch of his way. Even when his ship was ablaze and sinking he tried to escape the doom which was written on the muzzle of every American gun trained upon his vessels.

The Work of Destruction.

The Americans saw him the moment he left the harbor and commenced their work of destruction immediately. For an hour or two they followed the flying Spaniards to the westward along the shore line, sending shot after shot into their blazing hulls, tearing great holes in their steel sides, and covering their decks with the blood of those killed and wounded.

At no time did the Spaniards show any indication that they intended to do otherwise than to fight to the last. They showed no signals to surrender, even when their ships commenced to sink and the great clouds of smoke pouring from their sides showed they were on fire. But they turned their heads toward the shore less than a mile away, and ran them on the beach and rocks where their destruction was soon completed. The officers and men on board them escaped to the shore as well as they could, with the assistance of boats sent from the American ships, and threw themselves upon the mercy of their captors, who not only extended to them the gracious hand of American chivalry, but sent them a guard to protect them the murderous bands of Cuban soldiers hiding in the bush in the hillside eager to rush down and attack the unarmed, defeated but valorous foe. One after the other Spanish ships became the victims of the awful rain of shells which the American battleships, cruisers and gunboats poured upon them, and two hours after the first vessel went out of the harbor, three cruisers were destroyed, smoke and flame pouring from every part of them and covering the entire coast line with a mist which could be seen for miles. Heavy explosions of ammunition occurred every few minutes, sending carls of dense white smoke a hundred feet in the air and causing a shower of broken iron and steel to fall in the water on either side.

The bluffs on the coast line echoed with the roar of every explosion and the Spanish ships sank deeper and deeper into the sand.

Cervera a Prisoner of War.

Admiral Cervera escaped to the shore in a boat sent by the Gloucester to the assistance of the Infanta Maria Teresa, and as soon as he touched the beach he surrendered himself and his command to Lieutenant Morton and asked to be taken on board the Gloucester, which was the only American vessel near at the time, with several of his officers, including the captain of the flagship. The Spanish admiral, who was also wounded in the arm, was taken to the Gloucester and was received at her gangway by her commander, Lieutenant Commander Richard Wainwright, who grasped the hand of the gray-bearded admiral and said to him:

"I congratulate you, sir, upon having made as gallant a fight as was ever witnessed on the sea."

Lieutenant Commander Wainwright then placed his cabin at the disposal of the Spanish officers.

At that time the Spanish flagship and four other Spanish vessels had been aground and burning for two hours and the only one of the escaping fleet which could not be seen at this point was the Cristobal Colon. But half a dozen curls of smoke far down on the western horizon showed the fate that was awaiting her.

The Cristobal Colon was the fastest of the Spanish ships, and she soon obtained a lead over the others after leaving the harbor, and escaped the effect of the shots which destroyed the other vessels. She steamed away at a rapid speed, with the Oregon, New York, Brooklyn and several other ships in pursuit, all of them firing at her constantly and receiving fire themselves from her aft guns. There seemed no possibility whatever for her to escape, and while her fate is not definitely known at this hour, it can be readily imagined from the words of Captain Evans of the Iowa, who returned from the westward with 340 prisoners from the Vizcaya just as the Associated Press dispatch boat Wanda was leaving the Spanish flagship: "The Oregon was giving her hell."

Under the Terrific Fire of the Oregon.

In answer to an inquiry, he shouted through the megaphone, "I left the Cristobal Colon far to the westward an hour ago, and the Oregon was giving her hell. She has undoubtedly gone down with the others, and we will have a Fourth of July celebration in Santiago tomorrow."

Captain Evans, who had been in the thick of the engagement up to the time he took the Vizcaya's officers and crew from the shore, said that to the best of his knowledge not one American ship had been struck.

The torpedo boat Ericsson made a similar report, saying it was believed no man was injured on board the American ships, though another report had it that one man was killed on board the Brooklyn, which could not be verified as this dispatch was sent out.

There is no means of telling now what the Spanish loss was, but it is believed to have been very heavy, as the prisoners in custody report their decks strewn with dead and wounded in great numbers, and besides there is a statement that many bodies could be seen fastened to pieces of wreckage floating in the sea. A large number of Spanish wounded were removed to the American ships. There can be no doubt that Cervera's plan to escape from Santiago harbor was entirely unexpected by Admiral Sampson and the best evidence of this is the fact that when the Spanish vessels were seen coming out of the harbor the flagship New York was seven miles steaming to the eastward toward Juragua, the military base.

The New York was out of the fight altogether at the early stage, but she immediately put about and followed the others.

Reinforcements to Be Hurried.

WASHINGTON.—Reinforcements are to be hurried to General Shafter as rapidly as steamships can carry them, notwithstanding the fact that additional troops are not now so badly needed as was indicated by the developments of Friday and Saturday. The dispatch received by the war department from General Shafter show a confidence in his present ability to control the situation. In fact, he says that he is master of the city of Santiago, which his troops entirely surround. The position he occupies makes it impossible either for the Spanish forces to evacuate the city or for General Pando's troops to reinforce them.

Spaniards Will Not Give Up.

A special dispatch from Madrid quotes Premier Sagasta as saying in an interview that he thought the Americans would "get the reinforcements they had required, which would enable them to take Santiago de Cuba."

The premier is said to have added: "Though the American warships may destroy our warships in the harbor, yet we will pursue the war. There are in Cuba 100,000 men ready to die in its defense, but they will not yield."

Narrow Escape of Birmingham Boys.

A wholesale drowning in the ranks of Company A, First Alabama, at Miami, Fla., was narrowly averted Saturday evening. Lieutenant Going, Sergeants King and Buckley, Corporals Turner, Thompson, Geo. Brown, Dick Brown and Barrow, and Privates Swanson, Creas and Perkins, while out in a sail boat was struck by a heavy squall, which capsized her. The soldiers managed to hold on to the upturned keel until Sergeant King swam ashore and obtained another boat, into which most of the men climbed and were rescued. Lieutenant Going and Corporal Brown, being exhausted, were rescued by diving.

Spain Advised to Negotiate for Peace.

PARIS.—The Temps says: "The capture of Santiago de Cuba is an irreparable blow for the Spaniards." The paper concludes its article by saying: "Spain has not an hour to lose to negotiate for peace."

Pando's Reinforcements at Santiago.

A special dispatch from Playa del Este to the New York World quotes General Garcia as authority for the statement that General Pando has entered Santiago with 6,000 soldiers, reinforcing General Linares.

CHRISTOBAL COLON SURRENDERED

After a Chase of Sixty Miles the Brooklyn and Oregon Overhauled the Vessel.

OFF SANTIAGO.—After a chase of sixty miles to the westward, the Brooklyn, closelyn followed by the Oregon, overhauled the Christobal Colon after she had run ashore and had hauled down her flag. Captain Cook of the Brooklyn went on board of her, and the commander of the Spanish armored cruiser came forward to surrender and was taken on board the New York, which came up in their after the Brooklyn and Oregon had completed the capture of the Christobal Colon. The latter was not seriously damaged, though she was struck several times by shots from the Brooklyn and Oregon.

During the chase a clever maneuver of Commodore Schley's in heading the west to Cape Cancy, while the Christobal Colon had taken a more southerly direction with a much greater distance to cover, relieved the Spaniards escape impossible.

There seems to be no doubt that the Christobal Colon and perhaps the other three Spanish armored cruisers would have escaped had it not been for the prompt action of Commodore Schley. The Brooklyn, his flagship, alone was in a position to attack the Spanish vessels as they left the harbor and the commodore steamed directly towards them and engaged all four cruisers, inflicting great damage upon them.

The Oregon was the first to join the Brooklyn, and afterwards the Iowa, Indiana, Texas and Vixen closed around the Spaniards, all pouring in a deadly fire, but from the beginning to the end of the fight the Brooklyn, Oregon and Gloucester took the most important part in the destruction of the enemy.

One man, George Henry Ellis, was killed on board. His head was blown off by a shell.

The Brooklyn was struck half a dozen times, but no injury was done to any of the American ships.

OUR LOSSES IN THE FIGHT.

The Per Centage Considering the Number Engaged Was Very Heavy.

The fighting during the last two days at Santiago has cost the American army 1,700 men. This estimate is made by the surgeons at division headquarters after careful figuring by the surgeons at the hospitals. The list of wounded, as made up at division headquarters, is very large in proportion to the list of those killed outright. "Probably less than 100 all told of the number wounded have died, making the total number of deaths in the neighborhood of 150. The remainder of the wounded will probably recover.

Considering the fact that not over 12,000 men were engaged on our side and that not all of these were actually under fire, the per centage of loss is very heavy. The slaughter was brought about mainly by the gallant with which our troops advanced into the open ground in the face of a heavy fire from the Spanish entrenchments and rifle pits.

The Spanish have fought with great determination and bravery. The returns show that a number of regiments suffered very heavily, the Seventy-first New York being the worst cut up of the volunteer regiments, and the Thirteenth and Sixth regiments of the regulars suffering most with the Seventh and Sixteenth infantry close in the race for glory. In some companies of the Thirteenth regiment one-third of the men are gone and there are companies in that regiment now entirely without officers. In the Sixth infantry more than one-third of the officers are gone, only one field officer, Major Miner, being left.

ENTHUSIASTIC SPANIARDS.

Madrid Overjoyed Over the Report That Cervera's Squadron Has Escaped.

MADRID.—Almost indescribable enthusiasm continues to prevail upon the supposed escape of Admiral Cervera and his squadron from the harbor of Santiago. The Admiral's name is on every tongue and it is claimed that it was he who saved Santiago de Cuba by "adding to General Linares' handful of soldiers his brave sailors to man the guns ashore and repel the Americans under General Shafter."

Such is about the exultant eulogy of Admiral Cervera heard, on all sides, this state of feeling being due to the official announcement from Santiago of Cervera's escape.

Sagasta Acknowledges a Defeat.

Senor Sagasta, the premier, has announced officially that Admiral Cervera's squadron has been defeated, that the Almirante Oquendo was burned and the Infanta Maria Teresa sunk and that Admiral Cervera himself is a prisoner of war.

Reinforcements Have Arrived.

LONDON.—An official dispatch from Madrid announces that the Manzanillo column of 6,000 men with a large quantity of supplies has reached Santiago de Cuba. It is believed that directly Admiral Cervera heard these reinforcements were at hand he considered the presence of the squadron no longer necessary.

Gen. Fred F. Ferguson Resigns.

General Fred S. Ferguson, commander of the Alabama division, United Confederate Veterans, has tendered his resignation, to take effect immediately after the reunion, which will be held in Atlanta the latter part of this month.

Troops Sail From Tampa.

Seven transports have sailed from Port Tampa within the past week, carrying large quantities of war munitions, horses, light artillery and about 3,800 men to reinforce General Shafter at Santiago.

SHAFTER ATTACKS SANTIAGO

The American Army Opens the Spanish Forces Into Action.

NOW OCCUPIES THE ENEMY'S OUTWORKS

The American Loss Is Over a Hundred Killed and Wounded—Lawton's Brigade Began the Attack—Both Fleets Engaged in the Fight.

WASHINGTON.—The war department has received the following from General Shafter, dated Siboney, July 1:

"Had a very [illegible] today, which lasted from 8 a.m. until sundown. We have carried the outer works and are in possession of the [illegible]. The enemy is now about three miles from the city. By pushing the [illegible] entrenched and considerable [illegible] of forces will be [illegible]. Lawton's division, supported by [illegible] brigade, which [illegible] the day in carrying El Caney, will [illegible] a complete line at 4 p.m. well in front of Santiago during the night. I regret to say that our casualties will be over 400; of these, not many killed.

"SHAFTER."

The Battle Described.

PLAYA-EL-ESTE, Province of Oriente, Cuba.—The long expected battle at Santiago opened Friday morning. At 7 o'clock General Lawton's advance opened the firing and pushed forward by successive rushes to capture the fortified positions of vantage about Caney. The Spaniards replied vigorously, and soon the wounded began coming in on stretchers. They reported that the enemy had been driven out of Cabona, a suburb of Santiago, and one of the positions which it was intended to secure. The men from the front also told of how the Cubans were aiding Lawton's men and bearing the brunt of much of the fighting. The advance was continued from Cabona, and the firing became fast and furious.

Cervera's Ships Turned Loose Their Shells.

Meantime Cervera's ships turned loose their shells on the American line. The shells made no impression on the advance, but Kent's command, which was going south to attack the Spaniards at the mouth of the San Juan, is reported to have lost heavily, as Cervera's guns had a clean sweep at him.

A great thundering to seaward told that the American fleet was attacking Morro. An occasional explosion of exceptional violence indicated that the Vesuvius was hurling her dynamite projectiles. Amid the smoke of the land battle the great shells from the warships could be seen exploding about Morro castle and the other small forts adjacent thereto. By noon the entire American line had been engaged and were slowly driving the Spaniards from one entrenched position to another. Many Spaniards fled into the city itself, and in some instances there was no opposition when an American division charged a line of earthworks. In other instances the Spaniards fought heroically, and the number of Americans wounded grew rapidly.

The army was formed in front of Santiago in lines extending almost due north and south. At daybreak General Lawton was on the right in front of El Caney; General Wheeler was in the center, and General Kent commanded the left wing south of Wheeler.

Wheeler to Advance Slowly to Center.

General Lawton had been instructed to attack and take El Caney and move slowly from the northeast toward Santiago. General Wheeler was to advance slowly to the center.

Lawton's movements were intended as a feint, which would prevent General Kent to execute a flank movement.

Kent's objective point was not Santiago to his left front, but almost due south toward the mouth of San Juan river, opposite which part of the Spanish fleet was stationed. Kent had the serious purpose of the day in view. The movements of Lawton and Wheeler were chiefly to constitute a "blind."

On the west side of the San Juan river, at the railroad bridge, the Spaniards had been stationed in force. To dislodge them was imperative. They guarded the easterly landing place to Morro Castle. This was to be Kent's task.

MANZANILLA FIRED UPON

By Four American Ships—Spaniards Claim One of Our Ships Was Disabled.

A Madrid dispatch says: Four American warships at 4 o'clock Friday morning opened fire upon Manzanille, province of Santiago de Cuba. The dispatch adds that the firing which lasted an hour, was answered by the Spanish gunboats in the harbor, and it is further said "the Americans retired with one vessel seriously injured, as she was towed with her fires extinguished."

Continuing the dispatch to the Imparcial asserts that only one Spaniard peasant was wounded during the bombardment.

Camara's Ships Enter Suez Canal.

The following bulletin was posted at the state department in regard to Admiral Camara's fleet Saturday afternoon:

"Spanish ships Colon and Corodonga entered Suez canal yesterday. Rest, with the exception of one, repairing, left harbor coming from their transports."

Watts, the sender of this telegram, is the deputy consul at Cairo, who has been at Port Said for several days observing the operations of the Spanish fleet.

Let us pass hastily over the three first battles by land, or rather massacres. Their bloody details would sicken you. At length we detected the hiding-place of one vast gathering of women and children hiding, perhaps, where they had hidden for generations while the men went to war by the smell of burning yew wood. The Indian stronghold was more than twenty miles above us on the river. One night as we sat by our guns waiting for dawn the pleasant smell of burning yew wood, the sandalwood of old, perhaps, drifted down the deep waters of the river from the camp-fires of the Indians. This scent was followed up, the Indians found and butchered. But we could find no trail of rose leaves.

The melting snow had made the Indians on the islands more than secure up to this time, for we had no boats; but now the waters had flowed on, and the low and fast subsiding condition of the spring freshet was making the place accessible to horses. On the last days of April we surrounded and "stormed" the island on horseback. In most places the water was too deep, and the men only lost their arms and their temper while floundering in the water. But two places were found where horses could keep their footing. A second charge was ordered, the mounted men taking only a single pistol this time in hand or on head so as to be secure from water, and at the same time many men firing at long range out of the tall grass. This second charge was repulsed also, and not at all by the continued storm of arrows, but because our horses suddenly came upon spears and elkhorns and sharp sticks that pointed outward from the island. The water was made bloody and ruddy from their wounds, and they refused to go forward. At the third and final onslaught the men stripped to the waist, and waded to their necks, advancing from every side and firing their pistols only, while the men in the grass still kept firing at long range with larger artillery.

As for myself, I sat on a horse a little distance back directing the fight. Suddenly I saw a great commotion. Then bolts shot out from every side. It was a cunning and a most carefully planned scheme, and brilliantly conducted on the part of the Indians. It was at once seen that they had lost all hope of defense, and had raised the old cry, "Save who can!" At first our men in the water fell back. Then they rallied and fought desperately hand to hand, often up to their necks in the water. Let it be confessed after forty years that it was a great satisfaction to see so many canoes filled with women and children and old men dart through that band of naked besiegers, and escape to the wider waters, the willows, the grass. But for all that the water was red. It was like reading over again the bloody page of Prescott, the Aztec, Cortez and his boats on Tezcuco—the bloody water!

All through the slaughter we three—Arthur Bantry, Nelson Garth, and I—kept close together. We took no part in the massacre. Our anxiety was to see some possible sign of the captives. After a while we saw a boat which filled us with concern. It consisted merely of two bales of dry weeds lashed together. It held a female figure, which from our distance could only be distinguished as slight and supple. We hurried our horses along the shore and through the edges of the water in eager pursuit.

"I SAT ON MY HORSE A LITTLE DISTANCE BACK."

"It is Rose—it is Rose!" Bantry shouted. "Or is it my wife?"

The child had grown to young womanhood in the semblance of her mother, as the artist had fancied in his singular portrait, and, in spite of her Indian costume, we all recognized her. There was only one other person in the boat, a bent old Indian. Guided by the girl's strong, sure hand, the strange craft got through the besieging party and came to land a few hundred yards from where we were, the girl landing first, stooping low, running forward leading the decrepit man, almost dragging him in her swift run through the long, green grass. We plunged forward. Our horses sank to their bellies in the marsh. Then we took to our feet. The old man was badly shot and made the water in which the rank grass stood bloody as they ran. He fell on his back as a fierce pursuer came up, and kicked at him, trying to keep him back for the girl to escape.

"Spare her," Bantry yelled.

His outcry seemed only to alarm her afresh, and, realizing that she could do no more for her dying companions, she fled. We saw her standing irresolute for a moment, evidently making up her mind which way to likeliest escape from her father, her lover, and me, whom she mistook for enemies. Before we could regain our horses, and on their backs renew the pursuit, she was out of sight, and we were dismayed by the probability that we might never see her again. But we rode furiously through the woods, clear away from our comrades of the expedition, but without overtaking the object of our chase.

Suddenly Arthur Bantry made a joyful outcry.

"See that!" he said, pulling up his horse and pointing to the ground.

A roseleaf lay in the grass and fluttered gently in the breeze. The man was distracted by this sign of that scented trail which, years before, had led his wife and daughter away from him. Garth and I were not less agitated.

"Look yonder!" Garth exclaimed; "there's another leaf."

"With more beyond," I said, seeing that, indeed, a roseleaf trail was before us.

We followed it as swiftly as our horses could be guided in and out among the trees and bushes, and soon we came upon the poor frightened girl.

"Rose, Rose," her father cried, dismounting and clasping her in his arms; "don't you know me?"

She understood the name, but no more, for she was ignorant of English. A subtle something in the parent's embrace partially reassured her, however, and she submitted quietly to the detention.

"We are friends," I said, in the Indian tongue. "We will save you from all danger."

In an hour we knew from Rose Bantry that she remembered, very vaguely, her capture by the Indians, but it seemed to have been followed immediately by the death of her mother, and so the girl knew, only in a shadowy way, that she was somehow different from the Indians with whom she grew up. The old man, whom she defended in the boat, had defended her against all harm.

"And why did you scatter rose leaves along your trail?" I asked.

"Because it is nearly all I remember of my mother," was the pensive reply, "that she told me to strew rose leaves in my path whenever peril pursued me. 'I will follow you in spirit,' she said, 'and who knows but the Great Spirit might waft the scent of them to your father.'"

"And so it has come true," Bantry exclaimed.

His words, and much more, were translated to her by me. Slowly, yet surely, she comprehended.

Out from the great rich valley of grasses and flowers the army of California rode on the first day of May, leaving not one living Indian behind. Some of their horses were hung with scalps, as if they had been fringed in black for a funeral. The army of Northern California as it rode through the glorious pines was literally loaded down with scalps. But there were three happier men who brought out from the shadow of Shasta a daughter for Arthur Bantry, and a surely prospective bride for Nelson Garth.

An Accomplished Southern Girl

A Southern paper publishes the following advertisement: "Wanted—By a young lady, aged 19, of pleasing countenance, good figure, agreeable manners, general information and varied accomplishments, who has studied everything from the creation to crochet, a situation in the family of a gentleman. She will take the head of his table, manage his household, scold his servants, nurse his babies, check his tradesmen's bills, accompany him to the theater, cut the leaves of his new book, sew on his buttons, warm his slippers, and generally make his life happy. Apply in the first place to Miss ——, Hickory Grove, Ga., and afterward to papa, on the premises."

The Proper Course.

Most people are aware, says Life, that it is the custom of turf gentlemen to settle their accounts every Monday at Tattersall's. It was on one of these occasions that a backer, by an oversight, paid his bookmaker a betting debt which he had settled already. This put the "bookie" in a mental fix as to what would be the best course for him to take. "Shall I rob my wife and family," he argued with himself, "and return the money; or shall I keep it and go about with a seared conscience?" Unable to decide the point himself, he sought the advice of a brother professional of greater experience. "Paid you twice over, did he?" said the latter. "Ask him for it again!"

He Was a Citizen.

A certain Desaugiers, at the time of a popular uprising in Paris, when the people took possession of the Tuileries, hastened to the palace at midnight to see what was going on. At the gate he was stopped by two revolutionists of ominous appearance. "Why do you not wear a cockade, citizen? Where is your cockade?" they asked. A mob gathered about him and demanded, fiercely: "Citizen, where is your cockade?" Desaugiers took off his hat, turned it around and around, looked at it on all sides, and then said, in a tone of mild surprise: "Citizens, it is strange, very strange! I must have left it on my nightcap."

SURRENDER OF SANTIAGO

Demanded by General Shafter, But Meets Refusal.

BOMBARDMENT BEGINS TUESDAY AT NOON

Twenty-four Hours Given the Non-Combatants to Seek Places of Safety. Foreign Consuls Ask for More Time From Americans.

WASHINGTON.—The following is the correspondence of General Shafter in demanding the surrender of Santiago:

To the commanding General of the Spanish forces, Santiago De Cuba:

Sir—I shall be obliged, unless you surrender, to shell Santiago De Cuba. Please inform the citizens of foreign countries and all women and children that they should leave the city before 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

W. R. SHAFTER,
Major-General U. S. Army.

Toral's Reply.

His Excellency, the General Commanding the Forces of the United States, San Juan River:

Sir—I have the honor to reply to your communication of today written at 8:30 a. m. and received at 1 p. m., demanding the city, and that I advise the foreign women and children that they must leave the city before 10 o'clock tomorrow. It is my duty to say to you that this city will not surrender, and that I will inform the foreign consuls and inhabitants of the contents of your message.

Very respectfully,
JOSEPH TORAL.
Commander-in-Chief Fourth Corps.

The British, Portuguese, Chinese and Norwegian consuls have come to my line with Colonel Dorst. They ask that non-combatants can occupy the town of Caney and railroad points, and ask until 10 o'clock of the 5th inst. before the city is fired on. They claim that there are between 15,000 and 20,000, many of them old, who will leave. They ask if you can supply them with food, which I cannot do for want of transportation to Caney, which is fifteen miles from my landing. The following is my reply:

To the Commanding General of the Spanish Forces, Santiago:

Sir—In consideration of the request of the consuls and officers in your city for delay in carrying out my intention to fire on the city, and in the interest of the poor women and children, who will suffer very greatly by their hasty and enforced departure from the city, I have the honor to announce that I will delay such action solely in their interest until noon of the 5th, providing during the interval your forces make no demonstration whatever upon those of my own.

I am, with great respect,
Your obedient servant,
W. R. SHAFTER,
Major-General United States Army.

SPANISH WARSHIPS DESTROYED

By the Mosquito Fleet During a Hot Engagement Near Manzanillo.

OFF SANTIAGO.—On the morning of July 1 the Hist, Hornet and Wampucket destroyed a Spanish gunboat near Cape Cruz. On the afternoon of the same day these members of the mosquito fleet destroyed another war vessel at Manzanillo. At the latter place a hot engagement ensued between the three small American craft and nine Spanish vessels supported by land batteries and troops ashore.

One large Spanish torpedo boat was disabled, three Spanish gunboats were seriously injured and a pontoon full of Spanish troops was sunk, the enemy escaped in boats. The Hornet was temporarily disabled, but the only casualties on our side were three men slightly scalded by escaping steam.

The Spanish loss in troops and sailors is believed to be large.

Watson Confirms the News.

At 11:20 o'clock Monday the navy department posted translation of a cablegram received from Commodore Watson. It is similar to that received from Admiral Sampson, but contains the additional information that 350 Spaniards were killed or drowned, 160 wounded and 1,600 captured.

Sampson Made a Commodore.

The president Monday sent these nominations to the senate:

Navy—Commodore Frederick V. McNair to be rear admiral; Captain William T. Sampson to be a commodore; Commander Felancis W. Dickins to be a captain; Lieutenant (junior grade): H. A. Field to be a lieutenant; Ensign Albert L. Norton to be a lieutenant; Lieutenant Commander William S. Cowles to be a commander.

Troops Ordered to the Front.

The Western and Atlantic and the Southern railways have received orders to transport six regiments of infantry from Chickamauga to Charleston

Cubans to Cut Off Reinforcements.

An official dispatch received at the war department confirms the press report that General Shafter has sent back on transports to Ascerraderos, whence they came, 2,000 of Garcia's Cubans. The purpose is a double one—first, to prevent reinforcements coming into Santiago from Manzanillo on the west; and second, to prevent the retreat in that direction of the Spanish garrison.

Canadians assisted all along the frontier in the celebration of the Fourth of July.

THE POWERS TO TAKE ACTION.

Germany, France and Russia Will Combine to Prevent American or English Possession of the Philippines.

BERLIN (Special.)—On the best authority the correspondent here of the Associated Press is informed that Germany, France and Russia have reached an understanding relative to the Philippine islands. It is said that these powers do not intend to actually interfere until hostilities cease, after which they will combine to prevent the United States or Great Britain gaining possession of the whole of the Philippine islands.

When the war is over an international congress will be proposed, similar to the Berlin congress of 1878, to settle all questions connected with the war. All the great powers will be invited to join, including the United States and Spain. It appears certain that Germany will then demand a slice of the Philippine islands or other compensation in the far east.

SOUGHT THE OPEN SEA.

Cervera's Dash Was Picturesque But Was Fatal to Spanish Hopes.

A Sunday's special from Washington says: Admiral Cervera made a last characteristic and picturesque dash. Early this morning four warships lying in the harbor made steam and headed for the mouth. Three were run hard on the beach at the entrance, and were fired by the crews. The magazines, exploding, made total wrecks of them. The fourth ship, supposed to be the Vizcaya, with Cervera aboard, passed the Merimac wreck and reached the open sea. Ships from the blockading squadron at once started in pursuit, and there is not one chance in one hundred for her escape.

The dispatch containing the foregoing sensational information was received from Colonel Allen at Playa del Este early this morning, prior to the reports from Shafter of his demand for the surrender of the city. Colonel Allen's dispatch was meagre.

DEWEY'S REINFORCEMENTS.

United States Troops at Cavite Have Taken the Ladrone Islands.

A Sunday's special from Hong Kong says: The United States dispatch boat Zafire, which left Cavite, Manila harbor, July 1, has arrived here. She reports that the American troops in the transports City of Sydney, City of Peking and Australia, convoyed by the Charleston, arrived at Cavite on June 30, having taken the Ladrone islands on the way and having left men there.

The Spanish governor and other officials captured were brought to Cavite.

The United States troops commenced to disembark at Cavite at once.

Shafter Asks for Medical Assistance.

WASHINGTON.—Owing to the many conflicting reports of the losses of the American troops in Friday's engagement, it has been thought best by the war department officials to make public the text of General Shafter's last dispatch. It was as follows:

SIBONEY.—Adjutant-General, Washington: I fear I have underestimated today's casulties. A large and thoroughly equipped hospital ship should be sent here at once to care for the wounded. The chief surgeon says he has use for forty more medical officers. The ship must bring a launch and boats for conveying the wounded.

Miles Says It Was a Drawn Battle.

General Miles says the result at Santiago appears to be a drawn battle. He also said that the withdrawal of General Shafter to the highlands of Siboney, near the sea, would be temporary, leaving the troops to rest and prepare for future work. General Shafter would probably give up El Caney and the plain not far from Santiago.

General Miles said tonight that 50,000 men would be sent to Cuba at once, and if necessary he would send 75,000.

General Linares Wounded.

MADRID. — (Special.) — General Blanco reports to the government under date of July 1 that the Americans have taken San Juan and that the Spaniards were about to save their artillery, though half the troops were placed hors de combat. General Linares was severely wounded in the left arm, and relinquished his command. El Caney is also conceded to be lost. The Spanish losses were heavy.

THE GERMANS REFUSED.

Spaniards Asked Admiral Diedrichs to Interfere at Manila.

The following dispatch has been received from Hong Kong: According to the trustworthy intelligence from Manila the Spanish governor-general had a few days ago at his own request a meeting with Admiral Diedrichs (the commander of the German naval forces in the far east) in order to propose, in behalf of the Spanish government that Manila should be handed into the provisional charge of a neutral commander. The proposal was rejected by Admiral Diedrichs in view of the American blockade.

Philippine Insurgent Successes.

HONG KONG.—According to private letters from Cavite, dated June 27, the insurgents occupy the whole of Bulucan province. Occasional skirmishes occur. The insurgents captured the Spanish ship Behul in Kayabo bay while she was landing 500 troops. A stubborn fight occurred, in which the Spanish commander, a lieutenant-colonel, was killed. The insurgents have captured the governor of Bulucan, together with his wife and children.

THE GREAT STEEL PLANT.

Official Announcement of the Perfection of Organization

BY SALE OF ALL BONDS OF THE COMPANY.

Work Will Commence at Once and the Steel Plant Will Materialize Soon—A New Era in Iron and Steel Manufacturing Confronts Alabama.

The last details of the organization of the Alabama Steel and Ship Building Company have been perfected, and the great $1,100,000 steel plant to be located at Ensley, six miles from Birmingham, is no longer a myth, but a certainty. Actual work will begin this week, and within a few [illegible] one thousand tons of steel billets will be produced daily. With the steel plant will be a steel rail mill and many [illegible] industries [illegible] steel [illegible] timated that the [illegible] will add [illegible] people to the population of Birmingham.

The Official Story.

The following statement by Mr. James Bowron, vice-president and treasurer of the Tennessee Company, has been made public:

"I am in receipt of advice from New York that signatures have been obtained completing a syndicate which will guarantee the subscription for $925,000 of bonds of the Alabama Steel and Shipbuilding company, indorsed by the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company. The action, therefore, assures to Birmingham [illegible] construction within its borders [illegible] $1,100,000 steel plant as soon [illegible] citizens subscribe for such part of the remaining $175,000 as may be left [illegible] to their subscription after [illegible] have been first offered to [illegible] holders in the Tennessee [illegible] and Railroad company, of [illegible] subscription ample and satisfactory assurances have been given [illegible] citizens conversant with the temper and ability of our people."

"In pursuance of this information the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company has subscribed for and paid in cash for the common stock of the Alabama Steel and Shipbuilding company, which is now legally [illegible] and is preparing to issue the [illegible] delivery upon the above [illegible] scription.

"The engineers will arrive [illegible] to take charge of the work [illegible] tion. It has been carefully [illegible] that for the purpose of con[illegible] this plant and the homes for the [illegible] tives who will be employed there, and for supplying the necessary materials for its consumption from the various blast furnaces, ore mines, coke ovens, and collieries in the district, there will be sufficient additional workmen employed to make up together with their families, on an ordinary basis of computation, 25,000 additional population.

"Negotiations that have been waiting will now be taken up actively for the purpose of locating at Ensley additional enterprises, which will become in their turn consumers of the [illegible] to be produced there. It would be [illegible] mature at present to speak of [illegible] nature or of their scope."

Wages Advanced in Birmingham District.

Fifteen thousand men in the Birmingham district are now working at an advance of wages. The miners of Jefferson, Bibb and Shelby counties, 7,000 strong, begin the new mine year with satisfactory adjustment of all wage questions and an advance of 2½ cents per ton or 7 per cent. The 2,000 miners of Walker county have been working at an advance of wages for several months. The restoration of 50 per cent of the 10 and 20 per cent cut in wages on the Louisville & Nashville railroad, made in 1896, went in effect July 1. This advance affects 3,000 men in the Birmingham district.

New Industries for Florence.

The location at Florence of a large cotton seed oil mill and large machine shops is now practically assured. The cotton seed oil mill will be one of the largest plants of the kind in North Alabama. This plant will be established in time to use next fall's crop of seed. The machinery for the mill will cost from $15,000 to $20,000, and will be modern and up to date.

Montgomery's Colored Troops.

A surgeon of the United States army is in Montgomery examining the negroes who have enlisted in Dr. J. J. Hunter's company. There are 150 of them and they are a well selected lot. The officers of the company will be as follows: Captain, J. J. Hunter; First Lieutenant, Taylor Scott; Second Lieutenant, J. Albert Dillard. Gaston Hunter's company is also ready for examination. George McGough is rapidly filling up his company, which will be the third negro company from Montgomery under the second call. His lieutenants are Messrs. Will Screws and James Drakeford.

Receiver for the Elyton Land Company.

F. M. Billing, of Montgomery, the largest stockholder, has been appointed receiver for the Elyton Company, successor of the Elyton Land Company, which founded Birmingham. The refusal of certain bondholders of the old company to exchange their holdings for bonds in the new company led to the receivership.

Recruiting Officers Ordered to Miami.

All the recruiting officers of the First Alabama were ordered Sunday to return to Miami, Fla.

THE Fourth was spent in a thoroughly patriotic manner throughout the county, and the glorious news of the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Santiago helped to swell the enthusiasm.

HON. Gaston A. Robbins has secured the delegation from Dallas to the Democratic congressional convention. This makes it an interesting fight between Robbins and Plowman, with the odds slightly in favor of the latter gentleman.

THE expulsion of Warner and the other negroes comprising the colored ticket from the Republican party should be highly commended. The Republican party is well rid of them, and should go a little farther and expel any white reputed Republican who aids and abets them in any way.

THE gallant Alabamian, Richmond P. Hobson, is again a free man and among his shipmates of the fleet. He and his brave comrades have been exchanged for Spanish prisoners, and when they passed into the American lines they received an ovation. A feeling of relief is experienced that these gallant heroes are once more in safety.

GREAT progress has been made with the war this last week. Cervera's fleet, which has been cooped up in the harbor of Santiago for the last six weeks, is now at the bottom of the sea, Admiral Cervera prisioner,as well as about 1500 of his countrymen. They are now on their waw to Boston where they will be confined. Like: Dewey's victory at Manila, our ships escaped with scarcely a scratch, and only one seaman was killed. The troops investing the city of Santiago had heavy fighting on Saturday, and our loss was heavy. It it reasonable to assume the city will be taken in a very short time. An American fileet under Commodore Watson is ordered to the coast of Spain, and will soon dispose of the remnants of the Spanish warships. Altogether, with the exception of the loss of the brave Americans who have lost their lives, this has been a most satisfactory week, and hastens the end of the war.

GOVERNOR JOHNSTON, in his speech at Tuscumbia, said:

But the leader of the Populite party is not alone in his opposition; he has a running mate in the person of one Rev. A. J. Warner, a plotter in brick, who is quite as much opposed to the continuance of Democratic supremacy as Mr. Peters. They are political Siamese twins, united by the so-called election frauds, and the opponent of democracy must be happy in the opportunity he now has to select between these two reform leaders the quality and color of the reform he prefers.

It is pretty generally believed that the colored ticket is brought out especially to help the Democratic party, and most assuredly it has received no encouragement from the Populist party or from the Republican party. The assertion has been made that the idea of the straight colored ticket is to find the Democratic ticket a handsome majority in the black belt then to give Warner a big black belt vote, and set up the claim that nearly all the Populists in the State have voted for Johnston and all the negroes for Warner. This is a very pretty program, but we do not believe it will prove successful.

POPULIST TICKET ENDORSED

The Republican state executive committee, headed by chairman William Vaughn, met in Birmingham Saturday and formally indorsed the candidacy of G. B. Deans the Populist nominee for governor and the rest of the Populist ticket. The action of the negro Republicans in putting out a state ticket was declared irregular and the leaders of the movement were expelled from the party and its councils. There was twenty-two members present, and C. F. Johnson, of Mobile, was elected secretary. The question of endorsing the Populist ticket came up for discussion and resulted in the adoption of the following resolution:

Whereas, The state convention of the Republican party on the 7th day of June, 1898, passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That under the existing conditions in the state it is unwise to nominate a state ticket.

Be it Resolved, That this convention recommends and direct the Republican county committees to use their best judgment and earnest efforts to nominate and endorse anti-Democratic candidates for judicial and county officers and for the legislature who are pledged to honest elections and against a constitutional convention."

Therefore in order to carry out the purposes of the foregoing resolution be it

Resolved, By the Republican state executive committee that we recomend and urg the Republicans of Alabama to vote for and support the Populist state ticket headed by G. B. Deans for governor.

The state ticket headed by A. J. Warner, which was put out by the colored Republicans in Birmingham, contrary to the action of the state convention of the recognized party, was vigorously discussed and the following resolution was adopted:

Whereas, It has come to our notice that one Andrew J. Warner, William J. Stevens, Thos. J. Ellis and a few others, politically irresponsible, colored men, have set up a state ticket composed entirely of colored men and labelled the same Republican, which, if carried out in sincerity, would bring injury to the colored race and the Republican party, and,

Whereas, As it is known to the party and people that these individuals are in the employ of the Democratic party for pay, and,

Whereas, This ticket is intended to confuse the colored voters so that the next legislature shall be sufficiently Democratic to call a constitutional convention, therefore be it

Resolved, That A. J. Warner, W. J. Stevens, T. J. Ellis and their allies are hereby expelled from the Republican party and its councils.

We mean he can cure himself right away by taking Electric Bitters. This medicine tones up the whole system, acts as a stimulant to the Liver and Kidneys, is a blood purifier and nerve tonic. It cures Constipation, Headache, Fainting Spells, Sleeplessness and Melancholy. It is purely vegetable, a mild laxative, and restores the system to its natural vigor. Try Electric Bitters and be convinced that they are a miracle worker. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50c a bottle at all Drug Stores.

Death of Mrs. Peter Parker

Died at her home at Clanton on the 4th inst. Nettie wife of Mr. Peter Parker, aged 40. The deceased lady was a victim of consumption, and has been sick for several months, death coming to her relief on Monday. For the greater part of her life she was a consistent member of the Baptist church. Her husband and five children mourn a fond wife and devoted mother. The funeral took place on Tuesday at the cemetery at Clanton, many friends of the family being in attendance.

The Weekly Crop Bulletin reports Cotton is making good stalk, taking on plenty of squares, fruiting nicely, and is in generally good condition, except that it is becoming grassy on lowlands; corn continues to improve and is earing and filling well; cane, peanuts, sorghum, second crop of Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, and field peas are all doing well. Late planted gardens are beginning to grow, and good hay crops are being made. Wheat is about all thrashed, with an excellent yield. Peaches are being marketed, but are rather small. Watermelons and cantaloupes continue to ripen slowly, and very few have been marketed as yet. Grapes continue very promising.

Political Pointers.

Peoples Party Press Bureau
St. Louis, Mo., June 29, 1898.

"Are the issues to be changed for the next campaign" is the all absorbing question among politicians. Many claim the bond issue will but emphasize the great need of financial reform and make the campaign of 1900 form along the same lines of that of '96; while others regard war for conquest and territorial extension the coming questions that will divide the voters.

Although the condition of the troops is wonderfully improved, scandals as to the contracts that have been filled are too gross to be passed over in silence. All efforts of the Populists and silver Democrats in congress to have an investigating committee appointed have failed so far.

Dr. Elisha Benjamin Andrews of Brown University is a candidate for the superintendency of the public schools of the city of Chicago. It was generally understood that his retention at the goldbug university, after the great scandal over his having dared to declare himself in favor of silver, was only a temporary makeshift to silence public criticism.

Our large list of Populist exchanges show widespread and scathing criticism of the leaders of the recent bolt at Omaha. The papers in those localities where each is best known, add much interesting history in regard to several gentlemen whose reputations were already sufficiently unsavory. Wharton Barker, would-be Presidential nominee, is shows up in a light that renders his eligibility for any office most doubtful. The failure of Mr. Barker to get out the usual edition of his paper the week the Omaha meeting has caused much witty comment.

The proposition to get up a company composed of congressmen and senators was the cause of a most exciting wrangle between Messrs. Allen, Allison and Bailey, June 29. Reference to the divided condition of the Democratic party made by the last named gentleman raised a breeze that was refreshing to the spectators.

The usual amount of suffering among the laboring classes exists during the present summer, although almost nothing is heard of it in the din of war news. Indeed an unusual number of strikes are now on; especially is this true throughout the north and northwest.

Although he has not yet given it out over his signature, chairman Marion Butler does not contradict the press rumors that he has in his possession positive proof that the whole scheme of the recent effort to force the action of the Populist national committee at Omaha, and the holding of a national convention during the next year originated in the brain and bank account of the Hon. Mark Hanna. Such a convention, precluding all possibility of any union of his enemies in the next presidential campaign would save that worthy much effort when he is busy dodging bribery indictments and trying to prove that there is to be no war.

Fatal Accident to Mr. Ed Boyd

Mr. Ed Boyd, whom everyone in Clanton remembers, was knocked off a train by a tree during a storm on Tuesday between Charleston and Savannah, and was instantly killed. The remains were shipped to his old home here and were buried to-day. He was thirty years of age, and leaves a young widow and one child to lament his untimely death. The sympathies of all are with the bereaved family

SOME persons say it is natural for them to lose flesh during summer.

But losing flesh is losing ground. Can you afford to approach another winter in this weakened condition?

Coughs and colds, weak throats and lungs, come quickest to those who are thin in flesh, to those easily chilled, to those who have poor circulation and feeble digestion.

Scott's Emulsion

of cod liver oil with hypophosphites does just as much good in summer as in winter. It makes flesh in August as well as April. You certainly need as strong nerves in July as in January. And your weak throat and lungs should be healed and strengthened without delay.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

With much pleasure we note the splendid progress made by Columbia Lodge, No. 178, Knights of Pythias. This Lodge was organized but a short time since and has now grown to a healthy condition, numbering among its members our most prominent citizens. The Lodge met at its castle hall on the evening of June 28th when the following officers were elected: W. H. Sartor C. C.; H. I. Honeycutt V. C.; J. W. Stanfield P.; J. P. VanDerveer K. R. & S. & M. F.; G. P. Aldridge M. of E.; E. M. Pinckard M. of A.; J. M. Potts M. of W.; E. C. McMorries I. G.; W. M. Adams O. G.; Guy Higgins L. D. G. C.; W. E. Stewart P. C. C. The regular meetings of the Lodge are the second and fourth Tuesday nights.

The revival meeting at the Congregational church now in progress is not evoking as much enthusiasm as was hoped for it.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure

Cures a Prominent Attorney.

M. R. C. PHELPS, the leading pension attorney of Belfast, N. Y., writes: "I was discharged from the army on account of ill health, and suffered from heart trouble ever since. I frequently had fainting and smothering spells. My form was bent as a man of 80. I constantly wore an overcoat, even in summer, for fear of taking cold. I could not attend to my business. My nose was broken by severe pains about the heart and left shoulder. Three years ago I commenced using Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, notwithstanding I had used so much patent medicine and taken drugs from doctors for years without being helped. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure restored me to health. It is truly a wonderful medicine and it affords me much pleasure to recommend this remedy to everyone."

Dr. Miles' Remedies are sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee, first bottle benefits or money refunded. Book on diseases of the heart and nerves free. Address,

"Arrest Him"

To any lawful officer of Chilton County you are hereby commanded to arrest any person found guilty of not buying goodS from W. D. Lawrence at Maplesville, Ala., while he is offering his entire stock of merchandise at and below cost to close out before going to the Spanish war. By order of the court.

Turn-Round Topics.

The sad news of the accident at Mr. N. J Calloway's near Salem on the morning of the Fourth, reached us soon after, and was indeed a great shock to all their friends here. A team was standing in readiness to convey these beautiful and accomplished young ladies and Messrs. Frank Higgins and W. A. Calloway to the singing at Coopers. Just as the ladies and Mr. Higgins were seated, the team started in a run, Mr. Calloway not having time to get in. In spite of every effort Mr. Higgins could not stop the team. One by one all jumped from the wagon, Miss Annie White fell head foremost, bruising her head and skinning her face very badly, while her sister, Miss Eva, was not hurt much. The wagon ran over the body of Miss Bettie Calloway, though she was not seriously hurt. Mr. Higgins also escaped receiving any serious injuries. We missed them very much at Coopers and feel assured they would have enjoyed the day.

Are You Weak?

Weakness manifests itself in the loss of ambition and aching bones. The blood is watery; the tissues are wasting—the door is being opened for disease. A bottle of Browns' Iron Bitters taken in time will restore your strength, soothe your nerves, make your blood rich and red. Do you more good than an expensive special course of medicine. Browns' Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA.

Features of the City and the Province.

The town of Santiago de Cuba is situated at one side of the harbor and about six miles from its entrance and overlooks it at the widest part. The entrance to the harbor is very narrow, not more than about 150 feet wide, and the channel is winding until it reaches Punta Gorda, after which it widens into a beautiful harbor. At one side of the entrance is Morro Castle, a very old fort. "Morro" is a typical name given to all these coast fortresses. On the opposite side of the harbor is Socapa.

THE FAMOUS SANTIAGO SLAUGHTER HOUSE WHERE THE VIRGINIUS CREW WERE SHOT BY THE SPANIARDS.

The town of Santiago is low, but rises as the ground slopes up from the coast towards some ranges of hills. It was quite a business town before the war, and there are three companies there that have handled a great deal of ore, one of them as much as a thousand tons a day.

The houses are mostly one story high on account of the liability to earthquakes, but there are some of two stories. The dwelling-houses are surrounded by spacious verandas, which look on beautiful gardens filled with a wealth of gorgeous tropical flowers. The poinsettia, with its heads of brilliant scarlet leaves which people in the North cherish in little flower-pots and in greenhouses, is there a large tree, and other trees with their clusters of gaudy fragrant flowers make these gardens a fairy scene.

There are various insects among the flowers and mosquitoes innumerable, but none of the insects are poisonous. There is a large spider about the size of one's fist, whose bite produces a swelling and a slight fever, and a scorpion whose bite causes some irritation, but is not deadly. There are no venomous reptiles in the island. There is one enormous variety of boa, called the Maja, of immense strength. It is perfectly black, as thick as one's arm, and capable of swelling itself out to nearly five times its natural size, and has a blood-red mouth—all of which sounds very alarming until you find out that he is a lazy fellow and does not trouble himself about human beings, being satisfied with pigs and goats and even small game. There is a small snake called the jubo, and some other varieties, but they are not venomous.

The repose of the streets is not disturbed by the rush of cable or trolley cars. The usual conveyance, the volante, is a long-bodied vehicle on two wheels.

STREET SCENE IN SANTIAGO.

The town of Santiago is the see of the Archbishop, and contains the largest cathedral in the island—the Cathedral of Nuestra Senora de la Caridad del Cobre. Here is also the Theological Seminary of San Basilio.

In this region is the highest land in Cuba. A mountain range called the Montanos de Maestra or Cobre extends from the Punta de Maisi on the eastern extremity to Cape Cruz on the opposite side. Pico de Turquino, the highest elevation, rises 7670 feet above the ocean. These mountains are very rich in ore, and the Cobre copper mines, some twelve miles distant from the city, have yielded fifty tons a day, the higher grades being shipped to Europe, and the inferior grades smelted at the mines. All this work has stopped since the war became serious. These mines were worked as early as the seventeenth century, and were then abandoned for more than a hundred years. Iron is also found there, and gold and silver have been taken out, but not in sufficient quantities to make it profitable. However, none of these mines have yet been fully developed. Bituminous coal is found which gives out a high degree of heat and leaves scarcely any ashes or cinders. Near the coast it is often found in semi-liquid masses resembling petroleum or naphtha. There are some very extensive caves in these mountains, which have never been thoroughly explored.

There are forests of mahogany, Cuban ebony, cedar, and other hard woods in this province, among them one called the quebra hacha or axe-breaker, and the jucero, which does not even decay after long submersion. The marqueterie work in the room occupied by Philip II. of Spain, in the Escurial, was made from these woods, of which the Spaniards know the value, and they are exported from the island in large quantities.

There are no wild animals, properly speaking, except wild dogs, which play havoc in the poultry yards. A small animal called jutia that resembles a coon and probably belongs to the same family is found in great numbers, and has furnished many a good meal to the hungry Cuban soldiers, who trap it by the dozen. When eaten with a relish of garlic and onion it is delicious—to those who like garlic.

The city of Bayamo, in the western part of the province, was very important a century or more ago, and a great stronghold of the insurgents—for there have always been insurgents in Cuba. But of late years business has moved to Santiago and other coast cities, and Santiago now has about 45,000 inhabitants, while Bayamo has only 10,000. It was a lawyer of Bayamo, Charles M. de Cespedes, who, in 1868, at the head of 128 wretchedly armed men, rose in rebellion at Yara, and in a few weeks was at the head of 15,000 resolute though badly armed fighters. The Hymno de Bayamo, the revolutionary hymn of the Cuban patriots, originated in Bayamo. This was the Marseillaise to which music Maceo marched. Santiago de Cuba was the birthplace of the brothers Maceo.

On the opposite side of the province from the town of Santiago is the Bay of Nipe. The Bay of Cienfuegos is said to be one of the most magnificent harbors in the world, both for area and depth of water; but it is surpassed by the harbor of Nipe, which embraces sixty-five miles of deep water.

THE MARKET PLACE IN SANTIAGO.

A New Range-Finder.

An Italian artist in London is said to have just perfected a new range-finder, which, it is claimed, will be of immense service both in peace and war. It is said to be a great improvement on all range-finders now in use. The distance of any object can be ascertained by a mere glance through the instrument, it being shown on a little dial the moment the object is focused.

True love is not so common as to swell locksmiths up with the idea that they are funny men.—Puck.

DEWEY PLANS AN ATTACK.

The Reinforcements Have Arrived—Augusti Asked to Surrender.

CAVITE, via Hong Kong.—There was wild enthusiasm among the men on Dewey's fleet when the Charleston and transports City of Pekin, Australia and Sydney steamed into this harbor June 30 and dropped their anchors. The soldiers on the transports showed no less enthusiasm than the men on the fleet.

Admiral Dewey immediately began to plan an attack on Manila. He will summon Augusti to surrender on July 4, and if the demand is not complied with the city will be bombarded by the fleet. At the same time the American troops and insurgents will attack it on land.

The insurgents will co-operate with the Americans in the assault on Manila, which will be made on July 4, the American Independence day. They will make an invincible force. Thousands of foreigners, including the Chinese, are fleeing from the city and taking refuge on the foreign ships in the harbor. The bombarding of the forts may commence in forty-eight hours. The excitement in Manila has almost reached the panic point.

The movements of the German warships are still suspicious. Five powerful ships are now here.

Admiral Dewey and General Anderson are conferring. Results will soon follow. Troops are landing at Cavite.

The small Spanish gunboat Leyte, carrying 183 Spanish officers and men, was captured June 29 by the Americans. The gunboat was driven from the Pampangas river. There were several Spanish colonels and officials on the Leyte, and they were imprisoned at Cavite. They are the first prisoners taken by the Americans.

DEATH-DEALING TORNADO.

Great Loss of Life and Property at Hampton Beach, N. H.

HAMPTON, N. H.—A tornado struck a section of Hampton Beach Monday afternoon, causing immense damage to the beach property and great loss of life. Cottages were blown flat, horses lifted off their feet, vehicles carried many feet, barns unroofed, large trees snapped off at their roots, while others were torn up bodily. Twenty cottages were torn down, and several small hotels were completely wrecked. The greatest loss of life was connected with the demolition of the old skating rink near Levitts. Here from 175 to 250 persons were seriously injured, an unknown number slightly wounded, and seven persons are already dead.

A yacht was sailing off the beach and was in the path of the storm. In it were nine persons, and of these five were drowned.

London Times on Sampson's Victory.

LONDON.—The Times remarks editorially Monday morning:

"Admiral Sampson's brilliant exploit was as complete as Admiral Dewey's was. Nothing but the conviction that his plight within the harbor was hopeless could have justified Admiral Cervera's attempt to leave. Had he been able to judge correctly of what was passing in General Shafter's mind, doubtless he would have remained. The difficulties of navigation probably caused him to make a bold effort by daylight.

"It is not too early at this moment to foresee the wide consequences of the unchallenged supremacy of the American fleet in Cuban waters. Overpowered after an heroic defense, her only course is—her friends even in the French press urge her—to seek peace, which, even if onerous, cannot be dishonorable."

Taking Observations With Balloon.

WASHINGTON.—General Greely has received the following dispatch from Siboney:

"Saw balloon up near Santiago last night from flagship of Admiral Sampson, where I was observing it.

"ALLEN."

The balloon that is now in active use and sailing over the beleaguered city of Santiago and in plain view of 25,000 Spaniards and 17,000 Americans, was shipped from Tampa with Shafter's forces, together with the submarine cables and other field equipment now being used by the signal corps of the regular army in Cuba. The cable is used as a telegraph and telephone conductor, and the occupants of the balloon transmit to the ground their observations.

Falling Bridge Causes Death.

A bridge crossing the Mohican river at Shelly, O., fell Monday with 1,000 people. Four were killed outright and a hundred injured, some seriously. A public patriotic jubilation was being celebrated on the bridge as one of the features of the celebration. The bridge went down with a crash, precipitating the people a distance of eighteen feet.

No Third Call Soon.

It can be stated positively that the president does not contemplate issuing a third call for volunteers within the next two weeks.

Cable Repaired.

The French cable, cut some time ago near Guantanamo by the United States auxiliary cruiser St. Louis, has been repaired. Friday a connection was established between General Shafter's headquarters at Baiquiri and Guantanamo, the line being used for government business so far. A telegraph and telephone station has been established at a point within two miles of the city of Santiago.

In 1892 the banner wheat crop of this country was grown, 612,000,000 bushels. Present crop 10 per cent more

BOMBARDMENT POSTPONED.

Cabinet Decided to Allow Gen. Shafter to Use His Discretion in the Matter.

A Tuesday's dispatch from Washington says: The bombardment of Santiago has been postponed. Cabinet decided to allow General Shafter to use his discretion in regard to the matter. General Alger said at the cabinet meeting: "General Shafter and Admiral Sampson have been advised to hold a conference before any movement is made."

It is therefore not known in Washington whether General Shafter will wait for reinforcements, which are now being rushed to him, or whether he will co-operate with Admiral Sampson and bombard the city from land and sea. There is a great deal of feeling at the war department today in regard to the action of the Cubans and their seeming failure in stopping General Pando with his reinforcements from entering Santiago. Admiral Sampson's fleet has not entered the harbor of Santiago, the reason being that the truce was not up until noon today, and he is evidently awaiting instructions from Washington before making the attempt.

There is no intention of exchanging Admiral Cervera for Hobson, but the cabinet, as well as the officials, were of the opinion that if Admiral Cervera was kept in the vicinity of Santiago it might have a moral effect upon the treatment of Lieutenant Hobson and his crew by the Spaniards. Admiral Cervera will be treated with the greatest courtesy and consideration due an officer of his rank.

SCHLEY THE REAL HERO.

Representative Berry Proposes "Honor to Whom Honor is Due."

WASHINGTON.—Representative Berry, of Kentucky, a member of the house committee of foreign affairs, introduced the following joint resolution:

Resolved, That the thanks of congress and of the American people are hereby tendered to Commodore Schley, of the United States navy, and the officers and men under his command, for their heroic and distinguished conduct in destroying the Spanish fleet in Cuban waters on the third of July last.

Mr. Berry, in speaking of his resolution, said: "I propose that the officer to whom the glory is due shall be recognized. Schley is the real hero of the incident. He and the brave band of officers and men under his immediate direction are the ones who achieved the victory and all honor should be given them. Sampson commands the fleet in these waters, but it was Commodore Schley in command when Cervera and his fleet made their plucky attempt to escape and it was under Schley that every one of the Spanish fleet met its destruction. Schley and his men have performed a notable feat that will go down in history hand in hand with that daring forcing of Manila harbor by Dewey on May 1. Congress should be prompt in recognizing their services and there should be no delay in tendering its thanks and those of the country to the real hero of Santiago."

LADRONE ISLANDS CAPTURED.

The Charleston on Her Way to Manila Raised the Stars and Stripes Over Another Spanish Possession.

MANILA, Via Hong Kong.—The United States troops on the transports City of Sydney, City of Pekin and Australia, convoyed by the United States cruiser Charleston, have arrived here. On her way here the Charleston called at Guahan, the largest in the Ladrone Islands, the group in the Pacific which belonged to Spain, took possession of the whole group, made prisoners of Governor-General Marin, his staff and the entire military force and raised the stars and stripes over the ruins of Santa Cruz fort in the harbor of St. Luis DeLapaz.

The annexation of the Ladrones was marked by a ludicrous incident. The Charleston entered the harbor of Guahan and fired seven guns at the forts. The governor, thinking this was a salute, sent word that he regretted his inability to return it, as he was without powder. When informed that he was a prisoner of war he indignantly protested, saying that he had no idea that war had broken out.

An American citizen residing in the town was appointed provisional governor of the Ladrones.

Disorder Spreading in Spain.

A Madrid correspondent of the London Telegraph says: "Disorder is spreading among the military, the crowds in the city are getting riotous, and every where signs are apparent that the population is arming for civil war. Marshal Martinez de Campos and the captain general of Madrid have held long consultations as to the ways and means of preserving order."

Two Recruits Killed.

At Key West Ben Killman and Alvin Harper, two recruits of the First Artillery, were instantly killed by the premature explosion of a powder charge in a gun.

Killed on the Reina Mercedes.

An official dispatch from Havana says that the in the fight of July 2, three men were killed and seven wounded on board the Reina Mercedes. Of the troops disembarked by Admiral Cervera, seventy-one were rendered hors de combat.

For British Subjects.

The British warships Pallas and Alert have left Kingston, Jamaica, for Santiago de Cuba in order to bring British subjects who are desirous of leaving that city.

STATE NORMAL COLLEGE.

Valuable Information as Presented in Announcements of this Institute.

The college has two plans of instruction: "Attendance," that best suited to young people lacking both scholarship and professional training and experience; "Extension," or in absentia, largely adapted to those who have age, experience and more or less scholarship. Tuition is $5.00 per term and incidentals same—ten weeks a term. Alabama students taking the obligation to teach pay no tuition, but incidentals merely. A nomination may be made by each senator and representative of the Alabama legislature, outside of the county in which the college is situated and outside of each county having a state educational institution for whites, to a scholarship granting special advantages, and said nomination approved by the county superintendent of education of the proper county, may be appointed by the state superintendent of education for two years, if he approves, preference being given to such candidates as appear to have the greatest worth and qualification for teachers, as indicated by the county superintendent's testimonial.

Board can be had at $8 to $10 per month, or students can rent furnished or unfurnished rooms and board themselves much less per month.

Good literary society and young people's Christian association advantages are offered. The president has many scores of calls for trained teachers annually and graduates of the college easily find situations. Young men capable to act as superintendents and principals of schools, and young ladies who can teach art or music and scholastics, too, are in great demand, by school officers asking for teachers. Scores of our students are thus located annually. Address E. R. Eldridge, President, Troy, Ala.

ABOUT WEDDING PRESENTS

Gifts to Hymen Peculiar to Different Nationalities.

From early times and in all nations it has been customary to send the bride away from her father's house laden with beautiful gifts for her house plenishing or her own adornment. In our own day wedding presents may be chosen from a great variety of articles; and, in fact, one can hardly go wrong in choosing an article of beauty or grace for the pleasure of a bride.

Silver perhaps presents itself as of more than ordinary appropriateness because it is so durable. A beautiful piece of silver, whether chafing dish, soup tureen, platter, goblet, basket or anything else, a set of forks or spoons, or a single fork or spoon, may be so treasured in its beauty of shape that it will be passed on for years, and finally become an heirloom in the family. Next to silver, cut glass, with its prismatic luster and beauty of shape and the many uses to which it can be put, invites the attention of the person who is choosing a wedding present for a friend. A very simple piece of cut glass will be prized and cared for among the treasures which the bride will always regard as her personal possessions. Pressed glass should never under any circumstances be given as a present.

China affords a field for gifts of almost endless choice, from the beautiful tea set, unique in coloring and shape, to the single vase or plate or bit of bric-a-brac; from the dainty Sevres to the satin finish of royal Worcester or the bit of Limoges, all through the various styles of rich and exquisite china, there is the opportunity for endless diversity.

China no longer belongs only to the table. It has its place in the cabinet, the library, and the drawing room, and one may be quite certain that her friend will be delighted if on her wedding day she receives something lovely in this line.

A chest of linen is so rich a present that a family or a group of friends may well combine in making it for a bride. Here may be included an outfit of linen sheets and pillow slips, daintily hemstitched, and finished with the bride's monogram. To this may be added tablecloths and napkins of satin smoothness and perfection of finish, while, to crown the whole, there may be added centerpieces, doilies and bits of needlework which are simply ravishing in their delicate beauty.—Harper's Bazar.

Saw a Train for the First Time.

A country boy who was brought up in a remote region of Scotland had occasion to accompany his father to a village near which a branch line of railway passes. The morning after his arrival, when sauntering in the garden behind the house in which they were staying, he beheld with wondering eyes a train go by. For a moment he remained staring at it with astonishment and then running into the house, he said: "Fayther, fayther, come oot here! There's a blacksmiddy shop ran off wi' a row of houses, and it's awa' doon by the back o' the town."

To Call Out Negro Volunteers.

Senator Hawley, from the committee on military affairs, reported favorably Saturday a bill authorizing the president to call out not to exceed 20,000 negro troops to serve under the volunteer act of April 18, 1898, the officers to be appointed by the president with the advice and consent of the senate.

Big Fire in Louisville.

The immense plant of the Globe Refining Company, on the outskirts of Louisville, was burned Saturday, entailing a loss of $200,000.

Gen. Brooke for Military Governor.

It is believed that Major-General Brooke will be appointed military governor of Porto Rico.

REV. DR. TALMAGE.

DISCOURSE BY THE EMINENT DIVINE LAST SUNDAY.

Subject: "A Glorious Rest"—This World's Wealth Can Give No Permanent Satisfaction—It Is Only In Heaven That Surcease From Sorrow Comes.

TEXT: "Arise ye, and depart; for this is not your rest."—Micah ii, 10.

This was the drum-beat of a prophet who wanted to rouse his people from their oppressed and sinful condition; but it may just as properly be uttered now as then. Bells, by long exposure and much ringing, lose their clearness of tone; but this rousing bell of the Gospel strikes in as clear a tone as when it first rang on the air.

As far as I can see, your great want and mine is rest. From the time we enter life, a great many vexations and annoyances take after us. We have our holidays and our seasons of recreation and quiet, but where is the man in this world who has found entire rest? The fact is that God did not make this world to rest in. A ship might as well go down off Cape Hatteras to find smooth water as a man in this world to find quiet. From the way that God has strewn the thorns, and hung the clouds, and sharpened the tusks; from the colds that distress us and the heats that smite us, and the pleurisies that stab us, and the fevers that consume us, I know that He did not make this world as a place to loiter in. God does everything successfully, and this world would be very different if it were intended for us to lounge in. It does right well for a few years. Indeed, it is magnificent! Nothing but infinite wisdom and goodness could have evolved this cage of water, or hung up those brackets of stars, or trained these voices of rill, and bird, and ocean, so that God has but to lift His hand, and the whole world breaks forth into orchestra. But after all, it is only the splendors of a king's highway, over which we are to march on to eternal conquests.

You and I have seen men who tried to rest here. They builded themselves great stores. They gathered around them the patronage of merchant princes. The voice of their bid shook the money markets. They had stock in the most successful railroads and in safe-deposit vaults great rolls of Government securities. They had emblazoned carriages, high-mettled steeds, footmen, plate that confounded lords and senators who sat at their table, tapestry on which floated the richest designs of foreign looms, splendor of canvas on the walls, exquisiteness of music rising among pedestals of bronze, and dropping, soft as light, on snow of sculpture. Here let them rest. Put back the embroidered curtain, and shake up the pillow of down. Turn out the lights. It is eleven o'clock at night. Let slumber drop upon the eyelids, and the air float through the half-opened lattice, drowsy with mid-summer perfume. Stand back, all care, anxiety and trouble! But no! they will not stand back. They rattle the lattice. They look under the canopy. With rough touch they startle his pulses. They cry out at twelve o'clock at night, "Awake, man; how can you sleep when things are so uncertain? What about those stocks? Hark, to the tap of that fire-bell; it is your district! How if you should die? Awake, man! Think of it! Who will get your property when you are gone? What will they do with it? Wake up! Riches sometimes take wings. How if you should get poor? Wake up!" Rising on one elbow, the man of fortune looks out into the darkness of the room, and wipes the dampness from his forehead and says, "Alas! for all this scene of wealth and magnificence—no rest!"

I passed down a street of a city with a merchant. He knew all the finest houses on the street. He said, "There is something the matter in all these houses. In that one it is conjugal infelicity. In that one, a dissipated son. In that, a dissolute father. In that, an idiot child. In that, the prospect of bankruptcy." This world's wealth can give no permanent satisfaction. This is not your rest.

You and I have seen men try in another direction. A man says, "If I could only rise to such and such a place of renown; if I could only gain that office; if I could only get the stand and have my sentiments met with one good round of hand-clapping applause; if I could only write a book that would live, or make a speech that would thrill, or do an action that would resound!" The tide turns in his favor. His name is on ten thousand lips. He is bowed to, sought after, and advanced. Men drink his health at great dinners. At his fiery words the multitudes huzza. From galleries of beauty they throw garlands. From housetops as he passes in long procession, they shake out the national standards. Let him rest. It is eleven o'clock at night. On pillows stuffed with a nation's praise let him lie down. Hush! all disturbant voices. In his dream let there be hoisted a throne, and across it march a coronation. Hush! Hush!

"Wake up!" says a rough voice. "Political sentiment is changing. How if you should lose this place of honor! Wake up! The morning papers are to be full of denunciation. Hearken to the execrations of those who once caressed you. By to-morrow night there will be multitudes sneering at the words which last night you expected would be universally admired. How can you sleep when everything depends upon the next turn of the great tragedy? Up, man! Off of this pillow!" The man, with head yet hot from his last oration, starts up suddenly, looks out upon the night, but sees nothing except the flowers which lie upon his stand, or the scroll from which he read his speech, or the books from which he quoted his authorities, and goes to his desk to finish his neglected correspondence, or to pen an indignant line to some reporter, or sketch the plan of a public defense against the assaults of the people. Happy when he got his first lawyer's brief; exultant when he triumphed over his first political rival; yet sitting on the very top of all that this world offers of praise, he exclaims: "No rest! no rest!"

The very world that now applauds will soon hiss. That world said of the great Webster, "What a statement! What wonderful exposition of the Constitution! A man fit for any position!" That same world said, after awhile, "Down with him! He is an office-seeker. He is a sot. He is a libertine. Away with him!" And there is no peace for the man until he lays down his broken heart in the grave at Marshfield. While Charles Matthews was performing in London, before immense audiences, one day a worn-out and gloomy man came into a doctor's shop, saying, "Doctor, what can you do for me?" The doctor examined his case and said, "My advice is that you go and see Charles Matthews." "Alas! Alas!" said the man, "I myself am Charles Matthews." Jeffrey thought that if he could only be judge, that would be the making of him; got to be judge, and cursed the day in which he was born. Alexander wanted to submerge the world with his greatness; submerged it, and then drank himself to death because he could not stand the trouble. Burns thought he would give everything if he could win the favor of courts and princes; won it, and amid the shouts of a great entertainment, when poets, and orators, and duchesses were adoring his genius, wished that he could creep back into the obscurity in which he dwelt on the day when he wrote of the

"Daisy, wee modest, crimson-tipped flower."

Napoleon wanted to make all Europe tremble at his power; made it tremble, then died, his entire military achievements dwindling down to a pair of military boots which he insisted on having on his feet when dying. At Versailles I saw a picture of Napoleon in his triumphs. I went into another room and saw a bust of Napoleon as he appeared at St. Helena; but oh, what grief and anguish in the face of the latter! The first was Napoleon in triumph, the last was Napoleon with his heart broken. How they extolled and cried when silver-tongued Sheridan, in the mid-day of prosperity, harangued the people of Britain; and how they howled at and execrated him when, outside of the room where his corpse lay, bailiffs tried to get his miserable bones and sell them.

This world for rest? "Aha!" cry the waters, "no rest here—we plunge to the sea." "Aha!" cry the mountains, "no rest here—we crumble to the plain." "Aha!" cry the towers, "no rest here; we follow Babylon, and Thebes, and Nineveh into the dust." No rest for the flowers; they fade. No rest for the stars; they die. No rest for man; he must work, toil, suffer, and slave.

Now, for what have I said all this? Just to prepare you for the text: "Arise ye and depart; for this is not your rest." I am going to make you a grand offer. Some of you remember that when gold was discovered in California, large companies were made up and started off to get their fortune, and a year ago for the same purpose hundreds dared the cold of Alaska. To-day I want to make up a party for the land of God. I hold in my hand a deed from the Proprietor of the estate, in which He offers to all who will join the company ten thousand shares of infinite value, in a city whose streets are gold, whose harps are gold, whose crowns are gold. You have read of the Crusaders—how that many thousands of them went to conquer the Holy Sepulchre. I ask you to join a grander crusade—not for the purpose of conquering the sepulchre of a dead Christ, but for the purpose of reaching the throne of a living Jesus. When an army is to be made up, the recruiting officer examines the volunteers; he tests their eyesight; he sounds their lungs; he measures their stature; they must be just right, or they are rejected. But there shall be no partiality in making up this army of Christ. Whatever your moral or physical stature, whatever your dissipations, whatever your crimes, whatever your weaknesses, I have a commission from the Lord Almighty to make up this regiment of redeemed souls, and I cry, "Arise ye, and depart; for this is not your rest." Many of you have lately joined this company, and my desire is that you all may join it. Why not? You know in your own hearts' experience that what I have said about this world is true—that it is no place to rest in. There are hundreds here weary—oh, how weary!—weary with sin; weary with trouble; weary with bereavement. Some of you have been pierced through and through. You carry the scars of a score of conflicts, in which you have bled at every pore; and you sigh, "Oh, that I had the wings of a dove, that I might fly away and be at rest!" You have taken the cup of this world's pleasures and drunk it to the dregs, and still the thirst claws at your tongue, and the fever strikes to your brain. You have chased Pleasure through every valley, by every stream, amid every brightness, and under every shadow; but just at the moment when you were all ready to put your hand upon the rosy, laughing sylph of the wood, she turned upon you with the glare of a fiend and the eye of a satyr, her locks adders, and her breath the chill damp of a grave. Out of Jesus Christ no rest. No voice to silence the storm. No light to kindle the darkness. No dry dock to repair the split bulwark.

Thank God, I can tell you something better. If there is no rest on earth, there is rest in Heaven. Oh, ye who are worn out with work, your hands calloused, your backs bent, your eyes half put out, your fingers worn with the needle, that in this world you may never lay down; ye discouraged ones, who have been waging a hand-to-hand fight for bread; ye to whom the night brings little rest and the morning mere drudgery—oh, ye of the weary hand, and the weary side, and the weary foot, hear me talk about rest!

Look at that company of enthroned ones. It cannot be that those bright ones ever toiled? Yes! yes! These packed the Chinese tea-boxes, and through missionary instruction escaped into glory. These sweltered on Southern plantations, and one night, after the cotton-picking, went up as white as if they had never been black. Those died of overtoil in the Lowell carpet factories, and those in Manchester mills; those helped build the Pyramids, and these broke away from work on the day Christ was hounded out of Jerusalem. No more towers to build; Heaven is done. No more garments to weave; the robes are finished. No more harvest to raise; the garners are full. Oh, sons and daughters of toil, arise, ye and depart, for that is your rest.

Scoville McCollum, a boy of my Sunday-school, while dying, said to his mother, "Don't cry, but sing:

"There is rest for the weary,
There is rest for the weary."

Then putting his wasted hand over his heart, he said, "There is rest for me."

But there are some of you who want to hear about the land where they never have any heart-breaks and no graves are dug. Where are your father and mother? The most of you are orphans. I look around, and where I see one man who has parents living I see ten who are orphans. Where are your children? Where I see one family circle that is unbroken, I see three or four that have been desolated. One lamb gone out of this fold; one flower plucked from that garland; one golden link broken from that chain; here a bright light put out, and there another, and yonder another. With such griefs how are you to rest? Will there ever be a power that can attune that silent voice or kindle the lustre of that closed eye, or put spring and dance into that little foot? When we bank up the dust over the dead, is the sod never to be broken? Is the cemetery to hear no sound but the tire of the hearse wheel, or the tap of the bell at the gate as the long processions come in with their awful burdens of grief? Is the bottom of the grave gravel and the top dust? No! no! no! The tomb is only a place where we wrap our robes about us for a pleasant nap on our way home. The swellings of Jordan will only wash off the dust of the way. From the top of the grave we catch a glimpse of the towers glinted with the sun that never sets.

Into that rest how many loved ones have gone! Some put down the work of mid-life, feeling they could hardly be spared from the store or shop for a day, but are to be spared from it forever. Some went in old age. One came tottering on his staff, and used to sit at the foot of the pulpit, his wrinkled face radiant with the light that falls from the throne of God. Another having lived a life of Christian consistency here, ever busy with kindnesses for her children, her heart full of that meek and quiet spirit that is in the sight of God of great price, suddenly her countenance was transfigured, and the gate was opened, and she took her place amid that great cloud of witnesses that hover about the throne!

Glorious consolation! They are not dead. You cannot make me believe they are dead. They have only moved on. With more love than that with which they greeted us on earth, they watch us from their high place, and their voices cheer us in our struggle for the sky. Hail, spirits blessed! now that ye have passed the flood and won the crown. With weary feet we press up the shining way, until in everlasting reunion we shall meet again. Oh! won't it be grand when, our conflicts done and our partings over, we shall clasp hands, and cry out, "This is Heaven?"

By the thrones of your departed kindred, by their gentle hearts, and the tenderness and love with which they call you from the skies, I beg you start on the high road to heaven. In the everlasting rest may we all meet.

One of the old writers wished he could have seen three things: Rome in its prosperity; Paul preaching; Christ in the body. I have three wishes: First—To see Christ in glory, surrounded by His redeemed. Second—To see Christ in glory, surrounded by His redeemed. Third—To see Christ in glory, surrounded by His redeemed.

When on my new fledged wings I rise,
To tread those shores beyond the skies,
I'll run through every golden street,
And ask each blissful soul I meet—
Where is the God whose praise ye sing?
O! lead me, stranger, to your King.

A Guardsman's Trouble.

From the Detroit (Mich.) Journal.

The promptness with which the National Guard of the different states responded to President McKinley's call for troops at the beginning of the war with Spain made the whole country proud of its citizen soldiers. In Detroit there are few guardsmen more popular and efficient than Max B. Davies, first sergeant of Co. B. He has been a resident of Detroit for the past six years, and his home is at 416 Third Avenue. For four years he was connected with the well known wholesale drug house of Farrand, Williams & Clark, in the capacity of bookkeeper.

The First Sergeant.

"I have charged up many thousand orders for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," said Mr. Davies, "but never knew their worth until I used them for the cure of chronic dyspepsia. For two years I suffered and doctored for that aggravating trouble but could only be helped temporarily.

"I think dyspepsia is one of the most stubborn of ailments, and there is scarcely a clerk or office man but what is more or less a victim. Some days I could eat anything, while at other times I would be starving. These distressed pains would force me to quit work.

"I tried the hot-water treatment thoroughly, but it did not affect my case. I have tried many advertised remedies but they would help only for a time. A friend of mine recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, but I did not think much of them.

"I finally was induced to try the pills and commenced using them. After taking a few doses I found much relief. I do not remember how many boxes of the pills I used, but I used them until the old trouble stopped. I know they will cure dyspepsia of the worst form and I am pleased to recommend them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

In a recent sale in London, a little 10x7-inch picture brought $12,775. It was a Meissonier, and represented Genito, the sculptor, at work on a bust.

SYRUP OF FIGS

NEVER IMITATED IN QUALITY.

THE EXCELLENCE OF SYRUP OF FIGS

is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, and we wish to impress upon all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. As the genuine Syrup of Figs is manufactured by the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. only, a knowledge of that fact will assist one in avoiding the worthless imitations manufactured by other parties. The high standing of the CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP Co. with the medical profession, and the satisfaction which the genuine Syrup of Figs has given to millions of families, makes the name of the Company a guaranty of the excellence of its remedy. It is far in advance of all other laxatives, as it acts on the kidneys, liver and bowels without irritating or weakening them, and it does not gripe nor nauseate. In order to get its beneficial effects, please remember the name of the Company—

PROTECTION OR FUN.

Shoots Ammonia, Water, Cologne and Other Liquid.

It is a weapon which protects bicyclists against vicious dogs and foot-pads; travelers against robbers and toughs; homes against thieves and tramps, and is adapted to many other situations.

It does not kill or injure; it is perfectly safe to handle; makes no noise or smoke; creates no lasting regrets, as does the bullet pistol. It simply and amply protects, by compelling the foe to give undivided attention to himself for awhile instead of to the intended victim.

It is the only real weapon which protects and also makes fun, laughter and lots of it; it shoots, not once, but many times without reloading; and will protect by its appearance in time of danger, although loaded only with liquid. It does not get out of order; is durable, handsome, and nickel plated.

Sent boxed and post paid by mail with full directions how to use for 50c. in 2c. Postage Stamps, Post-office Money Order, or Express Money Order.

WINE OF CARDUI

FOR ALL WOMEN

NINE-TENTHS of all the pain and sickness from which women suffer is caused by weakness or derangement in the organs of menstruation. Nearly always when a woman is not well these organs are affected. But when they are strong and healthy a woman is very seldom sick.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

Is nature's provision for the regulation of the menstrual function. It cures all "female troubles." It is equally effective for the girl in her teens, the young wife with domestic and maternal cares, and the woman approaching the period known as the "Change of Life." They all need it. They are all benefitted by it.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

THOS. J. COOPER, Tupelo, Miss., says: "My sister suffered from very irregular and painful menstruation and doctors could not relieve her. Wine of Cardui quickly cured her and also helped my mother through the Change of Life."

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for as the Bookman says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such, it promises its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the political, economic, and literary happenings which are of value to busy men and women. The "Progress of the World" will be concisely an illustrated story of the month. The "Leading Articles" will give the best thought and information of the current magazines in their departments; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the men of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of international or serious import.

"We know of no review published in this country that furnishes so much information in so attractive a form as the American Monthly Review of Reviews. It is a unique and very valuable publication."—Boston Journal.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly volume the information needed by intelligent people of "live" instincts is best given in the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library in itself"; "a historical cyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of aid for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a triumph of editorial genius"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

Editor BANNER. To beat Adams is the Democratic slogan heard from every direction. Upon every breeze is borne the cry "down with Adams." Why what in the world has Adams done that such a furore of opposition and abuse is thus raised against him? Why was it that the ablest talent found in Democratic ranks two years ago was hurried to Bibb county to aid in securing his defeat for Representative in that county? Again I ask what has he done? Well, we must admit he has been guilty of some crimes. He has, to our certain knowledge, been for about ten years pleading the cause of the poor, oppressed and down trodden of our race wherever found. He has waged an unrelenting war against the money power, the parties, the laws, and all other agencies that have been instrumental in bringing about such great poverty distress and wretchedness all over our country. This is one of Adam's crimes. And oh! how sore, irritating and galling it seem to be to his enemies. But this is not his only crime. The Democratic party has been safely housed behind a great monument of fraud for many long years here in Alabama. Mr. Adams has been all over the state unveiling and opening the eyes of the people to these monstrous frauds. Here are crimes calculated to destroy all the rights and liberties belonging to the people of this great Republic of ours. No wonder this slogan cry. "Down with Adams," is heard from Democratic camps in all directions. What a pestilent fellow he is. Like old Bro. Paul he has stirred up strife. And now, friends, let us come to his rescue that he may continue committing these crimes and keeping up his strife. Let no man fail to be on hand the first Monday in August. It is a duty we owe Bro. Adams. Let our duty be faithfully discharged. I. C.

Our baby has been continually troubled with colic and cholera infantum since his birth, and all that we could do for him did not seem to give more than temporary relief, until we tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Since giving that remedy he has not been troubled. We want to give you this testimonial as an evidence of our gratitude, not that you need it to advertise your meritorious remedy.—G. J. G. Barbour Calls a Mass Meeting.

Coopers, Ala., July 9, 1898

To the voters of Chilton county.

In my last letter I promised to get the several candidates to assist me in requesting their executive committees to call a mass meeting in the near future. I went to Clanton to-day and could not see either of the chairmen nor candidates, so I will have to go it alone, requesting that every candidate and every person who reads this letter will assist me in making the call as extended as possible. Let every voter in the county come to the meeting on Saturday the 23 of this month. Come and hear me! I have many good things to tell you. Let no man stay away on account of political or religious creed or color. The meeting to be in Clanton.

Respectfully,
J. G. BARBOUR.

July Fourth was a big day in Chilton county. Everybody for miles around together with representative men from adjoining counties were here by the score to enjoy a big old fashioned barbecue. Hon. John F. Burns, of Dallas, was master of ceremonies, and made a brilliant address burning with patriotism. The Declaration of Independence was read by Hugh Mallory, who also made an eloquent address. Other speeches were delivered by mayor E. S. Starr of Selma, J. F. Gregory, Buck Harris and others altogether it was a most glorious day.

Persons troubled with diarrhoea will be interested in the experience of Mr. Wm. Bush, clerk of Hotel Dorrance, Providence, R.I. He says: "For several years I have been almost a constant sufferer from diarrhoea, the frequent attacks completely prostrating me and rendering me unfit for my duties at this hotel. About two years ago a traveling salesman kindly gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy; much to my surprise and delight its effects were immediate. Whenever I felt symptoms of the disease I would fortify myself against the attack with a few doses of this valuable remedy. The result has been very satisfactory and almost complete relief from the affliction. For sale by J. S. Johnson, jr.

Teachers' Institute

At the Institute at Alpine, July 8 J. T. Jones made the welcome address, which made every teacher feel that there was a cheerful home ready to greet one and all. W. S. Garner made appropriate remarks in response to Jones's address. J. Alex Moore presented his resignation as secretary. L. E. Byrum was elected to fill the vacancy. On motion of the secretary a committee of ten was appointed to be known as the Educational campaign committee of Chilton county. The following compose said committee. Judson Strock, (chairman) E. Y. McMorries, R. E. R. Hicks, G. D. Speer, W. S. Garner, E. C. Jones, L. E. Byrum, Misses Celesta Dunlap, Kate Garner and Marie E. Moody.

The secretary presented the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted.

Whereas, almighty God in His infinate wisdom has seen fit to remove from the walks of life one of our worthy teachers, Marshall Mims, and whereas Mr. Mims was a splendid example of ambition, studious, faithful young manhood. Therefore be it resolved,

PE-RU-NA'S VICTORY.

Dr. S. B. Hartman, Columbus, O.

DEAR SIR:—I feel like a new woman since using your Pe-ru-na.

Your medicine has helped me so much that I can work and never feel tired out. When I first began to use your medicine I couldn't sweep my own room, run the sewing machine or lift anything, not even a chair. It even hurt me to ride or walk any distance. Now I can do all this, and I believe more, and never feel the effects of it. I feel so proud of the way it has brought me out that I tell it far and near. I can heartily recommend your medicine to any woman suffering from female disease. I know from experience that your medicine will do just what you say it will. I thank you, Doctor, a thousand times for your treatment. I shall recommend your medicine wherever I go. I know what it has done for me and I know it will do the same for others. I feel that there are thousands of other women who would, after using your treatment, as I did, be thankful. I am so glad I got your treatment. This month is the first time in my life that I can remember of having my menses without pain. Why, I can't do anything but recommend Pe-ru-na.—Miss Emma L. Holden, Wilberforce, O.

The Pe-ru-na Medicine Co., Columbus, O., will mail Dr. Hartman's special book for women, free on application, to women only. All druggists sell Pe-ru-na.

Dedicated to the Independents

Hi! native Independents,
List to this advice;
There's not enough of offices
To give you all a slice.

Foshee he drives a high head horse,
Harrison goes it on the ears,
Honeycutt he cries around
Barbour's letting down the bars.

They call themselves Democrats,
I'm sure that they are Pops,
All they want is the offices,
So they are interested in the crops.

Adams, they say is such a case
They're afraid to meet him face to face
But boys, the thing they're after
Is to get the Judge's place.

The Pops are sure to win the race,
The people are in the saddle,
None can get an office now
Who rides the fence astraddle.

According to the American consul at Sydney, Australia, "American trade has been the means of emancipating the Australians from the time honored tyranny of the silk hat."

It is a remarkable fact that our naval heroes have seldom been honored with prominent political office after the achievement of their victories. We have had several soldier presidents, but no sailor executive, yet we talk about the ship of state. What more natural than to put a sailor at the helm? How does it happen that Farragut and Porter never became prominent in civil life, while so many generals of distinction held political positions at Washington after the war? asks the Providence Journal.

Associate Superintendent of Schools William L. Felter of Brooklyn claims that the handwriting of the future will not be a verticle hand, but a round hand, with a slant off the vertical from ten degrees to twenty degrees. Investigation shows that this is the style written by business men. These writers were taught the old slant. They have worked up to a slant of about seventy-five degrees. Why have they not gone up to ninety degrees? Because they could not do so and preserve the essential element of rapidity.

The father of Adjutant-General Corbin is still living in the old family homestead in Ohio. Although over 80 years of age, he manages the farm upon which the general spent his boyhood, and where he stopped hoeing corn to enlist as a private soldier at the outbreak of the civil war. When the old gentleman heard that his son had been appointed adjutant-general he was much pleased, and taking a pen in his feeble hand wrote his congratulations: "Dear Henry," he began, "it's a long ways from a hill of corn to adjutant-general of the United States."

It has been recently suggested that advantage should be taken of this international brush to attempt a practical solution of the tramp question, says the Washington Star. The proposition is that these wandering ne'er-do-wells be drafted into the service of the United States, uniformed, drilled, armed, and sent to Cuba to form part, at least, of the first army of invasion. It is urged that those tramps who seek to shirk this unpleasant duty will naturally "take to the woods" thus completely ridding the communities that they have infested of a serious nuisance. The military demands of the government, however, are too serious to permit the assembling of a corps of untrained, unmilitary, unambitious, and possibly unpatriotic men to be relied upon for dangerous duties. The best fighters are those taken by their country from the ranks of the producers, the men with a conscientious desire to serve the nation, who are energetic both in times of peace and war. The greatest economy in warfare lies in producing a maximum of results with a minimum of men. The mere aggregation of people into ranks is not generalship. The tramp problem lies deeper than this. It is not to be solved by a general conscription, unless it be intended to enter upon a virtual scheme of extermination, which is so utterly foreign to American doctrine, and so antagonistic to the principles upon which the war of intervention is being waged against Spain. If the solution lies in the line of employment let the tramps be drafted to work on the roads. Good roads are needed. Labor must be had to build them. While the war is in progress the stay-at-home tourists of the highways might profitably be set at work putting their favorite lines of travel in fine modern condition.

Killed While Crossing a Track.

A man by the name of Hayes while attempting to cross the railroad track at Dalton, Ga., was run over and killed.

CIVIL OFFICERS SURRENDER

The Entire Government of Santiago Has Come Over Into Our Lines.

DENOUNCED PERSISTENCE IN RESISTING

At the Expense of Santiago—They Told Touching Stories of Hardships and the Condition of the Spanish Forces. May Surrender Any Moment.

WITH THE ARMY, SIBONEY, CUBA.—How long will Santiago hold out? That is the question asked throughout the camp.

The entire civil government of the city of Santiago has surrendered and come over to our lines for protection, deserting the military and denouncing the mad persistence in resisting, at the expense of the destruction of Santiago.

The civil governor, Senor Ros; the mayor, Senor Porrase, and the president of the upper court of justice, came to Caney and delivered themselves up to our forces. They had been forbidden by General Toral to leave the town, but, fearing death, they sneaked away, coming across the mountains in a crowd of other refugees, and as soon as possible revealed their identity to the Americans. Orders were received to treat them with every possible consideration for their comfort.

They told touching stories of hardships and of the condition of the Spanish forces. They said that many of the poor were practically starving; that rice and black bread constitute the only food obtainable; that the Spanish losses in the two days' fighting were far greater than have been reported or estimated, and that further resistance was nothing short of murder.

The general impression is that a surrender may come any moment. Deserters and prisoners from the army and the men captured from Cervera's ships all agree in saying that the city is in no condition to make a stubborn resistance.

Foreign representatives, deserters and prisoners all agree that surrender is inevitable, and it is believed that pressure will be so strong for surrender that Toral and Linares will perforce bow to it. It is now certain that Pando is not in Santiago. Notwithstanding all reports and the facts that some reinforcements did reach Linares, Pando and his main army have fallen back to Manzanillo. The reinforcements which reached Linares did not exceed 2,000 men.

ANNEXATION OR INDEPENDENCE

For the Philippines—German Vessels Landing Supplies Near Manila.

HONG KONG.—The news that peace negotiations were under way has caused great excitement here and much speculation as to what disposition will be made of the Philippines. It is believed that Spain can never make peace with the natives, or that the United States can return them to Spain. A leading official says that the United States must either annex the islands or give them independence.

The German attitude at Manila is as mysterious as ever. Their ships are surveying the Luzon coast in both directions. They are landing supplies at Marivala, and German officers are fraternizing with the Spaniards. The German consul visited Aguinaldo, but was coldly received.

DISPOSITION OF PRISONERS.

Admiral Cervera Will Either Be Released on Parole or Confined at Annapolis.

WASHINGTON.—The government has not yet determined how to dispose of Admiral Cervera. A feeling of the highest admiration prevails here at the gallantry displayed by the old warrior and the noble spirit exhibited by him under misfortune. It has been proposed that he be released on parole not to engage in hostilities against the United States until the end of the war, but it has not yet been decided whether to do this or to confine the admiral technically within the limits of the naval academy reservation at Annapolis. All the other captured Spanish naval officers will be confined there save the surgeons, who will be allowed to remain with the enlisted men at the prison station at Seavey's Island, Portsmouth harbor.

PHILIPPINES' REVENUES

Will Be Collected by Gen. Merritt as a War Measure.

WASHINGTON.—The formal announcement by the president of his purpose to collect the customs revenues of the Philippines as a war measure had been prepared. As soon as approved the schedules will be given to J. E. Evans, of San Francisco, a customs expert, who will proceed at once to Manila and as soon as practicable after our forces occupy the city put them into effect. The general direction of the matter, however, will be in the hands of General Merritt.

The President May Promote Hobson.

WASHINGTON.—The house adjourned without passing the senate resolution transferring Hobson to the line and authorizing the president to promote him in accordance with the valor of his deed. This omission will not prevent Hobson's promotion, however, at the president's will.

Dewey Will Wait for Merritt.

A dispatch from Manila, under date of July 4, says that Admiral Dewey will remain inactive till General Merritt arrives.

CURRENT EVENTS IN ALABAMA.

A. J. Black Killed.

A. J. Black, who was shot by Mrs. Lizzie Lorch at Avondale Friday died Sunday afternoon.

Died From His Injuries.

William B. Boisclair, the engineer who was injured in the wreck on the Kansas City, Memphis and Birmingham railroad, near Adamsville, is dead.

Murdered From Ambush.

Saturday Charles Evans waylaid and killed Samuel Robinson on the Valhermosa Springs road, about eight miles from Decatur. Both men are well-to-do farmers and neighbors.

Negro Company Goes to Mobile.

Sunday afternoon the colored company which had been raised in Birmingham for the Third Alabama regiment was taken to Mobile under the command of Capt. John Trimble and First Lieut. John London.

Proposed New Bank.

A movement is on foot to establish a new bank at Athens, and it is backed by some of the wealthiest capitalists in Athens and Limestone county. It is proposed to incorporate the concern with a capital stock of $100,000.

Quarantine Station Destroyed.

The quarantine station on Mobile bay was destroyed by fire last week. All the fumigating machinery and wharf were destroyed. The fire originated from the boiler furnace. The plant cost $50,000, and was insured for $13,000.

Two Men Killed.

Percy Turner, Nick Reed, Chester Arthur, Will Williams and Jack Walker, five young men living at Gate City, left on a fishing trip for Riverside. They laid down on the track and went to sleep. A westbound freight train came along and Turner and Reed were killed.

Fatally Wounded by Burglars.

Mrs. Merrill, wife of Section Master Merrill of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, at Oxmoor, was shot and fatally wounded Monday morning by two negro burglars whom she discovered in her room. The negroes then escaped from the house.

Patriotic Madison.

Madison so far seems to be the banner county in the state for the largest enlistment of volunteers for the military service. Capt. Sheffey has about raised his quota of men for his colored company at Huntsville, which will be two white and two colored companies for the county.

Coosa Democrats Nominate.

A convention of the democrats of Coosa county was held at Rockford, and the following ticket nominated: Probate judge, James A. Crawford; circuit clerk, T. Henry Jones; superintendent of education, John H. Johnson; commissioner first district, J. A. Arnold; commissioner third district, W. B. Hannon.

Proposed New Railroad.

An application has been filed with J. K. Jackson, secretary of state, for a charter for the Florida and Alabama railroad, which is proposed to be run from Garland, on the Louisville and Nashville line, by River Falls, in Geneva, thence into Florida. The capital stock of the proposed corporation is $200,000.

Three May Be Saved.

Admiral Sampson has cabled the navy department that in his opinion three of the Spanish vessels may be saved. The Colon is certainly in good condition; he reports, and there are reasonable hopes of saving the Maria Teresa and the Vizcaya. This is the only news received from Sampson in a day or more, the cables apparently being interrupted or in bad working order.

Activity in Mining.

A large number of miners are being brought to the Birmingham district from Kentucky and Tennessee, so brisk is the demand for coal. Twenty-one families were brought down from Kentucky and sent to the Ameria mines in Walker county. A strike is on at the Mary Lee mines, Belle Ellen and Gurnee, on account of a refusal to grant an advance in wages and sell powder and oil cheaper. The miners find no trouble in getting work elsewhere in the district.

PROSPECTING AT BREWTON

With a View of Locating a $500,000 Plant.

A party of western capitalists were at Brewton a few days since prospecting with a view to the location of a plant for the manufacture of starch and glucose from the sub-tropical plant known as cassava, and there are strong reasons to hope that Brewton will be selected as the location of said plant, which will represent an investment of $500,000.

A bill was passed by the senate Thursday conferring upon Adjutant General Corbin the rank of Major General.

Cervera at Portsmouth.

The auxiliary cruiser St. Louis, with 746 Spanish prisoners, including fifty-six officers, dropped anchor at Portsmouth, N. H., harbor Sunday morning. Including the prisoners, there were 1,036 people on board the boat, and out of this number there are ninety-one sick and wounded Spaniards under the care of surgeons. Admiral Cervera has been quite ill for the last three days. Captain Eulate, who was commander of the Vizcaya and is among the prisoners, is also quite ill, having been wounded in the head during the battle off Santiago.

SPAIN SUES FOR PEACE.

Has Applied to the British Ambassador at Madrid.

TERMS REGARDED AS MERELY A MINIMUM

Of What Spain Expects to Be Asked of Her—Cuba and the Philippines to Be Independent—United States to Occupy Porto Rico Temporarily.

LONDON.—(Special.) Spain has at length sought for peace, applying to Sir Henry Drummond-Wolff, the British ambassador at Madrid. The British foreign office has presented the communication to Colonel John Hay, our ambassador in England. Official denials of this have been made and they are technically correct, but it is a fact that overtures have been made. The terms suggested as acceptable to Spain are that Cuba is to be independent, but to pay to Spain an indemnity for several years.

Spain to keep a minor Cuban port until this indemnity shall have been paid.

The great powers to send small detachments of troops to certain Cuban ports.

The Philippine islands to be independent.

The United States to occupy Porto Rico as security for the payment of a war indemnity, the amount of which shall be negotiated.

These terms are regarded as merely a minimum of what Spain expects to be asked of her.

SAGASTA DESIRES PEACE

Austrian Government Has Impressed on Spain the Hopelessness of the Conflict.

BERLIN (Special).—The Austrian government has impressed on Spain the hopelessness of the conflict, even advising Spain to surrender Santiago. This would furnish an excellent pretext, it is argued, to demand an armistice from the United States, and would at the same time present a basis for peace negotiations. Premier Sagasta, however, is known to be anxious for the immediate cessation of war. Berlin diplomats believe that the Spanish government will soon resolve, perhaps within a day or two, to sue for peace.

Will Yield to Pope and the Powers.

ROME.—The Spanish ambassador says that his government will yield to the insistance of the pope and the powers and begin negotiations at Washington for peace, if assured of the assistance of financiers in raising a loan to pay a war indemnity. The ambassador declares that Spain will not give up Porto Rico nor grant independence to Cuba, which is incapable of self-government.

CONDITION IN HAVANA.

A British Consul Says People Are Dying on the Streets of Hunger.

KINGSTON, JAMAICA.—The British cruiser Talbot, which left Havana on Tuesday, July 5, arrived at Port Royal with twenty-three passengers, among them Sir Alexander Gollan, British consul general at Havana and Mr. Higgins, of the British consulate there.

Mr. Higgins said: "The city of Havana is quiet, and there are no new complications. The well-to-do inhabitants are subsisting tolerably, but the poor are dying of starvation in the streets. There are many sights of terrible misery. The barracks are filled with starving women. The blockade is maintained and vessels are frequently turned back. Everybody is anxious for the conclusion of the war, though the soldiers wish to fight, and all the officials are resolute. There is no flour in Havana and no meat, while hams are scarce."

MILES OFF FOR CUBA.

Left With His Staff on the Yale—Troops Depart From Charleston.

CHARLESTON, S. C.—The transports Yale and Columbia, having on board the commanding general of the army, Nelson A. Miles, and staff and 1,700 men, intended as reinforcements for General Shafter before Santiago, got away Saturday afternoon. General Miles and staff are on the Yale.

SPANISH PRIVATEER

Said to Be Hovering Off the Coast of British Columbia.

The navy department has been informed that a Spanish privateer carrying five guns is hovering off the coast of British Columbia. According to last accounts the privateer was between Prince Charlotte sound and Dixon's entrance. Prompt instructions have been sent to the military authorities of the northwest coast to prepare for a visitation.

Young Woman Kills Herself.

Miss Tenny Bennett, a young lady, of Waynesboro, Tenn., committed suicide by taking morphine Tuesday.

Wood and Roosevelt Promoted.

WASHINGTON.—The president Friday sent these nominations to the senate: War—Volunteer Army: Brigadier-Generals of Volunteers to be Major-Generals: Hamilton S. Hawkins, Henry W. Lawton, Adna R. Chaffee, John C. Bates. To be Brigadier-Generals—Colonel Leonard Wood, First Regiment United States Volunteer Cavalry; Lieutenant-Colonel Chambers McKibbeu, Twenty-first Infantry. To be Colonel—Lieutenant-Colonel Theo Roosevelt, First Regiment United States Volunteer Cavalry.

FEVER IN OUR RANKS.

shafter is in a Position to Take the City and it Will Be a Crime to Delay the Assault.

SIBONEY.—Now that sixteen fresh batteries of field guns have arrived at Siboney and six heavy siege guns being hauled over rough road to the front there should be no more delay in dealing with Santiago.

Our soldiers are lying in trenches wet to the skin while malaria and fever rage out in our lines and in the yellow jack threatens.

We have power now to storm this Spanish army which hauls the Spanish flag at Santiago. We are with road to move a large force of men fit to fight with forty rounds of ammunition and twelve to fifteen days' rations and machine guns and field guns carried by the Rough Riders.

We have the range to the forts of Cerro and Fort Canosa and our advantage.

It would be a crime to permit the Spaniards to prepare and fortify as they did that long before our arrival. The city can be taken, and the sooner the assault is made the better, with the minimum loss now in mind.

Inactive as will appear the lines of a few men on the fields, the delay means not only widespread disease in our ranks, but the death of multitudes of helpless and innocent inhabitants of Santiago.

The first exodus of non-combatants permitted during the past forty eight hours has revealed the fact that they are actually starving to death. A sudden assault will end it all.

AMERICAN LOSSES AT SANTIAGO.

Shafter Sends War Department List of Casualties as Far as Practicable.

WASHINGTON, (Special).—The war department has received from General Shafter the following dispatch, giving as far as practicable up to July 6, a statement of the total casualties in each division, except General Wheeler's, of the army under his command as a result of the recent fighting:

In Camp Near Santiago.—Impossible so far to get returns, but there has been in the hospital at Siboney 1,062 wounded, and there are still 200 in the hospital here. In Lawton's division there were killed four officers and seventy-four men; wounded, fourteen officers and 317 men; missing, one man.

In Kent's Division—Killed, twelve officers and eighty-seven men; wounded, thirty-six officers and 502 men; missing, sixty-two men.

In Bates' Brigade—Killed, four men; wounded, two officers and twenty-six men; missing, five men.

Signal Corps—Killed, one man; wounded, one man.

General Wheeler's report has not yet been received.

SHAFTER, Major-General.

According to General Shafter's report the total casualties, exclusive of Wheeler's division, reached 1,208, divided as follows: Killed, 182; wounded, 958; missing, 68.

TROUBLE WITH CUBANS.

They Declined to Assist in Hospital Work and Opening Roads For Transportation.

CAMP SIBONEY, JURAGUA.—General Young, commanding the First Brigade, cavalry division, left here for Key West in bad health on board the Cherokee. He refused to issue further rations to the Cubans until advices are received from Washington in answer to his expose of the situation here. The Cubans refuse to assist in the hospital and commissary departments, claiming they are soldiers and not laborers. The same answer was given to General Baker when he asked the Cubans to help open the roads for the transportation of supplies to the front.

This, together with General Garcia's not preventing the entrance of General Pando's reinforcements into Santiago de Cuba, has caused discontent among the officers and troops. General Young has reported the situation to the United States government. In the meanwhile he has placed the Cubans in a separate camp under police regulations and has turned them over to Miss Clara Barton for rations.

Russians Want Peace.

The Russian officials and the general public at St. Petersburg are strongly in favor of speedy peace as the only salvation for Spain, and the newspapers recommend the intervention of Europe to compel a cessation of hostilities.

Wiped Out By a Waterspout.

A courier from Stockville, the county seat of Crawford county, Missouri, reports the terrible news that town had been almost wiped out by a waterspout early Friday morning.

Thirteen bodies have been recovered, but it is thought more have perished. Steelville was a town of 1,000 inhabitants on a branch of the Frisco railroad.

Belgian King Coming.

The London Pall Mall Gazette says that King Leopold, of Belgium, starts in August on a long yachting cruise, adding that he will make a considerable stay in the United States.

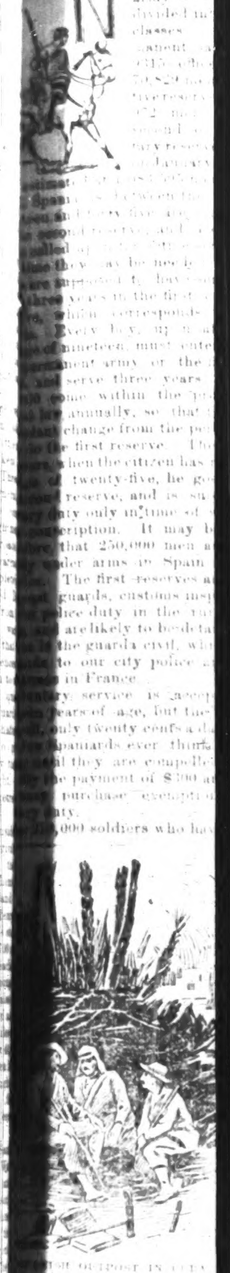
Troops Embarking at Charleston.

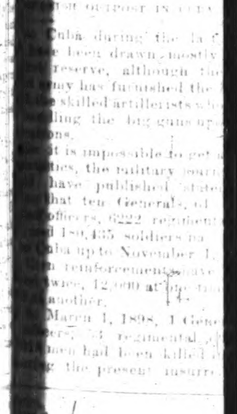
The steamship Rita, captured recently off Cuba by the Yale, and purchased by the United States government for $215,000, sailed for Santiago Sunday afternoon with 650 men of the Sixth Illinois regiment and their baggage.

Pillsbury, the Abolitionist, Dead.

Parker Pillsbury, the associate of William Lloyd Garrison, Wendell Phillips and others of the great anti-slavery movement, died at his home at Concord, N. H., Friday. He was 89 years of age.

THE BOMBARDMENT





SKETCHES OF SPA

SPAIN'S FIGHTING MEN.

...f the Soldiers ...ur Army of Invasion is Encountering.

NOMINALLY the entire army of Spain is grouped into these classes. A permanent army of 2[illegible] officers and 1[illegible]820 men, an active reserve of 184[illegible] men, and a second or sedentary reserve, which on January 1, 1898, numbered [illegible],595 men.

These statistics are made up from the official reports sent to the War Department in Madrid and published by the recognized organs of the Minister of War, which correspond to the Army and Navy Journal and the Army and Navy Register of the United States, and are accepted by General Miles and Secretary Alger as official.

The Spanish reports, however, are not to be relied upon. Their army is largely mythical. Nobody knows how many poor fellows have died in the field resisting insurgents, and the ravages of disease are still more difficult to ascertain; first, because Spanish statistics in all branches of the Government are notoriously incomplete and inaccurate; and, second, because it is for the pecuniary interest of the officers to conceal the mortality of their men. There is no regular pay department. The soldiers receive their miserable stipend of three or four silver dollars a month from their regimental officers. The colonel of the regiment sends in a requisition at the beginning of every month for compensation for so many men, and he makes the pay roll as long as possible. When the money comes he divides it among the captains of companies, and the captains divide it among the men. It is one of the easiest and most popular methods of robbing the Government for the officers to double the number of men on duty and divide the money that is forwarded for their pay. It is a favorite saying in Cuba that when an officer makes a report of a battle he represents that most of his troops have been shot while gallantly charging the enemy, but they all come alive again before he makes up his pay roll. It is well known that since the blockade began General Blanco has impressed in the army every able-bodied citizen within reach of his conscript office, and the insurgent sympathizers have enlisted in great numbers with the expectation of being able to serve their cause more effectively inside than outside of the trenches. This class of people, however, are not to be depended upon by either side.

The abundance of the physical resources of Spain and the soldierlike qualities of the men, even when they have received little military training, have been a surprise to many.

Pre-eminent are the Albarderos, who take their name from the halberd, a picturesque old weapon they carry, no longer of any fighting offensive or defensive value, but used as an arm of ceremony, composed largely of the aristocracy and including picked men from the whole army. This force is organized in two companies, with a total of forty officers and 250 men, as the personal guard of the King and for interior service in the palace. A Colonel is appointed as Captain, a Lieutenant-Colonel as First Lieutenant, and so the grades continue, a First Lieutenant serving as "caporal." All officers of the Spanish army are eligible for the Albardero Corps, one-half of the vacancies being filled by candidates selected for their special qualifications and the remainder by promotion on seniority within the corps. The men (privates) must be sergeants of good character and the best qualifications. In other words, it is a battalion without a private soldier in the ranks.

The group of hussars at Madrid is a representative body. The Spanish cavalry includes two hussar regiments, designated as the Princesa and the Pavia, which are regarded by their officers as the most distinguished of the mounted regiments. The cavalry officers enter through the college at Valladolid by competition, and after a course of three years are appointed to their regiments as Second Lieutenants.

The artillery of the Spanish army, like that of the English royal artillery, includes the horse, field, mountain and garrison branches, and the gun factories and other establishments are in relation with it. It has charge of stores of guns, arms, ammunition and "material," and is provided with field ranges, gunnery schools, a scientific and practical museum and other necessary adjuncts. The actual formation of the artillery is thirteen regiments of the field branch, each of four six-gun batteries, a regiment of horse artillery and three belonging to the mountain branch, all these having the same number of batteries and guns as the field artillery. There are additionally ten battalions of garrison gunners and four companies of artificers. At the present time the Spanish army has guns of two kinds —the Krupp and the placencia, of bronze or steel, with 3.5 inch and 3.1 inch caliber.

The officers of the force enter through the college at Segovia, the admission being by competitive examination between civilian candidates and young officers from other corps. The studies cover a period of six years, and promotion is always by seniority, but on reaching the fourth year of their educational course these artillery cadets become second lieutenants and are promoted to the full lieutenancy on appointment to the corps at the close of their scholastic term at Segovia. The arrangements for the training and maintenance of the effective condition of the artillery seem to be excellent. That they know the art of war there is no doubt; that they can practice it successfully is a question for discussion.

The general impression of the men both in the Spanish army and navy is that they have good fighting qualities, though they are not capable of any extended exertion and can never compare favorably with the Anglo-Saxon element. But while the file has always received commendation it is the consensus of unprejudiced opinion that they are "badly officered." Many explanations can be offered, but there is much luxurious ease about the don's life, and even in the army he will not forget the first consideration for his personal benefit even if discipline must suffer. The best soldiers, the flower of the Spanish army, have been sent to the Philippines, those rushed out to Cuba having largely been conscripts and rude youths taken from the farms to shatter their health in the fever laden districts of the "Ever Faithful Isle."

The peasant boys that Spain has driven across the Atlantic Ocean are representatives of her most ignorant class, and their own utter lack of knowledge of hygienic conditions helps the lurking disease to find ready and hapless victims. Some of them naturally become imbued with the military spirit and make passably effective soldiers, but the majority have no liking for their enforced profession of arms, and, controlled by a home-sick feeling, ill clad and half paid, perhaps not for months, they very frequently welcome death as a relief to their desperate environment. The home guard of Havana, called Guarda Civiles, native born and consequently inured to the climate, is the prominent armed force of Cuba. They have been thoroughly drilled, are vicious fighters and thoroughly hated by the insurgents, who recognize them as the dreaded genuine enemies of all liberty-loving progress.

In fact, the loyalty of the Guarda Civiles to the Spanish crown is one of the inexplicable conditions in Cuba. Their own kindred and relatives in many cases are in the ranks of the revolutionary forces, but they seem animated by a ferocity that is as wicked as inexplicable. All the Captains-General have depended upon them principally for support, and the civiles have returned their appreciation of this confidence by their brutalities and demoniac actions whenever an opportunity occurred for massacre and unjustifiable killing.

They are not well "set up," do not present the martial bearing of a British or an American soldier and invite the contempt of the Anglo-Saxon by their lack of many military characteristics. Still, it does not require much strength to pull a trigger, and by practice they may become as good marksmen as any habitant of a more northern latitude.

A MONUMENT FOR LAFAYETTE.

Movement on Foot to Erect a Memorial Over His Grave in Paris.

In a deserted corner of the cemetery of the Convent of Little Piepus, in Paris, lie the remains of the Frenchman who was America's best friend in the time of her sorest need—Lafayette. His grave is decorated only by a plain slab, and seems as deserted as was Victor Hugo's immortal hero, Jean Valjean, when he fled into these grounds with his little Cosette in his arms to escape the persecutions of Inspector Javert.

A movement is now on foot to erect a fitting monument to this brave Frenchman who sacrificed his all for us. It is purposed that it shall be paid for by the school children of the United States, in contributions of small amounts and that it shall be unveiled as the great event of United States day in the Paris Exposition in 1900.

When first built the tomb was two or three feet above the ground; now the foundation stones have crumbled and the top has fallen almost to the earth. Rain and time have dealt cruelly with it.

President McKinley has consented to be the honorary chairman of the commission in charge of the raising of the funds, the construction of the monument and its transportation and erection in Paris, and himself assisted to draw the resolution which has already unanimously passed the Senate of the United States providing for an honorary colamission and an acting commission to take charge of the work.

THE GRAVE OF LAFAYETTE IN PARIS.

Few Die of Old Age.

It is estimated by competent foreign authority that only 900 persons out of 1,000,000 die from old age, while 1200 succumb to gout, 18,400 to measles, 2700 to apoplexy, 7000 to erysipelas, 7500 to consumption, 48,000 to scarlet fever, 25,000 to whooping cough, 30,000 to typhoid and typhus, and 25,000 to rheumatism. The averages vary according to locality, but these are considered accurate as regards the population of the globe as a whole.

Our Army's Only Colored Officer.

Only three colored young men have ever graduated from the United States Military School at West Point—Lieutenants Flipper, Alexander and Young.

LIEUTENANT CHARLES YOUNG.

Lieutenant Alexander died about two years ago and Flipper is not now in the service. Charles Young graduated in 1894, and is now First Lieutenant of the Ninth United States Cavalry. He is a Kentuckian and a very large man.

WARSHIPS SHELLING SANTIAGO.

The Newark, New York Brooklyn, and Indiana Bombarding the City for Two Hours.

A Monday's special from off Santiago says: At 9:30 o'clock this morning, after several range finding shots over the ridge protecting Santiago from the sea, the United States cruiser Newark, opened fire into the city with her 5-inch guns. The signal corps officers stationed on top of the ridge reported the effect of the shots. The New York, Brooklyn and Indiana participated in the firing, at intervals of five minutes. The bombardment lasted two hours, when General Shafter reported that the shells were mostly falling in the bay and doing but little damage. The last shot, however, struck a building in the heart of the city, which was heavily stored with powder and ammunition, causing a heavy explosion. The extent of the damage is not yet known.

When the warships ceased firing, and before General Shafter had begun a land attack a flag of truce was seen coming from the city. The object of this was not known at noon today.

MILES AT SANTIAGO.

Goes at Once to Headquarters and Holds Conference With Shafter.

WASHINGTON.—General Nelson A. Miles, commanding the United States army, arrived off Santiago bay shortly after noon Monday. Upon the arrival of the auxiliary cruiser Yale, on which General Miles was a passenger, communication was opened with Admiral Sampson, and the two commanders were soon in conference. During the early afternoon General Miles landed at Playa del Este and communicated with General Shafter, commanding the American forces before Santiago, by telephone.

It is understood to have been General Miles' purpose to go immediately to Shafter's headquarters, and after discussing with Shafter the latter's plan of campaign, to make a personal examination of the American position. It is not to be understood that General Miles is to supercede General Shafter in command of the United States forces before Santiago.

The arrival of General Miles and the conference between him and the commanding officers of the army and navy is taken by some to indicate that if fighting occurred Monday it was not of a serious character, for with a heavy engagement in progress it was hardly possible that Admiral Sampson or General Shafter would find time for conference.

CONGRESS HAS ADJOURNED.

Cheering and Singing Made Things Lively During Closing Hours.

WASHINGTON.—The house adjourned precisely at 2 o'clock Friday. Immediately there were cheers, followed by singing of patriotic songs. Representative Bromwell, of Ohio, proposed to give three cheers for President McKinley, which were given twice over by the republicans. Then followed cheers joined by the entire house for Admiral Dewey and General Joe Wheeler. The whole house was one vast demonstration, and flags were passed about to every member and were enthusiastically waived while the members sang the close of the Fifty-fifth congress.

The senate adjourned sine die at 2.06 p. m.

Casualties in Sunday's Engagement.

WASHINGTON.—The war department has posted the following dispatch from General Shafter, giving list of casualties in the First division Sunday afternoon:

Killed—Captain Charles W. Rowell, Second infantry, and Private Peter Nelson, Company A, Second infantry.

Wounded—Lieut. N. J. Lutz, Second infantry; Private Charles Jenks, Company A, Second infantry; Private Charles Lentki, Company B, Second infantry; Private Nelson Gilbert, Jr., Twenty-first infantry.

Demands Considered Impossible.

MADRID Special.—It is asserted that the United States makes the following demands as a basis for peace:

1. The possession of Cuba and Porto Rico with a port in the Canaries.

2. An indemnity of 48,000,000 pounds (about $240,000,000).

3. The retention of the Philippines as a guarantee of the payment of the indemnity.

These terms are regarded as impossible.

Sick and Wounded Arrive at Key West.

The war department was informed Saturday night of the arrival at Key West of the ship Cherokee, with 323 sick and wounded from General Shafter's army. Some of these patients will be removed from the steamer at Key West and taken to the hospital at that place. The steamer will then proceed to Tampa, where a hospital train is in waiting to take the wounded soldiers to hospitals at Atlanta, Ga., and Richmond, Va.

Bryan's Regiment.

William Jennings Bryan's regiment of Nebraska infantry Monday were ordered to join General Fitzhugh Lee's corps at Jacksonville.

Shafter Wanted to Accept.

It is rumored at Juragua that General Shafter strongly advised the acceptance of General Toral's offer to surrender if allowed to leave with the troops wearing their side arms, and the American commander is said to have sent a dispatch to President McKinley making argument in favor of the acceptance of the Spanish commander's offer. President McKinley's response was, it is rumored, as laconic as was General Grant's upon a similar occasion, and directed him to prevent the Spaniards escape at all hazards.

SPANISH CABINET CRISIS NEAR.

Ministers Divided as to the Policy of Negotiations for Peace or Pursuing the War.

MADRID, Special.—In spite of the fact that public opinion is directed to is inclining rapidly in favor of peace, the people becoming more and more tired every day of the impossibility of withstanding the power of the United States. The peace party in the cabinet is urging immediate negotiations looking to peace, and Senor Gamazo, the minister of public instruction, threatens to resign if the war party outweighs his influence. The war party, however, urges a continuance of the struggle, "to convince America that it is difficult to obtain a prompt triumph for her army and thus secure for Spain better terms." There is a split in the cabinet which will probably result in its resignation and the formation of an intermediary government because Senor Silvela and the conservatives are unwilling to assume the responsibility of the peace negotiation, for the best obtainable terms are certain to be frying to Spanish pride, which will demand a scapegoat.

The increasing unpopularity of Senor Sagasta's government, which is supported by the throne regardless of public opinion, may damage the dynasty.

Premier Sagasta Has Resigned.

The Madrid correspondent of the London Times, telegraphing Monday, says: Senor Sagasta went to the palace today and tendered his resignation and that of the cabinet. It is said that he advised the queen regent to appoint a new element largely consisting of the military element, which would not necessarily mean the adoption of a warlike policy, but probably the reverse.

ARMISTICE SUGGESTED.

Powers Said to Be Engineering the Movement.

MADRID.—The Liberal says the Spanish cabinet is considering the question of signing a ten days' armistice in order to facilitate the peace negotiations. The Reloc correspondent of the Imparcial telegraphs that a ten days' armistice is coming, but he adds that he thinks the powers, with the vatican, are engineering the movement and are considering the proper form which the armistice should assume.

Big Bids Received at Chickamauga.

CHICKAMAUGA NATIONAL PARK.—Bids were received Monday by Quartermaster General Lee for 7,000,000 pounds of oats; 500,000 pounds of bran; 9,000,000 pounds of hay and 1,000,000 pounds of straw. There were forty bidders from Chicago and Cincinnati. A significant feature of the specifications is that the material is to be delivered at once.

It was stated on the authority of a high official that the second division of the first corps under General Poland has been designated as an expedition for Porto Rico and that the division would be dispatched at as early a date as possible.

The Cotton Crop.

WASHINGTON.—The crop report of the department of agriculture, issued Monday, says: The cotton returns to the statistician of the department of agriculture, made up to July 1, indicate an average condition of 91.2, as compared with 89 on June 1, 1898; with 86 July 1, 1897, and with 82.5 on July 1, 1896. The averages of the principal states are as follows: North Carolina, 87; South Carolina, Georgia and Louisiana, 90; Alabama, 91; Texas, Tennessee and Oklahoma, 92; Arkansas, 93; Mississippi, 94; Indian Territory, 89.

Camara Is Returning to Spain.

CAIRO.—Admiral Camara, the commander of the Spanish fleet which was bound for the Philippine Islands and which recently passed through the Suez Canal has informed the Egyptian government that he has been ordered to return to Spain. Therefore, his ship will go through the canal immediately and will proceed westward. The Spanish warships will now be allowed to coal as they are returning home.

Senator Conger Dead.

Former United States Senator O. D. Conger, of Michigan, died at Ocean City, Md., Monday. He was a republican in politics, and was elected to the senate in 1881, and served six years.

A Norwegian Steamer Captured.

A special to the New York Journal from Playa Del Este dated Sunday says the Norwegian steamer Bratton was captured on that day by the Brooklyn. She had on board a cargo of supplies for Santiago, sent by merchants at Kingston and Port Antonio on speculation. She was tied up until the fleet enters Santiago.

Catchings Renominated.

The democratic primaries in the Vicksburg, Miss., district resulted in the renomination of Congressman Catchings by a majority of 400 over Patrick Henry.

Only One Vessel Can Be Saved.

The board of survey appointed to examine the wrecks of the Spanish ships destroyed by Sampson and Schley and to inquire into the nature of their injuries reports that only one ship can possibly be saved. She is the Infanta Maria Teresa, the former flagship of Admiral Cervera.

Strength of Shafter's Army.

General Shafter's available force, after counting all reinforcements and deducting the dead, sick and wounded, is 22,850 fighting men, according to military estimates.

Two weeks from next Monday is the election.

HON. M. W. Howard, was unavoidably prevented from keeping his engagement to speak at Clanton on June 20, has made arrangements to speak here on Friday, July 29.

HON. Howell R. Golson, candidate for chancellor of the northeastern division will address the voters at Clanton next Thursday, 21. All the county nominees are invited to meet him on that day, and we hope to see a big crowd here.

THE last week has been an uneventful one at the front; there has been no fighting, and negotiations for the surrender of Santiago have not been successful. The worst feature of this week's war news is the report of yellow fever among the American troops.

THE people of Birmingham are asking the voters of the State to vote for an amendment to the constitution which will allow them to increase the tax rate of that city one half of one per cent. This amendment was offered once before, but in consequence of the indifference of voters outside of Birmingham, it failed to secure the necessary number of votes. This is not a political question, and inasmuch as it will be of benefit to the city of Birmingham, we hope all our readers will vote "yes" to the Birmingham amendment.

WE understand that J. G. Barbour, Independent candidate for Judge of Probate, and Caleb N. Headley, Independent candidate for Representative, have both failed to comply with the requirements of the Sayre election law, which provides that candidates must file their nomination or petition not less than twenty days prior to the election. Under the law, their names cannot now be printed on the ballot, and persons wishing to vote for them will have to write their names on the blank lines provided for that purpose.

Gov. Johnston is in deep water again, and he is getting into deeper water every day. His speech at Tuscumbia was a great disapointment to his friends and furnished considerable amusement to his enemies. People had been told all over the state that the Governor would open the campaign at Tuscumbia on the 2nd. day of this month. Everybody was expecting something great and everybody was disapointed. There was absolutely nothing in the speech except excuse for Gov. Johnston and an several apology for all he had ever said or done against the gold bug Democrats. Not a word was said about election frauds and not even a promise was made for better laws. Nothing was said to indicate a disposition to have an honest administration of the school department. It is no matter to Gov. Johnston that the vote of the white men are stolen and their children growing up in ignorance so long as he can fool the people and stay in office. Before this campaign is over Gov. Johnston will have a few plain facts put before him which may interest him.

One great trouble with the Populist party, and all other opposition to the Democracy in this state, has been the character of men who have led the opposition movement. It cannot be denied that both the Populist and Republican parties have been weak in leadership. Some one has said that the Populists represented a mighty" poor lot of apostles." Some of the leaders of the Populist party are men of capacity and integrity and have made great sacrifices for the cause of humanity. A few of these leaders started with the people at the beginning of this reform movement and are to-day battling against great odds in behalf of the people's rights. But there have been traitors and men who had no interest than their own selfish ends, and then there have been good honest men of intelligence, but without much education or experience. Without a sufficient number of men of good character and ability to lead the movement, the people have gone on in their own way fighting against great odds. This reform movement in Alabama has been the people's movement, and the people all along have been ahead of their leaders.

The action of the Republican state executive committee in endorsing the Populist State ticket has given great encouragement to all friends of good government in Alabama. At Populist headquarters chairman Crowe expresses great satisfaction at the action of the Republicans. Mr. Deans and Dr. Crowe have done some hard work in an effort to avoid conflict and complications with the Republicans. With the co-operation of other leading Populists they succeeded in persuading a majority of honest and patriotic Republicans that it would not only be a waste of time and money for the Republicans in this state to nominate a state ticket but that such action would be positively an injury to the cause of reform in which all honest Republicans are deeply interested.

But the worst along this line was not finished when the Republican convention adjourned. Leading Democrats who talk so much about white supremacy and do so much to give prominence in politics to the most dangerous class of negroes had their plans well arranged. They started in on their old line of work the very day that the Republican convention failed to put out a ticket. Bill Stephens, the old Democratic standby, was called into conference and the old scheme satisfactorily arranged. The first information which the public at large had of this arrangment was when Bill Stephens, A. J. Warner and their friends, met in Birmingham and put out a state ticket. The negroes who are leading this movement are well known in Alabama. They have made themselves disagreeable in politics for many years. It is an outrage upon the white people of this state and rank injustice to every hard-working colored man. But Democrats like Governor Johnston and some of his backers, who steal the votes of both whites and blacks are capable of just such dirty work. The better class of Republicans deserve great credit for repudiating the whole business.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Thus writes W. G. Hamnick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bo tles free at Clanton Drug Co. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

Political Pointers.

Peoples Party Press Bureau
St. Louis, Mo., June 29, 1898

All reform papers should now be on the alert to "Cry aloud and spare not" when the exigencies of war are daily proving the need of more "paternalism" in our government. Every day brings some new demonstration of this fact. Now is the time to nail these facts and reiterate to the verge of weariness.

It is generally admitted that one of the chief results of this war will be the building and control of the Nicaragua canal by the United States government. Only the most earnest efforts on the part of those who advocate such a step will suffice to thwart the designs of the usual swarm of money grabbers, who will advocate immense subsides and make the usual boogaboo of government ownership.

Senator Allen, of Nebraska, was conspicious among those who, on July 7th, made an effort to have congress recognize Commodore Schley for his magnificient conduct in the encounter with Cervera's fleet, rather than have all the glory go to Sampson.

When the refunding of the Pacific debt came up recently for discussion the ubiquitous Jerry Simpson was on hand, loaded with facts, figures and a speech, opposing such a measure.

Col. W. J. Bryan is reported as attending to the enlistment, drilling and equipment of his soldiers with the same vigor he always gives to the matter in hand.

Wharton Barker, of Philadelphia, would-be Presidential candidate of the Paople's party, and Bellweather of the bolters has been engaging in unchari a le remarks in regard to some of his most ardent supporters at Omaha. Mr. Barker is evidently angry at the tail for not having wagged the dog on that occasion.

Paul Vandervoort, of Texas, is announced as the gubernational candidate on the middle-of-the-road ticket in Nebraska. The bolters in that State find themselves unable to endorse the splendid administration of Governor Holcomb.

The great dailies of Chicago had to remain unpublished for several days last week owing to the strike of the stereotypers.

The trouble among the striking miners of Illinois has not only continued but has spread to s veral adjoining states.

The so called International Bimetalists are giving the lie every day to their pet theory that it would be both unwise and unsafe for our government to venture in a great undertaking alone. During the campaign of '96 we heard so much of the dangers attendant upon our adopting an independent money system that one could have hardly believed this same party that was then so fearful of results would so soon venture into conquest and annexation that must change the map of the world. This tears the last vestage of mask off of the gold-bug. Every honest man knows that this government needs no endorsement in European powers. It needs to do what is r ght.

The tremendous daily expense of the war with Spain so entirely over shadows the cost of maintaining congress in session that the newspapers are forgetting to rejoice over the approaching adjournment of that body.

The Populist convention was held at Nashville, July 6. The attendance was light, only fourteen counties being represented. R N. Richardson was named for governor. No other nominations were made.

CROP REPORT

The Weekly Crop Bulletin says there was a slight deficiency in temperature, due to cool nights but ample and well destributed rainfall made the week a generally favorable one for crop growth, while not being so wet as to retard cultivation. In some few localities, lands were washed by heavy rains, and, in all parts of Colbert county, crops were damaged considerably by hail. Cotton is growing vigorously, making good bush and fruiting well, and while some few unfavorable reports have been received, its condition is generally good; it is nearly all laid by; some vermin and rust are reported, but not enough to have any serious significance as yet.

A Shattered Nervous System.
PINALLY HEART TROUBLE.
Restored to Health by Dr. Miles' Nervine.

MR. EDWARD HARDY, the jolly manager of Sheppard Co's. great store at Braceville, Ill., writes: "I had never been sick a day in my life until in 1890. I got so bad with nervous prostration that I had to give up and commence to doctor. I tried our local physicians and one in Joliet, but none gave me any relief and I thought I was going to die. I became despondent and suffered untold agony. I could not eat, sleep nor rest, and it seemed as if I could not exist. At the end of six months I was reduced to but a shadow of myself, and at last my heart became affected and I was truly miserable. I took six or eight bottles of Dr. Miles' Nervine. It gave me relief from the start, and at last a cure, the greatest blessing of my life."

THE PURITAN MAID

Hangs her picture on the wall,
Where the sunbeams lightly fall;
O'er her seated at the wheel,
Softly, tenderly, they steal;
'Neath her cap so plain and white,
Shine her curls of golden light.

Face of rose leaf tinted hue,
Eyes like violets kissed by dew,
Gravely, shyly, gazing down,
Shaded by the lashes brown;
So they looked that fair spring day,
When one stole her heart away

Loyal the Stuart blood was he,
And of Roundhead lineage she,
Ere the years around her flew,
Shadows dimmed those eyes of blue;
Ere her baby girl could speak,
Death had claimed the mother meek.

Now she lies 'neath moss-decked stone,
All with lichen overgrown;
Still the letter you may see,
"Phyllis, Sixteen Fifty-three."
There the sunbeams gently play
Round the grave of Phyllis Grey.

His Pleasant Interlude.

A War-Time Tale

He rode up to the entrance of the house, and, stooping forward, rapped smartly at the door with the hilt of his sword. Then he settled himself in the saddle, whistled and looked around at the detail, blue-coated men of the Federal cavalry, sitting stolidly behind him.

He waited a few moments, and then dismounted, whistling still, his blue eyes smiling and dancing as though thirty miles over rough country, and coming on the heels of a harassing march, were but a mere bagatelle. Again he knocked, loudly, insistently. The corporal moved heavily in his hot saddle, and moistened his lips with his tongue.

In answer to the knocking the still brooding house suddenly became alive with stealthy footsteps and secretive sounds, cautious movements and discreet murmurings. The lieutenant settled his hat more jauntily and looked at his dusty boots and ragged uniform with a mournful air. Presently light footsteps came down the unseen stairs, and paused on the other side of the heavy door.

"Who is there?" The voice was so clear and sweet that the lieutenant forgot his boots and smiled again, and even the corporal paused in the act of flicking a fly from the neck of his horse.

A detail of the United States cavalry. We want rest and shelter." The lieutenant might have had hopes of something infinitely more pleasant than these common necessaries, for his voice was mellowed with a grateful deference.

"I am quite alone with my aunt," said the voice. "Shall we be safe in opening to you?"

"Madame," answered the lieutenant, swelling in his blue tunic, "we are soldiers but we are men."

The door was unbarred and thrown open. The lieutenant swept his cap from his head and bowed. He bowed with exaggerated homage, for the voice was possessed by a young girl every whit as sweet as its evidence.

"I will not say you are welcome," she said, "for you do not wear the uniform which opens our hearts." She spoke sadly, for the war had been terrible in its results for her and her friends. Everywhere the blue uniform was swarming over the Southern homesteads, into the Southern homes.

He shrugged his shoulders.

"One must wear one uniform or another," he answered. "I was born in the North. The matter is a mere accident. It may have been unfortunate for me."

"I think not," she replied, looking gravely at him, thinking of the sacrifices made and making.

"I am by no means sure," he smiled, thinking of other matters.

In another minute he went off, his cap thrust back, whistling a happy waltz refrain, to see to the housing of horses and men—horses coming first in his estimation, as befitted a cavalryman. Davis, the corporal, and the six other men of the detail swore harshly as they loosened girths in the disused stables, but the lieutenant went on whistling.

In the evening he sat with the girl and her aunt in the broad, cool dining room, smoking. He could have dispensed with the aunt, but, after all, she was silent, and knitted. Marjorie—he had discovered that her name was Marjorie, with a pleased sense of its appropriateness—was not silent and she did not knit. She sat by the low open window and talked.

He was very candid about his movements, boyish and flippant. The war had left him entirely without personal animosity against anyone.

"Why did you become a soldier?" Marjorie questioned, wonderingly, for her hatred of the Northerners was as the hatred of her kindred—very deep and very bitter.

"Oh, I don't know. Any fellow would in my position. I was a lawyer. I hated law. The war promised excitement and adventure. There you are."

"And you like it?" She looked at him narrowly. That this hateful war should be agreeable was a phase she had not yet studied.

"Yes. Why not? It gives movement. I love movement. It gives adventure. I adore adventure. It gives excitement. I worship excitement. No one can enjoy the perfection of living without the zest of an apparent chance of the other thing."

"Life and death, right and wrong, are mere matters of amusement to you?"

"Should they be anything else? I am quite willing to grant that I am fighting for a wrong cause. I have never studied the subject. I fight because I like it, and because I don't like the law."

The aunt, serious over her knitting, reproached him.

"You are bringing death and desolation on us."

He was apologetic at once.

"I'm awfully sorry. I never thought of it in that light. It has been a mere game with me—like marbles or—or billiards."

Marjorie looked at him again, but he was conscious that her attention was divided. It had been divided all the evening. There was anxiety in her eyes, even fear. He smiled to himself as he saw this, and blew fanciful clouds of smoke.

"I cannot be that. It has been the cause of my meeting with you—and with your aunt," he added, as an afterthought.

Both aunt and niece smiled, but their smiles were forced.

"You have a secret," he went on, suddenly looking out of the window. "Forgive me for speaking. I look so much of a fool that I am afraid you have not given me credit for discovering it. Some one is hiding here."

Aunt and niece started to their feet, with alarmed faces and protesting lips. He waved them courteously to their chairs.

"I have no wish to discover who he is. He may be your brother, Mistress Marjorie; he may be—again, forgive me—something nearer. I do not ask. I have no desire to know."

They sank back in their seats, staring at him with strained eyes.

"You will not——" the girl began, falteringly.

"Search for him? No, most assuredly not. I am quite happy here, smoking and—and seeing you. Another might disturb us. It is no duty of mine to be a spy. While I trespass on your hospitality I am quite deaf. I do not say that if I met him in the open, face to face, I should not attempt to kill him. I should. He would do the same to me. But now—this is a pleasant interlude."

She, the girl, looked at him with eloquent eyes.

"Sir," she said, "you are very good."

He smiled. "It will be well if I can hope that you will permit to us of the North some of the chivalry you claim for the South. I am a soldier; I am not a spy."

The aunt came forward. He saw with apprehension that her face was white with emotion, that she walked unsteadily, and that her eyes were misty.

"God bless you——" she began.

"My dear madam," he said lightly, "I am your guest. I am afraid my intrusion was a little brusque, and not altogether acceptable, but necessity gave me no choice. It is," he went on, with an easy change, "a very pleasant evening. For a week or so I think I might be very happy here, but it must be dull to pass the whole of one's life with only trees and fields and animals—a few human and many otherwise."

"That," said Marjorie, speaking for the sake of speaking, and with little thought, "is not complimentary."

His eyes darkened a little as he looked at her.

"Imagination might suggest a greater happiness, but knowledge, the knowledge of a few hours, demonstrates the futility of such a possibility."

She crimsoned quickly, shyly looking at him.

"You are gallant, sir," she smiled.

"Am I? It is rarely that the truth is gallant."

The aunt, rendered obtuse with the stress of her emotion, she broke in.

"Perhaps," said she, "some one waits and watches for you in the far North. If so, I pray that she may repay you for you kindness to us—to my niece and to me."

He smiled again, the setting sun caressing his hair into an answering gleam.

"Madam, I have met many in my life—a longer life, I think, than you imagine—but a week has wearied me of them all. I have never hoped for more than a week's brief pleasure, never even guessed its possibility, until today."

"That is sad," said the aunt.

"It has one great advantage. They may put me under the ground tomorrow, and there will be no heart left to ache."

"You talk lightly of death!" Marjodie shivered as she spoke.

"It's a soldier's chance, and when one plays a game of chance one should reckon the risks."

"And you have reckoned?"

"This little expedition, which has given me the great pleasure of your acquaintance and of your aunt's, should demonstrate that. I am far in an enemy's country. The general who accepted my offer did not underrate the peril. He parted with me with a longer handshake than usual. It was quite eloquent. We are twenty miles in advance of the column."

He started then, for a slight noise arrested his attention. The two women did not hear it, and he was silent.

When the night was dark a man stole from the back of the house. He wore a uniform, and if the night had not been so dark the uniform would have been seen to have been gray. But, after all, if the night had not been dark there was no one to see it.

In the morning, early, before the dews were dry, the lieutenant bade the two women a gay farewell; and rode down the road with his men. The road lay open to the dawn before the house, and there was no screening hedge.

He laughed as he rode and waved his cap gayly. The corporal looked on in grave disapproval. Such frivolities were not in keeping with the grimness of war. The carbines were slung and the swords rested in their scabbards.

Suddenly the windows of the house were alive with rifles. Six men looked over the muzzles at the detail. Looking back at the two women, the lieutenant caught sight of the tense faces glaring over the gleaming barrels.

"Forward, lads, for your lives," he shouted.

The sudden start of the horses, the abrupt ringing of his voice, discomfited their aim. The bullets flew wide. All but one. The man who had stolen from the house in the dark had covered the lieutenant, and he smiled as the figure in blue swayed in his saddle.

"Get on, Davis!" the lieutenant cried. "I'm done for! Get on; the general must have the report."

The corporal hesitated as his lieutenant dropped, but the report was of consequence, and it was no use dying beside his officer. So he rode on with the detail.

When the woman knelt by his side, and Marjorie raised his head, the lieutenant opened his eyes.

"Don't tell him that I knew he was there," he said. "It might be unpleasant for him." He struggled with the faintness that came upon him. "It was a pleasant interlude," he added weakly, "but it is over now."

If they had told the man in the gray uniform it would not have been news.

The Statue Apollo.

The celebrated statue Appollo stands in the Belvedere of the Vatican at Rome, and thence derives the names by which it is generally identified. It is in marble, but brief consideration of it shows that the original modeling was for bronze, the thin hanging garment from the left arm being suitable for metal, so easily capable of being worked into thin sheets, and not in the least for marble, which lends itself better to other uses. The hair, which is in separable locks, is another proof to the same end, though unneeded. The outstretched arm is usually supposed to hold a bow in the hand, while the open palm of the right hand indicates that an arrow has just been discharged, the eye seeming to follow it in its flight. But the attitude is clearly not that of a bowman who has thrown his whole strength and skill into his shot at the mark, but is rather that of one accustomed to admiration at an archery contest. The god is self-conscious. Instead, too, of showing the distinctly modeled muscles, which belong to the divinity which impersonates manly vigor and agility, his body and limbs have their strength refined away, until nothing but grace is left, not even truth.

The sister statue, known indifferently as the Diana of the Louvre or the Artemis of Versailles, is of the same period, and may be from the same hand. It also, was originally intended for bronze rather than marble. The attitude is the familiar one of reaching back to the quiver on the right shoulder for an arrow, the left hand resting on the head of a small deer. This last, being altogether disproportionate to the figure of the goddess, as well as merely conventional in its treatment, betrays a weakness, to be seen further in the turning back, unnecessarily of the drapery at the left knee.—San Francisco Examiner.

A Camp Cooking-Fire.

Let us suppose that the party is provided with the necessary utensils for camp cooking—a camp-kettle, coffee-pot, frying-pan, sauce-pan, and some kind of baking pan. These should prove sufficient, unless the party intends having quite elaborate menus. If it is intended to remain at the camp only while cooking one or two meals, make your fire in this manner: Cut two green poles about five or six inches thick and about two feet long. In these, cut notches about a foot apart. Level the ground where you intend to build your fire, and lay these poles down with the notches up, and about three feet apart. Now cut two or three poles about four feet long and lay them in these notches. Gather a good supply of dry wood, grass, bark, or chips, and make your fire on the ground between the poles. The air will circulate under and through the fire, and the poles will prove just right to set your cooking utensils on. Do not pile on wood by the armful. Add a little at a time, and you will find you can cook rapidly and well, and not burn your face and hands while attending to your cooking.

If it is intended to remain several meals at the camp it will pay you to put up a crane. This is built in this manner: Cut two green posts two or more inches thick and three feet long, having forks at one end. Drive these into the ground at each end of your fire. Cut another green pole the same diameter, and long enough to reach between the forks. Flatten the ends so that they will set snug in the forks.

The poles should be driven into the ground so that when the bail of the kettle is slipped on the crane the bottom of he kettle will just clear the fire.—Harpers' Round Table.

Towed Twenty Miles by His Fish.

Clifton R. Scudder, who went to Catalina Island a few weeks ago in company with Samuel Cupples, had a thrilling experience with a big tuna the other day. He started fishing at three o'clock in the morning. At seven o'clock the fish struck his hook, and for seven hours afterwards there was an almost even struggle for the mastery. The strike occurred near the little town of Avalon, California, and at two o'clock, when the fish was finally brought to gaff, the boat had been towed fully twenty miles. The big fellow weighed one hundred and thirty pounds. It was found to be hooked in the back, which explained the vigorous and protracted fight it made. The time required to land this tuna exceeded by two hours and one-half any former record.—St. Louis Globe-

A DAY OF THANKSGIVING.

President McKinley Issues a Proclamation to the American People.

PRAISE TO GOD FOR VICTORIES.

He Suggests That When the People Next Assemble For Worship They Pray For the Further Success of Our Arms—He Also Recommends That They Earnestly Pray For the Return of Peace.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—President McKinley issued the following proclamation to the American people:

"To the People of the United States of America:

"At this time, when to the yet fresh remembrance of the unprecedented success which attended the operations of the United States fleet in the Bay of Manila on the 1st day of May last, are added the tidings of the no less glorious achievements of the naval and military arms of our beloved country at Santiago de Cuba, it is fitting that we should pause, and, staying the feeling of exultation that too naturally attends great deeds wrought by our countrymen in our country's cause, should reverently bow before the throne of Divine Grace and give devout praise to God, who holdeth the nations in the hollow of His hands and worketh upon them the marvels of His high will and who has thus far vouchsafed to us the light of His face and led our brave soldiers and seamen to victory.

"I therefore ask the people of the United States upon next assembling for Divine worship in their respective places of meeting, to offer thanksgiving to Almighty God who, in His inscrutable ways, now leading our hosts upon the waters to unscathed triumph, now guiding them in a strange land through the dread shadows of death to success, even though at a fearful cost, now bearing them without accident or loss to far distant climes, has watched over our cause and brought nearer the success of the right and the attainment of just and honorable peace.

"With the Nation's thanks let there be mingled the Nation's prayers that our gallant sons may be shielded from harm alike on the battlefield and in the clash of fleets, and be spared the scourge of suffering and disease while they are striving to uphold their country's honor; and withal let the Nation's heart be stilled with holy awe at the thought of the noble men who have perished as heroes die, and be filled with compassionate sympathy for all those who suffer bereavement or endure sickness, wounds, and bonds by reason of the awful struggle.

"And, above all, let us pray with earnest fervor that He, the Dispenser of all good, may speedily remove from us the untold afflictions of war and bring to our dear land the blessings of restored peace and to all the domain now ravaged by the cruel strife the priceless boon of security and tranquility. WILLIAM MCKINLEY.

"Executive Mansion, Washington, July 6, 1898."

REINA MERCEDES SUNK.

Joined Cervera's Squadron at the Bottom of the Sea.

HEADQUARTERS OF GENERAL SHAFTER, Santiago (By Cable).—The destruction of the Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes accounts for the last ship of Admiral Cervera's once splendid squadron.

Her sinking was most dramatic. Just after midnight she was seen drifting slowly out of the narrow entrance by one of the American scouts. In a moment the fleet was ablaze with signals, and, almost instantly, an awful hail of shells was hammering down upon her.

The shore batteries opened, and one six-inch shell fell on the Indiana's forward deck, exploding below.

The explosion occurred in the men's sleeping rooms, but all were at quarters and none was hurt.

The Alfonso XII. Destroyed.

HAVANA (By Cable).—The Spanish cruiser Alfonso XII. was knocked to pieces a few miles east of Havana by the American blockading squadron. The cruiser sailed out of Havana harbor and had steamed eight miles eastward before she was discovered. The blockaders fired 500 shots at her, and soon set her on fire. Detachments of Spanish infantry and artillery hastened to the shore and saved her crew and part of her cargo. Two of the crew were wounded. The cruiser is a total loss.

Criticises Our Cuban Allies.

General Young has reported to Washington that our Cuban allies have refused to work in the hospitals or in the intrenchments on the ground that they are soldiers, not laborers. Their rations have been stopped pending orders from Washington, as the United States officers at the front were greatly exasperated with them, especially as General Garcia failed to prevent Pando from reinforcing Santiago.

Camara's Fleet to Return to Spain.

Admiral Camara's fleet is said to have been ordered back to Spain. It arrived at Suez minus the Pelayo, which was forced to stop for repairs at Ismailia, half way through the Suez Canal. Camara was notified by the Egyptian Government that his squadron must leave Suez within twenty-four hours, and that he would not be allowed to coal there.

St. Paul Sails With Reinforcements.

The auxiliary cruiser St. Paul sailed for Santiago from New York City with a big cargo and many passengers on board. Among the passengers were Generals Ames and Henry and their staffs, and the officers and men of the Eighth Ohio Regiment 1200 strong.

We Bury 250 Spaniards at Caney.

At Caney, Cuba, our forces found 250 dead Spaniards and buried them in the trenches dug by the Spaniards as graves for us. Our ambulances also carried the Spanish wounded inside the Spanish lines during the truce.

UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA

Closed a Very Successful Year's Work—Changes in the Faculty.

The University of Alabama closed a successful year on the 22d of June. In all departments there were 281 matriculates, after counting off duplicates.

Three new, strong young men will occupy seats in the faculty next session. Dr. Herbert Armistead Sayre, elected to the chair of Physics and Astronomy, was born and reared in Montgomery. Some ten years ago he was graduated from the University with a brilliant record, especially in Mathematics. Three years at the Johns Hopkins gave him the degree of Ph. D. Physics and Astronomy were the leading subjects at the Hopkins. Since 1894, Dr. Sayre has been Professor of Physics and Astronomy in Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa. On his record and merits, without any influence from relatives or friends, Dr. Sayre was elected Professor of Physics and Astronomy by the trustees.

Dr. George G. Bonnell, of Syracuse, N. Y., was similarly chosen as Instructor in Roman Languages. (French, Spanish and Italian). Spanish is likely to be the popular part of Dr. Bonnell's department. Dr. B. took his A. B. and A. M. at Syracuse University, devoting most of his attention in the latter course to Roman languages. He next spent a year in Spain and one in Italy in diligent study. Returning to this country he entered Johns Hopkins, and after three years' work in the same line took the degree of Ph. D. Speaking fluently Spanish, French and Italian, Dr. Bonnell can but be an acquisition to the university faculty. For many reasons Spanish is likely to be very popular, both as an elective and as a "special" subject.

Prof. A. A. Persons, elected professor of chemistry, is another Alabamian, a B. S. and M. S. of the Polytechnic at Auburn. Like Dr. Sayre, he was reared in Montgomery. For six years Prof. Persons has filled with ability the chair of chemistry in the Agricultural College at Lake City, Fla.

An Excellent Year's Work.

The University of Alabama did an excellent year's work in 1897-98. The enrollment (academic) was between 40 and 50 per cent above that of the preceding session. So was the average daily attendance. So also was the attendance at the close of the session. The finances make as good a showing. Notwithstanding sweeping reductions in the charges against cadets, amounting to $42.50 for barracks boys (from $172.50 to $130), they were cared for as well as at any previous time. This reduction left several thousand dollars in the hands of patrons of last year. At no institution in the south can there be found such facilities for instruction, and such a faculty at so small a cost. $130.50 for the session for board, lodging, fuel, lights, surgeon and laundry. Its halls will be filled as soon as these things are known.

STATE NORMAL COLLEGE.

Valuable Information as Presented in Announcements of this Institute.

The college has two plans of instruction: "Attendance," that best suited to young people lacking both scholarship and professional training and experience; "Extension," or in absentia, largely, adapted to those who have age, experience and more or less scholarship. Tuition is $5.00 per term and incidentals saire—ten weeks a term. Alabama students taking the obligation to teach pay no tuition, but incidentals merely. A nomination may be made by each senator and representative of the Alabama legislature, outside of the county in which the college is situated and outside of each county having a state educational institution for whites, to a scholarship granting special advantages, and said nomination approved by the county superintendent of education of the proper county, may be appointed by the state superintendent of education for two years, if he approves, preference being given to such candidates as appear to have the greatest worth and qualification for teachers, as indicated by the county superintendent's testimonial.

Board can be had at $8 to $10 per month, or students can rent furnished or unfurnished rooms and board themselves much less per month.

Good literary society and young people's Christian association advantages are offered. The president has many scores of calls for trained teachers annually and graduates of the college easily find situations. Young men capable to act as superintendents and principals of schools, and young ladies who can teach art or music and scholastics, too, are in great demand, by school officers asking for teachers. Scores of our students are thus located annually. Address E. R. Eldridge, President, Troy, Ala.

Reported Threat From Sampson.

It is rumored at Madrid that the Spanish government has received a dispatch from Captain-General Blanco announcing that Rear Admiral Sampson has sent a telegraphic dispatch summoning the Spanish commander to order the evacuation of Cuba within forty-eight hours and announcing that otherwise the Americans will bombard all the forts in Cuba.

The Terror Tackled.

semblance of order, started the entrenchments, knocked the guys and other camp paraphernalia their eagerness to see the returning heros and send up cheer after cheer for the men who had passed safely through the jaws of death to serve their country.

Hobson, who reached Juragua in advance of his companions, was taken on board the New York immediately. As Hobson clambered up the side and stepped on board his voice could be heard above the rang with the shouts and cheers of his comrades. He had little to say in regard to his experiences, except that he and his companions had been kindly treated by the Spaniards and that they were all in excellent health.

The Spanish authorities consented to exchange Hobson and his men and a truce was established for that purpose. The place selected for the exchange was under a tree between the American and Spanish outposts, about one-thirds of a mile between the encampments occupied by Colonel Wood's Rough Riders, near Siboney, as the headquarters, and in the center of the American line. The American officers met the Rough Riders Colonel at the hospital, on the outskirts of Siboney, where they had been taken in charge of Major Iglesias, a Spanish officer, who speaks English perfectly.

The prisoners were escorted to the meeting place on foot, four abreast and blindfolded. Colonel John Jacob Astor and Lieutenant Miley were joined by Interpreter Mestre, who had charge of the Spanish party. These consisted of Lieutenant Marcho Novo and Ancelo, a sergeant belonging to the Twenty-ninth Regiment, who were captured at El Caney on Friday last, and Lieutenant Arias and fourteen mounted officers and private.

The Spanish prisoners were escorted through the American lines and blindfolded.

The meeting between the Spanish officers and Major Iglesias was very courteous, but very formal. No attempt was made by either party to discuss anything but the exchange. Major Iglesias was given his choice of the Spanish officers for exchange for Hobson, and informed that he could have fourteen men instead of the fifteen American sailors. The Spaniards selected Lieutenant Arias and the other Spanish officers were sent back to Juragua.

It was then not later than 9 o'clock, and just as everything was arranged and the two parties were about to start Major Iglesias turned and said, seriously enough, but in such a way as to indicate considerable doubt in the minds of his hearers, the impression that he entertained hostilities to be resumed at once. "Our understanding is, gentlemen, that this truce comes to an end at 12 o'clock." Colonel Astor looked at his watch, bowed to the Spaniards without making a reply, and walked back slowly to the American lines with Hobson and his men following.

LIEUT. HOBSON RELEASED

The [illegible] Exchanged for Spanish Prisoners.

WERE GREETED WITH WILD ENTHUSIASM

One Lieutenant and Fourteen Noncommissioned Officers and Privates Given Over to the American Colonel Aster Concluded Negotiations.

ON BOARD THE Assistant Naval Constructor Richard P. Hobson, on the flagship New York, and the other officers who, with him, sailed the collier Merrimac into the channel of the harbor of Santiago de Cuba on June 3, and were captured by the Spanish military authorities there, were released from captivity by the Spanish authorities Wednesday in exchange for Spanish officers captured by the Americans.

Hobson and his men were escorted off the Spanish lines by Colonel Derby, chief of staff of the New York, and Lieutenant Miley, aide-de-camp. Every step of the journey was marked by the wildest enthusiasm on the part of the American soldiers, who threw aside all

Hobson, who reached Juragua in advance of his companions, was taken on board the New York immediately. As Hobson clambered up the side and stepped on board his vessel the harbor rang with the shouts and cheers of his comrades. He had little to say in regard to his experiences, except that he and his companions had been well treated by the Spaniards and that they were all in excellent health.

The Spanish authorities consented to accept Hobson and his men, and a truce was established for that purpose. The place elected for the exchange was under a tree between the American and Spanish lines, two miles outside the entrenchments occupied by Colonel Wood's regiment, near General Wheeler's headquarters, and in the center of the American position. The American prisoners had been confined in Morro Castle, a Spanish stronghold on the heights overlooking the harbor entrance. They were conducted to the place of exchange on foot, but were met by Colonel John Jacob Astor and Lieutenant Miley, accompanied by Interpreter Maestro, were handed over to the Spanish prisoners. The Spanish prisoners consisted of Lieutenants Antonio Sanchez and Narciso, a German, both of the Twenty-ninth Infantry, stationed at El Caney, and Lieutenant Alonzo Mas, and fourteen non-commissioned officers and privates.

The Spanish prisoners were taken on board the American lines mounted on mules.

It was then not later than 4 o'clock, and just as everything was finished and the two parties were separating Major Miles turned and said, courteously enough, but in a tone which indicated considerable defiance, and gave his hearers the impression that he expected hostilities to be renewed at once: "Our understanding is, gentlemen, that this truce comes to an end at 6 o'clock." Colonel Aster looked at his watch, bowed to the Spanish officers without making a reply, and started back slowly to the American lines with Hobson and his companions following.

INTERNAL TROUBLES FEARED.

Spain's Republican Organizations Issue Circulars Bearing the Motto, "Prepare."

A special dispatch from Madrid says: "All Spain knows of her defeat, and the people are beginning to realize the magnitude of the disaster. The conservative press exhorts all good citizens to maintain peace.

"An important circular has been sent to all the republican organizations, signed by the leaders and bearing the motto, 'Prepare.' In the meanwhile extraordinary military precautions have been taken to quell any internal troubles.

"General Correa, the minister of war, and his secretaries are working day and night. A second call has been issued for the Canary Island reserves, and additional forces of home infantry and cavalry are being raised.

"The peninsula armies will total up 220,000 men by July 15. The railroads are preparing war trains on all lines, and carriages are in readiness at all the garrison stages. High authority, however, expresses the opinion that the rank and file of the soldiery are inclined to condemn the war, and feel they are being driven to bloodshed for unjust causes by scheming politicians, and he therefore doubts the army's attitude in the event of civil troubles.

"It is believed the government is anxious to find a pretext to arrest General Weyler, fearing the part he might play in the event of trouble breaking out."

TORAL OFFERED TO SURRENDER

Conditions Attached to the Offer Caused Prompt Refusal.

A special from Juragua Saturday says: "Under a flag of truce the surrender of Santiago was formally offered by the Spanish commander, General Toral, today, but the conditions attached caused a prompt refusal of the offer by General Shafter. The negotiations, however, resulted in the extension of the armistice until noon Sunday, and white flags of truce still float over the opposing armies. General Toral's proposal contemplated the immediate surrender of the city, but he insisted that his army be permitted to march away under arms and with flying colors and declared that he would fight to the last ditch unless the conditions were accepted.

General Shafter replied that nothing but unconditional surrender would be considered by him, but he consented to cable the Spanish offer to Washington, in the meantime extending the armistice.

COLON MAY BE SAVED.

The Vizcaya and Almirante Oquendo Are Worthless Wrecks.

OFF SANTIAGO.—The United States auxiliary cruiser Harvard has sailed for Portsmouth, N. H., with the remainder of the prisoners, the total number being 1,750. The board of officers is inspecting the Cristobal Colon, and it is hoped she may be saved. Naval Constructor Hobson is on board the Spanish cruiser and is about to value the Infanta Maria Teresa. The Vizcaya and Almirante Oquendo are worthless wrecks.

Admiral Cervera, before leaving the harbor of Santiago de Cuba on Sunday morning, signaled the following message to his fleet: "The admiral to his dear children: He hopes that God will give us a prompt victory."

SHAFTER MAY BE RELIEVED.

General Miles Will Go to Santiago and Assume Command of the Army.

WASHINGTON.—The administration has finally given its consent for General Miles to go south and assume command. A council of war held Thursday resulted in the determination to organize this expedition at once and waste no time in taking possession of Porto Rico. General Miles will proceed first to Santiago, and if Shafter still remains ill he will finish up there. The administration has finally become convinced that General Shafter is incompetent for a command of the size now under him and incapable, due largely to his weight, to successfully take charge of such an attack as is necessary to reduce Santiago.

The Iowa Can't Go.

On account of injuries sustained in the recent naval battle the Iowa will probably not be a part of Commodore Watson's squadron.

Rich Prize Money.

For every man on the Spanish warships at the time of the attack, our sailors receive $100 bounty, in accordance with Section 4635, of the Revised Statutes of the United States. If there were 1,700 men on Cervera's ships, which presented a force inferior to the Americans, the bounty will be somewhat more than $170,000, which is divided in the same manner as prize money.

A Startled Mother.

From the Freeport (Ill.) Bulletin.

While busy at work in her home, Mrs. William Shay, corner of Taylor and Hancock Avenues, Freeport, Ill., was startled by hearing a noise just behind her.

Mrs. Shay Was Startled.

Turning quickly she saw creeping toward her her four-year-old daughter, Beatrice. The child moved over the floor with an effort, but it seemed filled with joy at finding her mother. The rest of the happening is best told in the mother's own words. She said:

"On the 28th of Sept., 1896, while in the bloom of health, Beatrice was suddenly and severely afflicted with spinal meningitis. Strong and vigorous before, in five weeks she became feeble and suffered from a paralytic stroke which twisted her head back to the side and made it impossible for her to move a limb. Her speech, however, was not affected. We called in our family doctor, one of the most experienced and successful practitioners in the city. He considered the case a very grave one. Before long little Beatrice was compelled to wear a plaster paris jacket. Prominent physicians were consulted, electric batteries were applied, but no benefit was noticed until we tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"Busy in my kitchen one afternoon I was startled by cheers of 'Mamma' from little Beatrice who was creeping towards me. I had placed her on an improvised bed in the parlor comfortably close to the fireside and given her some books and playthings. She became tired of waiting for me to come back and made up her mind to go to me, so her story, 'My Pink Pills made me walk,' which she tells everyone who comes to our house, was then for the first time verified. She has walked ever since. She has now taken about nine boxes of the pills and her pale and pinched face has been growing rosy, and her limbs gained strength day by day. She sleeps all night long now, while before taking the pills she could rest but a few hours at a time." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are sold by all druggists.

UNCLE SAM'S DOMAIN.

With All His Extravagance He Still Owns Over 600,000,000 Acres.

The idea that Uncle Sam is at present a landless old fellow has generally taken possession of the people throughout the country. This, however, is a great mistake. He still has land enough to give each one of his 73,000,000 children a nice little homestead of eight acres each and still have a ranch of over 16,000,000 acres left. In other words: your dear old uncle still owns something over 600,000,000 acres, distributed as follows throughout the various States and Territories:

Alabama, 522,339 acres; Arizona, 54,400,211 acres; Arkansas, 3,922,042 acres; California, 45,841,044 acres; Colorado, 4,037,204 acres; Florida, 1,797,662 acres; Idaho, 45,962,855 acres; Kansas, 1,046,589 acres; Louisiana, 845,020 acres; Michigan, 522,431 acres; Minnesota, 6,240,049 acres; Mississippi, 41,441,220 acres; Missouri, 497,764 acres; Montana, 71,432,917 acres; Nebraska, 10,669,253 acres; Nevada, 61,578,586 acres; New Mexico, 56,983,047 acres; North Dakota, 21,385,293 acres; Oklahoma, 8,105,238 acres; Oregon, 35,802,318 acres; South Dakota, 13,250,718 acres; Utah, 44,207,270 acres; Washington, 17,958,336 acres; Wisconsin, 454,107 acres; Wyoming, 49,341,588 acres, and Alaska, 369,529,600 acres.

About one-half this vast amount of land lies, it will be seen, in Alaska, and it is very certain that this will never be available for homestead purposes, but for mining purposes its value in gold coin may prove to be even greater than though it were arable. The larger part of the balance lies in fertile and productive States, and is all subject to homestead laws.

Those who want homes should avail themselves of the more than liberal homestead laws of the United States. This is the place for the surplus labor.—St. Louis Star.

"Yours Truly."

The habits of people in signing letters are receiving some attention, and interesting conclusions are drawn from a study of the different ways writers subscribe themselves. The curt "Yours" and "Yours truly" are found not only in business letters, but in personal notes as well, for there are plenty of correspondents who don't believe in gush, and who think that "Yours truly" or "sincerely" means about all they wish to convey. Opposed to these sensible and essentially practical persons is that class of writers made up usually of young and enthusiastic individuals, as a rule of the gentle sex, who throw words about as carelessly on paper as they do in conversation. The use of the word love by such people is a distressing sign of emotional weakness, or carelessness, or of insincerity, and possibly arises from the same impulse that prompts women to kiss each other indiscriminately. One Boston girl, who is quoted by the Journal, has taken her own stand in the matter, and at the risk of being considered "cold" and "thoroughly Boston" she sticks to it. In her childhood she was taught to sign "affectionately yours" to her faraway, greataunts and second cousins, some of whom she had never seen, but all of whom she tried to like, because of the claims of kindred, and the word "affectionately" came to mean to her nothing at all except polite and necessary fiction. So she signs "affectionately" to people she is supposed to be conventionally fond of, and when she says anything more she means it. She thoroughly approves of "Cordially yours," and this, by the way, is seen more and more frequently now in notes between acquaintances who are on distinctly friendly or cordial terms. After all, "Your friend," when it can be used truthfully, is a simple and satisfactory way of ending friendly letters. Some people have the habit of not prefacing their names with any set form of words at the end of letters. They stop when they get through, and write their signatures without any frills.

A phonograph is being made for use at the Paris exposition of 1900 which is expected to be of sufficient dimensions to be heard by 10,000 persons.

COULD NOT SLEEP.

Mrs. Pinkham Relieved Her of All Her Troubles.

Mrs. MADGE BABCOCK, 176 Second St., Grand Rapids, Mich., had ovarian trouble with its attendant aches and pains, now she is well. Here are her own words:

"Your Vegetable Compound has made me feel like a new person. Before I began taking it I was all run down, felt tired and sleepy most of the time, had pains in my back and side, and such terrible headaches all the time, and could not sleep well nights. I also had ovarian trouble. Through the advice of a friend I began the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and since taking it all troubles have gone. My monthly sickness used to be so painful, but have not had the slightest pain since taking your medicine. I cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too much. My husband and friends see such a change in me. I look so much better and have some color in my face."

PROTECTION OR FUN.

Shoots Ammonia, Water, Cologne and Other Liquid.

It is a weapon which protects boy-lists against vicious dogs and foot-pads; travelers against robbers and toughs; horses against thieves and tramps, and is usefull to many other situations.

It does not kill or injure; it is perfectly safe to handle; makes no noise or smoke; breaks no law and creates no lasting regrets, as does the bullet pistol. It simply and amply protects, by compelling the foe to give undivided attention to himself for awhile instead of to the intended victim.

It is the only real weapon which protects and also makes fun, laughter and lots of it. It shoots, not once, but many times without reloading; and will protect by its appearance in time of danger, although loaded only with liquid. It does not get out of order; is durable, handsome, and always ready.

Sent boxed and post paid by mail with full directions how to use for 50c. in 2c. Postage Stamps, Post-office Money Order, or Express Money Order.

As to our reliability, refer to R. G. Dun's or Bradstreet's mercantile agencies.

WINE OF CARDUI

FOR ALL WOMEN

NINE-TENTHS of all the pain and sickness from which women suffer is caused by weakness or derangement in the organs of menstruation. Nearly always when a woman is not well these organs are affected. But when they are strong and healthy a woman is very seldom sick.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

Is nature's provision for the regulation of the menstrual function. It cures all "female troubles." It is equally effective for the girl in her teens, the young wife with domestic and maternal cares, and the woman approaching the period known as the "Change of Life." They all need it. They are all benefitted by it.

For advice in cases requiring special directions, address, giving symptoms, the "Ladies' Advisory Department," The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

THOS. J. COOPER, Tupelo, Miss., says: "My sister suffered from very irregular and painful menstruation and doctors could not relieve her. Wine of Cardui entirely cured her and also helped my mother through the Change of Life."

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR

is the greatest Labor Organization the world has ever seen.

It is the only organization which, while striving to secure for wage-workers the best possible terms as to wages, hours and conditions, aims at reforming the causes of industrial injustice.

It secures to each trade and locality absolute control over its own trade or local affairs, yet its perfect organization enables its members to act unitedly, promptly, and, therefore, effectively when concentrated action becomes necessary to remedy injustice or to resist oppression.

It is pledged to work for the overthrow of the capitalistic system of production and exchange, yet, realizing that reforms can only be beneficial and permanent when they rest upon the convictions of a wisely educated people, it seeks to accomplish its objects only by appeals to reason and conscience—never by force.

It is a secret organization only so far as secrecy is necessary to protect its members from wrong and persecution, and can never be used to shield wrong-doing.

Its doors are open to all who labor honestly and usefully either by hand or brain, without question or discrimination on account of creed, race or nationality.

THE AMERICAN MONTHL REVIEW OF REVIEWS

It is impossible to promise particular features that will appear in "AMERICAN MONTHLY" during the coming year, for it is, as Bookman says, "a great monthly newspaper." As such, it prints its readers an illustrated account of the notable things which make the history of the month, of the political, economic, and literary happenings which are of value to intelligent men and women. The Editor's "Progress of the World" is succinctly an illustrated story of the month. The "Leading Articles" give the best thought and information of the current magazines in five continents; the contributed articles furnish the character sketches of the man of the month, and give timely discussions by authorities on any question of international serious import.

"We know of no review published in this country or in Europe which combines so successfully as the AMERICAN MONTHLY the alertness, timeliness, and energy of journalism with the sound judgment, carefully weighed opinion, exact knowledge, and well-chosen English of the purely literary periodical."—The Outlook.

The result of this comprehensive effort to edit in one monthly volume information needed by intelligent people of "live" instincts is best gauged by the opinions which the readers of the AMERICAN MONTHLY have seen fit to express. These are thinking business men, clergymen, editors, lawyers, professors, engineers, the wide-awake women of America. They write that the AMERICAN MONTHLY "is indispensable"; "is simply invaluable"; "is a generous library in itself"; "a historical cyclopedia of the world"; "the best means of aid for a busy man"; "the best periodical of the kind we have ever had"; "a triumph of editorial genius"; "the world under a field-glass," etc., etc.

Jemison, July 18, 1898

Editor BANNER. Please give space in the Banner to say to all my friends, and the people in general that since canvassing a good portion of the county, I am fully convinced of my mistake in offering for the Legislature and hereby withdraw from the race in the interest of the full Populist ticket, and shall give it my warmest support, advising all to do likewise considering the fact the hope of the people is to stand together against a common foe.

Persons troubled with diarrhoea will be interested in the experience of Mr. Wm. Bush, clerk of Hotel Dorrance, Providence, R.I. He says: "For several years I have been almost a constant sufferer from diarrhoea, the frequent attacks completely prostrating me and rendering me unfit for my duties at this hotel. About two years ago a traveling sales man kindly gave me a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy; much to my surprise and delight its effects were immediate. Whenever I felt symptoms of the disease I would fortify myself against the attack with a few doses of this valuable remedy. The result has been very satisfactory and almost complete relief from the affliction. For sale by J. S. Johnson, jr.

Clanton, July 18, '98

Editor BANNER.' I wish to say a few words to the Populists concerning the coming election. I have talked with several Democrats, some of them talk fair while others say they are for the man to beat Adams. So you can see at once such Democrats as that purposes taking our own knives to cut our throats with if they can, so I hope the Populists will take the fold from over their eyes that they may see clear how some people are tying to do us to get us divided up so they can beat our ticket. I have heard some of the Democrats say they had nothing again Adams only they differ with him in politics. Yet they say they are going to vote for Honeycutt. Well how does this sound? Think of it please and see how that fits. This is one election that will tell what a man's politics is, and they will be remembered for years. I heard one Democrat say that if there were three drops of Populist blood in a man he would vote for Adams. I think if there is one he will vote the ticket from head to foot, for there is some of the greatest pulls made to defeat us I ever saw. I hope the Populists will consider this matter and rally to the polls and help to roll up a more handsome majority than we have been doing in the past. So come up, run up, fall up, roll up, tumble up, any way so you get up and vote the Populist ticket as you have been doing. Success to the Populist Party and the Banner.

Respectfully
M. A. KILGORE.

West Chilton, July 18, 1898

Editor BANNER. Well, as some friend at Lily wanted to hear from Old Mike, will say I am well and on the go yet and as cool as a cucumber on politics.

There will be a barbecue at Bluff Springs, two miles west of Plantersville, on the 23, everybody is invited.

We need a dog law and a better road law in Chilton and we need the Dallas county road law bad enough. Our roads are in a bad fix in some portions of the county and the base ball clubs should be taxed and taxed heavy too.

Capt. M. A. Barnes, formerly of West Chilton, died the 11 of June at Palmetto, Florida, with fever.

P. W. and C. G. Barnes are both at home now from there to stay; they say they have got enough of Florida.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT AT THE FRONT.

Miami, Fla., July 12, 1898

Editor BANNER.—Miami, Fla., is a beautiful town in some respects and this beauty lies in the things we are unaccustomed to see. Biscayne bay, with its blueish-green waters and many boats; its shores covered with a a strange tropical foliage, which includes cocoanuts, palms, lemons, limes, oranges, bananas, mangroves, pineapples and other varieties without numbers, and all wild; the stately hotel and other buildings, and also the white walled city that shelters so many of our soldier boys. The city, although only two years old, has paved streets, waterworks, sewerage, and all the attributes of a large city. The streets are made of the underlying white coral rock, and at noon they are so dazzlingly brilliant it hurts the eyes to look at them. The water has been quite a source of complaint, as it is very heavily impregnated with lime. We manage to drink it somehow, but it isn't half as good as the cool sweet well water at home.

The Second Regiment is rapidly settling down to work, and the drills for the last week have been skirmish and outpost drills, teaching the regiment how to conduct itself in battle, either in attack or defense, and how the marching should be conducted. This drill is not the easiest thing in the world, as they send us out among the palmetto scrub and coral rock. Every time we halt we have to lie down, or get behind a tree or stump or some other cover and begin firing at the supposed enemy. This is the same manouvering we will have in actual battle, only we will have real cartridges and shoot to kill. When we have battallion drill we feel better; it is nothing but plain walking, so to speak, but three hours of it. We really enjoy it!

I had the opportunity of seeing the "Argonauta," a Spanish vessel that was captured while trying to run the blockade at Havana. She is a fine looking vessel and will be used as a transport. We saw some Spanish hardtack, a cake six inches in diameter and a half inch thick, and as hard as a board; some peas which were a little longer than our cowpea but a great deal harder, and some Spanish prisoners. These looked like ordinary white men, but scared to death.

Our regiment was inspected by Brig. Gen. Gordon last week, both in the field and in camp and was highly complimented by him. He said we were a very soldierly looking body of men and were quickly becoming proficient in the arts of war.

The Fourth of July was celebrated very generally by the soldiers here, and at night, after the news from antiago, the town was lighted up with fireworks, etc., until "taps" began to sound in the many camps around the city.

Last Sunday a great disturbance occurred here. By some misunderstanding a fight was started among some negroes and soldiers, and in a few minutes the camp was in an uproar. It was only by the utmost diligence that a riot was prevented. The companies were called together and held in line, while the most awful rumors were being circulated even to the effect that a half dozen soldiers were dead. At last, however, we found that no one was dead and done injured.

The flags presented to this regiment by the ladies of Mobile were formally presented last Monday with appropriate ceremonies one feature being the recent "thanksgiving" proclamation by the President.

I hear it is reported that Charlie Willis, of Clanton, is dead. I saw him yesterday on the skirmish line charging the (imaginary) enemy. He was the livest looking corpse I have seen in a long time.

If any of Chilton's fair daughters would like a soldier correspondent just address a letter, care of The Banner, to A PRIVATE.

A CALL BY CHAIRMAN CROWE

Headquarters State Executive Committee, Birmingham, Ala.

My dear Sir—From the reports I have received from all over the state, I feel sure that we will win this fight and by a large majority—the largest we have ever had. Our enemies are very much divided, and we are better organized than we have ever been before.

The Democratic leaders who are in charge of this campaign, especially Chas. M. Shelley, Frank L. Pettus, Ed M. Booker, Wilson R. Brown, and the great I am, Joseph F. Johnston, are all from the black belt, and they are placed in charge of this fight because of their recognized ability as boss ballot box manipulators! Now, in view of this fact and in view of the fact that I have a plan on foot to secure a fair election that I cannot make public at present, I want every Sheriff, Circuit Clerk, Probate Judge, and the chairman of each county executive committee, or chosen representatives, who are true and tried Populists, and our State Executive committee, to meet me here at noon on Monday, the 25th day of July, at the opera house.

This means much to each of you and to all, and I hope you will not fail to come, as this is the most important meeting since Alabama seceded from the Union, or since Houston was elected.

G. B. CROWE, Chairman.

Public Statement From A Public Man

Hon. W. H. Ohley, Ex-Secretary of State of West Virginia, writes an open letter.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Mar. 9, 1898.

To whom it may concern:

"I most heartily recommend Pe-ru-na as of great benefit in cases of catarrh. It is especially beneficial wherever the mucous membranes are affected. As a tonic it certainly has no superior."

W. H. OHLEY, Ex-Secretary of State.

HON. W. H. OHLEY.

Pe-ru-na has cured thousands of obstinate cases of catarrh, and is perhaps the only efficient remedy in existence for catarrhal diseases; but there are countless multitudes of people who are still struggling with catarrh and need help. To such as these the unqualified recommendation of Pe-ru-na by Ex-Secretary Ohley is directed. Pe-ru-na is scientific and purely vegetable. All druggists sell it.

It is lots better and much more dignified to hang a flag than an effigy.

With adequate military forces and a large navy this country is likely to hear less European hilarity when the Monroe doctrine is mentioned.

Posterity will know England's famous Premier simply as Mr. Gladstone— the Great Commoner—who, without courtly rank or military title, controlled the destinies of one of the greatest nations on earth for over two generations.

The young men who go heroically forward to a service where death faces them, where danger is sure, and where hardships are inevitable, rightfully command admiration. They help to fan the spark of patriotism in any community into a flame.

Of the 18,000,000 people in Spain, about 12,000,000 cannot read or write, 8,700,000 have "no visible means of support," and more than 91,000 are professional beggars. That is not a good showing, and it gives color to Lord Salisbury's trenchant remark about "dying nations."

The last consular report from the United States representative at Corunna, Spain, says that "the use of bicycles in Spain is not increasing; there is no demand for wheels, and bicycling is considered merely a pastime for the rich." That settles it: such a nation is hopeless, exclaims the the Chicago Times-Herald.

A queer exhibition has been opened in Berlin, that of the Vegetarian society, in which sixty children were shown who have never touched other nutriment than vegetarian. There was a speaker there to complete the demonstration that vegetarian diet is the only one suitable for children from the physical, intellectual and moral points of view.

The passage of the Sixth Massachusetts regiment through Baltimore in 1861 is historic. The hostility shown toward it was unbounded. When the Sixth Massachusetts regiment went through the same city recently, it was received with unmeasured hospitality. The city was gayly dressed, and the streets were lined with people anxious to make their welcome as warm as the hostility was thirty-seven years ago. The men were pelted with roses instead of paving stones, with sweet words of fraternity instead of rifle-shots. Not from the citizens of their own state did the volunteers receive so great an ovation. This typifies the new epoch, exclaims the New York Independent. The old war is forever closed, the North and South are one; Baltimore and Boston are not apart in feeling and sympathy. Our glorious country is thoroughly united. The new war is a demonstration of that great fact.

The preparations for war have disclosed something that should make every bicyclist reflect. It is reported from Washington that a large majority of the militia volunteers rejected because of physical unfitness are wheelmen who have used very low handle bars habitually. It is said that their double-up posture in the saddle has produced abnormal conditions of the heart and spine which disqualify them for the life of soldiers. While the reported discovery of the examining surgeons conflicts somewhat with the statements of physicians who have investigated the bodily soundness of professional racing wheelmen, it is by no means a surprise. How can a rider assume the humped, dromedary-like position of the scorcher without dangerously affecting his back and cramping the organs of his chest? Perhaps the explanation of the healthiness of racing wheelmen lies in the fact that, in most cases, they were exceptionally well qualified for the race track before they entered upon a professional career. The police authorities of Washington have endeavored lately to reform monkey-backed wheelmen by making it unlawful for them to ride with their handle bars more than four inches below the centre of the saddle. This ordinance is based on the fact that the scorching attitude is not only unbecoming, but also prevents the rider from seeing objects ahead of him

PORTO RICO INVASION NEXT

The President Proposes to "Strike While the Iron is Hot."

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE AT WHITE HOUSE

Arrangements for the Porto Rico Expedition Being Planned—Gen. Miles Will Command the Forces Against San Juan—Watson's Expedition.

WASHINGTON.—(Special.)—An important conference was held at the white house Sunday night, the participants being besides President McKinley, Secretary Long, Admiral Sicard and Captain Mahan, of the war board. Adjutant General Corbin was present during a part of the deliberations.

The happy conclusion of the campaign against Santiago affords the president and his advisers intense satisfaction, but no disposition is manifested to let the war rest for a moment. Even before the details of the Santiago campaign have been cleared away, the expedition against Porto Rico absorbs the attention of the president. He fully realizes that war can be prosecuted to a speedy and successful issue only by pressing the advantages already gained; and as one of the officials put it: "The president proposes to strike while the iron is hot."

Arrangements for the Porto Rico expedition were under discussion by the president and the war board. It may be two or three days before the details of the new invasion is worked out, but it is probable that before the end of the present week the military forces will have effected a landing near San Juan.

No definite decision has been reached as yet as to the strength and personnel of the invading forces. For a time it was supposed that few if any of the troops now under General Shafter's command at Santiago would be sent to Porto Rico, but it is known now that at least a portion of Shafter's command will be in the new expedition. General Brooke, who is scheduled to go to Porto Rico, desired to take with him the troops which constitute his corps at Chickamauga, but it has been determined not to send that corps in its entirety. It is believed by the war officials that not so many men will be needed in addition to the number to be sent from Cuba and only a part of General Brooke's corps will form, therefore, that part of the Porto Rican expedition which is to be sent directly from the United States.

It is understood that General Miles, who is to have general command of the operations in Porto Rico, will not return to the United States, but will proceed directly to the point near San Juan with such of the forces now at Santiago as will form a part of the expedition.

General Miles Preparing to Leave.

PLAYA DEL ESTE.—At 9 o'clock Sunday morning, the hour of the formal surrender of the 10,000 Spanish troops at Santiago and the 10,000 others in the district of eastern Cuba, which the Spanish have agreed to evacute, the Spanish flag was lowered from Moro Castle.

Steam launches from the New York, Brooklyn and Vixen entered the harbor and examined the batteries, the wrecks of the Merrimac and the sunken Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes and the torpedo firing station. They discovered six Spanish merchant steamers and one small gunboat in the harbor, and a prize crew was placed upon the latter.

In the afternoon the torpedoes were taken up or exploded, after which the Red Cross steamer State of Texas entered to give assistance to the sick and wounded in the city. The warships may not enter the harbor for several days, probably not until after the arrangements have been made for transporting the Spanish prisoners to Spain. Nearly all of the American men-of-war are now in Guantanamo bay.

Watson's squadron is preparing to go to Spain and several vessels are preparing for the expedition to Porto Rico.

The auxiliary cruiser Yale, with General Miles, will probably leave for Porto Rico in the course of a day or two. General Miles says a sufficient force will be sent to the island at once to take and hold it.

Havana People Expect Peace.

A dispatch received at Madrid from Havana says a great change in public opinion has taken place in that city, and peace is expected in a few days. There is rejoicing over the prospects. Blanco, alone dissatisfied with the situation, is advocating further Spanish sacrifices. The condition of affairs, the dispatch says, renders ultimate Spanish success impossible.

Powers Want a Hand in Disposition.

It is reported that the powers intend to have a hand in settling the future of the Philippines, and that Germany will insist that the United States shall not retain the islands.

New Governor of Arizona.

The president has appointed N. O. Murphy to be governor of Arizona to succeed Myron W. McCord who resigned to accept colonelcy in an army regiment. Mr. Murphy has represented the territory in many official capacities.

Gen. J. F. Wade in Command.

Maj.-Gen. James F. Wade, commander of the Third corps, is in command of the army at Camp Thomas, Chickamauga, during the absence of Gen. Brooke, who is in Washington.

DESIRES OF THE PEOPLE

Will Influence the President as to Terms of Peace With Spain.

WASHINGTON.—The statement attributed to Premier Sagasta that Spain had been making extra official inquiries to learn what terms the United States might expect as a basis for peace, failed of confirmation to this extent.

Without assuming to speak for him in a matter of this importance it is gathered from high members of the administration that the president himself is disposed to be moderate in his demands, and while securing all that he feels that the United States is fairly entitled to exact from a nation in Spain's distressed condition, he is not disposed to embark in a world-conquering enterprise and insist upon the retention of remote territory that would be unserviceable to us. In other words, unless there is an overwhelming demand on the part of the American people for the adoption of such a course, it is not believed that the president as a finality would insist that Spain abandon all of her colonies. While the proposition is tenable, it is felt that as a minimum demand he will be content with the acquisition of Porto Rico, an admission of independence of Cuba, a coaling station in the Philippines with provision for some kind of protectorate over the island and a moderate indemnity.

GREAT SUFFERING IN HAVANA.

A Mob of 10,000 Clamored for Food Before Blanco's Residence.

PORT DE FRANCE, MARTINIQUE.—The steamship Bergin, with 480 refugees from Havana, has arrived here. The vessel was quarantined. The refugees tell terrible tales of mob violence in Havana. July 3 a mob of 10,000 people clamored in front of General Blanco's palace for food. The governor-general made a speech, assuring them that food was coming. This quieted the crowd for the time being, but violence broke out later, when the news of Admiral Cervera's defeat became known.

The refugees say the situation in the city is desperate. The city is on the verge of starvation. There is absolutely no bread in the city, and fresh meat has not been had for fifteen days. Life is not safe in the capital. The feeling of unrest is spreading. An uprising and general massacre may take place at any moment.

YELLOW FEVER AT SANTIAGO.

There Are Probably Four Hundred Cases Among Our Troops.

Although Santiago has surrendered, it is not thought here that the city can be occupied for months. The major part of our troops will be removed from the vicinity as soon as possible, owing to the large amount of sickness existing. It is no longer denied that yellow fever is prevalent and has claimed many victims. There are probably now 400 cases among our troops. Dr. Guiteras, the yellow fever authority, has returned to the United States, leaving Dr. W. Parker in charge. All the buildings at Siboney have been burned, and strenuous efforts are being made to stamp out the infection. Well defined and suspicious cases are being isolated.

$10,000,000 IN GOLD DUST

Is Said to Be on the Way From the Klondike.

A further contribution of $250,000 in gold and drafts to swell the Klondike treasure receipts has arrived at Victoria, B. C., on the City of Seattle, five hours behind the Cottage City. The fortune winners on board were Edward Bevin, a four years' resident of the Klondike; F. A. Raney, Captain Holmes, George Holmes, Devine and Habernal, of Seattle, and ten others. Raney, as spokesman of the party, says $10,000,000 in dust is outbound by the lower river boats, while the party of which he is a member brought a quarter of a ton of nuggets and dust with them.

Toral Surrendered on His Responsibility.

Premier Sagasta declares that neither government in Cuba has intervened in the negotiations for the surrender of Santiago de Cuba. He adds that the surrender came within the province of General Toral and under his responsibility, and the general simply announced that the garrison had capitulated.

Arms Delivered to General Shafter.

Adjutant-General Corbin made public the following dispatch from Shafter Sunday: "My ordnance officers report about 7,000 rifles turned in today and 600,000 cartridges. At the mouth of the harbor there are a number of fine modern guns about 6-inch, also two batteries of mountain guns, together with a saluting battery of fifteen old bronze guns. Disarming and turning in will go on tomorrow. List of prisoners not yet taken."

Major-General Brooke is in Washington, where he was called for consultation relative to the Porto Rico expedition.

Home for Cervera.

A movement has been started at Port Tampa to present Admiral Cervera a home on Tampa Bay in recognition of his humane and chivalric treatment of Hobson and crew and a desire to save him from insult and possible death should he return to Spain.

To Withdraw Troops.

The American troops now before Santiago will be withdrawn. Whether they will be sent back to the United States or proceed to Porto Rico has not been decided.

READY TO SUE FOR PEACE.

Spain Has Issued a Royal Decree Suspending Rights of Citizens

IN ORDER TO SUPPRESS ANY REBELLION.

Senor Sagasta Anxious for Peace, But Says "It Must Be an Honorable Peace, Such as Spain Deserves"—Loss of the Fleet Is Felt.

MADRID.—(Special.)—The Official Gazette Friday published a royal decree temporarily suspending throughout the Spanish peninsula the rights of individuals, as guaranteed by the constitution.

The decree adds that the government will render an account to parliament of the use it may make of the measure.

The publication of the decree is generally accepted as being convincing proof that Spain is now ready to sue for peace, and that negotiations to that effect are actually in progress.

The government wishes to have full power to suppress any evidences of discontent or rebellion whenever they appear. The Carlists are furious and are sure to attempt to create trouble.

One minister expressed the conviction that official overtures for peace will be made immediately, and that Spain has drawn up conditions for peace which offer a basis for negotiations.

Premier Sagasta is quoted as saying that Spain wants peace, but that "it must be an honorable peace, as Spain deserves." "The army," the premier is said to have added, "is anxious to resist to the last, but the government cannot consent to such a useless sacrifice. Had we our fleet the situation would be very different."

Spain Appeals to England.

LONDON.—Spain's latest desperate appeal is to England. Recognizing the useless of an attempt at intervention by any of the continental powers, she turns to London. She is reported to be sounding the foreign office with delicate diplomacy, in the hope that the friendship between England and the United States will help her out of the humiliation of begging for peace on bended knees before Uncle Sam.

There is, however, not one chance in a thousand of England helping Spain. The English government has shown absolutely no sympathy with Sagasta's policy, and public opinion is all against Spanish pretensions. The action of the German fleet in the Philippines is closely watched by England.

To at Once Sue for Peace.

The Madrid correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph says: The government has definitely decided to open peace negotiations without delay, proposing as a basis the renunciation of all rights over Cuba and the immediate discussion of any other "reasonable proposition" the United States may make. It is asserted that M. Cambron, the French ambassador at Washington, and Sir Henry Drummond Wolff, British ambassador at Madrid, are acting, respectively, on behalf of and America in the conduct of inquiries which at present are quite informal.

Duke Almdovar de Rio, minister of foreign affairs, and Senor Gamazo, minister of public instructions and public works, have been appointed by the government to conduct the negotiations. Senor Gamazo said to a newspaper correspondent: "I cannot talk on the subject, as any indiscretion might spoil the work and create difficulties."

No suspension of arms will precede the negotiations because the scarcity of food in Cuba would cause the armistice to operate disadvantageously to the Spaniards, who might consume their remaining stores during its continuance. In any event the government is absolutely decided on peace.

Martial Law Declared at Skaguay.

Martial law has been declared in Skaguay as a result of the killing of "Soapy" Smith, a notorious gambler, and the subsequent arrest of several members of his gang. Bowers, one of the ring leaders, had stolen $2,700 from a newly returned Dawson City miner.

Subscribed Six Times Over.

The subscriptions to the new 3 per cent war loan of $200,000,000, which closed last week, including the offers made by syndicates, will amount to $1,200,000,000, or six times the amount of the issue. The subscriptions represented by checks or other forms of payment, it is estimated, will aggregate about $750,000,000, or three and three-fourths times the amount of the issue.

Three Children Burned to Death.

E. J. Allen's farm house, near Junction City, Kan., burned Saturday and three children under 6 years of age burned to death.

First Spanish Battle Flag.

The first Spanish battle flag captured in Cuba by the American army reached the war department Monday. It was consigned to General Corbin, who displayed it to view on the back of a chair in his office. The flag was captured at Juragua June 23.

Gen. Shafter, commanding the army at Santiago, is not a West Pointer, is 63 years old, is a veteran of the late war, was promoted on the field twice in the same battle for bravery, and is a Michigander.

MILES OFF FOR PORTO RICO.

The Advance Guard of the Expedition Leaves Siboney, Cuba—Troops Embarking From Home Ports.

WASHINGTON, Monday.—The Porto Rican expedition has started on its mission to capture the island. General Miles, leading the Porto Rican expedition, left Siboney, Cuba, today on the Yale with four batteries of artillery and a few seasoned troops.

Two brigades now at Charleston are embarking on transports to take them to Porto Rico. All the force at Tampa, 13,000 strong, embracing artillery, will be put aboard ships as rapidly as transports can be gotten there, and sent to reinforce our other troops.

General Brooke will take the First and Second divisions of his corps from Chickamauga to Porto Rico. General Brooke leaves here this afternoon for Chickamauga to get his troops started. It is expected that the whole expedition will be under way within the next four days.

It has been decided to retain General Shafter's command at Santiago for an indefinite period.

Evidences of preparation for the Porto Rico expedition are everywhere apparent in the war department. In order that there may be no delay in supplying subsistence stores Commissary-General Egan is having prepared advertisements inviting proposals from the large beef dressing concerns for supplying stated quantities of this article of diet at a certain place in the island, subject to the order of the general commanding.

Very recently General Eagan awarded contracts for supplying the army at Santiago with refrigerated beef, and it is expected that the advertisements for Porto Rico will follow on the same general lines. The contract will be a big one, as it is the policy of the department to supply the army as well as the navy with practically refrigerated beef.

TO COLLECT CUSTOMS REVENUES.

A Government Office Will Be Opened at Once to Collect Funds as a War Measure.

WASHINGTON.—The United States will take immediate steps to collect the customs revenues at Santiago as a war contribution. This action will be taken pending the final settlement of the status of the case after the war.

Secretary Gage and Assistant Secretary Howell are busily engaged in going over the customs schedules which have been in force under Spanish rule, and pending this a telegram embodying the principal features of the new schedules will be sent to General Shafter immediately.

The new rates will follow more or less closely those hitherto in force in Cuba, and will make no discrimination in favor of or against any citizens of any foreign power, including the United States.

OVER $21,000,000

Increase of Exports Last Month Over June Last Year.

The monthly statement of the imports and exports of the United States for the month of June, 1898, and for the whole of the fiscal year just closed shows that the exports of domestic merchandise during June amounted to $92,994,401, an increase over June, 1897, of over $21,000,000. The imports of merchandise during June aggregated $51,267,591, of which $22,917,877 was free of duty. This is a decrease in the dutiable merchandise imported of $15,700,000. The figures for the fiscal year show an increase as compared with 1897 in the exports of domestic merchandise of $178,266,412, and a decrease of $58,120,559 in the dutiable imports.

Recruits Under Second Call.

Nearly 60,000 of the 75,000 volunteers asked for by the president in his second call for troops have been recruited, and most of them have been mustered into the service. Of the number already recruited under the second call, 30,000 have been assigned to regiments now in the field and have been sent to join the regiments to which they were assigned. A few less than 90,000 have been recruited for new organization.

To Guard the Frontier.

The sultan of Morocco is concentrating considerable force in the vicinity of Ceuta and Melina in order to guard the frontier and preserve neutrality.

Protesting Against Capitulation.

A Key West dispatch says: In protest against the act of capitulation signed by Toral at Santiago, the Spanish light-keeper at Cape Maysi and Cape Lucrecea, Cuba, both within the district agreed to be surrendered, have burned down their light-houses. The Spanish garrison at Guantanamo city is reported to have spiked its cannons and blown up its magazines.

Zola and Perreux Sentenced.

Zola and Perreux were Monday each sentenced to a year's imprisonment, to 3,000 francs fine and to pay the costs of the famous Esterhazy court martial suit at Paris.

About 25,000 Have Surrendered.

The total number of Spanish troops involved in the surrender of Santiago will, it is said, run close to 25,000, of which about 12,000 are behind the entrenchments at Santiago. The rest of the Spanish troops are stationed at Sagua, De Tanama, Guantanamo, Baracoa and other seaports and fortified cities.

The steamer Warimoo, just arrived from Honolulu, reports that Major-General Wesley Merritt has arrived at Honolulu on his way to Manila.

CLASH WITH THE GERMANS.

United States Gunboat Sends a Shot Across the Cruiser Irene.

THE ADVANCE ON MANILA HAS BEGUN

General Aguinaldo's Secretary Urged the Spanish Commander to Surrender the City, but He Declined and Will Fight—The City Surrounded.

LONDON, (Special.)—The Hong Kong correspondent of the Daily Mail says: United States Consul Wildman informs me that as the German cruiser Irene was passing Mariveles, off Manila, the other day, the United States gunboat Hugh McCulloch was sent after her to ask her to stop. As the Irene refused to obey a shell was fired across her bow and a small boat sent to see what she was doing. The German admiral protested, and insisted that German ships had a right to enter the harbor without being searched, a claim which Admiral Dewey flatly declined to recognize.

It is reported that Admiral Von Diedreich, in charge of the German squadron, interviewed Captain Chichester of the British cruiser Immortalite as to what he would do if the Germans interfered with the bombardment of Manila. Captain Chichester replied that only Admiral Dewey and himself knew that.

Advance on Manila to Begin.

A special from Cavite, Manila Bay, dated July 11, via Hong Kong, says: The American advance on Manila will begin tomorrow. General Anderson has reconnoitered all the territory between the Spanish outposts and the insurgent lines and has planned his campaign. The movement tomorrow is to be the first step toward carrying out those plans.

Aguinaldo, the insurgent leader, has his headquarters at Bayoor, having removed from Cavite. There seems to be no friction between Aguinaldo and either Admiral Dewey or General Anderson.

Three German warships which have been at Mariveles returned to Manila today, steaming in line past the American squadron. Admiral Dewey and Admiral Von Deidreich, the German commander, are reported as exchanging letters discussing the German attitude and the relations of the squadrons.

Our cruiser Boston left on the 13th, expecting to meet on the 16th instant the second expedition from the United States. The meeting was to be north of Cape Luzon.

Augusti Urged to Surrender Manila.

MANILA.—An important interview has just been held between General Aguinaldo's secretary, Lagarda, and a prominent native and the Spanish commander, Captain-General Augusti. The insurgent's representative urged General Augusti to surrender the city, asserting that 50,000 insurgents surrounded Manila and were able to enter it at any moment. Thus far, the added, the insurgents had been restrained with difficulty, but if the Spaniards continued stubborn the result would be that the insurgents would be compelled to bombard and storm the city "with the inevitable slaughter unparalleled in history, because in the excitement of battle they cannot discriminate."

Continuing, the captain-general visitors advised him to disregard official fictions regarding alleged Spanish victories in Cuba and reinforcements coming to the Philippine islands and proposed a reconciliation between the Spaniards in the Philippines and a republican government and a joint endeavor to persuade the Americans to abandon hostilities in the Philippine islands. Finally, the representatives of the insurgents proposed an appeal to the powers to recognize the independence of the Philippines.

The captain-general replied that he must fight however hopeless the Spanish cause.

Soldier Attempts Suicide.

At Miami, Fla., there came near being another suicide reported in the First Alabama. Monday afternoon Private Haskell took half an ounce of laudanum with this intention, but was saved by the surgeon after several hours' hard labor. His mind is thought to be impaired.

Manzanillo Bombarded.

A special dispatch from Havana dated Monday says:

Seven American warships have bombarded Manzanillo this morning. Three steamers were set on fire. Several gunboats that were in the harbor issued forth to the defense of the town, but were stranded. The result of the bombardment is not yet known here.

The Destroyer Farragut Launched.

The torpedo boat destroyer Farragut was launched at San Francisco Saturday from the yard of the Union Iron works. The Farragut is a 278-foot boat. Her speed is 30 knots.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA (By Cable).—Amid impressive ceremonies the Spanish troops laid down their arms between the lines of Spanish and American forces at 9 o'clock Sunday morning. General McKibbin has been appointed temporary Military Governor.

General Shafter and the American division and brigade commanders and their staffs were escorted by a troop of cavalry. General Toral and his staff by 100 men.

The troops on both sides saluted with presented arms.

General Shafter returned to General Toral the latter's sword after it had been delivered to the American commander.

Troops at the trenches, were dismissed after the ceremony. General Shafter, accompanied by his staff, rode through the city, taking possession.

They arrived the city had been sacked by the Spaniards.

The most elaborate ceremonies took place at the Governor's palace to arrange for the flag raising.

When the American flag was unfurled and was saluted by the troops, Captain Capron's battery fired all the regulation salute, after which President McKinley's congratulatory telegram was read.

Then the Star Spangled Banner was played. The American pulse leap and throb with joy.

TO OUR BRAVE ARMY AT SANTIAGO.

The President Sends the Thanks of the Our People to Shafter and His Men.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—Upon receipt of the official announcement that Santiago had surrendered the following messages were sent:

"WASHINGTON, D. C., July 16.

"Gen. Shafter, Commanding, Front, Near Santiago, Playa:

"The President of the United States sends to you and your brave army the profound thanks of the American people for the brilliant achievements at Santiago, resulting in the surrender of the city and all of the Spanish troops and territory under General Toral.

"Your splendid command has endured not only the hardships and sacrifices incident to campaign and battle, but in stress of heat and weather has triumphed over obstacles which would have overcome men less brave and determined. One and all have displayed the most conspicuous gallantry and earned the gratitude of the nation.

"The hearts of the people turn with tender sympathy to the sick and wounded. May the Father of Mercies protect and comfort them. WILLIAM MCKINLEY."

Also the following:

"Major-General, Front, near Santiago, Playa:

"I cannot express in words my gratitude to you and your heroic men. Your work has been well done. God bless you all.

"R. A. ALGER, Secretary of War."

General Shafter replied as follows:

"CAMP NEAR SANTIAGO, July 16.

"To the President, Washington, D. C.:

"I thank you and my army thanks you for your congratulatory telegram of today. I am proud to say every one in it performed his duty gallantly. Your message will be read to every regiment in the army at noon to-morrow.

"SHAFTER, Major-General."

Shafter Reports the Surrender.

WASHINGTON, D. C. (Special).—The War Department received the following dispatch from General Shafter regarding the surrender:

"SANTIAGO DE CUBA, Sunday.

"Adjutant-General, U. S. A., Washington.

"I have the honor to announce that the American flag has been this instant, 12 o'clock noon, hoisted over the house of the civil government in the city of Santiago. An immense concourse of people present. A squadron of cavalry and a regiment of infantry presenting arms and band playing National air. Light battery fired salute twenty-one guns. Perfect order is being maintained by municipal government. Distress is very great, but little sickness in town. Scarcely any yellow fever.

"A small gunboat and about two hundred seamen left by Cervera have surrendered to me. Obstructions are being removed from mouth of harbor. Upon coming into the city I discovered a perfect entanglement of defenses. Fighting as the Spaniards did the first day, it would have cost five thousand lives to have taken it. Battalions of Spanish troops have been depositing arms since daylight in armory, over which I have guard. General Toral formally surrendered the Plaza and all stores at 9 a. m.

"W. R. SHAFTER, Major-General."

Cervera Arrives at Annapolis.

Admiral Cervera with the forty-five Spanish naval officers captured off Santiago, arrived at Annapolis, Md., on the St. Louis. Commander White, commandant of the Cadets, received the party at the pier. Admiral Cervera, in civilian dress, was the first to alight. He was taken to the house of Admiral McNair, in a carriage, his son, in uniform, accompanying him. Having given his acquiescence to the parole. Some of the officers refused to sign the parole until they had consulted Admiral Cervera, who advised to do so. Captain Eulate, of the Vizcaya, refused to sign and he was placed in confinement. Very few of the prisoners can speak English.

The Wounded Doing Nicely.

The 272 wounded and ill soldiers brought from Santiago to New York by the Olivette were transferred to hospitals near the water front. All are doing nicely.

They Prefer an American Protectorate.

Havana volunteers cabled to General Weyler in Madrid, Spain, that they preferred an American protectorate to independence.

Cuban Blockade to Be Strictly Enforced.

The blockade of Southern Cuban ports will be kept up even more strictly than ever.

Smokeless Powder For Volunteers.

Volunteers are to have smokeless powder for their small arms.

For Returning Troops to Spain.

The Government has advertised for bids for cabin passage for 1000 Spanish officers and steerage passage for 24,000 soldiers from Santiago to Cadiz, Spain. The transports are to report at Santiago between July 30 and August 10.

Effect of Our Shells.

Detailed reports will be made on the gunnery and the effect of our shells on the Spanish armor. It is the general opinion that the armor is nothing like as good as ours, because it was penetrated by small shells.

SAMPSON ENTERS HARBOR.

His Battleships and American Transports Formed a Beautiful Pageant.

SUPPLIES LANDED FOR SUFFERING PEOPLE.

The Mercurial People Are Pleased at the Military and Naval Show—Spanish Flag Hauled Down at Caimanera, Where There Are 5,000 Men.

A special from Santiago says: Santiago is now a city of silence. The American flag waves over the military headquarters on Moro's flagstaff and Red Cross emblems are as plentiful as the church spires. Almost the entire population gathered about the wharves Monday where the Spanish shipping, now prizes of the United States, have been augmented by a large fleet of transports flying the American colors.

Some stores, mostly for the sale of liquor or drugs, are open, but their patrons are few. Beggers are in evidence.

At the dock where the Red Cross steamer State of Texas is unloading and preparing for a long stay, a guard from the Ninth Infantry has been mounted, but the soldiers have little trouble, except from the inroads from bad boys, indigenous to seaport cities. There is no evidence of gloom on the faces of the Spanish men and women. These mercurial people are already laughing and are pleased at the military and naval show, and at the prospects of getting food, other than rice and salt meats.

Nearly all the better classes of houses are closed, the residents evidently having not yet returned from their flight.

Filth is noticeable everywhere, and, strange to say, the city is healthy in spite of it. Arrangements are now under way to remove the most dangerous features and to improve those which tend to purify the city.

The harbor was the scene of a beautiful marine pageant Monday afternoon. A score or more of American transports, the way being pointed out by the Suwanee, glided majestically to the quiet anchorage, something they had not enjoyed for weeks, being compelled instead to stand out at sea and be tossed about by the waves, or to use the precarious holding grounds of Baiquiri. They were fine boats, many of them being among the largest specimens of the American merchant marine.

Caimanera Surrenders.

CAMP MCCALLA, GUANTANAMO BAY.—A launch from the Marblehead went up the bay Monday to Vertibaya Del Toro, opposite Caimanera, and gave formal notice to the Spanish commander of the surrender of General Toral's troops, together with the conditions of the capitulation of Santiago. A limited time was fixed for hauling down the Spanish flag over Caimanera.

The American officer gave notice that if the Spanish gunboat Sandoval was disabled in any way, or if any arms, ammunition, public buildings or barracks at Caimanera or Guantanamo were destroyed, the Spaniards would not be treated as prisoners of war. The flag was hauled down.

From Spanish sources it is learned that the total force in Guantanamo and Caimanera is about 5,000, of which number, however, only about 3,000 are fit for service, the others being disabled by sickness or wounded.

22,789 PRISONERS SURRENDERED.

The Army Turned Over by General Toral Larger Than Our Own.

WASHINGTON.—The war department received a dispatch from General Shafter Tuesday saying that the roster of prisoners was handed in Monday by General Toral and that the total is 22,789 men. General Shafter's dispatch added that the prisoners turned over to him far exceeded in numbers the strength of his own army.

The war department posted the following bulletin from General Shafter:

"My ordinance officers reports over 10,000 rifles sent in and about 10,000,000 rounds of ammunition. Send officers and troops tomorrow to receive surrender of interior garrisons. About 2,000 at these places. Will send officers to surrender of coast garrisons, Guantanamo, Boicbon and Sagua, Pancinia."

Gen. Oates Seeking an Assignment.

WASHINGTON.—General Oates, of Alabama, is afraid the war will end without his seeing active service. He has been lost in the general shuffle. He is in Washington asking to have a brigade assigned to him. As yet he has no command. General Corbin told him that he would be given a command at once, but held out little hope of his getting in the next expedition.

Dr. Andrews Accepts.

Prof. Benjamin Andrews, president of Brown University, has formally accepted the position of superintendent of Chicago's public schools.

Fresh Men Wanted.

None of the troops who participated in the actual fighting before Santiago shall be employed on the Porto Rican expedition, according to information obtained at the departments at Washington. The reason for this is said to be because the men have suffered severely from hardships, the climate and some fevers, and are entitled to a rest, and also because it is deemed bad policy to allow the soldiers who have been exposed to yellow fever to be brought into contact with those from the United States.

THE DIXIE DOING GOOD WORK.

Killed Spaniards, Chased Gunboats and Captured Several Prizes.

KEY WEST.—The Maryland naval reserves on the gunboat Dixie under command of Captain Davis are doing lively skirmish work on the south coast of Cuba, killing Spaniards, chasing gunboats, topping over block houses and capturing prizes.

The Dixie left the main body of the fleet June 20 and took a blockading station between Cape Cruz and the Isle of Pines. The first thing she did was to destroy a block house at the mouth of San Juan river. This was done by a few shots and without any attempted resistance. The same day she drew in and destroyed another block house at the mouth of Cuanara river, not far from the first, killing a dozen Spaniards.

The Dixie then proceeded to Casilda, the seaport of Trinidad, where she encountered two Spanish gunboats. One was the Fernando El Catilico, carrying only one gun. The enemy made frantic efforts to reach the Dixie with this, but came no nearer than half a mile. Finally the Dixie put a shell straight at the solitary gun and sent it skyward. This was done at a range of 4,800 yards. In addition to dismounting the gun the upper works of the Spaniard were badly damaged. The other gunboat was not identified. She, too, fired at the Dixie, but fell short by 400 yards. A 6-inch shell, though it did not reach her, served as a sufficient warning to silence her.

Incidentally, the Dixie also routed a body of Spanish cavalry at San Juan de Cuba a day or two before the Florida and Fanita expeditions attempted a landing there. A few days later she captured the Three Bells and the Pilgrim prize schooner, brought here after a hazardous trip.

MAY COURTMARTIAL TORAL.

The Spanish Cabinet Will Not Yet Sue For Peace.

MADRID.—The papers announce that the cabinet council Monday was occupied with the capitulation of Santiago de Cuba. Ministers expressed surprise that General Toral had included the whole military division of the province in the surrender, and Captain-General Blanco has been asked to send the details. When these have been received the question of a court martial of General Toral will be submitted.

El Emparcial learns from several members of the cabinet that in their opinion now for Spain to sue for peace would be an avowal that she is now vanquished. Moreover, they believe that the United States, flattered by the victory at Santiago, would only consent to peace on unequal terms, and that, therefore, it is preferable to continue the war in the hope of reconquering a portion of the lost territory.

THIRD REGIMENT OFFICERS

Appointed by Governor Johnston—R. L. Bullard Made Colonel.

Governor Johnston has made the following appointments to the Third Alabama regiment (colored) volunteer infantry:

Colonel, R. L. Bullard, of Union Springs, heretofore major commanding the First battalion of the regiment in camp at Mobile.

Lieutenant Colonel, Frances G. Caffey, of Montgomery, heretofore commanding the First Montgomery negro company.

Major, T. E. Hill, of Troy, heretofore captain of the negro company from that town. Major Hill was a captain in the Confederate army.

Adjutant, N. L. Chambiss, of Selma.

Chaplain, J. J. Scott, of Montgomery, a Presbyterian negro preacher.

BEACHED AND BURNED.

The Auxiliary Gunboat Eagle Destroys the Spanish Steamer Santi Domingo.

KEY WEST.—The Spanish steamer Santi Domingo, of 5,500 tons, was fired upon and run ashore at Cape Francis by the auxiliary gunboat Eagle on July 12. The Eagle sighted the Spaniard close to the shore and opened fire with her 6-pounders, sending seventy shots at her, nearly all of which took effect. The officers and crew escaped. When the men from the Eagle boarded the latter she carried two 5-inch and two 1.2-inch guns. The men from the Eagle decided the vessel could not be floated and she was set on fire, destroying a large cargo of grain.

The Pelayo Injured.

MARSEILLES.—A steamer which has just arrived here reports having sighted on July 16 off the coast of Tunis, the Spanish fleet commanded by Admiral Camara. As the steamer passed the battleship Pelayo a column of smoke suddenly issued from her and from the fact that a cruiser had to take the Pelayo in tow, it is evident that the most powerful warship of Spain has been damaged.

No Yellow Fever in America.

Surgeon-General Wyman, of the marine hospital service, says there is not a single case of yellow fever in this country, so far as he knows.

Cotton Mills to Close Down.

Thirty local cotton mill corporations at Fall River, Mass., have agreed to close down for four weeks in August. The movement will affect about half of the 2,000,000 spindles in the city and will leave in idleness about 12,500 factory employes of Fall River.

Another negro company is being organized in Birmingham for the Third Alabama volunteers now being recruited at Mobile. The following young gentlemen are to be its officers: R. L. Tilghman, captain, and W. J. Boles and Ernest Redd, lieutenants.

WANTED TO LOOT THE

Which General Shafter Refused to Permit—Garcia Refused to Attend the Raising of American Flag—Clash Between Shafter and Sampson.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA (Special).—A fact which is impressed more and more on the American officers and men is the increased strained relations between the Americans and General Garcia's Cuban soldiers. The situation has now reached a point where there is practically no communications between the armies and their relations border on hostility rather than the relations which one would suppose should exist between allies.

After General Shafter announced his decision not to let the Cubans enter the city of Santiago, deep mutterings were heard among General Garcia's men. It was understood that the Cubans were greatly disappointed at the step taken by the American commander, for they had counted upon having Santiago passed over to them to loot and plunder as they had in succession sacked Baiquiri, Siboney and El Caney.

On Friday last Castillo, a brother of Gen. Demitrius Castillo, went to General Shafter's headquarters in order to ascertain the cause of this.

"Why is Santiago to remain in the hands of our enemy?" he asked.

"The Spaniards are not our enemies," replied General Shafter. "We are fighting the soldiers of Spain, but we have no desire to despoil her citizens. No Cuban will be allowed to enter the city, nor will any American soldier. The government of the city is a matter for the people to decide. When the American army leaves I presume it will be turned over to you, but not until then."

The Cuban soldiers now fully realize that there is a rising sentiment against them in the army. They hear nothing but words from our men as they pass onward, lugging their bacon and hard tack into the woods. Even our officers no longer conceal their disgust for their allies, and it is understood that the friendship displayed towards them at first has now turned into contempt, for the Cubans have neither fought nor worked. In some quarters there is a disposition to prophesy an early collision between our men and Cubans.

General Shafter sent an invitation to General Garcia to attend the ceremony of raising the American flag over Santiago, but the Cuban general showed his resentment by sending a reply which amply confirmed the course which he and his ragged, ignorant soldiers have followed during the weeks of hard fighting and campaigning which have resulted in the fall of Santiago. He declined the invitation, said he hated the Spaniards, and added that he did not want to be where any of them were. Since that time the Cubans have remained in their camp eating American rations, and our troops have had no communication with them.

Shafter and Sampson Clash.

The question has risen between the army and naval officials as to the disposition to be made of the half dozen Spanish merchant steamers which were in the harbor of Santiago at the time of the surrender. Rear Admiral Sampson arrived in the city Monday on the Vixen and claimed the steamers were the prize of the navy. He also was desirous of putting prize crews on board of them. General Shafter, however, refused to recognize Admiral Sampson's claims. He declared the steamers and everything else in Santiago had surrendered to him. The question, apparently, is still undecided. But at any rate the Admiral returned to his flagship without having distributed prize crews among the merchantmen and the latter are still in possession of the army.

Shafter Will March Inland.

It is said that General Shafter will work as far from his base as possible after his army is thoroughly refreshed, hunting the enemy. It is possible that General Shafter's march will end at Havana.

Eight Lives Sacrificed.

OAKLAND, Cal.—Eight lives have been sacrificed, his own among the number, by a Chinese murderer named Goon Chung, and an immense amount of property was blown up and burned at the works of the Western Fuse and Explosive company.

A woman near the scene was killed by falling debris from the explosion. Five deputy sheriffs and constables, who were trying to arrest the murderer, perished. The Chinaman had fortified himself in the magazine and blew it up when the attempt to arrest him was made.

Charged to English Press.

The Vessische Zeitung (Berlin), in a much discussed article, prefaced by the statement that some rectification is needed of the errors regarding German feeling toward America, asserts that the unfriendly sentiments are fostered by the interested English press.

CONGRESSMAN W. F. Aldrich will speak at Clanton on Saturday next, July 23. Come and hear him.

HON. M. W. Howard is unable to keep the appointment made for him to speak at Clanton the 29th instant.

CHILTON county is so emphatically Populist that the managers of the Democratic state campaign have entirely overlooked it in their list of appointments. This speaks well for Chilton.

ALL who intend to vote in favor of the Birmingham amendment must remember to make a cross mark in front, just in the same way as voting for any candidate on the ballot.

THE withdrawal of Mr. Caleb N. Headley from the race for Representative, and his endorsement of the entire Populist ticket, is a step we highly commend. Now if some of the other independent candidates were to follow suit it would redound to their credit and save them a heap of anxiety this next week.

IN a little more than one week the election will be upon us, and we would urge upon every voter, no matter to which party he belongs or even if he is "Independent," to make it a special point to turn out and cast his vote for the men of his choice. With a full vote cast, the winning side is better appreciated by the whole people, while the defeated candidates console themselves with the reflection it is undoubtedly the wish of the majority that they should remain in private life. Go and vote!

ALMOST on the eve of the election, it is interesting to review the possibilities of the various candidates' success. The reports from all over the county are surprisingly unanimous as to the certain return of all the Populist nominees by a much larger majority than in either of the last two elections. To all intents and purposes there has been no interest in any of the candidates with the exception of those running for the Judge of Probate's office, and it may safely be assumed that E. B. Deason for Circuit Clerk, L. H. Reynolds for Representative, and Judson Strock for Superintendent of Education will all be returned with handsome majorities. For the Probate's office our best information is that S. M. Adams will easily be elected, with W. H. Foshee running a good race for second place. The support given to Mr. Harrison is an indefinite quantity, but we do not think it sufficiently strong to bring him very prominently forward, while J. G. Barbour and R. M. Honeycutt will come in at the tail end of the procession. Barbour is practicaly already out of the race, and R. M. Honeycutt will only get the votes of a few personal friends.

IT is rather unfortunate that just as our town is beginning to fill up with summer boarders the gay and festive burglar should commence his operations. Clanton as a rule, is singularly free form crime, and residents are in the habit of leaving doors and windows open in a somewhat reckless fashion, almost inviting those criminally disposed to enter. It would, however, be good policy on the part of the Town Council to provide some protection to the town at night.

A number of good citizens, Populists and independents, or, as they were sometimes called Jeffersonian Democrats, who left the Democratic party in 1892 and 1894, were persuaded to go back to the Democracy in 1896. The number was not so large as claimed by the leaders of the Democracy, still it cannot be denied that good citizens who voted for Kolbism 1894 went back and voted for Johnston in 1896. Several influences brought about this change. First, some of the enthusiastic followers of Kolb became demoralized when a few of their leaders went over to the Democracy. Second, the Democratic party in its national convention of two years ago practically abandoned its policy of twenty-five years standing and took up a part of the Populist demands. Third, the Populist party in its national convention was captured in a large measure by the agents and tools of the Democracy, and was forced into a compromise of its position by an endorsement of the Democratic candidate for President. A large majority of Populists were justly indignant at these things, but they were powerless to prevent what took place.

Governor Johnston points to the fact that several cotton factories have been built since he was elected Governor. It is true that several cotton factories have been built, and that the last Legislature passed a law exempting new factories from taxes for ten years. But Alabama has not gotten her proper proportion of cotton factories. Other states are ahead of us, and North Carolina, which is not so good a cotton State, and has no coal for fuel, has made greater progress than Alabama. But then North Carolina is under the control of Populists and Republicans, while Alabama is under the control of ballot-box stuffing Democrats. Gov. Johnston also points to the new steel plant which is to be built in Birmingham and claims this as an enterprise started since he was elected Governor. They have been talking about building a steel plant in Birmingham for ten years and Grover Cleveland had about as much to do with this new enterprise as Governor Johnston. The truth is there has been some improvement all over the country since Grover Cleveland went out of office. There has been great improvements in the Northern and Western States. There was a big wheat crop and it brought a big price. Many new industries have been started in the North, and money is plentiful in that part of the country. The South has experienced less improvement than any other section. The war has created a new demand and improved many lines of business and the new steel plant at Birmingham is the direct result of the war.

How to Look Good.

Good looks are really more than skin deep, depending entirely on a healthy condition of all the vital organs. If the liver be inactive, you have a bilious look; if your stomach be disordered, you have a dyspeptic look; if your kidneys be affected, you have a pinched look. Secure good health, and you will surely have good looks. "Electric Bitters" is a good Alterative and Tonic Acts directly on the stomach, liver and kidneys. Purifieis the blood, cures pimples, blotches and boils and gives a good complexion. Every bottle guaranteed. Sold at all Drug Stores

At Populist headquarters in Birmingham the most encouraging reports are received. The Populists will carry counties which have never been carried by the Populists before. Chairman Crowe claims that we will have a safe majority in the Legislature.

Let us have a full vote on Monday week. No matter whom you vote for, go and vote for someone. It will be more satisfactory to yourself and every other voter.

Diseases of the Blood and Nerves.

No one need suffer with neuralgia. This disease is quickly and permanently cured by Browns' Iron Bitters. Every disease of the blood, nerves and stomach, chronic or otherwise, succumbs to Browns' Iron Bitters. Known and used for nearly a quarter of a century, it stands to-day foremost among our most valued remedies. Browns' Iron Bitters is sold by all dealers.

Political Pointers.

Peoples Party Press Bureau
St. Louis, Mo., July 20, 1898

After a three days session of the three silver party conventions, at Spokane, Washington, on July 1, they got out a full county ticket, representatives and state Senator and adjourned amid great hilarity.

At the convention of the Peoples independent party of Nebraska, to be held at Lincoln, August 2, a full state ticket will be named. The silver Republicans and the Democrats will hold their conventions at the same time in that city.

Gov. Leedy, of Kansas, has made many converts to the Populist faith among the negroes of his state by his just and honest treatment of that class.

Some Democratic papers of gold-bug persuasion, are showing their extreme hardihood by referring to Grover Cleveland as the "logical candidate" for the presidential nomination in 1900 on the Democratic ticket. Mr. Cleveland has openly declared himself as against "conquest and annexation."

The Triple Alliance is holding good in Wyoming and a victory for silver seems assured.

Nothing like getting in on the ground floor! The National League of Republicans clubs, which met at Omaha, Nebraska, July 12, elected representatives resident in Hawaii.

Democrats, Populists and Silver Republicans have effected fusion on the state ticket in California. The Democrats get governor; the Populist lieutenant governor; and the Silver Republicans judge of the supreme court and secretary of State.

Preoccupied with war news, or acting under orders from the powers that be, the Associated and metropolitan press has almost entirely ceased to note bank and business failures, but the reports of Dun and Bradstreet show no improvement on the reports for the same time last year.

At the recent Pennsylvania state Democratic convention, a vote of 258 to 184 was recorded against reaffirmation of the Chicago platform and the insertion of a silver plank.

Georgia Populists have elected sixty-six delegates to the Cincinnati convention. Hon. Thos. Watson heads the delegation.

The Cincinnati convention is the chief theme of editorial matter in the middle-of-the-road papers. This meeting was at first referred to as a "conference" but now openly called a nominating convention.

A recent meeting of the Republican State committee of Missouri, was held at Jefferson city, at which time it was shown that $100,000 had been sent into the state by the Hanna syndicate for the purpose of corrupting voters, but the closest investigation failed to account for the spending of more than $25000. The balance is supposed to have found lodgment in the pockets of some individuals high up in party councils. Sensational disclosures are expected.

The Populist state convention of Missouri was held at St. Louis, July 7. A complete state ticket was nominated together with a ringing set of resolutions. The middle-of-the-roaders undertook to capture the convention, but failed, and retired to another hall, where they resolved to their hearts content. The new national committeemen elected are A. Rozelle Owen Miller and W. R. Littell. While the convention was a victory for the fusionists, the matter of state fusion was not mentioned. A. R.

Every voter in the county should make up his mind to go to the polling place on Monday week and cast his vote. Be sure you go!

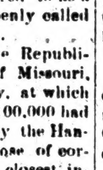
Did You Take

Scott's Emulsion

through the winter? If so, we are sure it quieted your cough, healed the rawness in your throat, increased your weight, gave you more color, and made you feel better in every way. But perhaps your cough has come back again, or you are getting a little thin and pale.

Then, why not continue the same helpful remedy right through the summer? It will do you as much good as when the weather is cold.

Its persistent use will certainly give you a better appetite and a stronger digestion.



It will cure your weak throat and heal your inflamed lungs. It will cure every case of consumption, when a cure is possible.

Don't be persuaded to take something they say is just as good.

CORRESPONDENCE

Pratt City, Ala., July 18, 1898

Editor BANNER. Pratt City is still booming, new dwellings are daily being built. The mines are running on full time, which makes business good for the merchants as well as the miners.

The new steel plant at Ensley is now being laid off and work will begin in a few days. The plant will cost upwrads of a $1000,000. The people of Chilton when visiting Birmingham should visit Pratt City and Ensley, they will be amply repaid. It is a show to see the new coke ovens, the big furnaces, the mines, etc.

W. A. Cooper, of Coopers, has accepted a position with the Tennessee Coal Iron and Railway Co. as guard at slope No. 2.

We look for Mr. E. J. Downs to-morrow, and expect to see him looking fresh and in good order after 30 days recreation pleasantly spent with his friends and sweet heart at Coopers. K.

The editor of the Evans City, Pa. Guide, writes, "One Minute Cough Cure is rightly named. It cured my children after all other remedies failed." It cures coughs, colds and all throat and lung troubles. Stanfield and Mathews.

BURGLARY AND ASSAULT.

About two o'clock Wednesday morning Mrs. Martha Carroll, an old and highly esteemed citizen of Clanton, was awakened by some miscreant who had his hand over her mouth and was choking her. The villain made search of her person for money, but found none. He made his escape and up to this writing has not been arrested. Clanton needs a night policeman.

FARMERS WANTED

As Agents for Young's & Cable's Portable Plank Fence. No posts, no mortise, nothing needed to build this fence but planks, hammer, saw and nails. One of the greatest inventions of the age! Can be taken down and put up as fast as two hands can load and unload from a wagon. I use it to fence in my herd of registered Poland China Hogs. It enables me to move my lot as often as I desire, and use all waste corners where there may be weeds, clover, fruit, nuts, etc., also enabling me to send out better pigs than it would be possible for me to otherwise do. Practical, reliable farmers wanted as agents, because they can see the practical use of this great invention. Write before some one else gets township or county.

"Well," said the great importer, "you want a position as tea-taster, do you? Have you ever had any experience in this business?" "No," the applicant replied, "but I've boarded around and eaten at restaurants so long that I know I'd be a good one at it. I could tell the genuine tea right off, because it would be so different, you know."—Chicago News.

ROME'S PINCIO-LOVE MATCHES.

A Way in Which Youths in the Eternal City Pick Out Their Brides.

It is probable that the Pincio sees the inception of half the marriages in Rome. It is a curious sociological fact, but the explanation of it is simple. It has been commented upon by humberless writers, that Italians are exclusive, though not in the usually accepted sense of the word. They are proverbially open and friendly, especially to strangers, the commercial value of whose visits to their land they appreciate. But this cordiality, even to their own countrymen, has its limit. In no country more than in Italy is a man's home his castle, and, except in the highest circles and where there is no poverty to be concealed, he is chary of his hospitality. This is especially true of Rome and Naples. Therefore, if neither she nor her parents receive many visitors, how is the Roman girl of the bourgeois class who is not "in society" to meet the inevitable lover for whose advent and her consequent emancipation from parental tyranny she longs more ardently than young women usually do? The answer is: "The Pincio."

On Thursdays and Sundays, when the band plays (uncommonly well, by the way), and the park is in consequence crowded to overflowing, the signorina who is the fortunate possessor of a becoming costume dons it, and demurely accompanies her mother to the municipal pleasure ground, where each expends 10 centimes for the temporary right to a comfortable chair, ingeniously constructed so as to be springy, though fashioned entirely of iron. If she be a wise maiden, she will so maneuver that the chairs will be placed on the main pathway, where every one must pass. This being achieved, she may await developments. And if she have pretensions to beauty, she will not long be left in anticipation. The young men who pass will gaze at her approvingly; and finally one, to whom she may especially appeal, will detach himself from the crowd and take up his stand before her. Thus is initiated the first chapter of the romance. From that moment, without a word or sign, and even with scarcely a look from her, he becomes her swain and faithful knight. Week after week he sees her at the Pincio; he even follows her about the streets. Having ascertained her abode and her name, he generally soon manages to find a mutual friend who performs the introduction. The rest is obvious. Or, if they do not happen to have acquaintances in common, when the silent love-making has progressed far enough, a demand for the damsel's hand is made directly to her parents.

You know what you say about your poor kin? Well, that's the way your folks who have money talk about you.

STORIES OF RELIEF.

Two Letters to Mrs. Pinkham.

Mrs. JOHN WILLIAMS, Englishtown, N. J., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot begin to tell you how I suffered before taking your remedies. I was so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without falling. I had womb trouble and such a bearing-down feeling; also suffered with my back and limbs, pain in womb, inflammation of the bladder, piles and indigestion. Before I had taken one bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt a great deal better, and after taking two and one-half bottles and half a box of your Liver Pills I was cured. If more would take your medicine they would not have to suffer so much."

Mrs. JOSEPH PETERSON, 513 East St., Warren, Pa., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have suffered with womb trouble over fifteen years. I had inflammation, enlargement and displacement of the womb. I had the backache constantly, also headache, and was so dizzy. I had heart trouble, it seemed as though my heart was in my throat at times choking me. I could not walk around and I could not lie down, for then my heart would beat so fast I would feel as though I was smothering. I had to sit up in bed nights in order to breathe. I was so weak I could not do anything.

"I have now taken several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and used three packages of Sanative Wash, and can say I am perfectly cured. I do not think I could have lived long if Mrs. Pinkham's medicine had not helped me."

THE BOND OF FLESH.

Weird Tale of Life from the Tyrolese Mountains.

BY EDGAR FAWCETT

CHAPTER I.

This is a story of much sorrow, and I warn those who only love what is full of cheer and brightness that it may sadden and repel them. It may indeed horrify some, for it deals with the darkness of a strange and awful destiny. But at the same time I have deemed it a story worth the telling, since it is filled, after all, with the tragedy of a great if unique human passion.

We were born in a lovely village of the Austrian Tyrol, whose name I will not here record. Our parents were people of good bourgeois standing; my father's luck and thrift were almost proverbial. For years he had desired children, and at last we came.

My mother suffered agony at our birth, and afterward, when we were shown her, it is said that the shock caused her death. For we were not as other children, but bound together by a ligature of flesh. Otherwise we were two boys formed in a perfectly normal way. My brother was, however, at all times far less healthy and vigorous than I. He was called, I may here state, Conrad, and Victor was the name given to myself.

Our birth created wild wonder, and for days people flocked to see us. My father neither forbade nor allowed us to be seen. An old relative, a kind of aunt long since dead, showed us, I believe, to the gaping crowds. As for my father, he was prostrated with grief at the death of his wife and the curse of what he held a hideous and monstrous prodigy.

But after awhile all such feeling changed with him. He became not only used to us but fond of us. The next step was easily taken, and before we were 2 years old he lavished on us the strongest paternal love.

Meanwhile we had received the best of care from dear, kindly old Hedwig, and had been nursed through an illness which threatened to end our infantile lives. My early recollections are solely those of being very happy. Conrad seemed in a manner apart from me, and yet most intimately akin. They used to say that my nature was a rather domineering one. But I was in every way the stronger and larger, so that I perhaps began at a tender age to assert my superior mental and physical traits. As little boys we were sometimes taken to walk, and I well recall how people would flock staringly about us, and how I somewhat keenly enjoyed the vague celebrity that surrounded us.

We were constantly visited by men of medical and surgical repute from various European cities and towns. Showmen and adventurers came, too, and these (or at least a number of them) offered my father large sums for the right to exhibit us as a rare physiological marvel.

My father's health began to weaken when we had reached our eighth or ninth year, and the failure of a Vienna banking house, to which he had intrusted the major portion of his savings, no doubted helped to inflict upon him a severe paralytic disorder. From this it soon became apparent that he could never quite rally; but while his partial recovery had begun to encourage Hedwig and ourselves, we were sought out by a man named Oscar Schreiner.

This man from the hour when I first laid eyes upon him, struck me as the most completely kind and gentle being whom I had yet beheld. I have never had occasion except in one most solemn and fateful instance to alter the verdict roused by that first pleasant impression.

He was still young when he came to us, being a widower of about six-and-twenty, with a little daughter, Linda, whom he had placed at a boarding-school in his native Berlin. I suppose one would not precisely have called him a gentleman, though I have always held him to be far above many who would be amazed if you denied them the title. Oscar Schreiner certainly possessed education, and combined with that a high and sure sense of honor.
